370 STUDENTS ARE ENROLLED AT N. W. SCHOOL THIS FALL

Registration at Crookston Institution Breaks All Records

The Northwest School opened last week with the largest fall term enrollment in the history of the school. At the close of the first week, Registrar J. W. Milnar reported 231 men and 139 women, or a total of 370 compared with the previous record of 338 established on the same date last year. The distribution by classes shows 127 freshmen, 106 juniors, 72 Seniors, 43 Advanced, and 22 Special students.

All dormitories have been taxed beyond capacity, thus necessitating the use of the Home Practice quarters and the Health Service building for the overflow in the girls' department.

During the opening week, class officers were elected as follows: Freshmen, Evelyn Brandt, Gonvick, president; Kenneth Rosvold, Underwood, vice-president; Howard Knutson, East Grand Forks, secretary; Dorothy Larson, Argyle, treasurer; John Edman, Alvarado, sergeant-at-arms; Arden Hanson, Erhard, and Dolores Driscoll, East Grand Forks, cheer leaders; class advisers, W. D. Rusk and Lois Lohn. Juniors: Wilson Radway Roosevelt, president; Harold Klemetson, Ulen, vice-president; Lloyd Harris, Wadena secretary; Clifford Olson, Halstad, sergeant-at-arms; Katherine Holacek, Bemidji, treasurer, pepsters: Myrtle Hanson, Twin Valley, and Alton Gun, Wadena; class advisers, Miss Dorothy Smith and Mr. Wm. Promersberger. Seniors: Raymond Higgin, Bronson, president; Woodrow Evens, Gully, vice president; Dorothy Evans, Middle River, secretary; Morris Dahl, Kennedy, treasurer; Lynn Lokken, Shelly, sergeant-at-arms; class advisers, Miss Katherine Hennig and D. O. Streeter; pepsters: Werner Weindorf, Virginia Watt. Advanced: Roland Wnetsel, Fisher, president; James Weckwerth, Hazel, vice-president; Irene Taas, Trail, secretary; Edgar Ramberg, Pitt, sergeant-at-arms; Chester Ingebretsen, Ulen, treasurer; pepsters, Fred Cook, Faunce, and Ruth Lerud, Twin Valley; class advisers, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Christgau.

Deer Census May Lead to Annual Open Season

An exhaustive census of Minnesota deer will be undertaken this winter, according to A. C. Hanson, director of the division of game and fish.

Gordon Fredine, recently named biologist of the division, has been placed in charge of deer drives to be undertaken in cooperation with federal conservation agencies.

Mr. Fredine is of the opinion that the census may show a sufficiently large deer population to warrant an open season on deer each year instead of every two years as at present.

Observers of game conditions agree that deer are unusually plentiful this year. The division of forestry estimates that less than one per cent of deer range was burned over by fire last summer.

EARLY DRIVING PERMIT FOUND

Mankato.—The days when horses shied at automobiles and the new machines attained tremendous speeds of more than 12 miles an hour are recalled by the recent discovery by Mrs. Carl Ingwalson of Mankato of what was perhaps, one of the earliest driving permits issued in that city. The permit issued in 1916 grants the privilege of driving an automobile through the cemetery subject to a dozen regulations. Aid in quieting horses which became unmanageable at the sight of the machines was required of the driver who invaded the cemetery with his car in those days, when cars were stopped, engines must be stopped and cars had to be driven so as not to give off smoke and with closed mufflers. The speed limit was fixed at six miles an hour, with cars driving in the rear of horse-drawn vehicles in funeral processions.

11-DAY SEASON ON DEER IS APPROVED OPENING NOV. 15TH

Clearwater, Roseau and Eastern Marshall Co. Are Included

An 11-day deer season for 16 northern Minnesota counties and parts of four others was designated by the state Conservation Commission at its regular meeting last week. The deer season will be open from Nov. 15 to Nov. 25 inclusive.

At the same time the Commission asked Governor Petersen to issue an executive order providing for an 11-day bear season from Nov. 15 to Nov. 25 in all counties having a deer season. The Commission also requested Governor Petersen to eliminate the statutory bear season which extends from April 15 to May 15.

Fawns are not included in the deer season and will remain protected in all counties. The deer season will be fully open in Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Lake, Cook, St. Louis, Beltrami, Hubbard, Cass, Clearwater, Itasca, Crow Wing, Aitkin, Kanabec, Pine, and Carlton counties.

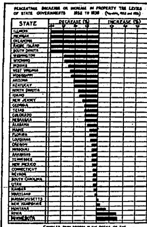
Deer may also be taken in Becker county, east of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault St. Marie railroad; in Marshall and Kittson counties east of the old Pembina trail; and in Mille Lacs county north of the Great Northern railroad through Milaca.

BACKUS SCHOOL HAS YOUNGEST FACULTY

Backus.—A challenge has been made by the superintendent of the Cass county schools, J. W. Wicklund, contending that the eight members of the Backus school faculty comprise the youngest faculty group in the state of Minnesota, and he extends the bounds of his challenge to the 48 states of the union. According to the measurements laid down by the goddess of wisdom, "Minerva", they are tried and true professors. Their ages range from 20 to 30 years.

COMMISSION ORDERS LAKE OF WOODS FISHING PROBE

The Conservation Commission last week directed Commissioner E. V. Willard of the conservation department to conduct a complete investigation of commercial fishing in Lake of the Woods. The action was taken following reports that game fish in the lake were rapidly disappearing as a result of commercial fishing operations. The Commission plans to adopt a definite policy for Lake of the Woods on the basis of the investigation.



COMPILED FROM RECORDS IN THE OFFICE OF THE MINNESOTA INSTITUTE OF GOVERNMENTAL RESEARCH

While most states have been reducing the state tax imposed on property owners during the last three years, Minnesota has won an unenviable distinction by increasing the state levy on property by the greatest margin of any state in the Union, officials of the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform disclosed today in making public a new study showing changes in state tax burdens.

Indicating a nation-wide tendency to reduce the tax load on property owners, the report showed that 34 states either have reduced their state tax on property or abolished it altogether since 1932. Eight states previously had abandoned any state levy on property, the report showed, making 42 states that have reduced or quit their levies on property.

Only six states have ventured to place a higher levy on property owners for payment this year than that for 1932 which they paid in 1933, Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the Federation for Tax Reform, said, and Minnesota had the dubious honor of leading this small group of tax-increasing states. The state tax which property owners in Minnesota are being asked to pay this year is 40% greater than that for 1932 which was paid in 1933, Mr. Larson pointed out.

New Figures Indicate Many Deaths by Poison, State Physicians Say

Every year hundreds of people in the United States lose their lives because they took poison by accident.

Physician members of the Committee on Public Health Education of the Minnesota State Medical Association today pointed to figures just issued by life insurance companies for 1935 to show that fully one third of the victims were children under five. Of these nearly one half are babies of two years just beginning to toddle.

In a good many cases the poisonous substances were cathartic pills or pills containing strychnine. They were picked up by the children and eaten for candy.

In other cases poisons were mistaken for harmless medicines or death occurred from over doses of dangerous medicines.

The doctors issue an especial warning to parents and guardians of children to keep all medicines securely locked in cabinets that cannot be opened by children. Many cathartic and headache pills or tonic pills that are not considered poisonous at all and are not marked "poison" are deadly if eaten in any amount by small children.

Many actual poisons are kept on the same shelves with harmless remedies and are picked up and administered by mistake.

All containers of poisons such as carbolic acid, lye, benzine, and other cleaners, as well as insect killers and rat poisons, should be marked so that they can be identified even in the dark. Pins securely fastened in the corks provide one practical means of identification.

Ordinary care and watching in the home will serve to cut down the death rate from these tragic poisons by hundreds every year the doctors say.

Feeding Problem Often Fault of Anxious Parent, State Physicians Aver

Feeding children has always been regarded as a problem by anxious parents and our modern knowledge of the importance of the protective foods, including particularly milk, vegetables and eggs, has made the feeding problem acute in many homes.

Members of the Committee on Public Health Education of the Minnesota State Medical Association today caution over-conscientious parents against conveying the impression to children that food is just something to be got down regardless of every other consideration; that it is a medicine prescribed on the same plain as drugs, baths or enemas.

Coaxing, entertainment, commands, pleadings usually prove to be in vain and, often enough, they bring on behavior problems in the child that offset any benefits to be gained.

If the family menu is wholesome and well varied, the healthy child can usually be allowed to eat what he wishes from it according to the physicians, even if there are times when what he wishes does not include all of the items that his parents would like to have him eat.

It is far better for the ultimate development of good eating habits and good temper in the child if there are no scenes and no exhortations about what he eats. If this policy is followed from the start, the normal child is practically certain to fall in line with the general eating habits of the family and heartily enjoy his meals.

DEMOCRAT GROUP URGES ELECTION OF MARTIN NELSON

Speaker Criticizes Deal of Dem. Aspirants With F.-L. Group

James F. Murphy, former chairman of the democratic state central committee and now head of the newly created "Democratic Nelson clubs," officially opened the new organization's campaign for election of Martin A. Nelson, republican gubernatorial candidate, in Minneapolis last week in a radio talk.

Murphy bitterly attacked the political maneuver in which Patrick J. Delaney and Fred A. Curtis, democratic candidates for United States senator and governor respectively, retired from the race in behalf of their farmer-labor candidates.

"We do not believe that the democratic electorate of the state of Minnesota will sink politically into the cesspool with these conniving men," Murphy declared.

Charging Curtis and Delaney with "scuttling the ship of Minnesota democracy" and "taking the only life boat abroad" Murphy urged democrats to vote for Nelson.

"We as loyal democrats have but one choice to make", Murphy continued. "Either the democratic party or the farmer-labor party is going out of business.

"If we follow the dictates of this infamous deal we will kill the democratic party. Only by forever ending the farmer-labor machine in Minnesota can we retain our party identity."

DENTIST IS ALSO GOOD DETECTIVE

Cass Lake—Dr. L. B. Galbraith of Cass Lake is not only a first class dentist but also a good detective. Recently a Ford V-8 containing two men and a woman, parked under the windows of his office and the man at the wheel took a nickel-plated revolver from a shoulder holster and tested it, then put it back under his arm. The other man handed his partner a revolver and the car sped away, but not before Galbraith had the number and notified authorities. The car, a stolen one, was picked up later in Minneapolis and was filled with loot taken in Bismarck, N. D. the trio having shot it out with Bismarck police before coming to Cass Lake.

DAIRYMEN PICK A. A. DOWELL AS '37 PRESIDENT

Valley Group Ends Convention in Crookston Last Thursday

McLEOD RE-ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT

Detroit Lakes Selected as Scene of the 1937 Meeting

Dr. A. A. Dowell, superintendent of the Northwest school here, was re-elected president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association at the election of officers which was the closing business of the annual meeting in Crookston last Thursday. Stuart McLeod of Ada was re-elected vice president.

The association selected Detroit Lakes as the next meeting place. Invitations also were received from The Grand Forks Commercial club and from W. J. Strandile who represented Roseau, Minn.

At a session in the Armory Thursday night an address by J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture in Manitoba for 20 years, a concert by the Crookston high school band and announcement of contest winners were principal features.

In the butter judging contest with husbands and wives teamed Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gamme of Crookston won first, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stangaard of McIntosh second, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson of Gonvick third and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Strandile of Roseau fourth.

Winners in the women's butter judging contest were Mrs. H. Martin of Newfolden first, Mrs. S. Hauge of Bagley second, Mrs. Ingman Wollertson of Shelly third and Mrs. B. L. Hurner fourth.

The men's cream judging contest winners were Ingman Wollertson of Shelly first, L. H. Ofstedahl of Halstad second, Theodore E. Olson of Shevlin third and Henry Anderson of Viking fourth.

The butter contest was divided into two departments with gold awards going to exhibitors showing butter with a 95 per cent or higher grade of butter, silver awards for butter 94.5 to 95 per cent and bronze awards for butter grading 94 to 94.5 per cent.

In the sweet cream butter division gold awards went to Alfred L. Virgert of Bluffton, Theodore E. Olson of Shevlin, Herbert Holmgren of Upsala, Adolph Keller of Octono Falls, Wisc., E. E. Posenberg of Wadena, Arthur C. Brammeier of Fairmont, Ned Dunham of Ross, L. F. Olson of St. Hilaire and C. H. Marguson of Henning.

Winners of gold awards in the cultured cream butter class were Markuson, E. L. Wolff of Myrtle, Alfred Vogert, Henry C. Werbes of Ottertail and R. E. Jensen of Truman.

177 FAMILIES IN THIS COUNTY GET 'SURPLUS' RELIEF

Goods Worth $935 Are Distributed Each Month to the Needy

Distribution of surplus commodities—that little understood phase of WPA's activities—is now reaching 177 families in Pennington conty it was announced this week by Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator. The retail value of this monthly distribution in the conty was estimated at $935.17. In the state as a whole, it was announced, surplus commodities are being distributed to 41,630 families. The commodities thus distributed include foodstuffs and wearables.

In addition to foodstuffs so purchased by the government, WPA also distributes clothing and other articles made by its needlecraft projects.

All who are certified as being in need of relief are entitled to these surplus commodities, whether they are on WPA or not. The distribution is designed to add to, rather than supplement a needy family's income from either direct or work relief. One of the surplus commodity division's most important missions is to be of assistance to large families having budgets higher than the average.

Evelyn Hotel Shortly to be Redecorated and New Furniture Added

An extensive improvement program will shortly get under way at the Evelyn hotel, Tom Mehegan, manager, announced this week on his return from Minneapolis where he conferred with leading hotel outfitters. New upholstered furniture has been purchased for the lobby, and the dining room will be refitted in the latest mode, while the bedrooms also are being refurnished. It is planned also during the winter months to redecorate the interior of the entire building, Mr. Mehegan said.

LAST HALF OF REAL ESTATE TAXES ARE DUE OCTOBER 31ST

Eight Per Cent Penalty to be Added November 1, Public Is Reminded

October 31 will be the final day on which the last half of property taxes can be paid without penalty. After that date a penalty of eight per cent is added to the unpaid portion of all taxes. First half taxes could be paid up to June 1 without penalty, after which date a three per cent penalty was added with an additional one per cent for every month thereafter if the tax was not paid, according to a statement issued by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

After November 1, the eight per cent penalty will be added to all unpaid property taxes until January 1, when the taxes will be declared delinquent and additional penalties will be added.

Considerable improvement in tax collections is looked for by the time of the November cut off. First half year delinquencies have shown a decline.

Early reports indicate that the delinquency has been reduced from the peak of a year ago. Payment of tax delinquencies rose from $11,903,000 in 1934, to $18,058,000 in 1935. Officials in many counties regard the new state law permitting payment of taxes in installments over a period of years as a factor in this increase. Delinquent taxpayers who have not done so, can still take advantage of the ten-year payment plan, and escape old penalties.

The total tax delinquency in Minnesota in a recent check-up was set at $92,287,000, according to the report.

LEGION, AUXILIARY OFFICERS GUESTS OF C. C. THURSDAY

State Head of Legion Compliments Local Post on Its Activities

A group of state and district officers of the American Legion and auxiliary were guests of the Civic and Commerce association at its luncheon last Thursday, and spoke briefly after being introduced by O. C. Paulson, ninth district commander. Members of the Thief River Falls Legion auxiliary also were present.

Mrs. C. F. Moore, Jr., of Minneapolis, state president of the auxiliary, announced that the organization now has 19,000 members, and that her objective is to increase the number to 20,000 by the time her term of office expires.

F. Ben. Andreen of New Ulm, department commander of the Legion, complimented the local post on its activities during the past year, and exhibited two trophies presented to the Thief River Falls unit in recognition of its achievements. He also stated that membership of the Legion in Minnesota is now at a new peak for this time of the year.

Local Carnegie Library Allotted Talking Book Machines for the Blind

Thief River Falls public library is one of fourteen in the state to be allotted a quota of talking book machines to be distributed free of cost to the 1,600 adult needy blind persons in Minnesota, it was announced this week by the division for the blind of the state board of control. These machines are specially designed phonographs with books recorded on slow-playing records. Those who do not read braille will be given preference. The new facilities are made possible thru a WPA project under the supervision of the Library of Congress.

WINTER CIRCUS OPENS TONIGHT IN AUDITORIUM

Annual Indoor Event to Continue Thru Saturday Evening

NEARLY TWENTY CIRCUS ACTS ARE INCLUDED

Free Dance and Carnival Attractions Presented Each Evening

Committees of the Elks lodge were busy early this week completing final arrangements for the opening this evening in the Thief River Falls auditorium of the annual Elks winter circus sponsored by the lodge. Nearly twenty big-time circus acts will feature the presentation, which will be repeated also Friday and Saturday evenings, October 23 and 24.

In addition to the performances by the circus stars, there will be Beano games and other carnival attractions, and the program each evening will conclude with dancing to the music of Abbie Andrews and his dance band, officers of the lodge announced.

The 1936 indoor circus will include an entirely new and different array of attractions from the one presented in Thief River Falls last year, featuring more big-time aerial acts and larger stage displays.

Among the outstanding acts to be presented will be the Peres La Flor troupe of Cuban aerial gymnasts; The Duval Brothers; Cornella troupe of comedy acrobats; the Silver Lake trio; the Melvin duo; the Fisher troupe of American acrobats; Sykes and his cycles; the Mann Brothers; the Aerial Butterflies; the Aerial Christianson duo, high double trapeze artists; and a group of seven circus clowns, including Joe Madden, designated by the circus committee as the official greeter.

JUNIOR CHAMBER PAYS TRIBUTE TO BASEBALL TEAM

Players Are Guests of Group At Dinner Meeting Thursday

Members of the league-champion Thief River Falls baseball team, which was sponsored during the past season by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, were guests of the group at a dinner meeting last Thursday evening in the Civic and Commerce association rooms.

W. E. Dahlquist and Paul Lundgren addressed the gathering, complimenting the junior group on its varied activities and paying tribute to George Lee, team manager, for the manner in which he had developed the aggregation, and also for the splendid record he has set up this fall with his Lincoln high school football team.

Mr. Lee spoke briefly, introducing the members of the team and commenting on the work of various players, as well as thanking the older players for their cooperation during the season. LeRoy Rupprecht presented a group of vocal selections, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Delegation of Local Legion and Auxiliary Members at Greenbush

In company with state and district Legion and auxiliary officials, a large delegation of local members of the two organizations attended a large rally at Greenbush last Thursday evening. The following evening a similar rally at Ada was participated in by the Legion auxiliary drum corps of this city and the Ninth District band. State Commander F. Ben Andreen of New Ulm, who was present, stated that the two gatherings were the best attended of any held in the state thus far this fall.

PROWLERS DOWN MAHNOMEN HERE BY SCORE OF 33-0

Win Fifth Straight Victory; Journey to Warren for Game Friday

Emerging victorious for the fifth consecutive game in its schedule of fall engagements by defeating Mahnomen last Friday evening by the decisive score of 33 to 0 Friday evening, the Lincoln high school football team will journey to Warren Friday afternoon where it will attempt to make a record of six straight wins. Warren last Friday defeated Crookston in a close game by a score of 6 to 2. The locals will close their season with a contest in Bemidji Friday, October 30.

The Prowlers outclassed the Mahnomen eleven from the outset and rolled up 17 first downs to three for the visitors, two of which resulted from penalties.

Hill was the leading scorer, tallying three touchdowns, one on a 35-yard reverse. Milton Nesse scored once and Dicken accounted for the other major score on a 25-yard end play. Except for the two runs, the Thief River Falls touchdowns were smashed over from inside the five yard line.

The game at Bemidji Friday, October 30, will be played in the evening under floodlights on the teachers college athletic field if weather conditions permit, it was announced today. Otherwise the contest will take place in the afternoon.

In a specially scheduled game Tuesday evening before a small crowd on Lincoln athletic field, the local eleven vanquished the Cathedral high school team of Crookston by the decisive score of 26 to 0. Coach George Lee called a large number of substitutes into action in the course of the game.

Auxiliary Drum Corps Plans Hallowe'en Dance Saturday Night, Oct. 31

The Thief River Falls American Legion Auxiliary drum corps will sponsor a Hallowe'en dance at the municipal auditorium Saturday evening, October 31. Eddy Eastman's orchestra of Crookston will furnish the music. The dance is being sponsored by the corps to raise funds to pay for new equipment purchased last summer. Plans are now being made to groom the drum corps for class A competition at the state Legion convention next year. The membership of the corps will be increased from its present membership of twenty-eight to a total of thirty-two. This would include the addition of four bugles. The corps is working on new music to be used for next year's activities.

Coat of Oil Is Applied on East Third st. Sunday

A state highway department oiling crew took advantage of the mild Indian summer weather prevailing Sunday and applied a light coat of oil to the East Third St. parkway and to the gap on the west side of the bridge to where the paving begins. The application is expected to relieve the dust nuisance until next year when it is planned to give the highway a permanent treatment.

6-Team Hockey League Formed Here Sunday

Thief River Falls and Grand Forks Men Are Elected League Officers

Kenneth M. Wood of Grand Forks was elected president of the new six-team hockey league which will operate in the northwest this winter at a meeting of team representatives Sunday in Thief River Falls. A. M. Campbell of this city was elected vice president and Alvin Christofferson was named secretary-treasurer.

A representative from each team will be named later to form a six-man board of directors. Discussion of rules, by-laws, team rosters and schedules completed the business session. The schedule, which is expected to start early in December, will be drawn up at a directors meeting set tentatively for November 1 in Thief River Falls.

The meeting went on record as adopting the Canadian amateur rules to govern the games, and it was agreed that all teams should be equipped with new uniforms if not already supplied.

Teams represented at the session were those in this city, Grand Forks, University of North Dakota, Roseau, Hallock and Emerson, Manitoba. Local men present were Alvin Christofferson, A. B. Stenberg, Merrill Grothe and Reuben Julien. The group met in the Legion rooms, followed by dinner in the Evelyn hotel.

DR. INGVOLSTAD CITES DETERRENTS TO EUROPEAN WAR

Noted Lecturer Tells Civic Group Early Outbreak of War Unlikely

Discussing the war situation in Europe before a luncheon meeting of the Civic and Commerce association Wednesday noon, Dr. Fred W. Ingvoldstad, widely known lecturer, after citing the incitements and deterrents to war, drew the conclusion that an early outbreak of hostilities is unlikely. He was introduced by Supt. Morris Bye.

The speaker, who recently returned from an extensive stay in European countries, expressed the conviction that Germany has no intention of attacking the Soviet Union, and further, that there is little likelihood that the fascist states will form a bloc, for the reason that their cultures and racial traits are too diverse.

He described the German economic situation as being desperate, with three out of every five industrial plants closed, and said that the country would blow up internally in the event of a war which, he added, would be contrary to the wishes of the rank and file of the German people. His study, he said, also led him to believe that the Soviet Union would never open a war of aggression, and that Japan would not attack Russia because of pressing internal problems and the great distance it would be necessary to travel.

In a brief business session the association approved a committee recommendation that a meeting in the Auditorium be arranged for the evening of November 12 in the form of a tribute to public officials and civic leaders for their services to the community.

Hegg of Minneapolis will serve as leader of the discussion group, which has been arranged under the sponsorship of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Lakeshore Cooperative Oil association and the People's Cooperative store. The meetings are open to the public, and women in particular are invited to attend. Similar classes are being conducted in Goodridge, River Valley, Middle River, Clearbrook and Bagley.

FULL LIST OF CANDIDATES IS IN THIS ISSUE

Complete Official Sample Ballot Published in Times This Week

CHOICE TO BE MADE AT ELECTION NOV. 3

Two Proposed Amendments to State Constitution to be Voted on

The publication elsewhere in this issue of the Times of sample ballots listing aspirants for national, state and county office will serve to remind voters that the fall campaign is now in its final stages and, that less than two weeks remain until election day, November 3, arrives to settle all arguments to the satisfaction of at least a majority of the public.

In addition to listing electors representing no less than six parties on the presidential ticket, the state ballot carries the names of all candidates for the various state offices. The county ballot carries the names of candidates for posts in the county, legislative district and congress, while a state ballot will be used for voting on two proposed amendments to the state constitution, both of which have been published in detail in the Times in the past few issues.

Heading the state ballot are the names of the two candidates for the United States senate, Theodore Christianson, Republican; and Ernest Lundeen, Farmer-Labor. Also on the list are four candidates for the short senate term from November 3 to January 3, 1937.

Candidates for governor are Elmer A. Benson, Farmer-Labor; Martin A. Nelson, Republican; and Earl Stewart, Industrial. Other aspirants are: Lieutenant-governor: Gottfrid Lindsten, F. L., Arthur E. Nelson, Rep., and A. C. Knudson, Dem. Secretary of state: Paul C. Hartig, F. L., Mike Holm, Rep., Carl Hennemann, Dem., and Vincent R. Dunne, Socialist.

State treasurer: C. A. Halverson, F. L., Julius A. Schmahl, Rep., and Ray M. Lang, Dem. Attorney general: Harry H. Peterson, F. L., Oscar F. Youngdahl, Rep., and Thomas Gallagher, Dem. Railroad and warehouse commissioner: Hjalmar Petersen, F. L., Frank W. Matson, Rep., and Arthur N. Desgrove, Dem. Associate justice of the supreme court: Andrew Holt, Edward J. Lee, Royal A. Stone and William H. Vanderburgh; two to be elected.

On the county ballot appear the names of the following candidates: Congressman: R. T. Buckler, F. L., Elmer A. Haugen, Rep., and Martin O. Brandon, Dem. Representative in the legislature from the 65th district: W. F. Day, George P. Jones, J. O. Melby and Marius Waldal; two to be elected.

Clerk of district court: Adolf Eklund. Judge of probate court: Lars Backe and Andrew Bottelson. County commissioner, first district: A. B. Mandt and Frank Race. Commissioner, third district: Paul Roy and Ole Skaar. Commissioner, fifth district: O. M. Mandt and Isaac E. Wilson.

Candidates for county commissioner posts whose names do not appear on the ballot, but who are making the race by the sticker route include Christ Engen, Chris Norlock and O. G. Lee in the first district and J. H. Iverson in the fifth district.

The state ballot also contains brief statements of the two constitutional amendments to be voted on by the people at the general election.

Amendment No. 1 authorizes the exchange of state lands for federal and other privately owned lands, as the legislature may provide; while Amendment No. 2 prohibits the imposition of taxes on real estate or tangible personal property for any state purpose except for the one-mill road tax and to raise money to pay indebtedness of the state incurred prior to January 1, 1937.

Amendment No. 2, the so-called Youngquist amendment, has aroused the most interest and has been widely discussed by candidates for state office. A statewide volunteer organization has been formed to seek passage of the amendment. The Farmer-Labor party is opposed to the passage of the amendment and the Minnesota Education Association is among the organizations opposed to its enactment.

PUBLIC OPINION

Thief River Falls, Minn.
Oct. 20, 1936

Dear Editor:

Bing, Bang! Sounded like the hunting season opened last week. Anyway the local politicians certainly patronized Du Pont and were lavish in their use of black powder. They may be good sportsmen, but there are poor marksmen. After all there was only a lot of noise and a little dirt. There was not one killing shot in the whole boomerang. What an army! All of them organized and armed to the teeth, just to get one man.

The whole array of arguments evidently had only one purpose, to throw a smokescreen around exbanker Benson by shooting at me. Intended of course to fool the public, but the public is not to be fooled all the time. The truth which I wrote about Benson in a late issue of your paper must have hurt bitterly. Not being able to refute a single statement, they try to cover up by throwing dirt at me. That is the old way of trying to get rid of truth by crucifying the one who tells it. But then truth is truth no matter who tells it. Even though I were a million times worse than they wish I were, that would not help Benson any.

Benson seems to know himself that he cannot win this election on his own merits. He therefore imports high-pressure speakers from everywhere to help sell him to the voters of our state. Just the other day the Press told about a list of such speakers who were to invade the state. So if Benson is elected it will not be because he himself possesses the merit, but because campaigners were able to make the people vote for him.

My record in the Senate is out of order in this debate on Benson. But since it has been referred to by my opponents and declared unconditionally 100% wrong, then the right thing must be just exactly the opposite. Then the legislator who works and votes entirely opposite to me, does the right thing every time. Now then, on this basis, I openly challenge Mellby and Day whom these self-styled leaders like Berve and Aaiba endorse and recognize as 100% right, to come out in this campaign and declare to the voters of the 65th legislative district that they will in every case and at all times work and vote just opposite to me. If they do not accept this challenge, then they silently admit that my record is not so bad and they will also brand these noisy leaders as liars.

If necessary let me repeat that I am not working in opposition of, or in support of any one political party. I campaigned two years ago as an independent progressive and liberal. I have served and will continue to serve in our legislature the people of our District and not any one party. I have always contended that the man is more important than the party in any election. No party can be better than the men who are elected to office. The reason why parties so often get corrupt as such is because they elect corrupt men to office.

I have no quarrel with the rank and file of the Farmer-Labor voters. They are as fine a group of people as any other group. They simply want good and sound progressive legislation. My quarrel has been with a few self-styled leaders in this party. The kind that simply send their people to the polls blindfolded and say: "Vote the ticket straight". I do not apologize for opposing any one or more of the candidates of any party whom I have reason to believe is unfit for the office they may seek. I do not vote for anybody because he belongs to a certain party. I vote for those whom I think are best fitted to serve us. There are good men and good candidates to be found in every party, and there are corrupt candidates to be found in every party.

In my last article I supported Hjalmar Petersen. I support him because I know him to be an honest man who wants to do what is right. I support him also because he is a man that dares to say what he knows to be right. He is not a man that only tries to hang on to the skirt tails of other leaders, but who thinks for himself and who has the courage of his convictions. Praise for Hjalmar Petersen comes with poor grace from the former editor of the Forum, who formerly has wanted to crucify every one who has said anything in opposition to former Governor Olson. It would be fun to hear the former editor tell all he must know about this, including the last letter by Hjalmar Petersen to the former governor. The former editor may also possibly remember how Hjalmar has flayed the Farmer-Labor politically minded office seekers with the term: "Mexican Generals." No wonder these leaders did not want Hjalmar for governor. They could not shelve him entirely, but they did succeed in getting him off to one corner. I hope Hjalmar will get a good vote from our people for the office of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner. He should have been our candidate for governor.

The present editor of the Forum charges that I attacked Elmer Benson's character. Hold your horses a bit. Don't be false in your accusations. I have only criticized Benson's record. If that is an attack on his character, then that is your insinuation, not my contention. I said that Benson is an exbanker that ran his bank on the rocks. That the former governor was humane enough to give him a job at the taxpayers' expense, and that he has been on the taxpayer's payroll ever since. As U. S. Senator (appointed) he introduced this American Youth Act. The most lavish expenditure bill ever introduced. I know that the Communists support this bill. I do not believe that our American youth is particularly interested in pensions for themselves. I believe that our youth is anxious to become producers, not consumers. In "supporting" this Youth Act, my opponents, who parade as friends of the present National Administration, also try to stab this administration in the back. They tell about that the "youth today faces stagnation, despair, suicide, a career of crime." This is what they said about the youth after four years of Hoover. Now there is no improvement, according to these boys, after four years of Roosevelt.

I received advice from this "army" not to say anything about Communism, since I was supported by Communists two years ago. Now, I suppose that is true. Nobody can blame the Communists for voting for me. They have some good common sense too, and you know, there was not much choice. On the other hand I did not attack the Communists. I simply stated that the Communists have openly endorsed the whole Farmer-Labor slate. Any one who doubts that may come to my office where I have plenty of proof on file. To me that is a fact, but no blanket condemnation for all Farmer-Labor candidates. Many of the Communists will have better sense than to vote for Benson too. Do you believe that Berve?

And then for the best joke. And how Berve likes to jingle with the baby's toys and say "the cat is out of the bag". "Now you can see, Tungseth is a Republican." Simply because I do not come to the rescue of his old fashioned, petrified idea of "vote 'em straight", I am a Republican. Or because I have the courage of my convictions to oppose any certain one of the Farmer-Labor slate, I am a Republican. Why not call me a Democrat? Certainly not all Democrats think as you do. This is however the same kind of "Scare Game" as they accused me of using in connection with Communism. These boys must think it is the unpardonable sin to be a Republican. May be that is the case. Anyway they try again and again to scare the voters by hollering "Republican."

If refusing to "Vote 'em straight" is being a Republican, or if not supporting Elmer Benson for Governor is being a Republican, then of course I must plead guilty to the "charge" together with the host of others who refuse to go blindfolded to the polls. If having your eyes open, and if having some information about respective candidates, and if not thinking as Berve thinks, is being a Republican, then, and in that case, I am one. This becomes a new definition for a Republican. It is not mine then but Berve's. And if Berve boosts the Republicans by such a praiseworthy definition, then he must be some kind of an under cover Republican agent. He certainly could not otherwise try to help the Republicans.

Now then, that I have been sentenced to life imprisonment in the Republican camp, and it was a life sentence was it not? by the honorable Judge R. M. A. and prosecuting attorney H. O. B. with a dyed-in-the-wool, Vote-'em-straight Jury, I better start looking around and see what kind of company I have gotten into. Ugh! here is Hoover. He is over there by the cemetery fence! They have just called a doctor to administer a little stimulant. The mortician is looking through the key-hole. Then Hip, Hip, Hurray! Here is Nye, Lemke, Frazier. Even Lafollette's cabin is still here. Could be worse. Here are at least some real progressives. Wait a minute, I see another one now! Langer. Well, if I have to stay here, I will evidently find some good company.

And now in closing, may I ask Benson or his friends to tell us why he objected to the building, by the city of Omaha, of a municipal bridge over the Missouri river. This objection was official in the Senate. How can Benson claim to be a friend of municipal and co-operative enterprises and then make a stab like that? Will these protectors and supporters of Benson and his St. Paul gang tell us why Mr. Bremer was a guest of honor at a political banquet recently at St. Paul? What is the sense of taking a slap at DuPont and Morgan with one hand and enfold the Bremers, and the Dents, and with them all the damnable liquor gang with the other? Now R. M. A. you don't need to bother about answering because you will of course get a political appointment in St. Paul if Benson is elected—so you are looking forward to a fat pay check in St. Paul, and as such perhaps we shall not blame you too hard for wanting Benson elected. He will take you in. When the present state administration can pick up men like R. I. Frisble, whom the Federal Government dropped as a hot potato after he had worked as "Engineer" about 14 months, receiving at that time $250.00 per mo. and also collecting besides this nice salary the huge sum of $3,839.45 for expenses from Jan. 20 1934 to April 15 1935,—and yet leaving a trail of innumerable unpaid bills around the country. When he got a job in St. Paul last spring at a little more than $200.00 per mo., then picking is good for job hunters in St. Paul.

Our taxpayers are getting pretty tired of the increase in taxation. The Farmer-Labor Budget Commissioner, Irwin C. Strout, asked $41,269,181.00 of the 1934 Legislature, an increase of about $5,000,000.00 over the request to the preceding legislature. These are simple facts in big figures which no one who has regard for truth will deny. The state payroll has increased tremendously these latter years,—according to Rasmussen's own figures, some over 40% increase. Not all of these requested expenditures were allowed by the Legislature. Very likely we should have cut down still more. But when the biggest appropriation in the history of the state was voted, don't forget where the request came from. Elmer Benson has proven himself to be one of these tax spenders and one who does for vast expenditures as proven by his American Youth Act. I do not advise our voters, but I only ask you to think before you vote.

E. L. Tungseth.

Hector—A mysterious "Clang! Clang!" pealing forth at almost any hour during a few days recently led Hector persons to think that the ghost of some late departed Hezekiah Q. Plumphaiger might be pounding out a prolonged and mystic funeral knell, but it was found that youngsters around town had appointed themselves as sextons and made good use of the church bell to which they had access, while contractors tore down the church. The ringing was heard more often than the ordinary school bell and that of the church bell on Sundays.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted and comforted us during the illness and death of our dear son, Melvin. Especially do we wish to express our gratitude to Rev. E. L. Tungseth, who conducted the funeral services, to Mrs. A. H. Josephson and the Goodridge Lutheran Choir and those other special groups who sang those beautiful songs. Likewise do we thank all who in sympathy contributed toward the many beautiful floral offerings and the Luther League and others who gave the gift to missions in memory of Melvin. Also we wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness and help so truly extended to us during our sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Belland and Truman and Vernon Belland. 43c

How Gracefully Do Your Feet Carry You?

Did you ever watch your image in the shop windows as you pass? Try it. And if your stride isn't as free and graceful as you would like, suspect your shoes!

Weakened arches, due to wearing improper shoes, are extremely common. And it isn't only heavy women who suffer thus though women with weak feet are likely to become heavy because their tortured feet prevent healthful activity.

If you have weak feet let us show you a shoe that will make you more blithely capable and your carriage more graceful. We feature the famous Archlock shoe for women. This shoe supports tired, weak arches like the gentle clasp of a hand. Archlock shoes will keep you fresh and serene at the end of a long day on your feet.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

The City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in regular session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on Tuesday, October 13, 1936, the meeting being called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

Minutes of the meetings of September 8, 11, 23 and October 9th were read and were duly declared so approved.

Monthly reports of the City Clerk and Municipal Judge were presented and accepted and ordered filed.

Application for a reduction in the accumulated taxes appearing against Lots 16-17, Block 13, Original Townsite was presented by Laura A. Dyhvig, asking that the same be reduced from $467.16 to the sum of $137.16, said taxes being for the years 1931-1935. Motion was made by Alderman Baker, seconded by Christofferson and duly carried that the Council so recommend to the County Board of Pennington County.

A request was presented by Mrs. A. Lien that the council order the construction of a concrete crossing on the north side of Fifth Street at the alley approach between Duluth and Arnold Avenue and the same was duly referred to the Street Committee for action.

Application was presented by Oen Mercantile Company for permit to erect on their property corner of 4th Street and Atlantic Avenue a 12,000 gallon furnace oil storage tank. Alderman Baker moved that the request be granted which motion was seconded by Alderman Kinghorn and duly carried.

Application was presented by Glenn Christie for permits to conduct public dances in the Sons of Norway Hall on each Friday of the week beginning on October 16th and the same was on motion duly approved and granted.

Applications for building and remodeling permits were presented, as follows: W. K. ALFALFA FIELD NETS $4,212

Willmar,—A forty-seven acre field of alfalfa on the Albert Gillie farm, six miles north of Willmar, was threshed recently and netted a total of $4,212, or $89.62 to the acre. The field threshed 10,500 pounds of seed of which Mr. Gillie kept 2,200 pounds for himself and for sale to others in the community and sold the remainder immediately for $2.60 per hundred. The seed was certified and registered Grimm alfalfa and brought a premium of two cents per pound. It was sold for cash, amounting to $3,724. Seed buyers stated that this lot was the purest and best seed ever seen.

BOY, 18, RIDES BIKE 460 MILES

Rochester.—"Hi Ma, me and my trusty steed are way up here and everything's okay!" With that salutation in a letter from Rochester to his mother, 18-year old Lloyd Wood accounted for his mysterious disappearance and absence of five long days and five long nights away from his downy cot and family dinner table at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood, Huntington, West Virginia. The "trusty steed" to which young Wood made reference was his bicycle which he pedaled 460 miles of the 900-mile trip to Rochester, where he sought medical aid. Whenever the going by bicycle became a little rough, Wood hailed truck drivers who helped him several hundred miles along the way. Upon his arrival he notified his distracted mother, who had planned to notify police of her son's disappearance. Young Wood related that a year ago the varicose vein in his right leg caused an infection and that while [illegible] in bed he thought of Rochester. "No sooner than you can say 'Jack Robinson', I bounded out of bed, grabbed a rain coat, a few tools in case of tire trouble and started out with my bike for Rochester. Of course, I didn't tell Ma, or a darn soul, 'cause I knew they wouldn't want me to go."

EXPRESS SHIPMENT DELIVERS ITSELF

An incident proving that dogs have an almost human intellect took place last week in Sauk Centre. Verne Cole, who is now in Chicago sent his dog, part Chow, home to his parents by express. The shipment arrived too late in the evening for delivery, but the dog, realizing that he was home, set out to get there. Chewing his way out of the crate, he made his appearance at the Cole home the same evening. The next day the empty crate was delivered by the express man and the dog went out to meet him. The agent, who had been puzzled until then over the dog's whereabouts, knew that he was in the crate when delivered to the station, but did not know that the dog had delivered himself.

NAP IS COSTLY

Luverne—It cost Peter Menage of Rock Rapids, Iowa $25.00 and costs for parking his car in the middle of a highway at Luverne and going to sleep. Menage started for home at four o'clock in the morning after spending a sociable evening in Luverne, and having driven only a few blocks the sandman sprinkled so much dust in his eyes that Peter realized he could not drive. Shutting off the motor and lights he proceeded to do the best thing under the circumstances, take a nap. His only error was in not pulling to the curb. The patrol came along a few moments later, found the driver snoring and took him into custody.

TRIES TO 'FLY'; BOY BREAKS ARM

Crosby—An attempt to use an umbrella for a parachute resulted in a painful experience for Chester Matthews, 8, of Crosby. Overcome with the urge to fly, Chester took an umbrella and climbed to the roof of a shed at the home of his parents opened the "parachute" and leaped. Instead of soaring easily to the ground as he had anticipated, he came down rather hard, fracturing his wrist in two places. He was similarly injured a year ago when he attempted another acrobatic stunt.

WORLD STILL HAS HONEST PEOPLE

Cokato—Proving that the world still has honest people, two twenty dollar bills, lost on the streets of Cokato, came back to the owner from Minneapolis. Edwin Johnson of Knapp, the loser, discovered when leaving Cokato after having attended a political rally, that there was a hole in the pocket where the bills should have been—and weren't. He advertised for the lost currency and it was returned to him by a Minneapolis man, who had watched for the ad. He made a trip by bus to Cokato to return the $40.00.

APPLE WITHIN APPLE

Bemidji.—One of nature's freaks an apple grown inside an apple, turned up at a Bemidji store when an indignant customer to whom the apple had been sold returned it to the proprietor, claimed it was rotten fruit and demanded a replacement. It was replaced, but on closer inspection the grocer discovered the center section which the customer had condemned as rotten, was actually another apple grown inside the larger one.

REGULATING BICYCLES

Many communities have already taken steps to regulate bicycle riding. Increasing popularity of bicycles has added greatly to traffic hazzards and the need for some sort of regulation is generally recognized. At St. Cloud, recently, fifteen hundred young people shouted approval to a new bicycle ordinance after it was explained to them at a meeting addressed by school, city and police officials. The ordinance provided for a license at moderate cost, proper head and tail lights and signaling device, and established general bike riding regulations, putting a ban, among other things, on riding two abreast. At Grand Rapids a somewhat similar ordinance is now being enforced and in commenting on the problem the Herald Review of that city says:

> It is not the intention of the village authorities to attempt to hinder bicycle riding, but only to adopt regulations which will make the use of those machines safer. The matter was first brought to the attention of the council by the local safety committee, which had the enthusiastic backing of village police officers. Bicycle riders were seen, repeatedly, carrying one or more passengers with them. Three riders would come down the street abreast, then divide, as a car approached, and riding so that the driver of the car knew not which way to steer so that he might avoid striking one of the riders. Boys and girls on bicycles in so many ways have violated safe driving and riding practices that it was realized something must be done to correct a situation which was steadily growing worse.

The bicycle season now being near the end for this year, there is no need for hasty action locally, but is is a problem that deserves consideration and might properly be given some thought by local officials during the winter with the view of taking action before the next season gets under way. The League of Minnesota Municipalities has prepared a model ordinance which it is encouraging its members to adopt. This model, and the ordinance of other cities already in affect should simply the preliminary work.

In this issue of the Times you will find reproductions of the ballots to be voted on at the election to be held a week from next Tuesday. By studying them carefully now, the job of marking them on election day will not be so difficult. In another column is an explanation of the proposed constitutional amendments. No. 1 would give the state authority to exchange its lands with the Federal government or private individuals for the purpose of centralizing its holdings and simplifying the problem of administration. We believe this amendment is for the best interests of the state and should be supported. No. 2 would limit the taxing power of the state on real and personal property, forcing it to find other sources of income to defray its regular current expenses. This amendment is endorsed by the Farm Bureau because it will reduce the taxes of the farmer. It is being opposed by the Farmer-Labor party because it will reduce the taxes of insurance companies and other large holders of property in the state, and may result in other forms of taxes that are objectionable to the Farmer-Labor party. This amendment has received a great deal of publicity and needs no further explanation. On the first amendment there apparently is no difference of opinion. The second has become highly controversal and, considering the difficulty of passing any amendment even without opposition, probably has little chance of being adopted.

Enjoyment of the new skating rink will not be confined to those who enjoy skating. For those who are too old to skate there will be hockey, which is as interesting a game from the spectators point of view as anyone could wish to see. And the variety of hockey that will be played here will be worth seeing. The Thief River team will move in fast company. A league consisting of teams from Emerson, Halleck, Roseau, Grand Forks, North Dakota University and Thief River Falls will play a regular schedule during the season. There are no set-ups in the group and it is reasonably safe to predict that before the winter is over folks hereabouts are going to talk a lot of hockey.

It seems strange that with better business thruout the country and less unemployment there still should be more people on relief now than at any time during the depression. Although administration spokesmen offer various reasons for this condition, it is significant that they do not deny that the condition exists. And in arriving at the number of people on relief, those receiving old age assistance and those who are enrolled in CCC camps are not included. Can it be possible that the administration is using relief funds for political purposes? That, of course, is hard to believe. And yet one local merchant was told this week that if he continued to support Landon for President he couldn't expect to receive any more patronage from those who are on relief. Perhaps the person who told him so spoke without authority. It is possible that in making such a threat he was expressing only his own personal views. Let us hope that that is the case.

There is something about the weather these days that leads us to believe the summer has ended and that another winter is at hand. Well there is some consolation in knowing that no matter how tough it gets, this coming winter probably will not be as severe as the one we had last year. And having survived that one there really isn't anything to worry about.

Ted Christianson is making capital of the fact that he is the only candidate for Senator who is not endorsed by the Communist party. Which is presenting the situation in a nice way. And, incidentally, Christianson made a good impression on his hearers when he spoke here last week. He was fair in his criticism of the administration, giving President Roosevelt full credit for those things which he thought creditable, and there were several of them. In our political thinking too many of us are inclined to believe that all virtue is confined to our own party and that the opposition represents everything that is evil. It was refreshing, therefore, to hear a few nice things about the leader of the opposition in a campaign speech. A little more of such campaign honesty is greatly to be desired.

WARS ARE NEVER WON

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

If the world and the United States could eliminate the cost of wars, past and future, there would be pensions for nearly everyone.

Each year the army requires scores and hundreds of millions of dollars. The navy asks for battleships and other things which take hundreds of millions.

The few remaining veterans of the Civil War are now tottering to their graves. But a comparatively few now live. Yet to maintain those now living and their widows costs the government of the United States $43,000,000 a year and pensions paid out to veterans of the Civil War have amounted to over $7,[illegible].

Then came the World War. For every man who was under arms in the Civil War, several were in service during the later conflict. The veterans of the World War with bonuses and payments. They have already collected several billion dollars. At the recent convention at Cleveland a resolution was passed to be presented to congress under which the widows of war veterans were to be provided for. That is right in many cases. But a widow was defined as one who had married a veteran prior to July 3, 1931 or had married him after that date and lived with him three years prior to his death. The American Veterans Association says that the Cleveland convention had started down the road for pensions for every veteran.

The purpose is not to discuss whether veterans are entitled to more money than they are getting. The fact is that the nearly eight billion dollars paid to veterans of the Civil War may seem like small change by the time the final payments are made to those of the World War.

War is expensive. It is demoralizing. It leaves its blight upon every nation of the earth. It may be true that nothing on earth is bad enough to justify a war.

The results of war are never what are wanted. The United States entered the World War to save the world for democracy. Where is democracy? We also fought a great war to end all wars. Where is peace?

MINNESOTA'S TAX RECORD

(Minnesota Mascot)

In a survey published last week by the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform, it was shown that in the past three years Minnesota increased its state tax levy on property more than any other state in the union. A study of Minnesota's tax record of the past [illegible] a most interesting commentary on the Farmer-Labor candidate's tax promises for the future.

Thirty-four states either reduced their state tax on property or abolished it altogether since 1932. Eight other states had abandoned the state levy on property prior to 1932. Thus 42 states have either abolished or reduced their state levy. But Minnesota is among the six that are levying more tax against property this year than they did for 1932. Not only that, Minnesota, with its increase of 19 per cent, leads these six by a considerable margin.

This state not only led in the matter of increased taxes, but the amount of the state tax was greater than for any other state in the union with the exception of Texas which has a much larger property valuation and double the population of Minnesota. Minnesota's state tax levy was increased from $13,139,000 in 1932 to $18,810,000 in 1935.

What is the reason for Minnesota's unenviable tax record? Certainly it can not be the depression. The depression was not confined to Minnesota alone and other states were able to give the taxpayer relief. Since the depression can not logically be used as an excuse, there should be a great difficulty in fixing the responsibility [illegible].

The responsibility for this disproportionate increase in taxes must rest with the Farmer-Labor state administration. That administration [illegible] the very technique has paid no attention to the constant demands for economy. It has done very little to reduce the burden of taxation which has fallen so heavily on real estate.

In spite of this record, Senator Benson and his Farmer-Labor associates would have the people of Minnesota believe that they and they alone can solve the tax problem and give the people the relief that they so urgently need. If this is the case, why have they not accomplished it during the past six years?

BIGGEST WORLD ISSUE

(Worthington Globe)

The issue of government by laws vs. government by force is the biggest problem in the world today. Democracy has been losing ground steadily in Europe since the World War. The [illegible] dictatorship threatens the whole world. [illegible] Christian Science Monitor [illegible].

Topics of the Times

The undertakers probably took more than passing interest in the announcement that the deer season is to be opened next month.

Following the recent Farmer-Labor Democratic deal in this state, one wonders if President Roosevelt is prepared to reciprocate by supporting a Farmer-Labor candidate for the presidency in 1940.

Maybe these are called lean years, opines the Minnesota Mascot, because more people are leaning on the government than ever before.

It's getting to the stage where an old-timer is one who can remember when the first Armistice Day celebration was held back in 1918.

With Theodore Christianson the only United States senate candidate in Minnesota not bearing the Communist endorsement, the issue at last is clearly defined.

John N. Garner, Democratic candidate for re-election as vice president, said the other day he has a constitutional dislike for public speaking. At least, it's constitutional.

The United States has no monopoly on silliness. Consider that "stork derby" in Toronto, Canada.

Everybody will be crazy in 25 years, a scientist tells us, but a lot of folks would advance the date a quarter century if this election doesn't turn out to suit them.

Terminology—If your side is working for a cause, it is a crusade. If it's the other fellow's side, it's a racket.

Results of the presidential election probably will be as far apart as the polls.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times of Oct. 21, 1926

There are only 22 unoccupied dwellings in the city, many of them not habitable, a survey by the local postoffice revealed. The first sugar from the new refinery at East Grand Forks was recently placed on sale in Thief River Falls. —The first local snowfall, amounting to an inch, arrived Tuesday.—A price of 47 cents was set by the creamery for September deliveries of butterfat. —P. H. Malberg of Excel township, Marshall county, rounded out his 45th year of residence in that community. —The winning by Gene Tunney of the title of world's champion boxer was of special interest to Tony Dorn, local salesman, who had participated in a match with Tunney at Quantico, Virginia, while both were serving in the United States Marines. —C. D. Gustafson, accompanied by Mrs. Gustafson, left on a business trip to Chicago.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Times of Oct. 19, 1916

The ten banks of the county were represented at an organization meeting of the Pennington County Bankers association in the Brumund hotel. T. L. Mulgaard was named president and W. W. Prichard, secretary treasurer. —For the first time in a year the trains of the Electric line will run to the original terminus at Third st. The train had been stopping at Eighth st. —Arthur Loken of this city is enjoying a ten-months sojourn in the Hawaiian Islands. —Supt. J. H. Hay returned Monday from a business trip to Minneapolis. —Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich returned from a visit in Minneapolis and Rochester. —M. T. McFarland, Ed Wilcox and W. H. Fredericks went partridge hunting 20 miles east of the city and brought back a 100 pound black bear. —N. A. Nelson, Soo Line mail clerk and the first to subscribe for the Times when Volume 1, No. 1, was issued, brought in his renewal for the sixth year.

BUFFALO SKELETON DISCOVERED IN LAKE

Westbrook—A buffalo skeleton, in fair state of preservation, has been found by P. H. Peterson in the receding waters of [illegible] lake, near Westbrook. The skeleton indicates that the animal, when alive, was a large one, measuring at least six feet to the top of its shoulder blades. The size of the vertebrae and of the bones in the legs as well as the size of the ribs and shoulder blades prove its large size. It is believed that the buffalo wandered into the lake [illegible] and [illegible] was killed by [illegible].

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

With your kind permission I wish to make some comments on two of the charges advanced by Senator E. L. Sungseth in his effusion in the last issue of the Times.

His left-handed compliments of Governor Peterson while he administers a swift kick to Mr. Petersen's fellow candidate on the farmer-labor ticket, Mr. Benson, is of course nothing more nor less than the usual Tungseth demagogy designed to bring about personal antagonism between these two men. From personal acquaintance with the two men I know that Senator Tungseth's cheap blatancy will only gain him the contempt, not only of Senator Benson, but of Hjalmer Petersen whom he professes to admire, as well. As for his attack on Mr. Benson, I know that if Mr. Benson will condescend to banter words with such small fry as state senator Tungseth, he is well able to take care of himself. The particular portion of the senator's letter that I wish to comment on is his statement that "the rich always have a way of loading the burden on the rank and file with whom they do business," and the statement at the close of his letter wherein he states "that a farmer-labor victory will be nothing less than a communist victory."

Senator Tungseth is in excellent position to know that the rich always find methods of loading the tax burden on the little fellow. From the records of the Minnesota Senate we find that Tungseth was actively engaged in aiding the rich in putting over such a method. Altho the farmer-labor tax program sponsored by Governor Floyd B. Olson, which would have raised the income taxes in the higher brackets, levied gift and inheritance taxes on excess corporation profits was before the senate, Senator Tungseth preferred to support the vicious Omnibus Tax Bill advanced by the republican oligarchy. Let it be remembered that these taxes would be difficult for the rich to pass on to the poor because they are levied after the income has been accumulated while the sales taxes contained in the Omnibus Bill were direct taxes on the poor. According to the Senate Journal, Senator Tungseth voted against the amendments introduced by Farmer-labor members of the senate which would include in the Omnibus Bill higher rates against higher incomes, inheritance taxes and corporation taxes and he also voted against the amendment which would have eliminated the sales tax from the Bill. The top off his 100 per cent reactionary record he voted for the Omnibus Bill on its final passage. Except for the veto by Governor Floyd B. Olson whom Tungseth attacked two years ago as he is attacking Benson today, this vicious tax measure would have been saddled on the people of Minnesota.

An attack on the farmer-labor party because its candidates are being indorsed by the communists comes with poor grace from Senator Tungseth inasmuch as he was elected two years ago with very definite and outspoken communist support. The communists at that time very frankly advocated the election of Tungseth "because he was the worst of the two." They wished to make things as bad as possible, as soon as possible so that the capitalist system would collapse as quickly as possible. It was their contention that if Big Business was allowed to pick its own wrecking crew they would destroy their little play house so much the sooner, inasmuch as the normal farmer-labor majority in this district in the past has been from 400 to 500 votes in the contest for senator, and Tungseth gained election by a majority of 101 votes, it is logical to suppose that the bulk of the 1302 communist votes cast in the primary decided the outcome in his favor in the fall election.

The threat of Fascism to democratic governments the world over has convinced the communists, evidently, that free speech, free press and equality at the polls are American institutions worth protecting. Farmer-laborites may justly feel proud of the fact that democrats, socialists, communists and all other groups who fight for better conditions for the common people have decided that the Farmer-Labor party is the united front party of the people, dedicated to the continuation of American liberty as voiced in the Declaration of Independence and are marshaling their forces behind its ticket and against the forces of reaction gathered under the republican banner where Senator Tungseth has done such valiant service.

Yours truly,
R. M. AALBU.

OLD-FASHIONED MILL IS IN OPERATION

Worthington—An old-fashioned sorghum mill, which is turned by a horse as it walks in a circle is owned by U. Lutterman of Olney township. In the mill the sorghum cane is ground and the juice collected, which is cooked, 150 gallons at a time, in a large flat pan over an open fire until it makes a thick dark amber colored sorghum syrup. Mr. Lutterman grew about an acre of the cane and expects to have 100 gallons of syrup when the cooking is completed. Cutting the cane is a long job which must be done by hand. First the leaves and tops are stripped from the cane in the field, then it is cut by hand so that none of it touches the ground.

NO. 8 McCORMICK-DEERING TRACTOR PLOW

The Ace of Tractor Plows. Combine rugged construction and easy, efficient operation. Simple design, great strength and rigidity. Great beam and bottom clearance, and now available in the new type of bottom known as "KA" bottoms, which are built for fast tractor plowing with a long mouldboard and tail piece extention, same as used on breaker bottoms. You cannot appreciate this plow until you have operated one. Daily praise is heard from hundreds of our customer owners.

McCormick-Deering No. 8 Little Genius Tractor Plow

FEED GRINDERS

We have a very large number of satisfied customers on McCormick-Deering Feed Grinders, and any one of them will tell you that you cannot go wrong on a grinder investment of any of the different types of McCormick-Deering. Type "C", "B" or "BB" in the regular grinders in several sizes to meet your needs, besides the Hammer Mill and Roughage Mill. We can supply your needs in the type and size feed grinder you need. We also have some second hand mills most always, and now includes one Howell Roller Mill at $35.

ENGINES

Perhaps there is no handier chor-boy on any farm than where you find one of the new type McCormick-Deering "LA" Engines which is all inclosed and runs in oil. The small size is a combination of 1½-2½ H. P. and the larger 3-5 H. P. These engines have proven universal satisfaction, and a surprise to all owners. If you need a small stationary engine, be sure and try out one of these new McCormick-Deering "LA" engines.

MANURE SPREADER

The No. 4A McCormick-Deering Spreader is all-steel construction throughout. Steel bracing, steel box, steel wheels and a strong steel frame. Large galvanized, rust resisting non-warping, copperized, heavy-gauge steel box of 70 bu. capacity. With eight heavy anti friction roller bearings. It is the spreader that will prove 100% satisfaction.

CREAM SEPARATORS

It is not wise to try and get along with an old cream separator that will not skim clean, because with but a small heard of cows a new McCormick-Deering can be bought for the saving of the loss you are taking with the old machine. The McCormick-Deering Cream Separator is outstanding, in ball bearing construction, rust-proof stainless steel discs, durable, mirror-like finish, automatic lubrication system and CLOSE SKIMMING.

1 MARE, 1 COLT

That's all right now, and we are anxious to close out on horses at once. The mare is 9 years old, weights about 1450, black and should be worth about $125.00, but $70.00 will buy her if taken at once. The colt is 2½ years old, ready for work next spring. Actually should be worth over $100.00 but $85 buys him now.

USED CARS AND TRUCKS

Several outstanding bargains in both used trucks and cars. Especially in the low priced bracket. Two of the trucks we have been using in our own work are now for sale and will be priced right. We invite your inspection.

CATCHES 46 INCH FISH

Fertile—"That's fish in that thar lake!" exclaimed Harold Gronningen, Fertile fisherman, when he returned triumphantly with a northern pike which he had caught in Union lake. The fish measured 46 inches in length and 10¼ inches in girth, tipping the scales at 23½ pounds. At one point during the tussle with the big fellow, Mr. Gronningen had the pleasure of a free ride around the lake when the fish put everything it had into a burst of speed in an attempt to get away.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Minnesota

To be submitted at 1936 General Election

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
LEGAL DEPARTMENT

HARRY H. PETERSON
Attorney General

St. Paul, Minnesota, April 29, 1936

Honorable Mike Holm,
Secretary of State,

Dear Sir:

In compliance with the provisions of Section 44 of Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927, I herewith furnish you a statement of the purpose and effect of all proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota which are to be submitted to the electors of said state at the general election in 1936, in accordance with certain acts adopted by the 1935 legislature.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1.

By the adoption of Chapter 393 of the Laws of 1935 the legislature has proposed an amendment to Article 8 of the State Constitution. The proposed amendment, if adopted, will not alter the form of any existing section of the Constitution, but will add a new section to be known as Section 3 of said Article 8.

The proposed amendment reads as follows:

"Any of the public lands of the state, including lands held in trust for any purpose, may, with the approval of a commission consisting of the governor, the attorney general and the state auditor, be exchanged for lands of the United States and other privately owned lands as the legislature may provide, and the lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust, if any, to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject, and the state shall reserve all mineral and water and water power rights in lands so transferred by the state."

The Purpose and Effect of the Proposed Amendment.

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to provide for exchanging any of the public lands of the state for lands of the United States and land privately owned, such exchanges to be made with the approval of a commission consisting of the governor, the attorney general and the state auditor. Such exchanges of land cannot now be made because the State Constitution does not permit the legislature to authorize the sale of school lands, state swamp lands and state internal improvement lands except by public sale. One immediate purpose in granting such authority is to make it possible for the state to acquire compact areas of land for forestry and other conservation purposes by exchanging land outside of such conservation areas for lands of the United States and privately owned lands within such areas.

The proposed amendment requires that all mineral rights, water rights and water power rights in lands so transferred by the state shall be reserved. The land so acquired will become subject to the same trust, if any, as the land disposed of. For example, if school land is given in exchange, the land received will become school land.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2.

By the adoption of Chapter 321 of the Laws of 1935, the legislature proposed an amendment to Section 1 of Article 9 of the State Constitution.

This section now reads as follows:

"The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, and household goods and farm machinery, as the legislature may determine:

"Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, this section will read as follows:

"The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200.00 for each household, individual or head of a family, and household goods and farm machinery, as the legislature may determine:

"Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads.

"Provided further, that after January 1, 1937, no tax shall be imposed on any real or tangible personal property for any state purpose, except that authorized by Section 16 of Article 9 of this Constitution, and/or for the payment of indebtedness of the state incurred prior to January 1, 1937; but this proviso shall not limit the right of the state shall have, the right to impose taxes upon royalties, occupations, sales, receipts, incomes, inheritances, gifts, privileges, franchises, or licenses, or upon property on the basis of gross earnings or tonnage, or upon intangibles of every kind."

The Purpose and Effect of the Proposed Amendment.

The purpose and effect of the proposed amendment is to prohibit the imposition of any taxes on real or tangible personal property after January 1, 1937 for any state purpose, except as hereinafter stated, without limiting the right of the state to impose taxes upon royalties, occupations, sales, receipts, incomes, inheritances, gifts, privileges, franchises, or licenses, or upon property on the basis of gross earnings or tonnage, or upon intangibles of every kind, said proposed amendment declaring that the state shall have the right to impose such taxes.

If the said amendment is adopted the state will retain the right to impose taxes on real or tangible personal property for either or both of the following purposes:

(1) To provide funds to be used to construct or improve roads and bridges in this state, as authorized by Section 16 of Article 9 of the State Constitution, for which purpose, under Section 16 of said Article 9, the legislature in its discretion is authorized to provide for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state, of not to exceed in any year one mill on all the taxable property within the state; and

(2) To raise money to pay indebtedness of the state incurred prior to January, 1 1937.

Respectfully yours,
HARRY H. PETERSON,
Attorney General.

FACE JUNGLE LIFE DANGER

Redwood Falls.—Possibilities that students and teachers would find it necessary to practice up on their tarentellas were great in Redwood Falls for two days when a tarantula was at large in a school building. The tarantella, a wild whirling dance, was once believed to be a cure for the bite of the insect which at one time was supposed to be fatal. Panic in which teachers and students joined reigned at the school after a tarantula, which the biology teacher had, escaped from the glass jar in which it was kept. It was discovered at the end of the second day by some pupils who were working in the biology classroom.

3 GENERATIONS SMOKE 136 YEAR OLD PIPE

Belle Plaine—A pipe 136 years old, handed down through three generations, is smoked by Fred Logelin of Belle Plaine, who received it 43 years ago from his uncle. The pipe is a hand-carved meerschaum with the date of its manufacture, 1800, carved on the front of the bowl, which, after more than a century and a quarter of continuous use has attained a richness of coloring greatly desired. Mr. Logelin's grandfather, who was the original owner, acquired it before he emigrated to this country from Switzerland in 1851.

FIRE INTERRUPTS CHARIVARI PARTY

Morris—Festivities of a charivari and housewarming party at Morris became less hilarious with the interruption of a fire call. 250 persons were gathered to take a newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Halvorson, about town at the head of the traditional noisy procession, when fire broke out at Mr. Halvorson's farm. Gasoline had been drawn from a tank and it became ignited. The throng of merrymakers rushed with all speed to the fire, but it was extinguished before they arrived.

SECOND MELON CROP

Mankato.—In line with the apple and plum trees which are producing blooms for the second time, Mrs. Oscar E. Ericksen, living in the Maple river bottoms near Good Thunder, has a muskmelon patch which is bearing its second crop, and the patch is yellow with new blossoms. She is displaying the second crop of melons. They are of the Sugar Rock varieties.

NOTICE

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE THIEF RIVER FALLS COOPERATIVE CREAMERY ASSOCIATION:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That a special meeting of the stockholders of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery Association will be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms of the Municipal Auditorium in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota on the 7th day of November, 1936, at two o'clock P. M. for the purpose of voting upon the resolution proposing amendments to the Articles of Incorporation of the company. A full text of the resolution, as unanimously adopted by the Board of Directors of the corporation on October 20, 1936, and a full text of the proposed amendments and the articles which will be repealed by said amendment are hereto attached and made a part of this notice.

Dated October 20, 1936.

J. M. THIEDE,
Secretary.
JOHN FENNESDAHL,
President.

RESOLUTION

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery Association of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, held on October 20th, 1936, Hans Anton offered the following resolution and moved its adoption. The same was seconded by Christ Nelson and unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery Association is a cooperative association, organized and doing business under the requirements and terms of Chapter 326 of the Laws of Minnesota for 1923, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors deem it desirable to insure a wider distribution of the ownership of the stock and to reduce the par value thereof from twenty-five ($25) dollars to twelve dollars and fifty cents ($12.50), exchanging two shares for one of the now outstanding stock, and

WHEREAS, it has been difficult in the past to procure a full and complete audit of the year's business in time for the annual meeting designated by the Articles of Incorporation to be held on the last Monday in January of each year, and therefore desire to change the date of the annual meeting to a later date, and

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary, expedient and advisable that this corporation amend its Articles of Incorporation so as to enable the making of the changes contemplated above,

NOW THEREFORE, Be IT Resolved, that a special meeting of the stockholders of this corporation be called for Saturday, November the 7th at two o'clock P. M. of that day to be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Municipal Auditorium in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, for the purpose of voting upon the proposed amendments to the Articles of Incorporation as hereinafter set forth, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of this corporation be, and he hereby is, instructed to prepare and mail to each stockholder of this corporation at his or her last known Post Office address a copy of this resolution and the full text of the proposed amendment and also a full text of each section or sections as may be repealed by such amendment and a ballot in the following form which is hereby prescribed and adopted.

ABSENT MEMBER'S BALLOT

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery Association of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, to be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Municipal Auditorium in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, at two o'clock P. M. on November 7, 1936 the following motions will be voted upon:

I

Moved by Hans Anton and seconded by Christ Nelson that Article IV of the Articles of Incorporation of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery Association, the full text of which, in its present form, reads as follows:

ARTICLE IV.
(Present Form)

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Eight Thousand ($8,000) dollars, divided into three hundred twenty (320) shares of the par value of twenty-five ($25) dollars each.

shall be amended so as to read:

ARTICLE IV.
(Proposed Amendment)

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Eight Thousand ($8,000) dollars, divided into six hundred forty (640) shares of the par value of Twelve dollars and fifty cents ($12.50) each.

II.

Moved by Hans Anton and seconded by Christ Nelson that Article X, the full text of which, in its present form, reads as follows:

ARTICLE X.
(Present Form)

The government and management of this Corporation shall be vested in a Board of not less than five nor more than nine Directors, and such Directors shall be elected by ballot by the stockholders at the annual stockholders meeting, which shall be held on the last Monday in January of each year. On the last Monday in January, 1925, the next annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation shall be held, at such time there shall be elected two Directors to serve one year, two to serve for two years and one to serve for three years. Hereafter Directors shall be elected as their terms expire. The officers of the Corporation shall be elected annually by the Directors from their own number. The terms and manner of electing Directors may be changed by the By-Laws of the corporation.

shall be amended so as to read:

ARTICLE X.
(Proposed Amendment)

The government and management of this corporation shall be vested in a Board of not less than five nor more than nine directors, and such Directors shall be elected by ballot by the stockholders at the annual stockholders meeting, which shall be held on the [illegible] Monday in February of each year. On the first Monday in January, 1937, the next annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation shall be held, at such time there shall be elected two Directors to serve for one year, two to serve for two years and one to serve for three years. Hereafter Directors shall be elected as their terms expire. The officers of the Corporation shall be elected annually by the Directors from their own number. Pioneer Resident Dies at Her Home Oct. 19

Mrs. Amy McMahon, for forty-one years a resident of this city, died at her home at 601 So. St. Paul Avenue October 19, at the age of eighty-eight years.

Mrs. McMahon was born July 10, 1848, in Prescot, Ontario, Can. In July 1867 she was married in New York to Louis McMahon and in 1871, they moved to Pembina, N. D., living there on a homestead until November 27, 1895. In that year they moved to this city where Mrs. Mahon lived until the time of her death.

She is survived by her sons Sam of Angus, Ed of Glasstown, N. D., Henry of this city; and one daughter, Mrs. Conley of Warren; also three brothers, eighteen grandchildren, and thirteen great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Larson chapel Wednesday, October 21, Reverend E. A. Cooke officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Postoffice Department Exposes Fake Eye Doctors

Exposure of what is known as the "glimmer racket", involving the operations of a nation-wide organization of crooks who pose as eye specialists was made recently by the chief inspector of the postoffice department, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. The men, a number of whom have been arrested, are alleged to have performed eye operations in country homes and collected unreasonable fees from their patients. A feature of the racket is the sale by itinerant salesmen of cheap glasses for extortionate prices. The fake doctors use the names of nationally known surgeons and oculists.

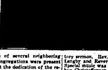
Baptist Parsonage Dedicated Sunday



Pastors of several neighboring church congregations were present Sunday at the dedication of the recently purchased Baptist church parsonage, occupied by Rev. and Mrs. V. T. Bjorklund. Speakers at morning and afternoon services included Rev. P. Lovene of Detroit Lakes, who delivered the dedicatory sermon, Rev. Berntson of Lengby and Reverend Bjorklund. Special music was rendered by Albyn Christofferson and others, and a fellowship dinner was served by the ladies' mission circle. The pastor expressed gratitude to the local businessmen and other friends of the church who contributed to the building purchase fund.

Plummer School Notes

The first issue of the school paper will be ready for distribution this week. Jack Ripple who is editor-in-chief has secured some interesting copy and it is hoped that the subscription list will more than equal that of last year.

Arrangements have practically all been completed for the serving of hot lunches in the near future. Most of those bringing lunches to school will welcome the addition of a hot dish to the lunch brought from home.

The big event of the week was the initiation party given in honor of the freshmen class by the sophomores. The freshmen were first finger-printed and then put thru a series of stunts which brought howls of glee from the upper classmen and exclamations of surprise from the freshmen. They all enjoyed their part in the program, however, and exhibited excellent sportsmanship.

The last part of the program was a series of stunts by members of the freshmen class, either individual stunts or stunts performed by small groups. These had been well planned and most of them consisted of a thorough "razzing" of the sophomores, who had to stand by and take it. It was hard for them to grin, tho' they took it for the most part very good naturedly.

Patrons of the school carnival to be held in the Municipal Auditorium on October 30th are sure to get their money's worth of entertainment. The vaudeville skits alone will make it an evening to be remembered, and the play "Squaring It With the Boss," is a rollicking comedy from start to finish. There is not a dull moment in it.

U. S. Spent $11,000 on Airport Sold for $520

The partially completed emergency airport at Rako, 22 miles south of Baudette, on which the federal government spent more than $11,000 a couple of years ago, was sold by the Lake of the Woods county board to Leonard Kleppe for $520 last week, says the Baudette Region. The county board had acquired the land and offered it for sale to the highest bidder. The government put a big crew of men at work clearing the site after acquiring it, and suddenly abandoned all operations. There are a few small buildings on the property.

EXEMPTION PLAN WOULD INCREASE MERCHANTS' TAX

Would Also Affect Farm and City Tenants, Report Indicates

Pointing out that tax exemption proposals now being urged in Minnesota easily may result in increases of 15 to 100 per cent in taxes on the property of merchants and other groups, the Minnesota Association of Commercial Organizations in a message directed to citizens here today asked business men, farmers and others to make a careful study of the proposals.

F. H. Klemer of Faribault, chairman of the association, cited the experience of other states to show the extremes to which assessed valuations would be cut by the exemption plans. When a large proportion of the property is removed from the tax rolls, he said, taxes on the remaining property will have to be increased to continue governmental services on the present basis.

"It is common knowledge that homestead exemption plans impose a heavier tax on merchants and other business men and that they discriminate against farm and home renters as well, increasing their personal property taxes and indirect their rent.

"We have been astounded during our inquiry into this matter, however, to discover the great variance in the effect. Investigations in Missouri showed that an exemption plan there would reduce the assessed valuation of the state about 14 per cent.

Group Requests Charter for New Bank in Oklee

An application was filed recently with the state commerce commission looking toward the establishment of a bank in Oklee. The group sponsoring the proposed institution include C. M. SAYS PRESIDENT JUGGLES FIGURES ON FISCAL STATUS

Hoover Attacks "Reckless Spending" in Philadelphia Talk

Former President Herbert Hoover Friday night accused the Roosevelt administration of "juggling fiscal reports of the government to make "expenditures look less than they are."

Addressing a Republican rally in Philadelphia, the former president scored what he described as "an entirely new system of double bookkeeping" introduced by the New Deal to keep "emergency" expenditures separate from "ordinary" or "routine" expenditures.

"Such double bookkeeping never has been used for honest purposes by governments," he asserted. "Its very motive is intellectual dishonesty. That is pernicious deceit.

"Mr. Roosevelt in his 1932 Pittsburgh speech implies that his gigantic increase in expenditures during the past four years has been necessitated by relief in some form.

"You may, however, be surprised to know that a large part of the burden the people have willingly assumed for relief was used in hundreds of millions of reckless increase of ordinary routine expenses of government.

"This waste has been bad enough. But morally worse, has been a continuous juggling with this double bookkeeping to cover this up. But the New Deal has a great sorrow to hide. You remember Mr. Roosevelt promised that he would reduce expenditures 25 per cent. The skeleton of that promise was rattled in the New Deal closet until they have tried to quiet it by juggling for double books."

2,000 State Highway Workers Completing First Aid Courses

Approximately 2,000 employes of the Minnesota highway department, stationed throughout the state, are taking final examinations this month in first aid courses which have been in progress for the past ten weeks, according to a highway department bulletin.

Co-operating with the American Red Cross, Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg arranged for first aid instruction classes in all of the department's 10 maintenance districts. Those who pass the final examinations will receive certificates showing they have successfully completed the regular Red Cross course of instruction.

Because highway employes are continually on the roads and often are first at the scene of traffic accidents, Mr. Elsberg believes that they should be qualified to give first aid in such emergencies, he stated. Red Cross physicians assert that in numerous cases accident victims are seriously injured by well meaning but untrained persons who handle them before a doctor's services are obtained.

Winger Banker Killed in Automobile Mishap Near Erskine Thursday

Henry Hatleberg, 56 years old, Winger banker, was killed Thursday morning when the car in which he was riding skidded in loose gravel at a bridge near Erskine and was wrecked. His skull was crushed. Another passenger in the car, John Christy who operates a store near Union lake, was taken to a hospital at McIntosh. Mr. Hatleberg is survived by his wife and five children, Helen, Grace, Lilly, Harold and Reuben.

Local Men Injured in Collision Near City

Richard Hammergren and Morris Melby of this community were injured late Saturday evening when the roadster driven by Hammergren collided with the rear end of another car driven by a Mr. Erickson of Route 1 out of this city. In the mishap, which occurred on Highway 32 beyond the curve at the sanatorium, M. Hammergren sustained a broken pelvic bone, and was taken to a hospital here along with Melby who was under observation for possible internal injuries. The occupants of the other car were reported uninjured.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Senator Benson proved himself a good prophet when he predicted that the Republicans can be depended upon to trot the old "red scare" out before the campaign draws to an end.

The Republicans should know by this time that the "red scare" scares nobody any longer— not even the Republicans. One would think that political history of recent years in Minnesota would teach them something, but it does not. They still are of the opinion that we are living in the war-hysteria period.

They say that the Old Guard dies but never surrenders. The Minnesota Old Guard says: "We will never surrender to an intelligent discussion of issues."

In a speech at Hibbing last week, Martin A. Nelson declared: "If the Farmer-Labor candidate for Governor is not trying to trick you, but really intends to do what he says (increase iron ore taxes sharply) you ought to organize a band of vigilantes to drive him from the borders of the state."

Thus, in an unguarded moment, Mr. Nelson gave the people of Minnesota a true picture of his inner self. He presents a threat to law and order should he be elected governor.

A statement such as the above, calling for mob violence, for Klan and Black Legion methods, coming from a man who aspires to the highest executive office of the state, is shocking in this day and age. Were it not for the fact that it was printed in exact language in several of the Twin City dailies one would be justified in questioning the accuracy of the report. It is revolting of every sense of decency.

The Republican gubernatorial candidate—in an advertised anti-sales tax talk stated that he thought he had made his position on taxes quite clear in his keynote address, and expressed surprise that anybody with a knowledge of the English language failed to understand him.

He did make his position quite clear, because he said: "As to the precise method this tax revision shall take, the Republican party has not nor will it express an opinion." If there is anything there which indicates opposition to a sales tax, such as the last Republican-controlled Legislature passed but which Governor Olson vetoed, it will require a magician to find it.

It is worthy of note that even in a talk which was supposed to be devoted to an announcement of opposition by him of a sales tax, that nowhere does he say he will veto such a tax if the next Legislature should pass one. What he said was precisely this: that he will not recommend a general sales tax to the Legislature, and that he does not favor a general sales tax. A sales tax which exempts perfumes and chewing gum may not be regarded as a general sales tax. As Senator Benson points out, Mr. Nelson has left the door open to the passage of a sales tax, because a Republican legislature is certain to pass one, whether he recommends it or not.

The Republican party and Mr. Nelson in particular are fooling nobody but themselves. Evidence that they plan a sales tax is so conclusive that denial is in vain. The truth of the whole thing is that the Republicans have made the distressing discovery that the sales tax has weakened Mr. Nelson and that Senator Benson seems a certain winner in the governorship race. For that reason Republican headquarters have become frantic. If necessary, the word is out, Nelson will even say that he will veto a sales tax, but this only as a last resort.

When he does say so, nobody will believe him, because his declaration will have all over it the stamp of dishonesty and insincerity.

Jim Reed, America's vituperator No. 1, came to Minnesota, delivered an excoriation of President Roosevelt and the Farmer Labor party, and departed, leaving Republicans here gnashing their teeth because the thing was done too raw for public consumption.

Reed never was charged with taking the truth too seriously. Like the Hearst editor, he believes that the truth should never interfere with the story. Among other things, he said: "Lundeen (Congressman Ernest Lundeen) voted and consistently refused appropriations for ammunition, food and supplies to sustain the American boys who were battling upon the fields of France during the World War."

It is true that Congressman Lundeen was one of those courageous men who voted against the war, but once war was declared he did not stand in the way of its successful prosecution.

Ernest was not in the city when Reed delivered his harangue, but his brother Dave was. He sent Reed the following telegram while the Missouri Senator was still on the platform. The telegram read: "As a World War veteran and brother of Ernest Lundeen I demand a public apology of your base falsehood that Ernest Lundeen voted against the appropriations during the World War. Ernest Lundeen fought for the World War veteran during the war and after the war as no other man in Congress. When did you serve your country in time of war? And what gives you the right to question the loyalty of a man who offered his life for his country in time of war?"

Reed did not answer.

After the speech, some of the Republican leaders were quite nervous. They told Reed his remarks about Lundeen were in error. But Reed never detracts, nor does he apologize. He did not in this case.

Efforts were made to have that part of Reed's speech deleted in the newspaper reports. Hysterical voices called busy (maybe drowsy) city editors. But it was too late. The speech had been sent in in advance of its delivery and had already been printed. The milk was spilt, and there was no use crying in public over it. The best was made of a very bad situation.

PIG AT DANCE; JOKE FOLLOWS

Fergus Falls—A prank played at a public dance at Vining recently almost resulted in the arrest of a youth. While a dance was in progress, someone conceived the idea of lifting a 40-pound pig from a nearby pig pen and turning the animal loose on the dance floor. The pig squealed and the women screamed as all sought refuge. As a young man, who had missed the excitement, entered someone re- [illegible] "Catch that pig, Johnson," [illegible] Johnson, being young and nimble, immediately decided to enlarge his livestock assets to the extent of a juvenile porker. He caught the pig and later took it home. When the farmer who owned the pig learned what had happened, he became indignant, notifying the sheriff, who found the pig at the Johnson place. Johnson took the animal back at once.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS WIN FIFTH GAME OF SEASON FRIDAY

Mahnomen Is Defeated by Lincoln Eleven by 33-0 Score

Paced by the elusive running of Pomeroy Hill, the gold and blue Prowlers overwhelmed Mahnomen's versatile eleven, 33 to 0 under the floodlights at Lincoln field, thereby preserving their undefeated record and running their string to five consecutive games without a defeat this season.

While the sprinting of Hill gave the Prowlers' rooters their greatest thrills, nevertheless, he was not the only hero of the game as Milt Nesse, and other backs, and the Prowlers great line performed yeoman service in causing the Indians defeat by a far greater margin than anyone even dared hope for in advance of the contest.

The first tally came early in the first quarter as Hill took the oval from the Mahnomen 35 yard marker and circled end to score. Adkins booted the ball between the uprights for the seventh point. The Prowlers then staged another touchdown march from the Indians 32. Milt Nesse plowed through center for another Prowler counter. Adkins' perfect placement kick gave the locals a comfortable 14 to 0 margin.

A completed forward pass placed the ball on Mahnomens two yard stripe from which Hill plunged over. The attempted conversion for the extra point failed. The half ended with Coach Lee's gridders on the long end of a 20 to 0 count.

Nelson's sprint around and out the pigskin on his opponents thirty. With an open field before him, Hill fell on the slippery turf four yards from pay territory but redeemed himself by going over the Indian goal line standing up. The extra point was added. The Indians unleashed an aerial barrage late in the third quarter but failed to gain the necessary gain and were forced to punt.

A short shovel pass in the final quarter gained to the Mahnomen 26. Behind beautiful interference, Dicken, sub halfback, raced around end for the last score of the game. Jewell Stadum returned a Mahnomen punt to midfield as the gun sounded ending the game with the Prowlers on top, 33 to 0.

The Prowlers relentless driving was too much for Coach Hoffman's eleven. The locals ripped and battered away at the Indians defense without decreasing their pace for the entire game. The devastating offensive charge of the Prowlers was matched by an equally strong defensive charge which piled up most of the Indians plays on the line of scrimmage. The tantalizing formations in the Mahnomen backfield caused the Prowlers little grief.

Louis de Master, gritty Mahnomen center, played a sterling brand of ball, although handicapped by being ill the entire week previous to the game. Eraker and Jansen also turned in stellar performances, while Don Glass lived up to his reputation as a slippery ball carrier.

Cliff Oleson started his first game at guard and came through with high honors and, as usual, "Popeye" Adkins led the charge of the line against the vaunted Indians.

Accurate evidence of the Prowlers' power can be obtained from the fact that they piled up seventeen first downs against three for Mahnomen.

Here is good news for all Thief River football fans. Next year's prospects show that a team should be on hand that will compare favorably with this 1936 juggernaut which is, as yet, undefeated.

Only five seniors are on the starting eleven and one is a reserve. Perhaps the hardest job Coach Lee will have will be to find a fullback who can ram the line and back up the line, a job which Capt. Nesse has filled so ably this year. Then too a right half will have to be found as both Dicken and Nelson who play that position graduate. Booren and L. Nesse are outstanding candidates in this field. One tackle, Peterson, graduates but either C. Oleson, Mattson or Johnson should fit well at that post. Then comes another difficult task in finding a guard who can pull out of the line for interference as well as play the strong defensive ball that Jack Adkins has played all season. The other Senior, Sahl, is an end but this position has excellent candidates in Mickleson and Lorentson.

Returning regulars of this years team will be the two ends Lorentson and Mickleson, a tackle—Stadum, one guard—Bredeson, Hanson—the center and quarter-back Wessling, and this years star left half-back, Pomeroy Hill.

TRADITIONAL FOES WILL MEET ON WARREN FIELD

Victory Will Extend Win String to Six in a Row

Tomorrow afternoon the undefeated Prowlers will have another chance to prove their superiority over northwestern Minnesota football teams when they meet the Warren high school eleven on the latter's field. Earlier in the season the orange and black clad boys were famous for having a very weak team, both offensively and defensively, but lately they have shown marked improvement, last week defeating Crookston by a slight but decisive margin of 6 to 2.

It seems that the addition of Harry Hulls to the team has provided the necessary spark, which was lacking before. Hulls now fills the fullback post and does so very competantly, being fitted very well to this position. He has height, standing 6' 4", weight, tipping the scales at 190 pounds, and a considerable amount of driving power. It will pay the locals well not to take this boy too lightly.

Up to the time this article was written the Prowlers were still undefeated, however before this goes to press they will have played the Crookston Cathedral High School and they should give them a very good trimming. This fact puts the local gridders on top of Warren and unless a tremendous upset occurs they will come out of this encounter with their slate still clean.

It is not a very good policy for a sports writer to predict an easy victory for either team but just for once I am going to do against the usual procedure and anticipate the score of this game at 34 to 0 with the Prowlers on top.

Adviser J. K. Montague

A short time ago a call was made for all those interested in debate to turn out for instruction by Mr. Montague. Shortly after this came a call for basket-ball players. All this brings to our minds the many chances the students of this school have in extra curricular activities. Every student in school could easily be in some phase of active school life besides the regular rather tiresome routine.

Even if you did not have the time nor ability to go out for the regular school teams you could easily be on a team representing your class. Besides the regular football and basket-ball teams, the boys have the chance to compete in track or in some base ball under Mr. Lee. If the individual's ability was not high enough for the first team he could play on any of a number of interclass tumbling, kittenball, basket-ball, baseball or other teams under Mr. Gabrielson. Then too boys, as well as girls, who have a liking for debate or declamation can participate in these events. The girls now have a chance to win a school letter by competing in athletics under Miss Helquist. Under other heads for either boys or girls come the Progress or the Prowler staff. So all of us have the chance for a numeral or letter and let's make the use of these chances.

Dr. Engvolstad Lectures to Students on Russia

At a program on Wednesday morning the students were entertained by Dr. Engvolstad, who spoke on "Younger Generation of the Soviet Union". Dr. Engvolstad has traveled extensively abroad and has visited Russia many times. He is a noted speaker and lecturer.

The people in Russia at the present time are those who have grown up since the Russian Revolution. Dr. Engvolstad calls them the "Sons and Daughters of the Revolution." These men and women are very young, but nevertheless are specialists in their line of work. Russia's leading writers and authors of the present time are young, under twenty-one years old. The architects, technicians, artists, designers, teachers, aviators, etc. are all members of the new young class.

Dr. Engvolstad, on his first trip to Russia came prepared to see the "Old Russia." He had read many books and accounts of the life in this country, and expected to find all the men with long beards, the people dressed in gunny sacks, and barefooted. He found that none of these conditions existed in this present day Russia. Most of the books written about Russia are out of date as manners have changed much in the last few years. Most of the people speak the English language, which is taught in school to the student as soon as he reaches the age of twelve. This great change is remarkable when one remembers that only eighteen years ago the people could not read or write and lived in a feudalistic medieval age.

The Russians like sports: tennis, volley ball, base ball, polo, and enjoy boating and rowing. The Russians have a very good sense of humor and are very intelligent. These "Youngsters of the Revolution" have a splendid philosophy for living—"We hope we may fulfill our self realization of our faculties and abilities."

THE SCREAMER

Solution to last week's problem: Harriet O'Hara and Lois Cote.

But here's one problem that yours truly cannot answer: What happened to all the seniors that were supposed to lead the parade prior to the football game Friday night? Just left everything to the juniors! P. S. That's what they think.

Certain couple just discovered—and in agriculture class, at that. None other than Esther L. and Eric.

Here's one for Einstein to ponder over. Why does anyone with as much appeal to an audience as Mr. Harrison possesses, waste his life teaching school?

Aha! A true romance as juicy as any tale found in a love magazine. It seems as though our faithful water boy, Glen "Tuney" Carlson has found his one and only in the person of Elaine Douglas, a freshman. Watch your step there, young fella.

Betcha there'll be one sleepy bunch of youngsters in Lincoln High tomorrow. Do you know why? All on account of the Elk's dance, too.

Poor, poor Mr. Riggs. Instead of earnestly trying to teach history to a bunch of very uninterested kids, he has to make the rounds time and again in order to wake up the members of the football team. No kidding!

The assembly teachers' unsolved "Where". Where did some of these freshman deposit their book-learning amassed during the past eight years. Guess it must still be in Central school, collecting dust.

Please, coach, won't you wear your black shirt and plaid tie again soon. We kids think the combination is a honey.

CATHEDRAL HIGH BOWS TO LINCOLN ELEVEN 26-0

Reserves Get Second Work-out of Season

Tuesday evening the Prowlers defeated the Crookston Cathedral high school football team 26 to 0, to maintain their record of thus far having no defeats. Although the starting line-up for the home team consisted of first string men, the game was played to give some, of the reserves experience in actual play.

Hill starred for the Prowlers, several times getting away for long gains by his very illusive running. Wessling made the first score in the opening quarter from the one yard line after the ball had been placed there when the locals blocked a Crookston punt. The kick for extra point failed. Again in the first quarter Adkins blocked a punt, caught the ball and ran it to the 18 yard line. After advancing to the 2 yard marker, Hill skirted end for the second touch down. The kick again failed and the score was 12 to 0. Bud Nelson, in the third quarter, took a long forward pass from Hill and ran it over the goal. This time the kick was good. The last tally of the game was also made in the third period when Hill raced around end into the end zone. The kick for extra point went over the bar making the final score of 26 to 0.

The starting line-ups:

'Thumbnails' of Seniors

Hamburger Steak—Adkins

Are you crazy? I'll say!—Nesse

On December 31, 1918 the stork dropped by Thief River Falls and left a noise box in the form of our famous right guard, Jack Adkins, at the Adkins home.

Since Jack entered high school he has been active in athletics, taking part in football, baseball and track.

Jack likes to hunt, of course that is only during the seasons. He spends a great deal of his time listening to the radio. Observers say they have seen him doing a little weeding in the garden, how he likes it we don't know.

Jack intends to be a M. D. when he grows up. (Do you think there's any hope, of his growing up I mean). Right now his future ambition is to beat Bemidji.

"If you could only cook!" is his favorite expression. (He doesn't look very neglected to me.)

"The truth will out" his pet peeve is weeding the garden. He is partial to Warner Baxter and Ginger Rogers on the screen and he enjoyed "The Road of Glory" particularly.

Believe it or not Jack has rhythm in his soul, for he likes Wayne King's orchestra, the selection "When Did You Leave Heaven" and the Lucky Strike program.

If you wish to humor him just set before him a nice hamburger steak and a paper containing Lil' Abner.

He is Milton Willard Nesse's pet peeve. (Me and coach are just like that, or something.) He was born December 13, 1919 in Thief River Falls and nothing but a full course order of a T-bone steak will satisfy him. He is undecided as to which subject he enjoys the most physics or chemistry. He wants to attend the "U" of Minnesota and become a full fledged pharmicist. He likes Myrna Loy and Wallace Beery, his favorite show was "The White Angel". Lew Forbes orchestra and "Organ Grinders Swing" are also his favorites. Athletics is his hobby favoring football as his favorite sport. Formal and "The Broad Highway" are his best liked book and author, his favorite expression is "Are you crazy? I'll say!" He also took part in the junior class play, and is one of the outstanding players on our football team.

STUDENTS USE INDIAN THEME

Cheer Leaders Chosen at Pep Meeting

The pep fest prior to the game with Mahnomen was held in the high school assembly last Friday afternoon. Robert Quale presided as master of ceremonies. As usual, we began the pep fest by singing the school song. The chorus sang the song through once, arranged in four parts, and the student body joined in the second time. Mr. Riggs directed the song and Mr. Harrison accompanied us on the piano.

Robert Quale then introduced Don Olson, editor of the "Progress" who interviewed Chief Sock-in-the-Jaw, (Milton Nesse) about the Mahnomen Indians. Chief Sock-in-the-Jaw seemed to think that the Prowlers were pretty tough although the Mahnomen team was also very good. Chief Running-Water (Glenn Carlson) was then called on to give a short talk about the game and what he thought about several of the players.

Mr. Harrison next entertained us by playing "Twelfth Street Rag" on the piano. This was so much enjoyed by all the students that he was brought back for an encore. Mr. Harrison said he was like the man who was to play for the faculty dance. This man knew only one piece, "The Turkey in the Straw" so when Miss Leavitt asked for a good old-fashioned schottishe he played it in the form of a schottishe. When Miss Steenerson asked for a Swedish polka he played it in the form of a polka and then played it as a dreamy waltz for Miss Springen. Mr. Montague then wanted something modern with a lot of pep to it so he played it as a one-step. He then used it as a funeral march at a funeral where Mr. Bye officiated. This was very much enjoyed by all the students and we hope Mr. Harrison will play for us again soon.

Try-out for cheer leaders was then held, with Yvonnie Anderson, Mary Chommie, Lorraine Amundson, Adeline Lorentson, and Harriet Simonson competing. The students voted on the girl they thought was best and the two highest were chosen. Mary Chommie and Lorraine Amundson won out and they will be our cheer leaders this year.

PROWLIN' 'ROUND

Notice that when Mick is in the game he really is there to get points—Nice going Mick.

Warren, our foe of tomorrow, seems to have had tough luck this year, but they defeated Crookston 6 to 2 and you can count on their putting up a hard game against the Prowlers.

When "Honey" and Hanson tear down the field together they look like the original "Mutt and Jeff."

Shades of Bernie Bierman and Howard Jones! Coach Lee has some of his boys coaching grade school teams.

The prowlers have averaged a seven and one half yard each time they have carried the ball so far this season.

The record for the first five games is as follows:

	Prowlers	Opp.
Points	133	6
Yd. Gain	1335	203
1st Downs	66	10
Av. Score Per Game	27	1

Last Thursday after school, the Sophomores started out the first touch'ball game of the season by beating the Juniors. This game was forfeited to the Juniors because the Seniors had two alumni, four Sophomores, and Mr. Gabrielson.

Next Thursday the championship game will be played between the Sophmores and Juniors. Then the Freshmen and the Seniors will fight for second place. These games promise to be exciting so let's have more interest in them, especially on the part of the Seniors.

PARENTS' DAY AT N. W. SCHOOL SET FOR OCTOBER 31

Home Project Fair Will be Special Feature at Crookston

Formal invitations have been issued to parents of Northwest School students to attend the Annual Parents' Day festivities to be held on the campus Saturday, October 31. Due to the record enrollment, school officials are making plans for the largest group of fathers and mothers ever assembled on the Aggie campus. Classes will be held during the forenoon so that parents may visit the various class and laboratory rooms and see the school in action.

At noon, the parents will be guests of the student body at the annual Parents' Day dinner to be held in the school dining hall. At 2:00 p. m. a special program, including a one-act play, will be presented by the students in the school auditorium.

A special feature will be the Home Project Fair at which students will exhibit the results of project work carried on at home the past summer. Exhibits will include pureseed, potatoes, weed collections, rocks and minerals, herd management, tractor operation records, dressmaking, art work, canning, and baking. The project show will be presented under the direction of Home Project Leaders E. R. Clark, R. J. Christgau, and Miss Reta Bede, Miss Mildred Schenck, 4-H club leader, St. Paul, and C. G. Ash, West Polk county agent, will judge the exhibits.

Parents are also invited to remain for the sound picture program to be presented in the auditorium during the evening.

Last year, nearly four hundred parents from fourteen counties were in attendance.

State Tax Levy Will Stay Near '35 Figure

Minnesota's state tax levy rate for 1936 will be substantially the same as the 13.57 rate levied last year, Matt Desmond, deputy state auditor, said Thursday. The state tax rate must be certified to county auditors by November 15, and it is not possible now to determine the exact rate because tax settlements still are unreported from many localities and the exact requirements therefore are not known, said Mr. Desmond.

GONVICK PASTOR ATTACKED LAST WEEK BY INDIANS

Rev. C. G. Eidness Beaten When Marauders Enter His Home

Six Indians were arrested in Gonvick Wednesday night of last week for the assault of Rev. C. G. Eidness, Lutheran minister, and lodged in the jail at Bagley. Two of them were not involved in the assault. The minister was badly beaten and was confined to his bed.

Said to have been drunk, they were in the east end of Gonvick with their car stalled in the ditch; fleing into the yard toward Mrs. Eidness and her son, the latter two became frightened by the menacing attitude of the Indians and withdrew into the house, locking the door.

One of the Indians broke a window to enter the house as the minister went outside to drive off the intruders. Outnumbered, Rev. Eidness started across the street to summon help. He stumbled and fell and was pounced upon by two of the Indians who gave him a beating. The one who entered the house struck Mrs. Eidness.

George A. Belto, Gonvick banker, heard Mrs. Eidness scream for assitance and went to help the minister. The Indians then turned on the banker. He was able to take care of himself and routed the attackers.

The Indians were said all to be under 20 years of age.

More Than 1,000 Entries at Junior Livestock Show

Keener competition will be in store for Minnesota 4-H club members when they bring their entries to the nineteenth annual Junior Livestock Show to be held at South St. Paul, November 9 to 12, according to T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, University Farm, St. Paul. Entries promise to reach an all-time high.

J. S. Jones, executive secretary of the show and secretary of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders association reports that advance entries amount to a total of 1,060 a few over a hundred more than last year. By classes of livestock to be entered the numbers are: baby beeves, 452; pigs, 174; individual lambs, 271; pens of lambs, 28; pens of turkeys, 50; pens of miscellaneous poultry, 85.

Last year's sale, the climax of the junior show, brought proceeds of approximately $52,000. With entries even larger this year proceeds of the 1936 auction sale point to a larger amount.

GETS $10,156 TURKEY CHECK

Worthington—One of the largest checks ever drawn by a Worthington business house was given last week to Mrs. A. G. Thom of Rushmore, who was paid $10,156 for 3,617 turkeys, representing her 1936 crop raised from 4,000 poults taken out this spring. Hens numbered 1,812, weighing 15,588 pounds and toms, numbering 1,805, weighed 30,127 pounds. Mrs. Thom will have a neat profit after expenses are paid.

Telephones are more common in the United States than in foreign countries. In city, town and country you find telephones near at hand because Americans are the greatest telephone users in the world. In proportion to population, people of the United States have six times as many telephones as Europeans and make nine times as many telephone calls.

It is natural that Americans should use the telephone more than the people of other countries—you can get more and better telephone service for your money in the United States than anywhere else in the world.

Year by year, your telephone dollar has been buying more and more. It buys swifter, more accurate and more dependable local service; it buys out-of-town service amazingly faster, clearer and more sure at substantially lower cost; it buys service which reaches across oceans and covers almost the whole world.

For more than half a century, the Bell System has worked constantly to improve and extend telephone service and to keep down its cost to telephone users...it has helped to give the United States the best, and for its value, the lowest-priced telephone service in the world.

MORE STUDENTS SEEK EDUCATION AT MINNESOTA U

Enrollment Gains in Both Regular and Extension Departments

All enrolment figures of prior years have been exceeded this year at the University of Minnesota, where, as of October 10, a total of 14,132 regular day students were registered while the general Extension Division had class memberships amounting to 6,200, with more to come in both groups.

The gain over last year is more than 12 per cent in the Extension Division, which teaches evening classes, and between six and seven per cent for the regular university classes.

In six projects of less than college grade, namely, the four School of Agriculture, the University High School and the Nursery School and Kindergarten of the Institute of Child Welfare, an additional 1560 are registered and 1350 persons are taking studies in the Correspondence Division. Adding initial registrations in a few short courses the total of those who have received instruction since college opened on September 28 becomes approximately 24,000, with the first figure given above, 14,132 representing the number of college students, undergraduate and graduate.

Minnesota thus becomes the largest of the Middle Western state university, California being much the largest, and the third largest public university, New York University, with an enrollment of 27,020 topping the list. Ohio State University is only a few hundred smaller than Minnesota, with Illinois third in the Middle West.

GETS BIG BOUNTY

Winona—Gophers, both pocket and striped, are still being killed by the thousands in Winona county and Gotthold Dill of Utica township is one of the outstanding exterminators, records of the county auditor reveal. Dill killed 200 pocket gophers on which there is a bounty of five cents each and 1,400 striped gophers on which there is a bounty of three cents each, totaling $52.00.

10t Annual Auto Show in City November 12-14

Auto Dealers and the Legion Post Sponsor Event in Winter Arena

VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM SET FOR AUDITORIUM

Event to be Staged at Same Time as the New York Automobile Show

The tenth annual Northwestern Minnesota automobile show and exposition, sponsored jointly by Thief River Falls automobile dealers and the American Legion post, will be held in this city Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 12, 13 and 14, it was announced today by O. C. Paulson, general chairman in charge of the entertainment program.

A dozen or more lines of motor cars represented by local dealers will be displayed in the winter sports arena, final details of which are now being completed. The building, 80 by 175 feet in dimensions, affords 14,000 square feet of display space for the show, which is being staged simultaneously with the New York automobile show, while the Minneapolis show will be held the following week.

In connection with the show a vaudeville program continuing for one hour and thirty minutes will be presented in the Auditorium the evenings of November 13 and 14. The feature attraction, to be presented under the direction of Al Sheehan of the WCCO Artists bureau of Minneapolis, will be a musical extravaganza known as the All-American Revue in four episodes including the New Orleans Mardi Grass, Wyoming Rodeo, Manhattan Greenwich Village and Banff Winter Carnival.

Thursday evening, November 12, a civic testimonial program will be held in the Auditorium, at which time tribute will be paid to public officials and organizations. Dancing will follow the Auditorium programs Thursday and Friday evenings, while on Saturday evening a gala dance will be held in the winter sports arena.

Music will be provided by Allyn Caswell and his eleven-piece recording orchestra, which will also play at the testimonial meeting November 12 and at the automobile show during the afternoons. Vaudeville numbers also will be presented in the winter sports arena during the afternoon, with no admission fee charged.

The arena building, which will be heated for the occasion, will be open each evening until midnight or later to give all visitors a chance to inspect the 1937 models either before or following the Auditorium programs. There will be a number of industrial exhibits in addition to the automobile display.

Among the various lines of cars to be shown by local dealers are the Plymouth, Chevrolet, Ford, Chrysler, Nash, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Lincoln Zephyr, Buick, Dodge, Terraplane and DeSoto.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL WILL OPEN ARMISTICE DAY

Appeal Made to Local Citizens to Support Work of Organization

In a statement released today by Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, publicity chairman, the public is reminded that the annual Red Cross roll call will open in this community Nov. 11, Armistice Day. The membership campaign will be staged under the supervision of Mrs. H. A. Brumund.

"The Red Cross", said Mrs. Shaw, "during the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, invites your membership. The organization does not discriminate. It simply aids. This is true of the local Red Cross serving this community.

"If you want to help your less fortunate neighbors and the underprivileged everywhere, do so by joining forces with this active agency for the relief of suffering thru membership. Volunteer workers are the backbone of the Red Cross."

Important Meeting of Farmers Union Nov. 7

DENNIS CONELY, 54 YEARS A RESIDENT HERE, DIES FRIDAY

Succumbs to Injuries Sustained in Car Mishap Last Wednesday

Dennis Conely, a highly respected pioneer resident of this community for the past fifty-four years, died last Friday in a local hospital from injuries sustained in an automobile accident late Wednesday night of last week. Mr. Conely was 86 years of age.

He was born in Canada at Campbell Ford, Ont., June 1, 1850. In 1874 he was married there to Anna Hughes, and eight years later, in 1882 he and his family moved to this community where they have since resided on a farm adjoining the city.

Surviving relatives are his children, Mrs. R. J. McGinn of Escanaba, Mich.; Mrs. Mourning, of Minneapolis; M. H. Conely of Minneapolis; James Conely of this city, Mrs. J. O. Herrick of Superior, Wisc.; and Mrs. W. H. Fredericks of Minneapolis.

Funeral rites were conducted at eight o'clock Monday morning at the St. Bernard's Catholic church, Rev. A. I. Merth officiating. Interment was made in the St. Bernard cemetery.

$10,969 SCHOOL FUNDS RECEIVED IN DISTRIBUTION

Thief River Falls School District Gets Advance of $18,000

The sum of $10,969.35, representing Pennington county's share of the October distribution of current school and endowment funds, was received Saturday by John Gullingsrud, county treasurer, from State Treasurer Julius A. Schmahl.

The amount, which represents $4.65 each for a total of 2,359 pupils entitled to share in the allotment, is derived from the one-mill school tax and the state trust funds. The total distribution to all counties aggregates $2,153,074.

Received at the same time was a check for $18,000 representing an advance to the Thief River Falls school district of a portion of the special state aid payment which during the past several years has been paid in September, but which this year is being deferred to January 1, 1937.

Pay Tribute to Civic Leaders November 12

Civic and Commerce Group to Stage Testimonial Meeting

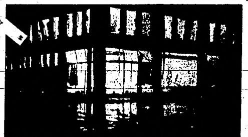
City officials and organizations contributing their services to the public welfare with little or no remuneration will receive recognition at a testimonial program to be presented in the Auditorium Thursday evening, November 12, under the sponsorship of the Civic and Commerce association.

Twelve speakers have each been assigned an organization or official body to pay tribute to in a five-minute address. W. L. Carlisle, president of the Civic and Commerce association, will introduce Morris Bye, superintendent of schools, who will preside as chairman. Refreshments will be served at the close of the program, it was announced.

The speakers and the groups to which they will pay tribute include Rev. E. A. Cooke, who will discuss the American Legion post's contribution to civic welfare; Rev. E. L. Tungseth, Legion auxiliary; Father A. I. Merth, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Theodore Quale, fire department; Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Elks lodge; Rev. R. M. Fjelstad, board of education.

Mrs. Will Korstad will discuss the work of the library board; W. E. Dahlquist, city council; H. O. Chommie, park board; Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Woman's club; and Chester Myrom, Rotary club. In the concluding address Paul Lundgren will sum up the purpose of the program.

Flames Consuming Oen's Store Friday Evening



Above is pictured the disastrous fire that completely destroyed the Oen Mercantile company store and stock of merchandise Friday evening, and damaged nearly 20 other business places with a total loss estimated at $150,000. Due to absence of a strong wind and to efficient work of the fire department the blaze was confined almost entirely to Oen's store, the other places suffering damage from heat and smoke. The picture was taken by S. Salveson and is reproduced thru the courtesy of the Minneapolis Tribune.

COUNCIL GRANTS OEN PERMIT FOR $30,000 BUILDING

Votes to Test City Well as Source of Municipal Water Supply

The city council at an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening granted a permit to Rasmus Oen to erect a new department store building to replace the one destroyed by fire Friday evening. The structure, which will be built at an estimated cost of $30,000, will be 75 by 140 feet in dimensions and two stories in height, and will utilize the basement walls and south wall of the old structure.

Other permits were granted to Carl J. Lundgren for a four-room residence to cost $1,500 and to Herbert Gulseth for a two-room cottage to cost $500.

The council voted to investigate the possibility of obtaining an additional water supply from the city's deep well near the filtration plant as a means of averting an imminent water shortage during the winter months.

Owing to a shortage of money in the municipal band fund it was voted to dispense with the services of Director E. L. Egermayer effective November 1.

WINDOWS INSTALLED IN WINTER SPORTS ARENA

With the exterior of the winter sports arena now completed, windows were installed during the past week and workmen are engaged in completing the inside details.

To Finish Measuring of County Farms This Week

Approximately 1,300 farms of a total of 1,500 in Pennington county had been measured up to this morning for participation in the federal soil conservation program, County Agent H. M. Douglass announced, adding that the remainder will be measured by the end of this week. Several weeks, he stated, will be required for tabulating the records before they are forwarded to headquarters at Washington, from which city benefit payments will be sent out in the near future.

"Ramona" in Technicolor at Avalon Next Sunday

An outstanding event in the film world is the production in Technicolor of "Ramona", Helen Hunt Jackson's famous love story, which will be the offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, preceded by midnight show Saturday. The cast of thousands features Loretta Young and Don Ameche, and includes such well-known players as Kent Taylor, Pauline Frederick, Jane Darwell and Katherine DeMille. The picture was filmed in the San Jacinto mountain region of Southern California, where the scene of the original story was laid.

Frank Hardisty Buyer of Choice Sheep Raised on English King's Ranch

Two yearling ewes and a young ram raised on the ranch owned by the King of England near Calgary, Alberta, were purchased at Winnipeg last week-end by Frank Hardisty, enterprising sheep breeder of this community, who brought the animals home Monday and will use them for breeding stock on his farm. According to local authorities, they represent the finest stock ever shipped into this locality, being bred from choice imported stock selected by agents of the British king. D. C. McLeod, Soo Line agricultural agent with headquarters in this city, also purchased several head from the same source.

WILLIAM J. BROWN, FORMER LAWYER, PASSES IN TEXAS

Was Engaged in Land Business in This City 25 Years Ago

William J. Brown, 65 years old, early day Warren attorney and county attorney of Marshall county from 1904 to 1910 passed away at his home in Beaumont, Texas on Oct. 16 following a sudden stroke.

Mr. Brown who came to Warren to begin his practice of law in the late 1890's gained for himself a wide reputation as a lawyer of repute. He was joined in partnership in his law practice by the late A. N. Eckstrom early in his career, Mr. Eckstrom succeeding him as county attorney in 1911.

About in 1912, Mr. Brown moved to Thief River Falls where he was engaged in the land business during the settlement of eastern Marshall and eastern Pennington counties. From Thief River Falls he moved to Texas and back to Minneapolis, being connected with the Minnesota Wheat Growers association at the latter point about in 1923 to 1924. He then moved back to Texas where he resumed his law practice, residing there until his death on Oct. 16.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Andrews, both of whom make their home in Beaumont.

Masonic funeral services were conducted for Mr. Brown at the First Methodist church in Warren Friday afternoon, with W. N. Powell, past master of the Warren lodge in charge. Reverend H. M. Holm, pastor of the church, read scriptures and led in prayer. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery where Mr. and Mrs. Brown's son, Donald, who died many years ago, is buried.

Woolworth Store Manager Transferred to Wisconsin

R. W. Nitake, for the past year and one-half manager of the Woolworth store in this city, this week received a promotion in the form of a transfer to the managership of the Woolworth store in Sheboygan, Wisconsin. The change is effective immediately, and Mr. Nitake has been succeeded here by Ray Hartman of Minneapolis, for the past six years associated with the Woolworth company.

ALL ASPIRANTS AWAIT FATE AT POLLS TUESDAY

Hectic Election Campaign Now Being Brought to Conclusion

Issue in State Is Drawn between Conservatives and Radicals

With all details of the election machinery perfected, voters in Pennington county and thruout the nation will go to the polls next Tuesday to register their choice of candidates for various offices from president down to represent them during the coming term. Election supplies have been sent out to all precincts in the county, and the polls will remain open Tuesday until 8 o'clock.

Voters in recent weeks have been faced with a barrage of appeals for support of various candidates by radio, newspaper and circulars, and the campaign is now at its climax.

With the withdrawal of the Democratic candidates for United States senator and governor of Minnesota, the issue in this state is more clearly defined than ever before. On one side are the radicals including Farmer-Laborites and left-wing Democrats, while on the other are the conservatives represented by Republicans and a faction of the Democratic party.

In the state campaign Elmer A. Benson, Farmer-Labor candidate for governor, has accused his Republican opponent, Martin A. Nelson, of favoring a state sales tax, despite Mr. Nelson's definite assertion that he would veto such a proposal, Republicans on the other other hand charge their opponents with accepting Communist support and with extravagance in their administration of state affairs.

Much interest also has developed in the contest for the two legislative posts in the 65th district, where J. O. Melby and Walter E. Day, Farmer-Laborites, are being opposed by Marius Waldal and George P. Jones, representing the more conservative element. Lively contests are also under way for posts as county commissioner from the rural districts of Pennington county, a number of sticker candidates being in the field. Another contest is that between Probate Judge Andrew Bottelson, candidate for a second term, and his opponent, Lars Backe, former incumbent of the office.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alf M. Landon, his opponent in the presidential race, are rounding out their campaigns this week in the eastern section of the country, where they are making their bids for large blocks of electoral votes. President Roosevelt is standing on his record and citing the apparent increase in national prosperity since he took office in 1933, while Mr. Landon is charging him with having given the country a wasteful administration and with conducting a government "of spoilsmen, by spoilsmen and for spoilsmen".

Final returns in the Literary Digest presidential poll, announced Wednesday evening over the radio, revealed 54.43 per cent of those responding as favoring the election of Landon, while 40.94 per cent favored Roosevelt. On this basis the Digest gives Landon 370 electoral votes to 161 for Roosevelt.

Total Damage Placed at Nearly $150,000

OEN DEPARTMENTS GET TEMPORARY SPACE THIS WEEK

To Occupy Rented Quarters Until New Building Is Completed

Following the fire Friday evening that completely destroyed the Oen Mercantile company building and stocks of merchandise, Rasmus Oen announced this week that, pending construction of a new building on the same site, arrangements have been made to house several departments of the business in rented quarters.

The hardware department, he stated, will be located for the time being in the frame building on Main av. north of the Larson company, until recently occupied by the M. M. Johnson furniture store. The first shipment of new goods arrived today. Furniture will be carried in the north portion of the Odegaard building on Horace av. north of Third st.

Ladies' and men's furnishing departments will shortly be opened in the quarters now occupied by the Curtis drug store on East Third st., while the Oen company's office will be maintained in the basement of the Citizens bank block, sharing the quarters of the state banking department receiver. Either the office or the Shell bulk oil station is prepared to take care of coal orders as usual, Mr. Oen said.

Elks Circus a Success Despite Cancellation of Friday Performance

Despite the fact that the Friday evening performance was cancelled owing to an interruption in electric light service caused by the Oen store fire that evening, the Elks winter circus staged Thursday and Saturday evenings in the Auditorium netted a substantial profit, according to officers of the lodge. A large audience witnessed the concluding performance Saturday and was free in its praises of the quality of entertainment provided. Abbie Andrews and his dance band provided music for the dancing that concluded the evening.

TOM NESLAND REMODELING FRONT OF RED OWL STORE

Tom Nesland, local builder, late last week was awarded the contract for remodeling the front of the building on LaBree av. occupied by the Red Owl store. Work was begun Monday by a crew of men.

To Rebuild at Once

RASMUS OEN
Pioneer local merchant, who, before the ashes of the fire that Friday evening destroyed the Oen Mercantile company building and stock had grown cold, with characteristic enterprise announced that plans for a new structure on the site are now under way, and that work will commence without delay. In the meantime various departments of the institution are being housed in rented quarters.

SELLING OF SWEET CLOVER SEED BIG LOCAL INDUSTRY

Value of Crop Marketed This Season Fixed at Fully Million Dollars

Purchases of the 1936 crop of sweet clover seed by local buyers thus far this season aggregates in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 pounds, on the basis of survey by the Times, and allowing for shipments from the city by truck.

On this basis, it is safe to say that with a considerable quantity of seed yet to be marketed, sweet clover seed production in this region has reached the proportions of a million dollar industry. A considerable portion of the crop already bought is still in storage in this city. Growers have received an average of eight cents a pound thruout the marketing season.

Approximately 1,500,000 pounds of alfalfa seed also has been marketed locally this fall, with a market price in the neighborhood of $300,000, testifying further to the importance of seed production as a farming activity in this section of the state.

Sidelights on City's Most Disastrous Fire

Many bouquets were tossed in the direction of the city's small but efficient crew of fire fighters following the big blaze Friday evening, their work being to a large extent responsible for preventing a city-wide conflagration. The new pumper amply demonstrated its value by shooting two streams of water onto the roofs of adjoining buildings, in addition to which three streams played from hydrants. Fire Chief Leonard Hanson, who sustained shoulder burns in the course of the evening, was free in his praises of the assistance rendered by a group of volunteers.

When it seemed impossible to confine the blaze to the Oen building a call was put in to the Crookston fire department for assistance, but by the time the equipment had come as far as Marcoux corner the flames had been brought under control and the neighboring firemen were notified there that it would be unnecessary for them to come to this city.

Two factors that contributed in large measure to limiting the ravages of the fire were the 21-inch thick south wall of the Oen building protecting structures in the remainder of the block and the further fact that only a light northwest wind was blowing at the time.

City light department employes spent a busy night restoring light service in the business district following the fire, which severed a large number of light wires in the alley in the rear of the Oen building.

The Northwestern Bell Telephone company displayed its customary efficiency in meeting an emergency by completely restoring service by midnight Saturday on 190 lines disrupted by the fire. Two hours after the fire broke out the necessary repair material had been assembled for shipment from Minneapolis, and was unloaded here at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. A total of 310 feet of cable was replaced.

Plate glass salesmen did a rushing business Saturday taking orders for glass to replace windows broken by the terrific heat in buildings fronting on the Oen block. The Woolworth store claims the distinction of being the first to have new glass installed, the windows being replaced Monday morning. False fronts were the style in the affected district.

Roy Oen, former U. of M. football captain and now assistant coach at Oberlin college in Ohio, arrived Sunday to confer with his father, Rasmus Oen, after traveling most of the long distance home by airplane.

Insurance adjusters were much in evidence in the city early this week and by Tuesday evening had completed settlement of virtually all claims. Heads of local firms sustaining the heaviest losses expressed their entire satisfaction at the treatment accorded them by the adjusters.

Glass and tires on several cars parked near the scene of the fire were damaged before the automobiles could be taken out of the danger zone.

More Than Dozen Business Places Facing Oen's Suffer Losses

INSURANCE COVERS MAJORITY OF LOSSES

Origin of Blaze is Mystery; Oen's Salvage None of Stock

A fire entailing a loss estimated at $150,000, the most disastrous in the history of Thief River Falls, in little more than two hours last Friday evening left in ruins the Oen Mercantile company, one of the most substantial business blocks in the city, and damaged more than a dozen other business places.

The total loss is estimated at $150,000. Of this amount $115,000 represents the loss on the Oen company building and stock of merchandise, which was offset by approximately $90,000 insurance. The remaining $35,000 loss, representing heat and smoke damage to business places across the street and to the south of Oen's store, is entirely covered by insurance, a checkup indicates.

While there was no salvage of merchandise in Oen's store, in the basement of which the blaze originated, the ledgers and other valuable papers stored in a heavy safe were found to be in excellent condition, altho slightly damp, when retrieved Saturday from the debris in the basement of the structure.

Neither Rasmus Oen nor Fire Chief Leonard Hanson could offer any likely cause for the fire. Mr. Oen had inspected the basement before leaving the store at 6:00 and found everything in order. By 7 o'clock smoke was seen issuing from the basement and a passerby turned in an alarm. A few minutes later a terrific explosion of undetermined origin spread the fire thruout the building and blew out the windows, after which it was apparent that the building was doomed.

For awhile it appeared that the flames would spread to Lieberman's clothing store on the south and to the Northern State bank and other buildings facing the store on the north and west, but the fire was confined to Oen's due to several factors, including the absence of a brisk wind, effective work by the fire department and the extremely thick wall, 21 inches, on the south side of the Oen structure.

Next heaviest loss to that of the Oen company was sustained by the Lieberman clothing store, due to damage from heat and smoke, and, to some extent, water. The work of removing a portion of the stock was begun when it appeared that the fire would spread to adjoining buildings, and several items of wearing apparel were taken by passersby in the turmoil before the stock could be replaced in the store. PROWLERS DOWN WARREN FOR 7TH VICTORY IN ROW

Lincoln School Team Meets Crucial Test Friday at Bemidji

After winning their seventh successive victory this season by defeating Warren 14 to 0 Friday on a snow-covered gridiron, Coach George Lee's Lincoln high school Prowlers this week have been girding themselves for their severest test of the season Friday evening when they tackle the Bemidji high school team on its home field. In the event of unfavorable weather the game will take place in the afternoon.

The powerful Bemidji eleven, which last year defeated the Prowlers 26 to 0, has enjoyed a successful season this year, winning all its games except one with Hibbing. The local team has made an equally good showing, winning every game to date and piling up a total of more than 150 points in seven games to six points for its opponents.

Neither team scored in the first two periods of last Friday's game at Warren, the Prowlers being held to even terms. Near the end of the third quarter, however, Hill scored a touchdown from the 30-yard line, and in the final period Nesse went over for the final counter, Adkins kicking for the extra point.

Carla Rambeck and R. Peterson Speak Vows

The nuptial vows of Miss Carla Elaine Rambeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rambeck, and Robert Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole M. Peterson, were spoken in the presence of close relatives at the Trinity Lutheran parsonage Saturday morning, October 17, at eleven-thirty o'clock. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad, pastor of the Trinity church, read the service. Attending the bride and groom were Miss Marcella Olson and Julian Lendobeja.

For her wedding the bride wore a jacket-dress of gray silk, the dress being fashioned with a lace top over which the belted jacket was worn. Accessories were in black. The bridesmaid's costume consisted of a black and white street-length tunic dress with black accessories.

A wedding dinner was served at noon in the private dining room of Sorensen's Cafe. Covers were laid for the bride and groom, their attendants, the bride's parents, the groom's mother, and his sister Mrs. Frank Hardisty.

After a brief trip to Fargo and a visit with the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Brurud of Nielsville, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson are at home at 810 North Main Avenue. The bride was graduated from the Lincoln high school with the class of '34, and for the past year and a half has been employed in the office of the Taxeraas Motor Co. The groom is employed with the Wiener Top and Body Works.

MISSION CIRCLE MEETS AT O. ARNTSON HOME

The following members of the ladies mission circle were the guests of Mrs. Oscar Arntson at her home Friday afternoon: The Mesdames Otto Parbst, leader; T. Fossum, H. Hoagom, Lura, O. Ostmoe, Oscar Stadum, Louis Veven, Nellus Nelson, August Johnson, M. M. Johnson, Clare Wisbe, I. Bjoland, and Alfred Haugen. A devotional hour and song service was held and in the late afternoon lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Haugen will be hostess to the group at their next meeting.

Evelyn Samuelson Is Bride of E. Peterson

At an early Sunday morning service October 18, at the Trinity Lutheran parsonage, Miss Evelyn Samuelson of this city became the bride of Elvin C. Peterson of Hazel. The service was read by Rev. R. M. Fjelstad at nine o'clock. The attendants were Miss Ilya Samuelson, the bride's sister, and Lloyd Rustad of this city.

The bride was attired in a tailored suit of navy wool, with which she wore accessories in wine shade. A black silk crepe street-length dress with matching accessories comprised the bridesmaid's costume.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Peterson left on a two weeks' trip to Chicago and points in southern Minnesota. Upon their return, they will make their home on the groom's farm near Hazel.

The bride was graduated from the Lincoln high school and the local teacher training department. Prior to her marriage she taught in the rural schools of the county.

RUTH FJELSTAD TAKES PART IN HOMECOMING

Miss Ruth Fjelstad, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Fjelstad of this city as assistant to the Homecoming queen of Concordia college, will be one of the court attendants at the coronation of the queen during homecoming activities on the campus of Concordia college, Moorhead, this week end. Miss Fjelstad ranked third among the twelve candidates for homecoming queen selected by student vote, and will assist the queen in her reign during homecoming activities. Miss Fjelstad is a senior at the college.

Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. J. W. Ruane was hostess to the following members of her bridge club at her home Monday evening: the Mesdames Fred Protz, Frank Hammergren, P. J. Michaels, Hjalmar Hustvet, Dennis Connors, Ed Holmstrom and Joe Dostal, Jr. Honors went to Mrs. Protz and Mrs. Hammergren. An eleven o'clock luncheon was served by Mrs. Ruane.

Dinner Party

The Misses Gladys and Alice Wold were hostesses at a dinner party at their home Thursday evening. Their guests were the Misses Ethel Rambeck, Stella Studun, Edla Erickson, Eileen Rhodegaard, Harriet Jung, and Viola Bredeson. At seven o'clock a two-course dinner was served. The remainder of the evening was spent playing Chinese chess.

Miss Ruth V. Jacobson and Elwood Lundquist Are Married in Warren

The marriage of Miss Ruth V. Jacobson of Dassel, Minn., to Elwood Lundquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Lundquist of Warren, was solemnized at a beautiful house wedding at Warren at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. The ceremony was performed at the Mission church parsonage, the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Rev. and Mrs. Danielson. Reverend Danielson read the service by candlelight.

For the nuptials an arch profusely covered with flowers was erected in the living room of the parsonage. The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by the groom's sister, Miss Linnea. The first to enter was the flower girl Shirley Lundquist of Minneapolis, small niece of the groom. Dressed in a pink silk ankle length dress with a skirt of tiered ruffles, she scattered flower petals on the white-carpeted aisle leading to the altar. Mrs. Danielson, who was her sister's only attendant, was next in line, wearing a formal gown of green and carrying an arm bouquet. The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was gowned in white satin. Her train-length veil of net also formed her headdress, the net being fashioned into a fitted cap outlined with a beaded band of pearls. Her bouquet was of red roses and lily of the valley. Harry Lundquist of Warren attended his brother as groomsman.

Preceding and following the exchange of vows, a program of nuptial music was provided, which included selections by the groom's sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Linnea, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elmer Lundquist of Minneapolis, his niece, Miss Edla Erickson of this city, and Rev. Danielson.

A reception for forty guests was held at the Rev. Danielson home at the close of the service. Mr. and Mrs. Lundquist left on a brief motor trip after which they will be at home in this city. They will reside in the Benson apartments on Knight Avenue North.

The groom is employed in this city as a salesman for C. Gustafson and Son. His bride has during the past summer been employed at the Physician's hospital.

Residents of this city who were guests at the wedding include Rev. Geo. Peterson, pastor of the local Swedish Mission church; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gustafson, Miss Vivian and Miss Edith Skogland, Miss Waldie Bergland and Miss Edla Erickson.

Birthday Party

In celebration of the approaching holiday and of her ninth birthday anniversary, Betty Ann Jacobson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, was hostess to nine guests at her home Monday evening. Her guests were Katherine Sagmoen, Arlene Grinde, Irene Forsberg, Ione Norby, Bernice Anderson, Shirley Simonson, Joan Lynde, Lois Lund and Jean Eflinger. At five-thirty supper was served. Hallowe'en games and stunts occupied the evening. Betty Ann received many lovely birthday gifts. Appropriate Halloween decorations were used.

Entertains at Bridge

Mrs. K. O. Peterson entertained at three tables of contract bridge at her home Thursday evening. Prizes for bridge scores were awarded to the Mesdames John Lind, Leon Kolher, and Andrew Bottelson. A Hallowe'en motif was carried out in the bridge table decorations.

Halloween Dance

The members of the Lyon Rebekah Lodge entertained for the Odd Fellows and friends at a Hallowe'en party at the Odd Fellows Hall Thursday evening. The hall was decorated in a Hallowe'en motif for the occasion. Dancing was the diversion and refreshments were served at a late hour.

Golf Club Dance

Members of the Golf club will enjoy the first of a series of dinner dances at the Evelyn Hotel on Saturday evening. The affair will be in the nature of a Hallowe'en dance, decorations and party favors carrying out a Hallowe'en motif.

Adeline Lindberg and Minneapolis Man Wed

Miss Adeline Lindberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Lindberg of this city, and Donald Miller of Minneapolis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Danielson of St. Ansgar, Iowa, spoke their nuptial vows at the Trinity Lutheran parsonage Sunday afternoon at one o'clock. The service was read by Rev. R. M. Fjelstad. Miss Helen Wasgren attended Miss Lindberg as bridesmaid and the bride's brother Kenneth was groomsman.

For the nuptials, the bride and her attendant both wore afternoon dresses of silk crepe in the same shade of blue.

Dinner was served to the immediate family and a few friends at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Miller left on a motor trip to various points in Canada. They will reside in Minneapolis where the groom is employed as a machinist with the Cornelius Mfg. Co.

The bride was graduated from the Lincoln high school with the class of 1932, and also from the nurses training course at Eitel Hospital, Minneapolis. She has been employed at the St. Lukes hospital in this city.

Clara Sandberg and Austin Lindholm Wed

A Lincoln high school alumna, Miss Clara Sandberg of Holt, daughter of Mrs. Charles Sandberg, was married to Austin Lindholm of Strandquist at a ceremony performed by Rev. T. C. L. Hanson at the parsonage at Holt last Thursday evening. The bride was attended by Miss Greta Fredrickson of Holt. Clifford Johnson was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Lindholm are on a week's wedding trip to Duluth. The bride was graduated from Lincoln high school with the class of 1934.

Entertains for Son

Mrs. Alvin LaSalle entertained at a party for her son Gene in celebration of his third birthday anniversary October 21. Games were played and a delicious lunch was served. The guest of honor received many lovely birthday gifts. The guests included Gene LaSalle, honor guest, Robert and Harold Baker, Mary Ann Greendahl, Maxine, Arlene, and Jackie Peterson, John Baker, Carol Marie Strom, Gene and Barbara Rugge, Wallace Williams, Donald Gillette, and Larry Nelson, and the Mesdames Morris LaSalle, John Baker, Oscar Baker, Ames Peterson and David Strom.

Kitchen Shower

Mrs. Karl Kollitz (nee Clarisse Travillion), a recent bride, was feted at a kitchen shower at which Mrs. E. W. Baumann was hostess at her home at Mavie Thursday evening last week. Residents of this city who were guests at the shower include the Misses Helen Wasgren, Ann Lapic, Rhodella Angell, Gertrude Bakke, Dorothy Norlander, Hilda Wilson, Eva Robarge, and Mary Otmar, and the honor guest's mother, Mrs. Arthur Wilson. The rooms were decorated in Hallowe'en colors for the occasion. The evening was spent informally and lunch was served buffet style. Shower gifts for a bride's kitchen were presented to Mrs. Kollitz.

Concordia Ladies Aid

The Concordia Ladies aid of the St. John's Lutheran church will meet in the church basement on Wednesday, November 4. Mrs. Otto Geske will entertain.

Mrs. Sherman Entertains

Mrs. R. V. Sherman entertained the following guests at a 1:30 o'clock luncheon and bridge at her home Friday: the Mesdames Philip Bryant, A. C. Peterson, George Werstlein, Lloyd Bennes, Nate Harris, A. E. Smith, Roy Barzen, and R. B. Borreson. There were two tables of bridge, honors going to Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Bryant.

For Mrs. J. A. Johnson

Wives of the male members of the local high school faculty entertained at the home of Mrs. Morris Hye Wednesday afternoon at a shower for Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson. Doing the honors were the Mesdames Morris Hye, Harold Harrison, Clarence Pope, W. G. Claffy, G. H. Mayer-Oakes, George Lee, and William Korstad. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon, and at six o'clock dinner was served. Mrs. Johnson was presented with a shower gift.

Girl Scout Party

The Girls Scouts enjoyed a Hallowe'en masquerade in the Legion rooms of the municipal auditorium. Games were played and an amateur contest was staged. Five prizes were awarded. Refreshments were served at nine o'clock by Miss Doris Israelson and Miss Sophie Lindstrom.

Services at Overvold Home

Services at the Ole Overvold home all day Sunday, Nov 1. Rev. O. F. Flugstad of Fergus Falls, will be the main speaker. There will also be special music. Come and attend these services. All are welcome. Rev. Flugstad will bring a good message.

Trinity Ladies Aid

Circle No. 9 of Trinity Lutheran church will entertain the ladies aid Thursday, Nov. 5. The menu will include dark and light sandwiches, sausage and noodles in casserole, spiced and white cake, pickles, jelly and coffee. Price 15 cents.

Augustana Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of the August Lutheran church will meet at the church Wednesday, November 4. Hostesses will be Mrs. Leonard Olund and Mrs. Frank Carlson.

Woman's Club Notes

Current Events

The Currents Events group will meet at the home of Mrs. Perl Mabey next Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 3, at the regular hour, 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Jack McKechnie will assist Mrs. Mabey as hostess. The program for the year will be explained and assignment of various topics for discussion will be made.

Music

Mrs. Gaston Ward was hostess to the members of the Music Group and specially invited guests at the first meeting of the group Monday evening. A novel program of entertainment was arranged for the evening. It included a pianologue on Hallowe'en by Miss Violet Rhodegaard; an original Hallowe'en story narrated by Mrs. A. E. Mattson, appearing in a ghost's costume; assembly singing, stunts, and music contests. A Hallowe'en luncheon was served buffet style, a Hallowe'en effect being achieved in the color and shape arrangement of various luncheon dainties. Seventeen members and the following specially invited guests were present: the Mesdames Charles Vorachek, club president; and the Misses Violet Rhodegaard and Lenore Lieberman.

Young Matrons

The Young Matrons were the guests of Mrs. Arthur Hamilton and Mrs. Clifford Storholm at the former's home Tuesday evening at the group's first meeting of the current season. A short business was held. The following new members were initiated into the group: the Mesdames C. A. Wiltrout, E. M. Sorenson, Charles Warner, and Al Ulleberg. Needlework will be the project taken up by the Young Matrons for the year, and plans for carrying out the project were discussed. Mrs. Geo. Biddick will coach the project.

Penates

The Penates group met at the home of Mrs. Orrin Lynde Tuesday evening and studied the development of government and political parties in the United States, the American system of election, and the party platforms for 1936. The program was sponsored by the officers of the group and the members of the program committee, who held a round-table discussion. A mock election was conducted, explaining every phase of voting.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

A MINISTER'S OPINION

A prominent business man told me the other day that in regard to liquor we are back to where we were in 1900. It appears that again we must march up the sad and devastating road of experience. It will be a bloodier one this time as we have the automobile. Drunken drivers are taking an increasing toll of life. We are headed in the direction of raising another group of sots who have been washed out of their jobs and constructive places in the social order down into the gutter.

Again the clergyman and the social workers are having to contend with homes where drunken fathers indulge in the same shameful procedure of a generation ago—wife and child abuse. Increasing drinking among young people and women makes it worse.

Of course when liquor suddenly snatches a young life out of a man's home by way of the automobile or some other instrument, temperance and Prohibition receive a recruit, but what an awful price to pay for recruiting an army to battle this thing for which no one can say any good except that it appeals to his physical appetites. Perhaps if some of our publicists and writers, who so zealously defend a man's right to drink that which pulls him down to the level of an animal, felt this thing in their own homes they would write differently. They could see it if they would only keep their eyes open and their reason about them. Man was created in the image of God and was expected to act accordingly, not to indulge in the antics of a drunk and wallow in the mires of bestiality.—Rev. Herbert Spaugh, in the Charlotte (N. C.) News.

Housewarming

Complimentary to Mrs. O. F. Halldin, who recently established residence in her new home on North Knight Avenue, members of the Birthday club and other friends entertained at a housewarming at the Halldin home Wednesday evening. Doing the honors were the Mesdames Hans Aanstad, B. J. Holum, P. L. Vistaunet, James Steen, Claude Evenson, Frank Rinkel, Andy Anderson, Thora H. Nelson, H. H. Kelly, John Lund, J. Roufek, and William Smithers; and the Misses Grace Rinkel and Sarah Hougium. Bridge was played at three tables. A gift was presented to Mrs. Halldin, and at about eleven o'clock lunch, furnished by the guests, was served.

Bridge-Luncheon

Yellow and white pompoms and candles decorated the bridge tables at the one-thirty o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. Norman Holen and Mrs. Robert Douglass at the latter's home Friday afternoon. Prizes for bridge scores were awarded to Mrs. W. L. Carlisle for high score, and to Mrs. Paul Lundgren for low score. Guests at the luncheon included the Mesdames Carlisle, Lundgren, L. G. Larsen, Linda Larsen of Minot, Clarence Pope, W. G. Claffy, John Lind, A. Lein, Henry Melby, Walter Smith, Morris Hye and H. A. Brumund.

Good Cheer Club

The Good Cheer Club will hold their annual sale of miscellaneous articles at the City View schoolhouse three miles west of the city Friday evening, November 6. A short program will be given and lunch will be served.

Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Fjelstad motored to Pine Creek, Tuesday to attend a gathering of the pastors of the Thief River Falls circuit. The pastors presented Rev. and Mrs. Hofrenning of Pine Creek with a purse. Rev. Hofrenning serves the Pine Creek church.

St. Hilaire Couple Is Feted On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Skottem of St. Hilaire were pleasantly surprised at their home Sunday on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Decorations for the occasion were in silver, the table of honor being lighted by tall silver tapers in silver holders. A beautiful decorated cake formed the centerpiece. The afternoon was spent socially and at four o'clock lunch was served.

As remembrance of the day Ed Aubol presented the honor guests with a purse of money from those present who included the Messrs. and Mmes. Joe King, Otto Netteland, Roy Randorf, George Hanson, George Bakken, Sigurd Vik, Ed Aubol, Hardy Bjerk, John Johnson, Knute Ystesund, N. E. Beebe, Ole Hagglund, Harry Winter, Ben Lardy, John Hanson, H. Sorenson, Axel Jacobson, Gunard Lindquist, V. G. Brink, and their families; and the Mesdames B. E. Burkee, K. Kolstad, Oscar Haugw, Lee Beebe, Lars Loberg, Mark Harder; and the Misses Helga and Amanda Kalland, Eva Harder, Effie Fredrickson, Agnes King and Jewel Klevestad; and Pete Simonson and Arne Loberg.

Dancing Party

The local Eastern Star and Masonic lodges sponsored a Hallowe'en dancing party, to which members invited guests, at the Masonic Hall Wednesday evening. Card playing supplemented the dancing. Refreshments were served. The hall was decorated appropriately for Halloween. Seventy lodge members and guests were present.

Luther League Party

The members of the Luther League organization of the Trinity church enjoyed a Hallowe'en get-to-gether party at the church Tuesday evening. Hallowe'en games, contests, and stunts forming the diversion. Preceding the social hour a devotional program was conducted. Lunch was served buffet style.

Entertains for Son

Mrs. Arthur Hamilton will entertain this afternoon between the hours of four and six o'clock at a party for her son John. The party, which will be a combined Hallowe'en and birthday party, is in celebration of John's sixth birthday anniversary. Invited guests include Donald Hage, Bobby Thompson, Allen Williamson, Jerry Rasmussen, Jackie Wheeler, Norman Olson and Arnold Ulrich. Games will be played and a five o'clock supper will be served by Mrs. Hamilton. Halloween decorations are being used.

To Lecture on Bible

DAVID GULBRANDSON

Who recently came to Thief River Falls and who will deliver a series of lectures on the Bible in the former Methodist church on Bridge st., beginning Sunday evening at 7:45 and continuing next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the same hour. James Ward will lead in gospel and choral singing, and Mrs. Ward will present a dramatic reading. Mr. Gulbrandson, of Norwegian extraction, attended universities in this country and Europe, and has preached the gospel in five countries in addition to serving as editor of a religious publication and teacher in theological institutions. Further details of the local meetings are announced elsewhere in this issue.

LIBRARY NOTES

Two new contracts for library book service have been signed during the past month. These were for districts 116 and 148. Jessie Bickley teaches in district 116 and Jessie Joyce in Dist. 148. Almost all former members have taken out libraries but there are still few who have not called for them. It is always advisable to come in as early in the year as possible, for in this way only can the book needs be anticipated and satisfaction assured. With the return of all former members, there are now 41 schools entitled to this service. Any others expecting to secure their books in this way are urged to fill out contracts without delay.

Puppet shows are being given each Thursday afternoon at four o'clock and are open to the public. Enthusiasm runs high among the children as a general rule although one small boy in disgust did inform his father that the show was no good. "There wasn't even one pup".

Recent books in greatest demand are: "Gone with the Wind" by Mitchell, "Drums along the Mohawk" by Edmonds, "Live alone and Like it" by Hillis Brande's "Wake up, and Live" "Rich land Poor Land" by Stuart Chase. The following are also being reserved:

Aldrich—The Earth Never Tires
Buchan.........Man from Norlands
Morrow.........Let the King beware
Undset ....Gunnar's Daughter
DeKruif.......Why keep them alive
Around the World in Eleven Years
Van Etten.........I am the Fox
Gibbs ....The Need we have
Lindbergh.....North to the Orient

DRIVES AUTO UP TOBOGGAN SLIDE

Gilbert—Driving his car up a toboggan slide at Gilbert resulted in arrest for a 21-year old Eveleth youth. Police found his car hanging from the edge of the slide, charged him with careless driving and he was fined $25 and costs. The car had been driven up the toboggan slide and when the driver started to back out, one of the wheels went over the side, making it impossible for him to drive the car out. He left it there and was arrested the next morning.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Dear Readers:

In the October 29th issue of the Forum, Mr. H. O. Berve comments on the use of the city band and drum corps in connection with the Republican rally at which Theodore Christiansen and Arthur Nelson, candidates for United States Senate and Lieutenant Governor respectively, spoke. As usual, he spreads his moss-covered lingo on the vast campaign funds used by the Republicans. As usual, he is utterly uninformed and false in his accusations and conclusions. I am glad, however, for the opportunity which this article gives me to inform our people that all the funds necessary to pay the expense of this meeting, including the band and the drum corps, was solicited from a group of local citizens. All contributions were voluntary and made by citizens interested in good government. Mr. Berve did not contribute. He, therefore, had a free treat. On the other hand, the Farmer-Labor Party collects its funds by an unjust tax upon payrolls, which the state employee is forced to pay or lose his job. The total proceeds of this tax has been placed at seventy-two thousand ($72,000) dollars per year and not denied by the Farmer-Labor Party.

Mr. Berve would serve our people better by explaining why the Farmer-Labor Party does not collect all the taxes due the State of Minnesota from the big liquor organizations as charged openly by Mr. Regan. Perhaps Otto Bremer has a good reason for belonging to the Farmer-Labor Party. Mr. Berve might also explain to the people the Seventy thousand dollar rent contract awarded Charlie Ward for the Drivers License office.

I hope it is true what Mr. Berve states about many Farmer-Laborites attending this said Republican rally. No doubt, all of them who were there were glad to get the truth, which the kept Farmer-Labor Press denies them. Mr. Nelson exposed a lot of the corruption practiced by the "Mexican Generals" of the Farmer-Labor Party. He challenged anyone in the audience to disprove him. Even though men like Berve were there, no one accepted the challenge.

Very truly yours,
ELMER B. BERG

To the Editor of the Times:

Will you be kind enough to give me enough of your valuable space to print the following statement regarding the dairy industry?

Dairymen throughout the state are being misled by news articles originated by Twin City papers, to the effect that butter prices have been forced down by reciprocal trade treaties that permit large imports into the United States.

Such statements are wholly without foundation of fact. None of the reciprocal trade treaties negotiated by the Roosevelt administration provides for any change in the tariff upon butter or butterfats. All butter is protected by a duty of 14 cents per pound, which was provided in the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill of 1930, passed by a Republican congress and signed by a Republican president. There is no change in that tariff protection today.

Therefore any publication asserting that butter prices have declined under foreign trade treaties is a deliberate distortion of the official facts.

Silas M. Bryan, district manager in Minneapolis of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, which is part of the United States Department of Commerce, has issued a statement to this effect, saying: "There have been fourteen trade agreements negotiated, the last one going into effect October 1. Not one of them has reduced the tariff on butter. The butter tariff, and also the tariff on oleomargarine, still remains at the Smoot-Hawley rate of 14 cents per pound.

"The only item even remotely affecting butter prices, butterfat prices, or cream prices, was the concession made in the Canadian tariff agreement permitting a million and a half gallons of cream to come into this country per year from all sources at 35 cents a gallon duty instead of 56.6 cents. After that one and one-half million gallons has been reached the rate reverts to 56.6 cents per gallon. This provision went into effect January 1, 1936. Since that date a little less than 7,500 gallons of cream have come in from all sources under the reduced tariff rate. This equals an average of 30 gallons of cream a day. It would be ridiculous to hold that such a tiny import could affect the cream or the butter market price."

During the last year of the Hoover administration, the co-operatives paid as low as 13 cents per pound for butterfat; the centralizers paid as low as 10 cents a pound. We farmers know what we are now getting for our dairy products and we can assure our Republican friends that we are well satisfied and have no desire whatever to go back to the conditions that prevailed during Republican administrations. If they think they can fool us by their trade treaties propaganda, they are badly mistaken.

The facts are—facts that Republican propagandists falsify and distort—there has been no change in the tariff upon butter set by the last Republican administration. Secondly, the prices of cream and butter are double what they were during the last Republican administration.

High prices and profitable markets for our dairy farmers attract imports over the tariff wall. The tariff today is that of the last Republican administration, and any complaint about imports should be directed to that party.

J. V. Patton,
Chairman Roosevelt All-Party Agricultural Committee for Pennington County

Purchased White House District July 16, 1790

The United States government acquired the White House grounds when, by act approved July 16, 1790, congress accepted a district of territory not exceeding ten square miles, to be located on the Potomac river, and authorized the President to appoint three commissioners to survey the area under his jurisdiction. The act also empowered the commissioners to accept such land on the eastern side of the river within the said district as the President should deem proper for the use of the United States.

The site selected by the President was that area embraced in the old city located between Rock creek on the west, Florida Avenue on the north, the eastern branch on the east and the Potomac river on the south. Within this site the President, before the city was laid out into squares, selected 17 parcels for use of the United States. Among these was Appropriation No. 1, extending from and including Lafayette park down to B street north (now Constitution avenue).

For these 17 parcels the United States government paid the original proprietors at the rate of £25 per acre, Maryland currency (about $66.67) in lawful money of the United States.

The original proprietors of the land constituting the White House grounds were Samuel Davidson, who owned the upper part, and David Burnes, who owned the lower part, the dividing line running from the northeast corner of the southwest corner.—Washington Star.

Skilled Workmen Still Manufacture Quill Pens

Modern inventions have superseded the craftsman, but the quill pen still finds employment for a handful of skilled workers. The quill-dresser of modern London still handles the undressed quill, bakes it, and points it, as his predecessors did in the Eighteenth century before the steel pen had been heard of. The market is mainly with the legal profession and a small company of writers.

There is still a firm in being whose founder made the first keys of Newgate; it still produces locks by hand, and declares that there is no machine-made lock to compare with the hand-made article.

London has a workshop where craftsmen turn out jeweled talismans, each one in accordance with astrological maps, for customers who believe that their horoscope acts as a guide through life. These costly ornaments are sent to every part of the world, for, despite education and machinery and sophistication, there are people who still believe in the magical power of an amulet.

Even the bow and arrow have their craftsmen today as of old, and just as you may buy from the modern bowyer a splendid hand-made bow, so you may order from the London fletcher, who has inherited from a long line of craftsmen the art of goose-feathering an arrow, this article as well turned out as in medieval days.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Inventors and Discoverers

The men who discover the underlying, unifying principles and laws of nature are those rare, penetrating geniuses who open the way for a thousand lesser ones, to put them to practical use. The principle of antitoxins was discovered by that mighty mind, Louis Pasteur, but many men, using this principle, have invented vaccines. Faraday discovered the principle of electrical action out of which have grown thousands of inventions. It is hard to draw the line between "pure" science—the discovery of new methods of research and new principles in nature—and "applied" science—putting it to practical use. Some men have been both inventors and discoverers—Edison, Marconi, the Wrights, Bell and numerous others.

"Now I Lay Me—"

This child was hurt when a tornado struck Tupelo, Mississippi, necessitating medical and nursing care for hundreds—care which in many cases could not have been given without Red Cross assistance. It is a fine tribute to the organization that the young beneficiaries of its health and relief services invariably place themselves in the hands of the Red Cross with a completely confident, "Now I lay me—."

BACK TO THE BIBLE LECTURES

To begin in the Methodist church on the corner of Conely Ave. and Bridge St., Thief River Falls, Minn., Sunday Night, November 1, 7:15 o'clock

Topic: Jesus Our Saviour and His Relationship to the Plan of Redemption

When, how, and by whom was that plan laid and carried out? Extra Special: "The Mansion" by Van Dyke, a dramatic reading rendered by Mrs. James Ward. Mr. James Ward will lead you in gospel singing and thrilling choruses.

WEEK NIGHTS PROGRAM BELOW

Tuesday, Nov. 3: Jesus' Part in the Plan of Creation.
Did Jesus really exist before the world was created?
Wednesday, Nov. 4: Jesus and the Flood.
Is the Flood a myth, or an historical fact that can be ascertained scientifically?
Thursday, Nov. 5: Jesus in the Book of Books.
Is the Saviour of the world portrayed to us in all the books of the Bible, or only in certain parts of the New Testament?

All services begin promptly at 7:45 P. M. There will always be before every lecture, some special feature such as chalk talks, readings, object stories for young and old, stereopticon pictures and beautiful songs. Written questions will be answered. The Living Word will be presented by live preachers.

All are cordially invited to come early for good free seats.

The "Tabby" Cat

"Tabby," as applied to a cat, means one whose markings suggest watered silk and so, as one of the lexicographers puts it, "a brindled cat, gray, streaked or otherwise marked with black or yellow." Going further into the uses of the word, all the authorities find that it is sometimes used to describe a gossipy spinster; and some, though by no means all, concede that it may be used to describe a female cat, as distinguished from a tomcat, without reference to markings.

Andorra, Tiny Republic

Andorra is a tiny republic in a valley of the Pyrenees mountains under the suzerainty of France and the Spanish bishop of Urgel. Only 191 square miles in extent, it has enjoyed undisturbed liberty since 1278 and was granted a constitution as a republic by Napoleon in 1806. The inhabitants of Andorra are mostly descended from refugees who fled from Spain a thousand years ago before the conquering armies of the Moors, that dark-skinned race, which overwhelmed Spain in the Ninth century.

OEN'S will Re-build

The disastrous fire which destroyed the building and stock of the Oen Mercantile Company Friday night, did not destroy the Oen Mercantile Company.

The organization, which has served this community since 1889, has survived. While our loss has been a heavy one, we fortunately are able to continue in business and are pleased to announce that steps have already been taken to replace the old building with a structure that will be a credit to our city.

Considerable time will be required to complete this new building. In the meantime we will continue to serve you to the best of our ability in temporary quarters.

Our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, Men's Clothing and Shoe departments will be located in the building on Third street formerly occupied by the Curtis Drug Store.

Our Furniture department will be conducted in the north half of the building occupied by Odegaard & Son's Feed Store at 315 North Horace Ave., north of the Soo Cafe.

The Hardware and Implement business will be located in the Johnson building on Main Ave., south of Borry's Garage.

A fuel office will be maintained at our bulk oil station on Atlantic Ave., at 8th street. The phone number is 57.

Our general office will be maintained in the basement of the Citizens' Bank Building, phone No. 1. Up to the present time no location has been found for our grocery department.

We realize that under this scattered arrangement it will be difficult to maintain a satisfactory service. It will, however, enable us to maintain our contacts, and, more important, provide continuous work for our twenty-five employees. These temporary quarters will be established as quickly as possible. Your consideration during these few months of inconvenience will be greatly appreciated by us and by the employees.

We will appreciate it very much if those to whom we have extended credit will make every possible effort to settle their accounts promptly. Naturally we will need all the cash we can get to meet the cost of building and restocking our store.

In conclusion, we wish to thank our friends and patrons for their many expressions of good will. It is because we believe the community wants this business to be re-established that we are going forward with the resolve to give Thief River Falls a bigger and better Oen Mercantile Company.

TAX-PAYING TIME CALLS ATTENTION TO TEN-YEAR PLAN

Taxpayers Group Reminds Public of Delinquent Tax Measure

As the final day for last half payment of current taxes approaches, penalties going into effect November 1, attention is called to the recent state law in which delinquent taxpayers may take advantage of the Ten-Year instalment plan to clean up their real old tax accumulations. Reports already received by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association indicate that taxpayers in many counties have decided to pay up old accounts in this way, and to care for current payments.

Those who desire to put their old taxes on an instalment basis will find the procedure comparatively simple, according to James P. McDonnell, president of the State Association, who outlines the method as follows:

"First of all, the law applies to taxes that have been delinquent for the year 1933 or prior. The taxpayer must file with the Clerk of Court a confession of judgment for the full amount of taxes delinquent and costs. His penalties and accumulated interest will then be excluded. Delinquent taxes can be refinanced over a period of ten years, the first payment of one-tenth to be paid down. The balance is to be paid in nine equal annual instalments, with interest at the rate of four per cent yearly, thus a taxpayer escapes old penalties.

"Current taxes must always be paid in full, however, during the life of the contract. If the instalment plan is accepted, and the taxpayer fails to make the annual payment with interest on due date, or fails to pay current taxes before they become delinquent, all the penalties and interest cancelled under the contract will be reinstated, and the lands described in such confessed judgment shall thereupon be subject to forfeiture. The plan calls for a contract between the delinquent taxpayer and the State, and the contract must be adhered to, or the taxpayer will forfeit all the benefits granted," McDonnell pointed out.

Hyde Park in London

In the reign of Henry VIII Hyde Park in London was a dense forest in which there were many wild boars. It is now London's most fashionable park. It is three miles in circumference and has an area of 361 acres. The level part, toward the Marble arch, is a favorite spot for public orators and is frequently used for mass meetings. Rotten Row, in the park, is a horseback ride of a mile and a half. Its name was originally Roughten's Rue, or street, and it was used by Lord Roughten and his friends as a bridle path. Kensington gardens, covering 250 acres, adjoin the park. Park lane, containing some of the finest mansions in London, runs alongside the park.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

An 8-Inch Tale

SHELL games are not the only activity wherein the hand may be quicker than the eye.

So ruminates Buck Pyle, once of Clarendon, Texas, when he recalls the famous hunting trip undertaken by two of his father's ranch hands.

The cowboys, Sam and Henry, found buffalo tracks almost immediately. They spied two buffalo, and each fired at a different animal.

Henry's buffalo sped over a mountain range with Henry in close pursuit and was lost to view. Sam wounded his game and the injured buffalo charged. His pony wheeled, slipped into the deep grass and unseated the rider.

Sam rose to a sitting position, terrified at the approach of the huge animal. He ducked just as the charging buffalo hurtled past, then he straightened suddenly, grasped the wounded buffalo by the tail and hung on.

He could not hope to subdue the maddened beast, but neither could the animal attack him. So Sam clung to the buffalo's eight-inch tail until just before the wild runner crossed the Mexican boundary. Then he reached out with a poplar tree he'd gathered en route, tickled the buffalo's nose and turned him back.

When Sam had guided the buffalo in this fashion until they reached Donley county, Henry rode up and rescued his friend.

The regrettable effect of the incident, says Pyle, is that Sam won't accept a buffalo nickel now, even if you offer him three for a dime.

Nile River Floated the First Boat Built by Man

The Nile river in Egypt is supposed to have floated the first boat ever built, according to a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. There, 5,000 years before Christ, a man learning to swim sat on a floating log and paddled about with his hands. The log was the first ship. Later, perhaps a century or more, two logs were lashed together, making the first raft. From such beginnings have come our great ocean greyhounds.

Naturally the first navigators knew nothing of sails for their boats. In fact, all the boats of ancient days were nothing but huge rowboats, where tiers of men were placed, one above the other, with long-handled oars. Even the Phoenicians' boats, which are spoken of in the Bible, depended on man power to move over the water.

These first ships were thought to be living gods. Instead of building a plain bow as we do today on our ships, the first mariners built a large head upon a bow, supposed to protect the boat and the sailors' lives. Later this head, encased in gold or bronze, was used as a battering ram to puncture other ships. The stern of the boat was a huge tail, which curved over the back decks. No doubt when the ship was seen in the distance it did look like a mammoth animal crawling along with its rows of oars for legs and the big curved tail and head standing high above the rest of the ship.

Believing that unless the ship had eyes it would become lost, the ancients also painted eyes on each side of the bow. And, strange as it may seem, we still have eyes on our ships in the form of hawse holes for the anchor cables.

Hydrocyanic Gas Is Used to Suffocate Murderers

Hydrocyanic acid is the gas which has been adopted by some of the western states for killing condemned criminals, a single inhalation of it having the same lethal effect as the high voltage current used in electrocutions, relates a scientist in the New York Herald Tribune. Hydrogen sulphide is the well known "rotten eggs" gas that is commonly considered more unpleasant than deadly, but its power to produce fatal results is almost the same as that of hydrocyanic acid.

The relative powers of the various gases and vapors to produce death in a short time, together with the percentage by volume in the air required to produce this effect on animals, are listed as: 1—hydrogen sulphide, .06 to .3 per cent; 2—hydrocyanic acid, .018 per cent; 3—nitrogen oxide, .07 per cent; 4—sulphur dioxide, .2 per cent; 5—carbon monoxide, .5 to 1.0 per cent; 6—ammonia, .5 to 1.0 per cent; 7—gasoline, 2.4 per cent; 8—carbon dioxide, 12 to 30 per cent.

Mauna Kea Long Quiet

Mauna Kea, highest mountain peak in America's Hawaiian playground, is reaching a respectable age. The mountain has not had an eruption for 23,000 years, according to the Hawaiian Academy of Science expedition which has made a thorough study of the 13,823-foot summit. The last lava outburst on the mountain followed the recession of miles of glacial deposits, believed to have capped the peak 80,000 years ago.

Modern Japan Walks in Western Style Footgear

Wooden clogs and straw sandals remain the most common footgear for Japanese wearing the traditional garb, but when the native sandals and western-style shoes march side by side in the downtown streets of Tokyo, it is only another indication of the amazing way in which Japan has adopted modern methods while she continues in her old, revered customs, says the Washington Post.

Modern Japan goes ski-jumping and mountain climbing in the approved European fashion, while ancient Japan holds tea ceremony. Yet Japan, whether it follows the ancient or modern tradition, has a common meeting ground in its appreciation of beauty.

Not only during cherry blossom time, but throughout the year, whatever the season, the Japanese take a keen delight in the management of their gardens, in cherished vistas of Mount Fuji, and frequent excursions to the country in happy groups to enjoy the shrines for which Japan is famous.

Slavery in Senegal

Once the streets of Senegal, now a coastal colony of French West Africa, were witness to a strange and horrible traffic, the slave trade. While the slave trade was in progress, local tribal chieftains foraged the interior for fresh victims. Entire villages would be captured, their inhabitants marched to the coast to be bartered for beads, hatchets, bright clothes with brass buttons. When the practice was outlawed by the world, peace came to the land (about the size of South Dakota) and its 1,400,000 mostly Mohammedan population. Instead of human flesh, chiefs now deal in peanuts, which the sandy soil grows well, cotton, rice and copra. St. Louis is the capital; Dakar, the largest port and farthest westerly tip of the "Dark Continent," is where the French governor general makes his headquarters.—Washington Post.

The Milk river, which rises in Montana and flows through the southern part of Alberta, Canada, is a tributary of the Missouri-Mississippi system. Other tributaries, such as the Conewango, flow through the western part of New York.

THE MOST CHEERFUL NEWS

The most cheerful news of the week is the announcement that the Oen Mercantile Company will re-build at once. And the announcement is especially cheerful in contrast to the very discouraging prospects about eight o'clock last Friday evening. At that time it was an even bet that at least several blocks of the business section would be destroyed. Thanks to the efficiency of a well managed fire department, good fire fighting equipment and favorable weather conditions, the damage was confined to the buildings along the streets of this one intersection.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the work of the volunteer fire department on this occasion. One of the country's stock jokes is about the damage done by firemen at a fire. Such jokes were not justified by the performance of the fire fighters Friday night however. With every store front on the north side of Third Street opposite the Oen building in flames it would have been reasonable to expect the contents of those stores to be water soaked. But so skillfully was the water handled that there was very little damage to any of the contents. Professional fire fighters couldn't have done a neater job and from every standpoint the generalship was excellent. Six streams of water were played on the flames from all directions and guards were stationed on the roofs of all adjacent buildings to check the spread of the fire by flying embers. It was a nice job.

Friday's fire was the first real threat the city has had since the new fire fighting equipment was purchased and it is generally agreed that this one fire alone justified the cost of that equipment. The cost of not having good equipment on this one occasion would have totaled many thousands of dollars.

But now the fire is merely another page of local history. The cheerful news of the week is the announcement of a fine new building to replace the present ruins. And for this good news, a round of cheers to Rasmus Oen. Mr. Oen is getting along in years. Others in his position might have decided to let someone else do the job of re-building. No one could have blamed him if he had decided a winter in Florida would be more pleasant. But after all, that wouldn't be Rasmus Oen, and his determination to stay right here and re-build that which was destroyed is typical of the man himself. So three cheers for Rasmus Oen and may his faith in the community, toward which he has contributed so much, be justified by his own as well as the community's future progress.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS

Only a few more days and another great political campaign will come to an end. During these last few days all of the big guns will go into action. Until the late hours of Monday night the bombardment will continue. Then on Tuesday the voters will speak. They will speak quietly. But it is what they say on Tuesday that will count. The election will not be decided by the volume of the pre-election oratory. Only the voice of the voter will count.

And what will the voters say? No one knows. There have been polls. Final results of the nation-wide poll conducted by the Literary Digest were announced last night. According to the results of this poll Landon will be elected president. More than fifty-four per cent of the voters who registered their opinions in this poll expressed a preference for the Kansan. Less than forty-one per cent favored Roosevelt.

In previous polls the Digest figures have varied but little from the official results. Because of its reliability in the past, the Digest poll commands respect now. But it may be wrong this time. New factors may have entered the political picture that have made this method of measuring public sentiment unreliable. We will know Wednesday. Or at any rate, if the contest is close, which it probably will be, by Thursday.

Whatever the results of this contest may be, providing the results are close, we will not feel badly. To us it would be discouraging if Roosevelt were re-elected by a one-sided majority. A one-sided victory would be interpreted by him and by his associates as a mandate from the people to continue a reckless program of expensive experimentation. Victory by a narrow margin would have a much needed sobering influence on his administration.

And whether the President be Roosevelt or Landon, the next four years are going to bring problems that will require hard headed solutions. During the next four years, whether it's Landon or Roosevelt, the government will have to change from its pleasant role as a Santa Claus to that of a collector. And collectors are never popular. There would be a measure of justice in forcing Roosevelt to assume such an unpopular role. And it would be a shabby trick on Landon to put him in a position where he would have to clean house for the untidy housekeeper who preceded him. But the decision will be made Tuesday. And what is said between now and Tuesday probably will have little bearing on the final result.

In the state contest the situation is different. Minnesota has had five years of government by the Farmer-Labor party. The record of the Farmer-Labor party is a record of mismanagement of the state's affairs and a change of administration is badly needed. That record has been thoroughly exposed and needs no further comment, and if our judgment of the attitude of Minnesota voters is not entirely wrong that party will be decisively repudiated at the polls next Tuesday.

Only a few more days and another great campaign will come to an end. We will be glad when it is over. It will be a good thing for the country when it is over and the people can settle down once again to the really important job of improving their own circumstances by their own efforts. Frankly, politics and politicians annoy us and we will heave a great sigh of relief when we can sweep into the waste paper basket the stack of political clap-trap that now is piled high on our desk.

When you vote Tuesday, as of course every good citizen will, it might not be a bad idea to pause and reflect a little on the fact that in only a few countries of the world do people have the privilege of voting. Whatever else may be wrong with our country, America is still a land of broad personal liberties. We still have religious freedom. We still have freedom of expression. We still have the right to assert ourselves at the ballot box. It is still a country of majority rule. These things are not mere accidents. These privileges were fought for by generations of people who suffered the abuses of minority rule. The real reactionaries of today are those who would return us to a servile condition of regimentation. Think about these things when you vote Tuesday.

EXPENSIVE HUNCHES
(Baltimore Sun)

Mr. Roosevelt is so enthusiastic, so grandiose in his ideas, that when he decides on housing, he must build a whole town; his scheme of water storage takes in the whole Mississippi Valley; his tree belts are to be 100 miles wide and 1,500 miles long; his rural power schemes operated not merely in counties but in whole states; and when he starts to experiment in the regulation of industry, he tries to regulate all of it at once, down to the pants presser on the corner of the alley, no matter how many thousands of new regulators he must put on the payroll to handle the job, and no matter how much the ultimate cost may be.

Our belief is that the period of expensive hunches should be brought to a close at the earliest possible moment, that the government, if it must experiment, should confine its efforts to something more modest than has been the rule in the last few years. It is not necessary any longer to leap from one dramatic climax to another.

AND INNOCENTS STILL DIE
(Saratoga, N. Y., Saratogian)

Americans read with horror the lurid stories from Spain of a conflict taking an average of perhaps 1,000 lives a day.

Horrible! Yet in the last seven months 18,560 Americans have also been killed, violently, their blood crimsoning the pavements, their mutilation and agonies no less sickening and sharp.

They are just as dead as their Spanish brothers, without even such satisfaction as there may be in dying for a cause.

They are the traffic victims. If their toll increases during the latter part of the year, as it usually does, then the casualty list will be higher this year than ever before. Last year 37,000 died, probably a greater cost in life than the Spanish revolt toll to date.

This in spite of widespread safety drives and a mass of publicity for highway safety that has not been equaled in many years.

Get what solace you can from the thought that this increased toll probably is due primarily to more cars on the roads. Gasoline consumption was up 10 per cent in May as compared to a year ago, and traffic is probably up in proportion. Your own observation of tourists and traffic in town will verify this.

Statistical sharks will figure that the deaths per 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline used have actually lessened somewhat, which is hopeful. But the fact that certain states have made marked reductions in their traffic toll augurs badly for the others.

New Hampshire, for instance, reports a 31 per cent reduction. That means that somebody else is falling down on the job.

Tentative figures do tend to show that states which have rigid drivers' license laws have been leaders in reducing their auto toll, since those laws make it easier to get obviously dangerous drivers off the streets.

But, in the long run, the law won't settle the problem. It can't. Nobody can make a genuine dent in the slaughter of the innocents except you, and you, and you. The man behind the wheel is the one who holds in his hands life and death, not only for himself, but for others.

SWEDISH DEMOCRACY
(Montreal Star)

There are some highly interesting features about the results of the general elections for the lower house of the riksdag. At dissolution the various parties were lined up as follows: Social Democrat, 102; Conservative, 56; Agrarian, 37; People's, 25, and Communist, 10. This week's selection gave the following results: Social Democrats, 112; Conservatives, 44; Agrarian, 36; People's, 27; Socialists, 6, and Communists, 5.

It will be seen that the main change is from Conservative to Social Democrat. But it will also be noted that the Communists lost half their strength, those five seats going to the socialists, and that the Nazi group did not elect a single member.

The Swedish people desire no extremists in their government. They are bent upon bringing about the best possible social conditions for all classes, and utilizing the resources of the nation for the common good. But Sweden believes in proceeding along constitutional lines, and frowns upon the methods of the Reds. Its socialism is the kind that attracts men of high intelligence and moderate views. Democracy in Europe offers an attractive exhibit in the Scandinavian peninsula today.

August broke the record for the importation of cheese—2,100,000 pounds—more than the total for the entire year of 1929. For the first eight months of this year Canadian cheese-makers have dumped 8,250,000 pounds on the American market. Congressman Culkin of New York, an authority on dairy matters, says that "the direct effect of this tremendous dumping on our markets was manifest the very first day the Canadian treaty went into effect last January. American cheese prices dropped two cents a pound that day, costing Wisconsin cheese-makers alone $6,500,000. The total drop in four months was from 17 cents to 12½ cents."—Morris Tribune.

NOTICE
TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE THIEF RIVER FALLS CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY ASSOCIATION:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That a special meeting of the stockholders of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery Association will be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms of the Municipal Auditorium in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota on the 7th day of November, 1936, at two o'clock P. M., for the purpose of voting upon the resolution proposing amendments to the Articles of Incorporation of the company. A full text of the resolution, as unanimously adopted by the Board of Directors of the corporation on October 20, 1936, and a full text of the proposed amendments and the articles which will be repealed by said amendment are hereto attached and made a part of this notice.

Dated October 20, 1936.

J. M. THEIGE,
Secretary.
JOHN FUNNENDAHL,
President.

RESOLUTION

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery Association of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, held on October 20th, 1936, Hans Anton offered the following resolution and moved its adoption. The same was seconded by Christ Nelson and unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery Association is a co-operative association, organized and doing business under the requirements and terms of Chapter 326 of the Laws of Minnesota for 1923, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors deem it desirable to procure a wider distribution of the ownership of its stock and to reduce the par value thereof from twenty-five ($25) dollars to twelve dollars and fifty cents ($12.50), exchanging two shares for one of the now outstanding stock, and

WHEREAS, it has been difficult in the past to procure a full and complete audit of the year's business in time for the annual meeting designated by the Articles of Incorporation to be held on the last Monday in January of each year, and therefore desire to change the date of the annual meeting to a later date, and

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary, expedient and advisable that this corporation amend its Articles of Incorporation so as to enable the making of the changes contemplated above,

NOW THEREFORE, Be IT Resolved, that a special meeting of the stockholders of this corporation be called for Saturday, November the 7th at two o'clock P. M. of that day to be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Municipal Auditorium in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, for the purpose of voting upon the proposed amendments to the Articles of Incorporation as hereinafter set forth, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of this corporation be, and he hereby is, instructed to prepare and mail to each stockholder of this corporation at his or her last known post office address a copy of this resolution and the full text of the proposed amendment and also a full text of such section or sections as may be repealed by such amendment and a ballot in the following form, which is hereby prescribed and adopted:

CLEAN BROODER IS CHICK INSURANCE

Sanitary Quarters a Safeguard Against Disease.

By Roy S. Dearstyne, Head Poultry Department, North Carolina State College.—WNU Service.

Protecting baby chicks from coccidiosis will go a long way toward reducing their death rate. The chicks are infected by picking up the tiny eggs of the parasite which causes the disease. The eggs are frequently found on the ground and in the brooder house when older birds of the flock have been infected.

To control the disease all infected chicks should be killed and burned or buried deeply. Thoroughly clean out the litter or sand from the brooder house at least every other day and replace with clean dry sand about one-third of an inch deep. Continue this frequent cleaning until the disease is checked.

Feeding and drinking containers should be sterilized every few days with boiling water, since ordinary disinfectants are of no practical value in controlling this disease.

If the weather is not too hot, confine the chicks to the brooder house for at least seven days to keep them from picking up coccidial eggs from the ground outside the house where diseased chicks may have ranged.

Meanwhile, plow or spade the infected runways, if possible, so as to bring uninfected earth to the surface. Otherwise, the chicks should be provided with an uninfected range by some other method.

Avoid tracking germs into the brooder house or placing in the house any material which may be infected. Keep up the chicks' vitality by feeding a balanced ration and caring for them properly.

Treating for Worms Is Necessary for Summer

Raising chickens on clean ground is the recommended practice to keep a flock free of round-worms, and to reduce infestation of tape, caecal and gizzard worms. Nevertheless, a lot of flocks have more or less serious worm infestations at this time.

Late summer treatment means that if a good job of worm removal is done, the pullets will mature much more rapidly than even when only mildly infested. Also, they will flesh up properly if well fed and not only be ready to lay during the high price period, but will lay regularly instead of only now and then, as the thin pullets must do.

Individual bird treatment with the standard drugs for killing the worms present (which should be determined by examination by one who knows poultry worms) is the recommended practice, though flock treatment may be effective.—Wallaces' Farmer.

Off-Colored Poults

In the best of Bronze turkey flocks, a few light-colored, or slate-colored poults occur each year. There has been much speculation among turkey breeders as to the cause of this variation. It can scarcely be due to atavism because White or Slate turkeys have not been used in the make-up of the bronze breed, the Bronze having been derived from the wild turkey, and the White and Slate in turn established from sports of the Bronze. Many breeders believe that they are the result of an intensive breeding for color and it is alleged that where they are used as breeders their offspring usually are of better color than those from the better colored breeders.—Missouri Farmer.

Cross-Breeding Poultry

Cross-breeding of pure-bred fowls for the purpose of securing greater vigor and vitality in the first generation of the progeny, and of making it possible to distinguish the males from the females at hatching, has become a measure of considerable popularity within recent years. Both increased vitality, leading to greater gains in weight in the male chicks kept for broilers, and better production in pullets kept for laying are claimed as a result of such crossing. There is more question of the validity of the latter claim, however, because of lack of evidence in sufficient volume to lead to positive conclusions.—Rural New Yorker.

Bronchitis in Chicks

Infectious bronchitis of poultry frequently attacks baby chicks. There is no cure. Sick chicks will gasp for breath and have a watery discharge from the eyes. It is best to separate the sick chicks and keep them in a warm place with an increase of humidity in the atmosphere. Soothing drugs such as menthol, camphor, beechwood creosote, etc., vaporized from water, help relieve the condition, but cannot be considered a cure. Irritating agents such as sulphur, chlorine, etc., do not bring relief. If chicks go through the disease they will be immune to it thereafter.

In the presence of all these election polls it must pain Political Manager Farley to remember his old home town, Haverstraw.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ETHIOPIA'S MONEY DATES FROM 1780

Stamped on the only coins accepted as money throughout the whole of Abyssinia today, is the date 1780. The coin is the Maria Theresa thaler of Austria, which has been the prevailing currency of Abyssinia for generations, states a writer in Pearson's Weekly.

Vienna mints these thalers solely for use in Africa, using the design of 1780. The tribesmen will not accept coins which vary in the slightest detail from the traditional pattern. Their favorite way of deciding whether a coin is genuine or not is to count the number of pearls in the brooch worn by the figure of Empress Theresa on the coin.

In 1890, the famous Emperor Menelik II tried to introduce a truly national coinage into Abyssinia, but his effort failed. So, more recently, did similar endeavors by Haile Selassie. The currencies they brought into the country circulated only in a few towns. But the tribesmen of the wild and remote regions still refused to have anything whatever to do with these coins.

The word "dollar" is derived from "thaler."

Cashew Nut Has Become an American Favorite

Americans are eating more cashews than they used to, says the bureau of agricultural economics, in commenting on the 1936 outlook for tree nuts.

Back in 1929-30, cashews were less than one-third of 1 per cent of all nuts eaten, not counting pea nuts. (Peanuts are not true nuts.) The next year cashew consumption shot up to about 3 per cent of the total, and in 1931-32 to 8 per cent. By 1934-35 it had reached 13.9 per cent and was exceeded only by walnuts and pecans.

The cashew tree is a tropical evergreen. Except for a few experimental trees in southern Florida and southeastern Texas, it is not grown in this country.

All cashews eaten here are imported—about 98 per cent of them coming from India and the rest from other parts of Asia and from Haiti. The duty is 2 cents a pound. The keeping quality of cashews used to be poor, but newer methods of removing husks and packing have resulted in a better product.

In addition to its wide use for salted nuts and in confections, the cashew kernel yields an edible oil. The juice of the nut is used by natives where it grows, as iodine is used, for healing cuts and abrasions of the skin.

Flying Doctor

Huge areas of Australia are without a single hospital, and often the nearest doctor is 50 miles or more away. Wireless and airplanes have to be used to aid the seriously ill in these vast empty lands. The Australian Inland Mission has devised a special wireless system with automatic transmitters for use by isolated stations in the wilds. As soon as anyone falls ill a relation or friend can discuss the case by wireless with the nearest medical officer.—Pearson's Weekly.

Monkey's Kiss Clears Man

Clambering up its master's arm, a tiny monkey flung its arms around its aged master's neck and kissed him. This saved old Max, aged sixty-seven, from being fined for brutality to his pet. Max had jerked the monkey's chain when the pet refused to dance for pennies in a Berlin street, some one told the police, and Max was arrested. "I love my monkey like a child," Max told the judge, but he was fined. Then the monkey's kiss won the reversal of sentence.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 26, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Monday's sheep and lamb run of 41,000 was heaviest since late in 1934. All classes were steady to strong, spots higher, with better grade lambs at $8.50-8.65, inbetween and lower grades $6.00-7.50. Better slaughter ewes brought $2.50-3.50, one load $3.60, thin kinds down to $1.00 or less. Desirable white-faced feeding lambs brought $7.00-7.50, others down to $5.60 or below.

Cattle receipts were mostly lower grade grassers, with all killing classes selling fully steady, vealers weak to 50c lower. A few fed steers sold at $9.00 and down, medium to good grades $6.50-8.50, grass killers mostly $5.00-7.00. Cutter and common heifers brot $3.50-5.50, plain butcher cows $4.00-4.50, better westerns $4.75-5.50, low cutters and cutters $3.00-3.85, bulk sausage bulls $4.00-4.75, good and choice vealers $7.50-9.00, most grass killer calves $3.00-5.00. Better grade stockers and feeders were fully steady, odd lots good and choice yearlings and calves making $5.75-7.00, bulk lower grades down to $4.00.

Hogs were unevenly 10-25c lower, the minimum decline on sows. Better 180-250 lb. weights brought $8.65-9.10, 160-180 lb. $8.25-8.75, 140-160 lb. $7.50-8.35, 100-140 lb. killers $6.00-7.60, good feeder pigs $5.00-6.00, good sows mainly $7.85-8.65.

Red Cross Potential Life Savers Number Nearly 2,000,000

First aid and life saving certificates issued by the American Red Cross since the start of the service 26 years ago now number 1,851,702. During the past year the Red Cross qualified 222,693 persons in first aid and taught water safety and rescue methods to 80,981.

This army of First Aiders and Life Savers is one of the great safety factors in the nation. They are trained to give immediate first aid at the scene of accident, thus saving many lives and preventing permanent injury. Red Cross training includes skill in treating for shock, splinting fractures, checking arterial bleeding, applying artificial respiration, towing drowning persons to safety, and in the safe handling of boat and canoe.

Last year the Red Cross reached 10,060,000 homes with check lists of accident hazards in a nation wide program to reduce the incidence of home and farm accidents. This year home accident fatalities were cut by several thousand according to statisticians. A similar campaign has been launched this year through Red Cross chapters.

GOVERNOR LANDON WAGES CAMPAIGN IN EASTERN U. S.

Assails "Spoils System" in Address in Pittsburgh Tuesday Night

Governor Alf M. Landon said Wednesday at Newark, New Jersey that labor's right to organize and bargain collectively "needs to be emphasized and applied" and pledged, if elected, enforcement of "federal laws for the protection of workers."

"For many years I have believed in the necessity of organization as a means of advancing the fortunes of the individual worker, raising his standard of living," the Republican presidential nominee told a New Jersey audience.

Speaking at Pittsburgh Tuesday night, the Republican nominee assailed what he termed "the most open, the most crude, and the most brutal use of the spoils system this country has ever seen" and promised "a good old-fashioned house-cleaning when I am elected."

As he enumerated and discussed New Deal activities, Landon concluded each declaration with a cheer-provoking, "This is not a good government."

Landon asserted the New Deal went "hog-wild in adding new agencies" creating "75 new alphabetical what-nots"—a term that brought laughter from his hearers.

Fear psychology, says an advertising tycoon, is losing its old force as a sales stimulant. But mister, it still sells battleships.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

WINGER BANK IS ROBBED MONDAY NIGHT OF $4,000

Robbers Use an Acetylene Torch to Gain Access to Vault

The Farmers State bank of Winger was burglarized Monday night by robbers who obtained all the money the bank had in its safe, a sum of about $4,000.

Robbers gained entrance to the bank through a basement window and forced a trap door leading into the bank to gain entrance to the institution. They used an acetylene torch to cut the door of the vault and knocked the combination off the safe.

The robbery was discovered at seven A. M. Tuesday when O. B. Gjerdingen, cashier, opened the bank. He immediately notified Sheriff Julius Spokely at Crookston, O. K. Bolstad and Ed Kelley, deputies, who came to Winger, and the state bureau of criminal apprehension was notified at at once.

The bank was closed Tuesday while officials attempted to right the chaos left by the robbers, who scattered papers and records in profusion over the place as they ransacked the safe. Only one quarter was missed by the robbers as they made away with all the cash the bank had in its vault. Water, used by the robbers to fill up the safe, after the first small hole had been drilled with the torch, had damaged some of the bank's records.

Every indication points to professionals as the perpetrators of the crime reported.

Klemmetson Rites Are Conducted October 26

Funeral services were held October 26 at the Klemmetson home, at the Telemarken church, and at McIntosh for Elling Klemmetson who died October 21. Reverend E. O. Sabo officiated at the rites. Burial was made at McIntosh.

Elling Klemmetson was born at Lingerike, Norway, May 13, 1861. He came to America in 1874 and settled at Spring Grove. In 1879 he filed on a homestead near Ulen, where he lived for a number of years. He was married to Sarah Syverson, October 29, 1884 at Fargo and later moved to McIntosh, where he lived for about ten years. Next he moved to Kratka township where he has since made his home. He had resided there for the past twenty-five years. Mr. Klemmetson was active in church work.

He is survived by his wife, four sons, and five daughters, Henry, Oscar, Edward, Mrs. Halvor Voxland, and Mrs. Bennie Moen, all of McIntosh, Mrs. Odin Hanson of this city, Mrs. Bert Typer of St. Paul, Mrs. Christine Reek and Alvin of Hazel; also three sisters, Mrs. L. L. Mosbeck of Grand Forks, Mrs. Ole Erickson of Ulen, and Mrs. Carl Brooten of Hetterdal; and seventeen grandchildren. Two sons, Carl and Benhart, preceded him in death.

DISASTROUS BLAZE IS CAUSE OF $150,000 DAMAGE HERE FRIDAY

down LaBree av. had a similar experience, but losses in both places were fully covered by insurance.

Considerable damage was sustained by the Northern State bank building due to the intense heat which billowed across the street from Oen's store. The loss, which was covered by insurance, included broken plate glass windows, singed fixtures and woodwork and some water damage upstairs. Also sustaining merchandise losses were the B. & B. Style Shop and the Elizabeth Shop in the bank building.

The Curtis building adjoining suffered damage including broken glass on both the first and second floors, scorched woodwork, water damage on the second floor and smoke damage on both floors including the Curtis drug stock on the main floor. Glass was shattered in the Hartz bakery and the Hardy North dairy.

The front of the Caldis building occupied by Al's Coffee Shop suffered broken windows, damage to paint and the loss of an awning, while the glass in the front of the Woolworth store was shattered and the merchandise in the windows ruined, as well as the awning and sign. The Ben Franklin store building sustained broken glass and merchandise displayed in the windows were spoiled. Rolland's meat market farther south also had its windows cracked by the heat, and some of the equipment was damaged while being removed from the building when it was feared the fire would spread.

Third st. and LaBree av. adjoining the fire were a scene of confusion during the fire, with occupants of upstairs apartments bringing their possessions down into the street, prepared to have them hauled away in the event that the blaze spread, as seemd certain. The situation was further complicated by the fact that the lights in downtown district went out when electric wires in the alley back of Oen's store fell to the ground. The flames, which mounted high into the air, provided the only illumination.

The work of clearing away the debris on the site got under way Tuesday preparatory to the construction of a new home for the Oen company. The building will be two stories in height and will be the same dimensions, 75 by 140 feet, as the one destroyed. The project will be pushed as rapidly as possible, Mr. Oen said. The building which was destroyed Friday was erected in 1908.

HAWK BATTLES FOR CHICKEN DINNER

St. Charles—A two and a half pound chicken owned by E. H. Markham, Altura farmer, had a narrow escape recently. A hawk wanted it. It was plump with fat, sparkling with vitality—such a succulent morsel that a hawk almost gave battle to Mr. Markham for its possession. In fact, the chicken already was in the hawk's possession and remained there until Mr. Markham was within three feet away. He arrived in time and the chicken was placed in a pivate ward, its wounds dressed. It is reported that it may still double its weight.

Thronson Brings 1937 Model Pontiac to City

T. M. Thronson, proprietor of the Thronson Motor company, local Pontiac agency, returned Tuesday from a meeting in Minneapolis Monday attended by 400 dealers in the Minneapolis zone. He brought back with him one of the 1937 Pontiac models which is now on display in his show room.

Martin Wold Passes in Minneapolis Wednesday

Martin Wold, until recently employed at Wangenstein's jewelry store, died Wednesday afternoon following a month's illness in Minneapolis, where he had gone a short time ago. Funeral rites will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Erickson & Lund Funeral Home.

Minnesota Farm Bureau Now Signing up Members

The 1937 Farm Bureau membership campaign is off to a flying start. Seventeen counties started their campaign previous to the first of November and the balance consisting of some forty counties or more will be going down the road during the month of November. All counties plan to be through with their county-wide campaign before Thanksgiving Day. Follow up work will continue until every community has been covered, says A. G. Mereness, director of organization.

State Tax Commission Approves Valuations

Assessed valuations of real and personal property in Pennington county, as turned in by the county board of equalization, were unchanged by the state tax commission, according to word received recently from N. A. Nelson, secretary of the commission, by County Auditor A. M. Senstad.

$170,000 FEDERAL FUNDS RELEASED IN MUD LAKE AREA

Money Will Pay for Approximately 45,000 Acres in Reserve

The release last week of federal funds totalling $170,000 for land acquisition in the Mud Lake area in Marshall county will give Minnesota one of the best waterfowl sanctuaries in the northwest, according to E. V. Willard, commissioner of conservation.

With the completion of land acquisition and the construction by the U. S. Biological area will be the largest and most desirable sanctuary in the state.

"This project was approved by the U. S. Biological survey as a migratory waterfowl feeding and nesting grounds early in 1933," Mr. Willard stated.

"Because of the policies governing the purchase of lands by the Resettlement Administration and the manner in which the titles to the lands were involved by reason of tax delinquencies, the state was asked to acquire the lands by condemnation, later to be deeded to the government under an agreement whereby the government reimbursed the state for any moneys expended in these proceedings.

"The funds now released are the first actually paid by the government and will pay for approximately 45,000 acres out of a total of about 53,000 included in the original agreement between the state and the federal governmnt. On the remainder, negotiations for titles are being carried on by the state and the deeds should be ready for submission to the federal government within a short time."

The funds have been turned over to the Marshall county district court for payment to individual land owners whose lands were acquired by the state of Minnesota and subsequently deeded to the federal government.

PLOW 66 ACRES FOR NEIGHBOR

Walnut Grove.—Plowing 66 acres of land for a neighbor was just a day's work for eleven Walnut Grove men, who assisted Leonard Larson. Because of illness, the latter had not been able to do his fall plowing. Realizing his plight and remembering that but for the gods of chance they might have been in the same position, the neighbors gathered together and accomplished this big brother act, to the surprise and delight of the sick man.

Conservationists Are Requested to Approve Amendment Number One

All persons interested in conservation are urged to vote for Amendment No. 1 to the state constitution at the general election next Tuesday. The amendment will authorize the legislature to permit the exchange of state lands for federal or privately owned lands in order to bring about better forest management.

There are more than 300,000 acres of state-owned lands within the Chippewa and Superior National forests and conservation officials agree that it is very difficult for the federal and state governments to cooperate efficiently in the management of these scattered holdings.

Passage of Amendment No. 1 would permit such state lands to be exchanged for federal lands more accessible to state control. The state, however, will reserve mineral rights to all lands exchanged.

The amendment would also permit more efficient management of more than 2,000,000 acres of tax delinquent lands which will revert to the state to be used for forestry and other conservation purposes.

Study Water Problem at Clearwater Lake

A committee of 10 men including representatives of Grand Forks, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Bagley and Clearbrook went to the Clearwater lake and river vicinity Thursday to determine means of raised, it was expected the stored serve as an emergency water source. If the lake level can be raiseed, it was expected the stored water might serve as an emergency supply for Greater Grand Forks and Crookston which get their city supplies from the Clearwater area, through the Red Lake river.

CAR SUNK IN LAKE DISCOVERED LAST WEEK

Alexandria.—An automobile, which was sunk five years ago in Red Rock Lake for insurance, was discovered last week by three Alexandria duck hunters. The car was a 1929 Graham-Paige on which there was a $600 insurance against theft. The owner, after sinking the car in the lake to a depth of 25 feet five years ago, reported it stolen, and a year later the second man assisting with the crime related the story to the sheriff. Although the lake was dragged with a chain there was no trace of the car and the man's story was discredited. Now that the car was discovered, officials expected to catch up with the owner of the car, but found he had died during the last summer.

450 STATE SNOW PLOWS READY TO KEEP ROADS OPEN

More Than 1,000 Miles of Snow Fence Set up in State

Approximately 450 snow plows are ready for the annual task of keeping Minnesota trunk highways open to winter traffic, according to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

The plows are distributed among the 10 state highway maintenance districts. The equipment consists of 114 power graders used in slush and light snow; 95 one-way plows which throw snow to one side of the road only; 245 big Vee type plows which throw snow to both sides and can cope with heavy snows and drifts; 12 truck mounted rotary blower plows for extremely deep drifts.

The big V plows weigh more than a ton each, and are attached to three to five ton trucks. In severe storms two such trucks work coupled together in tandem while bucking drifts. Two five-ton trucks with a one-ton plow in front are capable of exerting terrific driving force when launched into a drift.

During the past year a number of three-ton trucks which had worn out were replaced by four and five-ton units to provide greater power for battling snow on the 11,340 miles of trunk highways, Mr. Elsberg said.

As a preventive of blocked roads, the highway department has erected more than 1,000 miles of snow fence at locations where drifting occurs every winter. The snow fence causes the snow to form a drift away from the highway, leaving the roadway clear.

To combat the dangers of ice coated roads, the highway department has placed 10,000 cubic yards of gravel and 100 tons of calcium chloride in stockpiles at strategic locations throughout the state. From these piles highway trucks spread the gravel over slippery curves and hills to provide traction for skidding tires. The chemical keeps the piled gravel loose and usable and also helps it stick to the roadway after spreading.

Last winter snow storms cost the highway department more than $1,000,000 in maintenance expense.

Slang is the language that takes off its coat, spits on its hands and goes to work.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

Martin A. Nelson, republican candidate for governor, has presented to the people of Minnesota a complete, constructive program for the administration of the state during the next two years.

The highlights of that program are these:

Sound liberalism—An end to half-baked schemes and hasty radicalism in government and a return to soundly liberal policies along practical lines.

Economy—Mr. Nelson will conduct the government of the state upon old-fashioned principles of thrift and economy. He will neglect no needed thing, he will liberally provide for all progressive undertakings of the state, but he will cut out the waste and the squandering.

Merit System—No political card will be necessary to hold a job in Minnesota under Martin A. Nelson. He will recognize ability and merit and will reward faithful service to the state.

Taxes—Martin Nelson will seek to reduce the tax load rather than to increase it. He will oppose all inequitable, oppressive taxes. He will not approve a sales tax. He will seek a "substantial reduction" in the property tax.

Program of administration—"I will administer the affairs of Minnesota during the next two years without a sales tax but with a reduction of the property tax, by the application of the following policies:

"(1) Economy in every department, the ending of waste and the elimination of useless and overlapping state activities.

"(2) The encouragement of business and industrial revival that will bring back to the state those indirect revenue receipts which have largely sustained the state in the past. Prosperity will also enable delinquents to pay back a large part of the 90 millions of delinquent taxes now on the books.

"(3) A vigorous increase in income, inheritance, gift, corporation and utility taxes. Business and industry must be prepared to pay the utmost of taxes that will not retard industrial revival.

"This plan can be made to work. It is not an experimental plan. Other states are making it work today. New York State, raising more than 7 times the revenue needed in Minnesota, levies neither a property tax nor a sales tax. Thirteen states in the Union levy no property tax.

"I pledge myself unreservedly to the inauguration and faithful administration of this plan to the end that the burden of taxation in Minnesota may be lightened, common-sense good government may be maintained and the blessings of prosperity be brought to every home and every individual."

Education.—Martin Nelson will remove politics from the Minnesota department of education, root and branch. He will put an end to the attempt to teach the children of the Minnesota public schools the alien political philosophy which would destroy the American form of government and American ideals of liberty. The state aid to schools and the earmarking of the income tax for schools is the work of republicans. State aid will be increased, not decreased—that is the policy which republicans in Minnesota have steadfastly maintained, without exception, from the beginning.

Conservation—"The heart of the constructive conservation plank in the republican state platform is contained in these words. "We urge the determination and administration of all conservation problems by competent authority free from all political influence or direction."

If elected governor, I shall immediately move to make this declaration a reality. I shall seek from the legislature such modification of the law as may be necessary to secure a commissioner of conservation who is competent and in whose hands shall be placed the authority to determine all conservation problems of the state 'free from all political influence or direction.'

Independent Merchants—"I know the problems of the retailer from personal experience. The wellbeing of the independent merchant is vital to us as individuals and as a nation. It will not approve any sales tax legislation. I favor chain store legislation as a legitimate tax equalization program. I am thoroughly in sympathy with the principles of the Robinson-Patman Law, I approve the general principles of the fair trade acts proposed for Minnesota."

Labor—The republican party is the author of all the progressive labor legislation on the statute books of Minnesota today and there is a lot of it, much of which has been copied by other states. In addition, Mr. Nelson proposes that Minnesota shall set up some form of state arbitration or court of industrial relations where labor may be protected, without expense to itself, in its rights and aspirations, and whereby the loss of life, property and prosperity which has marked Minnesota labor disputes in recent years may be avoided.

Partisanship—Martin Nelson proposes to do away completely with the gross partisanship which has corrupted so many departments of the state government in the last six years.

Relief and Recovery.—The starvation wages paid now in the highway department and the inadequate WPA wages and relief allotments must end, declares Mr. Nelson. He will move vigorously to that end immediately upon his inauguration.

Social Security—Mr. Nelson is committed to the principal of unemployment reserves and to a liberalization of old age assistance law.

For more than two years Martin Nelson has been going up and down the state, talking over these and other constructive policies with the people of the state. They have found him sincere, earnest, straightforward. They are today believing in him as the man who will give them what they have sought for six years—but have not found—an honestly progressive administration of the state.

Contrast this constructive program offered by Martin Nelson with the proposals put forward by Elmer Benson.

What does Mr. Benson offer?

In his keynote he proposed to finance the state with the identical items of income tax increases, inheritance taxes, chain store taxes, money and credit taxes, corporation and utility taxes—The identical items that were offered by farmer-labor leaders in 1935. Each of these tax proposals was analyzed and broken down into actual receipts. The total revenue they would provide, it was found, would be insufficient to finance present undertakings of the state.

Two weeks or more ago Mr. Benson declared that he would tax the iron mines of Minnesota six times the taxes they now pay. This increase would leave but 10 cents a ton to pay for the cost of digging the ore and shipping it. It was virtually a proposal for confiscation. About a week ago, Mr. Benson changed his mind and said that he would attempt to tax the mines 10 millions more than they are now paying. If this proposal is not an absurdity, why has Mr. Benson's party not tried it in the six years it has been in power?

Another recent proposal of Mr. Benson's is to double the chain store tax. This tax produced $227,000 last year. There seems to be the sum total of Mr. Benson's proposals for financing the state.

A major offering in Mr. Benson's program for the state for the next two years is the Lundeen Social Security bill. This measure, even if it were workable, which it is not, would cost Minnesota from 20 million to 40 million dollars per year or more in addition to its present expenses. Mr. Benson does not say where he will get those millions.

Outside of a lovely lot of words about youth and home and church and school, this is about all Mr. Benson has to offer.

17-INCH EAR OF CORN IS SHOWN

Fairmont.—All records for big ears of corn in Martin county were eclipsed this year by George Thate, who exhibits one 17 inches long. The ear contains 14 rows of corn with 87 kernels to the row, a total of 1,218 kernels. It measures six and one-half inches in circumference and weighs one pound and eight ounces. A 14-in. ear, eight and three-quarters inches in circumference and weighing one pound and nine ounces with 20 rows of kernels totaling 1860 was raised by C. H. Weinman. Both of these ears are much bigger than a one-foot ear, dubbed by Ripley as "the biggest ear of corn in the world."

The "Gold dust Twins"

Editor Times:

Landon has now endorsed the dole system and "Permanent Jobless" theory of Roosevelt as well as endorsed the farm program of Roosevelt "parity of agriculture with industry", while both have been going broke except monopoly and the internationalists who have now got about all there is. Therefore the Democrats had to make the next "get together" move and Monday, Oct. 12, Roosevelt went on the gold standard again and grains lost from 1 to 7 cents every day all week, but the "money changers" demanded it.

This evening the Democratic committee went back to their stock weapon "He kept us out of War" only they changed it enough to use the present tense of the verb, so now it is Hearst's next move to come out for "peace" and it will be the peace of 1917 in either case, but we have now the Union Party's candidate to vote for, and the first plank in his platform is: "America shall be self-contained and self-sustained—No foreign entanglements, be they political, economic, financial or military."

All this was not enough, so they had to get together in State issues, too, in order to try to elect this man Martin Nelson for Governor since he advocated mob-rule which the "Solid South" generally likes. This was done by withdrawing the Democratic candidates for governor and Senator so as to force these conservative Democrats who voted their own ticket in 1934 to vote for Nelson and Christianson. We Farmer-Laborites had a plurality of 72,000 last election, becaus the liberal Democrats voted with us, and naturally had a cinch on the state ticket now, so they were afraid and grasped at this straw, figuring this 72000 plurality could be wiped out by the 177,000 regular Democrats going over to Nelson and Christianson. However, the trick was so low that I feel sure most of these conservative democrats will resent it and not go to the republicans.

—We now have a chance to elect Lundeen to the Senate and thus be sure that the common folks interests will have a 100 per cent aid from him.

We also have a splendid chance to elect Benson governor as well as the other F. L. candidate, who has always been with the people as against the International crowd, or "Big Business".

Being that we have so big a plurality here, I trust our real Farmer Laborites will back Lemke and the Union Party and not be scared to vote for either of the Old Parties just because they try to make you believe one is better than the other. A vote for Lemke will do more for the common man than 40 million for either Landon, Roosevelt.

Don't be a piker.

Andrew Trovaton.

Editor the Times:

Friday's fire clearly demonstrated that our fire department did a wonderful job in saving other buildings from destruction. As for saving the Oen building, it was doomed when the alarm sounded.

Being familiar with methods used in fighting fire by the New York Fire Department, I would like to compare how a fire of this proportion would be handled by this department.

We will imagine this fire was at 12th av. and 57th street, New York. Upon discovery of the fire, the nearest fire alarm box is snapped. In this case it would be box 913. Upon receipt of this alarm, five engine companies (pumpers), one hook and ladder truck, one fire insurance patrol, and several chiefs would respond. Upon arrival the chief sizing up the fire would send in a second alarm. This would being five more engine companies, two hook and ladder trucks and a water tower.

A fire of the size we experienced, would easily be a four alarm fire. Upon receipt of the third and fourth alarms, eleven more engine companies and two more hook and ladder companies, besides a fuel wagon (with gas and oil for the pumpers) would respond.

In addition to the above, there would have been shifted into the district of the fire, eleven engine companies, and three hook and ladder companies. These would occupy various of the emptied fire houses, and be in readiness for any new fires that the companies already at the big fire, would otherwise answer, thus not leaving the district without fire protection. We would now have on hand 21 engine companies, 5 hook and ladder companies, 1 water tower, one fuel wagon, 1 insurance patrol, and a total of about 200 firemen.

Please compare this with our department. What would this array of equipment have done in fighting our fire? Being that there was no chance of saving the building in which the fire started, efforts would be placed on saving other property, and cooling off the main fire. Thus when the fire was under control, what would we find? We would find the building in which the fire started, a mass of debris, and the fire confined to the building in which it started. Now then, is that not exactly what our firemen did with their ONE pumper, and a handful of men, mostly volunteers? Yes sir it was a great piece of work well done. Congratulations.

John Ward

Thief River Falls, Minn.
October 23, 1936

To the Editor:

Kindly permit me a little space for a reply to the three column-long broadside of poison gas directed at me, among others by Pastor Tungseth in the last issue of the Times.

Inasmuch as I am not a candidate for office the abuse heaped on me can very readily be ignored. It is interesting to note, however, that the reverend parson is still considerably agitated over the possibility that the great state of Minnesota employing something like 17,000 persons may even have some position which I could fill. His concern at this time brings to mind his letter in the Times during the fall of 1933 when he stated that if he could have his way I would never have a job, or words to that effect. A desire to see me and my dependents, of which there are seven, deprived of a livelyhood because of our political opinion, is to say the least the most unbecoming sentiments I have ever heard from the lips or pen of a minister of the gospel. We are indeed fortunate that Rev. Tungseth has so little influence with the Deity which he professes to represent, for we are still eating three meals a day.

I have fought this political battle in the ranks of the progressive movement since 1908, and I am frank to say that never in my life have I ever before encountered anyone who has so little regard for ethics or propriety; so devoid of any regard for the truth; so thoroughly saturated with ego as the Reverend Tungseth. I quite frankly admit that I am no match for him in hurling invective. I have never pulled my punches. Neither have I ever asked for mercy. Let me point out however, that never have I ever publicly nor privately in my speeches nor in my writings expressed a desire that those with whom I disagree or whose political ambitions I may wish to thwart shall suffer injury in body or spirit from violent attack nor by starvation.

RED CROSS HIGHWAY POSTS AID INJURED

1,000 Function At Key Points To Give Emergency Care To Traffic Hurt

Highway first aid stations set up by the Red Cross to give emergency care to victims of traffic accidents are saving lives, according to James L. Fieser, vice-chairman in charge of domestic operations.

"More than 1,000 of our emergency posts are already operating in 47 states and thousands of others will soon be established at key points along America's highways," Mr. Fieser stated.

The Red Cross highway posts are concentrated at danger spots in rural areas where medical aid is not readily available. The importance of this coverage of the open road, the Red Cross holds, is given sharper emphasis by the fact that there has been a 150 per cent increase in rural traffic fatalities during the past twelve years.

The project was initiated last year on a national scale as a practical approach to the highway accident problem. The Red Cross felt that it could best apply its strength by succoring those who continue to be injured pending a reduction in the highway accident rate through legislation and safety education.

"Our program brings first aid skill to the scene of accident in an effort to reduce the number of persons killed and maimed in automobile mishaps," Mr. Fieser said. "Our highway first aiders are not medical men in any sense, but it is their job to turn the injured over to the medical profession in the best shape possible."

The Red Cross highway posts are established at gasoline service stations, tourist homes, rural police and fire departments. The personnel of the posts are trained by the Red Cross in first aid, standard first aid equipment is installed at each station, and identifying signs for the benefit of motorists are erected beside the highway at both approaches to the station.

The attendants of these roadside units who qualify as first aiders volunteer their services through the Red Cross and may under no circumstances accept pay for caring for the injured.

To complement the highway first aid stations, the Red Cross has announced formation of mobile units. Several thousand trucks which regularly ply the highway in the course of routine work will be equipped with first aid kits. Drivers and crews will take courses in both standard and advanced first aid, and each truck will be identified as a Red Cross mobile unit. More than a hundred trucks are already operating.

"The highway police of eight states who have finished first aid training will join this army mobilized to cut accident fatalities and prevent complication of minor injuries through mishandling at the scene of accident," Mr. Fieser said.

"We receive reports from our first aid stations daily, telling of [illegible] care given to traffic casualties on the spot and of lives actually saved."

This and many other Red Cross programs of equal value are supported by the people of America during the annual Roll Call for members. This year the Roll Call will be held from November 11 to 26.

History's best forecasters or predictors of the future are not necessarily the economists or statesmen or historians, but those observers who have in addition some prophetic insight into the workings of the moral law in history.

T. Peterson home. —Due to Miss Sorenson leaving for Minneapolis, Miss Hazel Salveson has been employed at the C. M. Lunde home.

A meeting of different school boards within the neighborhood of Grygla was held here last Tuesday evening. The subject being with the view of disorganizing the different school districts and consolidate into one central unit. At the present writing no reports have been made relative to plans though it is thought that the decision will be left to the voters for final say.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Clothes and the Man

When Walter Howey and Frank Carson, widely known newspaper executives, "teamed" on the Chicago Herald and Examiner years ago, their after-business adventures made history.

At five minutes past three one morning they strolled happily on Randolph street, having been persuaded to participate in a game of chance and profited handsomely. At Clark street a ragged stranger approached. Instantly, Howey peeled $20 from his roll and showed it to the derelict.

"This is yours," stated Howey. "Just remove your clothes. Cross the street and touch the county building."

The unfortunate hesitated. He was lost.

Stripping gingerly, he removed all but b. v. d.'s, appraised the apparently deserted streets, and waited. Howey pressed the money into his hand. "Take it," said the editor. "All you gotta do is touch the building."

As the victim, grabbing the $20, reached the county building, Carson yelled for the police. One of Chicago's finest appeared magically. "Catch him," screamed Carson, pointing. "That fellow's crazy!"

Nine seconds later the naked man, clutching $20 tightly, turned a corner in advance of the policeman, flying wildly. "Think of it," gasped Carson. "More money than he's seen in months, but naked. And not even a pawnshop open."

The sequel, heard infrequently, is when Carson arrived home an hour later his apartment was jimmied. A complete outfit of clothing was missing. Costlier objects were untouched.

Wise Economy Achieved Through Home Canning

Few household tasks yield as much satisfaction as home canning. More interesting and more abundant meals and greater economy is achieved than the amateur would consider possible. The labor is so amply repaid that every moment of it becomes worthwhile. To be assured that none of the effort or materials are wasted you must be certain that your equipment is adequate and your method "fool proof."

Open Kettle Method

In this method food is cooked directly in an open vessel and then packed at once in sterilized jars and sealed immediately. All jars must be in perfect condition, and boiled for at least 15 minutes. Food is packed into the jars to within ½ inch of the top while boiling hot. Seal at once. Set aside to cool. Do not turn jars upside down while cooling and do not screw bands down after jars are cold and sealed.

Cold Pack Method

Sterilize perfect jars for 15 minutes. Prepare foods according to recipes. Add liquid to ½ inch of top. When using syrup 1½ inches from top of jar. Wipe top of jar and place sterilized lid on firmly. Process length of time indicated in recipe whether for pressure cooker, steam cooker or wash boiler. Remove jars from cooker and set aside to cool. Do not turn jars upside down while cooling and do not screw tops down after jars are cold.

Mustard Pickles

1 quart green cucumbers cut small
1 quart tiny cucumbers
1 quart sliced or very small onions
1 large cauliflower cut in pieces
4 green peppers sliced

Soak all ingredients for 24 hours in salt water, using 1 cup of salt to 1 gallon of water. Then scald in the same brine and drain. Make a paste of 6 scant tablespoons of ground mustard, 1 tablespoon of tumeric, a scant ½ cup of flour, 1 cup of sugar, 2 quarts of vinegar. Mix dry ingredients with a little vinegar, then add remainder of vinegar. Scald, stirring until well mixed and smooth. Pour over the vegetables while hot and seal in jars.

Crab-Apple Jelly

5 pounds Concord grapes
3 pounds crab-apples
…½ pounds sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

Crush the stemmed grapes, add ½ cup water, bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Strain apple and grape juice through a cloth. Bring sugar and 9 cups fruit juice to a boil, add pectin, stir constantly, cook at full rolling boil ½ minute. Remove, skim and pour in glasses and seal.

Corn Relish

Grind 1 large head of cabbage, 4 onions, 4 green peppers and 6 red peppers. Add scraped kernels of 20 ears of young corn. Bring to a boil with 1½ cups of sugar, ½ cup of salt, 4 cups cider vinegar. Add 3 more cups of vinegar and a mixture of 3 tablespoons dry mustard, 1 tablespoon tumeric, ½ cup flour, 1 tablespoon celery seed. Cook 30 minutes. Pour in jars and seal while very hot.

Spiced Peach Jam

8½ cups prepared peaches
¼ cup lemon juice
7½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin

Select 2½ pounds of fully ripe peaches. Wash carefully. Peel, pit, and grind or chop very fine. Add the lemon juice and spices. Measure the sugar into a large kettle and add the prepared fruit. If the mixture does not make 3½ cups of prepared fruit, fill up the last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over the hottest fire. Stir constantly while boiling. Seal in glasses or jars.

ON DISPLAY at all Buick Showrooms

SPECIAL
ROADMASTER
LIMITED

FOUR WONDROUS NEW REASONS WHY:
"It's Buick again!"
SENSATIONAL is the fervor with which the American public has taken to its heart the brilliant motor cars offered by Buick this year.
Indeed, the sweeping success of the 1936 Buick program fairly challenged us and our great parent General Motors to a momentous decision.
Should we continue this amazingly popular line of cars into next year, perhaps the prudent thing to do—or should we dare broad improvement upon their spectacular excellence?
We felt there was only one right answer to that question, the bold and progressive answer—and that's why insiders now forecasting 1937 are already saying: "It's Buick again!"
That's why on top of $15,000,000 recently spent re-tooling and re-equipping Buick's great plant, we appropriated and are now spending $14,500,000 more.
That's why every car in the 1937 Buick line—the SPECIAL, the CENTURY, the ROADMASTER and the LIMITED—is a triumph visibly and intrinsically outranking anything we have ever done.
Each has more beauty for dazzling style, more power for breath-taking action, more room for full-family comfort, more downright "road-command" for safety and pleasure.
See them—then you'll know why Buick's soaring sales curve is headed for yet loftier altitudes next year.
YOU'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES! $765 and up list at Flint, Mich.
You can afford the new Buick. It's easy to buy and thrifty to own. With all its quality, its phenomenal performance and stunning style, prices start as low as … Safety glass included. General Motors terms to suit your purse. Prices subject to change without notice.

PATIENT FLIES 4,500 MILES TO ROCHESTER

Rochester.—Covering 4,500 miles from Bogota, capitol of Colombia, to Rochester in less than three days in an airplane larger than boats in which Columbus crossed the Atlantic to reach America 444 years ago the same day, is the record of Sylvester J. Roll, a patient at St. Mary's hospital, Rochester. Made entirely on scheduled airlines, with no effort to establish a record, the trip could have been made in less than two days if Mr. Roll had not chosen to "stop off" in New York and Chicago. Roll, a special traffic representative for Scadta Airways, which is affiliated with the Pan-American airways system, is a native of Minnesota, attended school in Winona 20 years ago, and gives Ellsworth, Minn. as his home address.

RAKE IS BETTER WEAPON THAN GUN

Hallock.—Kittson county's agent, Jim Salisbury, has gained a reputation as an expert duck hunter in that he uses a common garden rake as a weapon. Three Hallock men went to Lake of the Woods to hunt ducks, another group went to Detroit Lakes, but Mr. Salisbury, who remained at home, has a record which beats that of the other hunters. While he was working in his garden two ducks lighted beside him, he reached for his rake and bagged a big mallard. The three men who went to Lake of the Woods also came home with one duck, but the Detroit Lakes men brought none.

I was a candidate for County Commissioner from the First Commissioner District of Pennington County, at the Primary Election, and lost out by only Five Votes. A large number of friends and supporters throughout the district, and especially in my home township have now urged me to again come out as a candidate for Commissioner on stickers. At their request I have consented to make the race once more, this time on stickers. I trust I may have your vote and support. I will try to see as many of the voters as I can personally, but if I fail to see you, remember that your vote will be appreciated. My stickers will be thoroughly distributed, but if you fail to get one of my stickers, you can write my name in on the ballot. If elected I pledge myself to be fair and impartial to all parts of the district, and to give fair and efficient service to all the people of my district. Hoping I may have your active support and vote, I am,
Very respectfully,
Chris Norbeck

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

WARREN BOWS TO UNDEFEATED PROWLERS ELEVEN

Leemen Win Seventh Consecutive Victory of Season

On a slippery snow covered field the Prowlers last Friday defeated the Warren Ponies 14 to 0 for their seventh victory of the season.

The game was closely contested right up to the closing minutes of the third quarter when Hill scored his twelfth touchdown of the season. The opening quarter was played on even terms with Warren gaining just as often as the highly-favored Prowlers and in this quarter the Ponies gained one first down while the Leemen failed to do so. In the second period although the Prowlers piled up more yardage but failed to score and gained only first down. Meanwhile Warren gained their first downs to three but couldn't score.

In the second half the highly touted Leemen started showing some of their old drive and Hill scored from the thirty yard line in the closing minutes. Then in the final quarter the Prowlers piled up more yardage but could get to play territory only once with Capt. Nesse plunging over from the two yard line and Adkins converting the extra point.

Although the Prowlers piled up 224 yards from scrimmage to Warren's 97, they made only six first downs to Warren's four. Five of these six were made in the second half. The strong wind and slippery field hampered the players and this told on the kicking of both teams, Nesse averaging only 25 yards and Warren punters, Boseman and Hulls, getting around 20 yards.

Prowlers		Warren
Nelson	LE	Wilson
Madum	LT	Fulks
Johnson	LG	Golden
Hanson	C	Arhart
Adkins	RG	Stuner
Peterson	RT	Howard
Lorentson	RE	Hjelle
Wessling	Q	Hearet
Hill	LH	Kura
Dicken	RH	Boseman
Nesse	F	Hulls

Scoring: Touchdowns: Hill, Nesse. Conversions: Adkins. Substitutions: Prowlers: Bredeson, Gleason, Caldis, Tunberg, Booren, Mickleson, L. Nesse, Michalsky, Bide and Bahl. Warren: Wallace, Scheffer, Hows.

Now that the Elks carnival is over the next time the high school Juniors can step out is at the Halloween dance.

Notice Peggy P. was having an exceptionally good time Saturday. (and H. E. was enjoying the company of a certain person too.)

And don't forget if you don't go to Bemidji send a 25c pep telegram to the team.

"Well", replied Dady, as calm as you please, "your best bet would be to drink some water and wash the worm down."

PROWLIN' 'ROUND

The team members say they had a sliding good time at Warren. (Especially "Snake-Hips" Hill.)

The average gain for each try has been cut down to seven yards.

Nesse says that some of the Warren boys must be permanent fixtures. They have been in school for, what seems to him, oh so long.

Here is the record of the scoring so far for seven games.

	Td	Pat.	Points
Hill	12	0	72
M. Nesse	6	2	38
Dicken	3	0	18
Adkins	0	13	13
Wessling	2	0	12
Mickleson	2	0	12
Nelson	1	0	12
Nelson	1	0	6

Adkins has an average of .590 in his place kicking attempts with 13 made out of 22 tried.

There is a certain Junior who has been playing some real football at left guard. He received his reward by starting at Warren. He is Wes Johnson 120 pounds of fighting fury. Look for him at Bemidji, he wears number 21.

Here is a little suggestion for some of you "stay at homes" When the team goes to Bemidji why not all rush the telegraph offices and send good luck telegrams to the team? It doesn't cost much for a pep message.

THE SCREAMER

Characteristic remarks of the great, huge, sensational, colossal fire. Just think of all those Bradley knit suits that went up in flames. And all those overcoats, hats, shoes, and most anything else burned and here I'm running around in rags. Oh dear, oh woe is me!

Another bit from Mr. Riggs, famous for his theories in American history classes. Here's his latest: "You know, I just can't understand why some teachers get so disgusted and gray-haired over teaching school. These kids make so many dumb remarks and such funny ones at that! But then, I may be only a freak in the teaching staff of Lincoln High.

No wonder so many butterflies leave home! We worldly upper classmen go to the dances at the auditorium and lo and behold, what confronts our eyes but a bunch of mere freshmen strutting their stuff as big as you please.

Gordon Holte certainly has his place in the sun. Dear little Gordon came running home the other day yelling at the top of his voice. "Oh, daddy! What'll I do? I swallowed a worm—do you suppose I'll die? Oh woe is me! What'll I do now?"

"To heck with that idea!" exploded Gordon. "Let the old worm struggle down by himself!"

S. O. S. to all Lincoln High School students, including all of you notorious "tightwads!" A great money-grasping campaign is now in progress. And, believe it or not, this one is for a worthwhile cause. 'Cause it's for to send "Two-bit pep telegrams" to the team when it's at Bemidji. Come on now, all you little ones, dig away down deep for your spare (?) shickles.

JR. CLASS PLAY NOW UNDERWAY

"Nut Farm" Will be Presented Nov. 20

Tryouts for the junior class play were called for on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week. Most of the cast has now been chosen and practices, scheduled for everyday until the time for the presentation, have started under the very able supervision of Miss Olson. The play which is entitled "The Nut Farm" and is written by John C. Brownell will be presented by the junior class in the Municipal Auditorium on Friday, November twentieth, the last Friday before Thanksgiving vacation.

"The Nut Farm" is the John C. Brownell comedy that ran for twenty-two big weeks in Chicago and moved to a New York theater for a full run. It is interesting to note that it also bears the proud distinction of having broken all stock records for patronage at one of the popular theaters in Chicago, where it received its first production in the repertory field and duplicated this feat during a three weeks' run at a theater in Cleveland.

Some of the press comments read as follows: "A jaunty contribution, presented with vim. A strong story of directorship made wholesome and foolish, funny and feverish. This nut farm is a coop of human units who go daffy over the movies, go broke when they go nutty, and solemnly make a whole lot of splendid fun out of their tragic experiences, with an ending that is satisfactory and immensely happy."—Amy Leslie in the "Chicago News."

"Whoever likes 'Abie's Irish Rose' will enjoy the 'Nut Farm.'"—New York Sun."

"Its humor is entirely free of anything that might offend. Received hilariously."—Bide Dudley in "New York Evening World."

The entire cast and a short synopsis of the play will appear next week.

WIND-CHILL

It seems reasonable that there must be a greater attraction in Minneapolis than the Minnesota football games to attract some of our teachers (especially History teachers) so regularly—Or doesn't it?

There are some girls in school who still insist on wearing red paint on finger nails. (Our pet peeve.)

Quite a little bonfire we had uptown last Friday night wasn't it?

Some of our Senior girls like traveling around the country—Can't say as how we blame them either!

A few of the "strong outdoor men" around the school turned out to be mild and very tired boys Monday after pheasant hunting Sunday.

One of our tackles on the football team did himself proud on Saturday nite—and a good time was had by all.

The undefeated Prowlers! That phrase has appeared in various papers several times this year. When any team is undefeated in seven straight games against very worthy opponents, that team must have what it takes. Not only is our eleven undefeated, but only six points have been scored against it. These six points were made early in the season when the defense was not fully developed and accustomed to working together. If that game was to be played over today, we could and would safely wager that the opponents could not advance the ball within the Prowler thirty-yard line.

Whenever that phase "The Undefeated Prowlers" appears in a newspaper, it is a boost not only for our team, but for our school and city as well. With articles appearing weekly on undefeated and untied teams in Minneapolis and St. Paul papers, this excellent record of our eleven is state wide.

There is but one way those of us who are not on the team can help to continue that reputation, that is by lending our support to the team when it plays its final game at Bemidji.

November third is election day. Not only will the townspeople have the chance to vote, but due to the efforts of Mr. Lee's Social Science classes, all students can show their preferences as well. There will be booths and ballot boxes managed by committees of Seniors. You will be expected to vote during any one of your vacant periods. Voting will be required of the seniors as a part of the daily assignment.

Exact replicas of the regular ballots for both state and national elections will be handed out by the committees. Besides the regular voting committees there will be committees for preparing voting booths, ballot boxes and campaign committees. The vote committees consist of the following: First period, Lawrence Erickson, chairman, Solveig Fjelstad, Mary Margaret Cosgrove, Grayce Hafdahl, Julian Provencher, and Evelyn Jorde; Second period, Alfred Nelson, chairman, Lois Mortell, Kenneth Holmgren, Merten Ward, Mabel Christianson and Eleanor Christopherson; Third period, Marjorie Matheson, chairman, Avis Samuelson, Don Olson, Marion Green, Virginia Dow and Myrtle Hedlund; Fourth period, Elmer Dolan, chairman, Harley Kelly, Margaret Gustafson, Olga Nelson, Mae Lindquist, and Caroline Lillevold; Fifth period, James Peterson, chairman, Gwenyth Evenson, Clifford VeVea, Marcella Baker, Ariel Reidy and Roberta Daily; Sixth period, Brunell Erickson, chairman, Milton Nesse, Hazel Meyer, Gordon Nesset, Gertrude Nohre and Lucile Hetland.

With the thorough cooperation of everyone this election will be a success.

Views of L. H. S. Students

Views of various L. H. S. students have been taken to determine views on current subjects. This is the first of a series of articles on the subject. This week's article deals with the ideal teacher.

Evelyn Tungseth—My ideal teacher is one who doesn't stack you up with homework, and one who is non-partial between boys and girls. He or she should possess a keen sense of humor, and should allow a certain amount of conversation to go on in class among students.

Adeline Lorentson—I favor teachers who are not crabby, but rather, those who joke with the students. He or she should be well groomed and neat appearing at all times. I prefer little if any, homework.

Jean Lee—My ideal teacher is one who has a great deal of patience, and never loses his or her temper. I prefer no homework.

Mae Anderson—I prefer a teacher who is not partial to a certain boy or girl. I dislike one who appears to be superior to students out of school, as well as in school. He or she should possess a pleasing sense of humor, and should not burden us with homework.

Joyce Olson—My ideal teacher is one who possesses a good sense of humor, and who assigns little homework (preferably none). No partiality should be shown among boys and girls. My ideal teacher is one who is well groomed at all times.

Marion Oden—My ideal teacher is one who isn't afraid to give a few good jokes, isn't partial to any certain person, doesn't believe in loads of home-work and tests and is a real sport.

DEBATE SQUAD BEGINS WORK MONDAY P. M.

Twelve Aspirants Are Present at First Meetings

Last Monday afternoon the debate squad assembled to present arguments on the proposition—Resolved: That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated. Mr. Montague stated that the sole purpose of this meeting was for the debaters to acquaint themselves with the proposition.

The present plans for the coming year are as follows: Each debater is to read magazine articles or obtain any useful material and arrange it into systematic notes. The material which would be of future value will be filed for use in active debating later in the year. At the present time the debate squad is obtaining material for the negative argument. The students will not begin active debating until a sufficient amount of material has been obtained. This method of collecting material will eliminate duplication reading of magazine articles and other reference.

The final varsity squad will be composed of two teams with two debaters on each team.

Since last season the debate squad has lost two valuable members in Oscar Bickley and Morris Engelstad. These two debaters won the invitation tournament at Warren and with the assistance of Fae Belcher came within one point of winning the district championship.

This years debate squad hopes to reach the mark set by the 1935 team. With diligent work under the supervision of Mr. Montague, this possibility may become a reality.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

"I'll bet I weigh 150"—"G'wan, you're skinny"—"If I weighed 92½ I'd stuff myself." Just a few of the many remarks from right and left when our li'l Prowlerettes stepped onto the new scale. Phooey on weight—but I'll bet they're "Pharmacy Ettas"—and do lots of "little dicks" do things for your figure—wow! However, they'll be doing away with the surplus by "rocking and rolling in gym class.

Oh yeh—and the call to "paws up" has brought an unusual number of volley ball gir-reels. In fact, it can be made exciting enough to force out a few squeaks—or was it the presence of a few male onlookers. The gym with its game has so many ardent followers that the equipment gets the feather end of the deal.

And, Prowlerette's, here's a promise—if you keep up your volly ball, biking and hiking—We'll guarantee you that the next six weeks you'll weigh with a grin. Tumbling is coming up, too, and that'll help.

Any excess pep, gals, give the team for the Bemidji game! Get there gals, even if you have to squeeze. So—we'll see you at the Bemidji game, I hope!

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

"Bud" Nelson, "Dis" Dillon

Alfred Nelson, took his first peep at the world on January 3, 1920.

His first great public appearance was in the junior class play of '35, "Seven Chances." He now holds the honorable position of captain of our very promising basketball team.

Bud's favorite hobby is collecting old coins, but he has a liking for several other things too, for instance, malted milks. As to movies his favorite was "Magnificent Obsession" and he has a preference to Jeanette MacDonald and Franchot Tone as far as acting is concerned. He enjoys movies a great deal. His favorite sport is tennis, subject, chemistry, and song "When Did You Leave Heaven." He prefers magazines to books. His favorite expression is "Aw Phooey!" and he is noted for being a women hater, or is he? He seems to class political speeches with girls (see what you've done to what might have been a promising politician Mr. Montague.)

Marion Dillon is a young lady who prefers clothes as her hobby. She was born March 1, 1920, in Thief River Falls. Her attentions to the screen are centered on Robert Taylor and Irene Dunn and the movie "Magnificent Obsession." When she listens to the radio she tries to find her favorite popular song "When a Lady Meets a Gentleman Down South." She shows a decided partiality toward Lloyd C. Douglas and his book "Green Light." Her pet peeve is Marjorie Matheson's brilliance! If she succeeds in her future ambition you will see her materializing her most important air castle which is to become a medical technician. Her favorite sport is basketball and pastime, dancing. Not insinuating, Miss Dillon, but just how did you obtain the nickname "Dis"?

UNBEATEN, UNTIED PROWLERS WILL OPPOSE BEMIDJI

Locals to Travel to Bemidji for Their Final Contest

The mythical football champions of the Northwest will be determined next Friday when the widely-heralded Prowlers tangle with the burly Lumberjacks of Bemidji High School on the latter's field. The game has been scheduled to be played in the evening but if weather is not agreeable it will be an afternoon game.

The Bemidji gridiron giants have lost but one game this season. That defeat was administered by Hibbing, reputedly the strongest aggregation in Minnesota. In other games the Lumberjacks have been rewarded with easy victories. They will seek to repeat last years 26-0 triumph over the locals and to prevent the Prowlers from completing their first undefeated football season in Lincoln High School history. From all outward appearances, the Lumberjacks are equally as heavy and speedy as they were last year.

The Prowlers, on the other hand, will probably present a faster, but much lighter squad. They have defeated all their previous opponents with an ease that was truly astounding, and it will be no simple task for Bemidji to overpower Coach Lee's thundering herd on the brink of realizing their ambition.

Both teams have encountered Crookston and East Grand Forks previously this year, and both were victorious over the Pirates and the East Siders, but Bemidji triumphed with a greater margin than did the Prowlers against the same opposition.

The Prowlers have piled up a total of more than one hundred and fifty points while their foes have scored a meager six points in seven games.

As the game is between the most powerful teams in the Northwest, it should not be a waste of anyone's time or money to witness this battle of the century. The Prowlers will need, more than ever, the staunch support of locals and the Prowlers can be assured of such if the weather is favorable.

Although the outcome of the contest is in extreme doubt, the Prowlers will enter the game as the underdog, despite their undefeated record.

Band Notes

Last Wednesday morning at band practice the band members elected officers for the coming year. Those elected were: President, Bruce Prichard; Vice President, Eileen Hoffarth; Sec-Treasurer, Lois Morell. The two members who were candidates for office and received the next highest number of votes were placed on the band committee to serve with the three officers. These two receiving the positions were "Bum" Quale and Ralph Gustafson.

Mrs. L. Hage and daughter Thrine and Mrs. E. H. Lanager motored to Thief River Falls Saturday.—Mrs. M. Elfert visited relatives and friends at Brooks Thursday and Friday.

Plummer School Notes

Miss Burke returned last Monday after a week's enforced vacation. Everyone was glad to welcome her back because Miss Burke is depended upon for direction of the musical numbers and novelty acts of the school carnival Friday night.—By the way, the carnival will be all that is expected of it. Enthusiasm remains high in the student body. New posters advertising the concessions appear every day. June Norby has shown much ability in water color work and has produced some advertising for the Poco Loco Beauty Shop that is most convincing. Visit it at the carnival Friday night, October 30th at the Plummer Municipal Auditorium.

The local P. T. A. held its regular meeting last Thursday. It was well attended. Interest in it is increasing. In the talk of the evening Mr. Ripple explained to parents and patrons the advantages of the six-six plan of organization and the benefits that come to a school which has this set-up. He also touched on other matters pertaining to school life and school activity.

Mr. Jaspers with his group of singers again served with several numbers which appealed greatly to the audience and brought forth vigorous applause for director and group.

A boy scout play well put on and well acted contained some clever characterizations and had all in the rear of the room on their feet to see and hear in order not to miss anything. The humor in it was not lost on the audience and all enjoyed it very much.

Ardith Rossbery and Muriel Sorenson closed the program with a piano duet.

The first six weeks' period is over. Marks have been averaged and the following appear on the honor roll:

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT—Prepared and inserted by Marius Waldal, Plummer, Minn., and to be paid for at regular rates.

To the Voters of the 65th Legislative District:

Marius Waldal
Candidate for Representative

It has been impossible for me to see very many of the voters during the present campaign. Much has been done by the opposition forces through the press and otherwise. A one sided story of the accomplishments of the 1935 Session has been given out by the radical press, blaming the conservatives, "as they called the controlling block", for things they did not do and they themselves taking credit for all that was good.

The majority group made up of independent members belonging to the Democratic and Republican parties was the most liberal group that ever controlled any session and has more progressive legislation to its credit than any other.

I am asking the voters to beware of any propaganda that might be published as a last minute attack. I say this because there has been a lot said around the corners. To overcome this and bring out the truth and give the voters both sides, I wrote on Oct. 6, 1936 a personal letter to my colleague, Mr. J. O. Melby, requesting him to appear upon the platform with me to discuss the issues that we voted different upon. I have received no reply but I see a letter written by him in the "Editor's Mailbag" of the Tri-county Forum, addressed to the editor, wherein he states that his attention has been called to my letter in that paper. My letter was not printed in this paper. I am, however, glad to have an opportunity to read this letter of Mr. Melby's. First, because it proves that he does not care to meet me on the platform. Secondly, because he admits that I voted right concerning the people that elected me, and thirdly, because he at last has come out and definitely admits what he stands for. He says, "I don't apologize for the Farmer-Labor platform. In fact, I am rather proud of it."

Before I go into the rest of his letter, let me say a few words about this platform and who is back of it.

The Farmer-Labor Party, in its platform of 1934, made the following declaration, as its basic political policy:

"Only a complete re-organization of our social structure into a co-operative commonwealth will bring economic security and prevent a prolonged period of suffering among the people.

We, therefore, declare that capitalism has failed and immediate steps must be taken by the people to abolish capitalism in a peaceful and lawful manner and that a new sane and just society must be established."

This platform written by Rev. Howard Y. Williams, known communistic agitator, and now the Farmer Labor candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, and enthusiastically adopted by the Farmer-Labor Convention, has never been repudiated and must be accepted as that party's political policy.

To campaign on this issue great funds were required and raised by an assessment of 3 per cent on the salaries of state employees, not even the employees of the State Department of Education being exempted from this political tax. State Senator Regnier, then campaign manager of the Farmer-Labor Party declared that this indeed was not a "slush" fund, but an "educational" fund—money evidently needed to educate the people of Minnesota on the failure of capitalism and the need for a communistic state government.

The youth of the state, however, were to be trained in this new doctrine directly at the expense of the state, in the public schools, which heretofore had always been free from political propagandism. E. M. Phillips, State Commissioner of Education, resented the political levy on the employees of the State Department of Education and resigned. Dr. John G. Rockwell, the new Commissioner of Education, a man of well-known radical views, his assistant Paul Amidon, and Mrs. Arthur LeSueur, a new member of the Board of Education, went about the State giving speeches showing how they were going to introduce the study of the new political faith into our public schools.

On Sept. 22, 1934, Dr. Rockwell explained before the Farmer-Labor Educational Club at Minneapolis how these new doctrines were to be forced upon the pupils of Minnesota. The first thing to be done would be to provide new text books, as the old ones were guilty of exclusion and deletion, he said, and designed to hold back people from going forward toward "social reconstruction." He would introduce some 20 new social and political topics into the schools. "Mr. Amidon and I have already contacted men to write pamphlets on these subjects to distribute to the public schools." The study of these pamphlets would be enforced in spite of school superintendents and school boards by requiring pupils to answer examination questions on these subjects. Said Dr. Rockwell later: "If the pupil has not studied the pamphlets, he will simply not be able to answer these questions."

Mrs. Arthur LeSueur's activities in the People's College at Fort Scott, Kansas, advertised as operating to "strike many a valiant blow at the damned old capitalist system", and in Socialist, Communist and I. W. W. circles have made her Minnesota's best known "Red." An indignant Legislature refused to confirm her appointment, and she was obliged to work otherwise.

To revolutionize the world has been the dream and purpose of the Russian Reds. Some time ago the tactics had to be changed. It was found the dream could not be realized through the efforts of the Communist party alone, and the idea of the "Popular Front" was born. This was to be a combination of all radical parties for an immediate change of government. The plan was successful in Spain, with results we read about every day. The "Popular Front" has also secured control of France, and the greatest optimist will have to admit that a great Revolution is impending there. The Communist platform of America reads: "Since when is revolution un-American?"

That a "Popular Front" is being organized in America to function in 1940 is known to everyone. But many do not realize that the Minnesota Farmer-Labor Party is looked upon as the nucleus from which this coalition that is to change our form of government is to spring.

While in Minneapolis not long ago I stepped into Communist headquarters and picked up a copy of their election platform ratified at the National Nominating Convention of the Communist Party, U. S. A., Held at Madison Square Garden, New York City, June 28, 1936. I am herewith quoting a few paragraphs from this platform:

"A real people's party is arising. Organized by the workers and farmers themselves, the Farmer-Labor Party is growing in the majority of states. Unable to put up a presidential ticket this year, it is organizing on a national scale. It fights for local, state and Congressional offices."

"The Communist Party unconditionally supports the building of the Farmer-Labor Party. It pledges itself to work to bring the trade unions and all progressive forces into its ranks."

It will not do to say that the Communists' "Popular Front"—the Farmer-Labor party above mentioned—is not identical with the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party. On the back of its platform the Communists say:

"The Communist Party supports the State platform and candidates of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party." And then follows the complete state Farmer-Labor ticket, including the congressional candidates.

My two opponents, Messrs. Melby and Day, state on their campaign card circulated by Mr. Day that they are pledged to support the Farmer-Labor legislative program. Mr. Melby says he is proud of this platform. I have shown you what the platform is, the Co-operative Commonwealth. I have also shown you who is back of it. I don't believe that all those that voted for Melby and Day last time believe in this platform and if they don't believe in it they should not vote for them again.

Mr. Melby states in this letter that I voted exactly opposite to him on all major legislation. This is an absolute lie. Even the Minnesota Leader recognizes that I voted the way Mr. Melby voted on some of the measures. Mr. Melby further states that I voted the way the Republicans wanted me to, who stole my seat from Mr. Day. I wonder if Mr. Melby recognizes the importance of such statements as these above. I was informed that he was making such statements in private but I did not think that he was either small enough or foolish enough to put them in print over his own signature. It was because of this misinformation that was going out that I asked Mr. Melby to meet me on the platform to give the people the chance to hear both sides, to be able to vote intelligently. Space will not permit me to go into detail about this. Most of these roll calls were amendments to our Omnibus tax bill. These amendments were either offered for purely political purposes or to overtax our economic system to encourage the cooperative commonwealth. The opposition has made quite a noise about the sale tax features of our tax bill making people believe that that was all there was in the bill. I have always been against a sale tax, was then and am now. I voted for it because I had no way out. In the last campaign all three parties came out for exempting property from taxation and it has been a plank in the progressive platform for years. I stated to the voters in the last campaign that I would vote for anything to release real estate from taxation, and that I would vote to place the tax burden upon those best able to pay, but that I was not for confiscation of property by taxation, which is the aim of those who want to destroy our present form of government. My colleague, Mr. Melby, says he is in favor of an income tax and to lower the exemptions and raise the rate in the lower as well as the upper brackets. I am whole heartedly with him on this and would have voted for the income tax in place of the sales tax had I had a chance. However, our Omnibus tax bill provided for an increase in incomes in the upper brackets. It also provided for increases on all sources from which we have to raise taxes. I voted for the Omnibus tax bill and Melby voted against it and therefore voted in the interest of big business. They claim that I did the same when I voted against the amendment that his group tried to place in our tax bill. I voted against them because I felt that it would destroy progress and some of these amendments would drive business out of the state, which I do not believe in. The passage of the Omnibus tax bill would have released property from the state levy and it would have paid our school taxes in full. It was only a two year program. It would have taken up the deficits of the state treasury. At the same time we proposed Amendment No. 3, wherein the people could have the chance to say whether or not they wanted to do away with the real estate tax.

I am also criticized for voting against the train length bill which would have meant to cut our transcontinental freight trains in two. This would have increased our freight rates because it would increase railroad expense, in place of taking it out of the railroads, the farmers would pay for it by increased freight rates. Mr. Melby voted for it.

I voted against a proposed Amendment to allow the state to bond itself for 50 millions to build dams in our dried up rivers and lakes feeling that it is poor economy to let the Mexican Generals, if they should be elected again, get 50 millions to build a cooperative commonwealth with.

PRINCIPLES OF OMNIBUS TAX BILL

Certain fundamental principles were laid down by the committees for the development of the new measure.

1. Abolition of the state tax on general property so as to leave this source of revenue entirely to the counties, municipalities, and school districts, thus eliminating overlapping and conflicting taxation in this field.

2. The substitution of new taxes raised by the state government and redistributed to local or school units as a means for further relief to property.

3. Assurance through legislation that all new taxes would be used to replace general property taxes and not merely provide additional revenues for state or local governments to spend.

4. Incorporation of the tax program so evolved into one bill instead of several separate and distinct bills in order that: (1) all features of the new tax program might be considered at one time, (2) all items could be weighed one against another, (3) the program would assure fair treatment to all classes of citizens, businesses and industries, and (4) the program would be balanced and well-rounded.

5. The program should help to make people tax conscious through direct participation in the support of the government.

OMNIBUS TAX BILL INCLUDED MANY TAXES

In broad outline, the Omnibus Tax Bill as finally passed and presented to the Governor, consisted of an integrated series of taxes as follows:

1. Increase of the net income tax rates on individuals and corporations, with a new maximum of 8 per cent instead of 6 per cent, together with reduced personal and family exemptions, earned income allowances, new restrictions as to deductible losses and a minimum tax of $1 for individuals and $5 for corporations.

2. Higher rates on inheritances, amounting to a rate increase of 300% in the higher brackets.

3. The addition of a gift tax to supplement the inheritance tax and strengthen its enforcement.

4. A 50 per cent increase of telephone gross earnings taxes from a rate of 4 per cent to 6 per cent.

5. Increase of freight line gross earnings taxes from 6 per cent to 7 per cent.

6. Increase of sleeping car gross earnings taxes from 5 per cent to 6 per cent.

7. Increase of 33⅓ per cent in the iron ore occupational and royalty taxes from 6 per cent to 8 per cent.

8. The imposition of a new tax of 5c per $100 on notes, conditional sales contracts, and similar evidences of indebtedness.

9. The imposition of a corporate excess tax of $5 per $1000 on public utilities engaged in furnishing electric, gas, telephone, telegraph, and street railway service.

10. A tax on tobacco at 10 per cent and on cigarettes at 1c for each 10 cigarettes.

11. An amusement tax of 2 per cent with admissions up to 16c exempt.

12. A tax of 3 per cent on hotel accommodations with a 17c exemption.

13. A tax of 2 per cent on restaurant meals over 17c.

14. A tax of 2 per cent on gas bills above a $1.25 monthly exemption.

15. A tax of 3 per cent on electricity bills above a $1.34 monthly exemption.

16. A 2 per cent tax on telephone service, 24c exempt.

17. A 3½% tax on telegraph messages, 24c exempt.

18. A 3 per cent tax on railroad and bus fares, 24c exempt.

19. A retail sales tax of 2 per cent with exemptions of food, [illegible] worth of fuel per year, and farmers' field seeds.

OMNIBUS BILL NOT SOLELY A SALES TAX PROPOSAL

The Omnibus Tax Bill was an attempt by the tax committees of the Senate and House to broaden the tax base by shifting a material part of the tax load from general property to a wide range of individuals and corporate interests. It was not solely a sales tax bill as so many people seemed to believe. Careful analysis of the tabulation above indicates that it provided for 19 new taxes or increases in old taxes. In this respect it differed considerably from the solution common in many states, where the sales tax has been used as the sole device for accomplishing tax relief. While it is true that a large amount of the twenty-one millions of dollars to have been raised under the bill would have come from sales taxes of one type or another, it must be remembered that the revenue at present produced by taxes such as those on gross earnings of utilities, net income and even inheritances at present is at a low ebb, due to the general business depression. The present rates of these taxes are not low as compared with those of other states; [illegible] most of these taxes would yield two to five times the amount which they yield under existing depressed conditions. With the various increased rates proposed in the Omnibus Bill, the revenue yield two or three years hence, if conditions return to normal, would have been very materially increased and might have borne a sizeable percentage of the total tax burden of the state.

The following table is an estimate by the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research, St. Paul, Minn.:

Estimates of the Omnibus Tax Bill as Reported from Senate

	Yield

TOTAL ESTIMATED YIELD	$21,[illegible]

ESTIMATED YIELD OF ADMINISTRATION BILL

No estimates of revenue yield accompanied the bill, and, while press reports indicated that $18,000,000 was anticipated, the Institute's estimates of the several items, subsequently prepared, indicate that the yield would not exceed $10,500,000. This assumes the correctness of the estimated revenue from the corporate excess tax, which is problematical and for which no definite basis for estimates exists.

Estimates of Probable New Revenue Under Administration Bill (S. F. 1685)

Net Income Tax	$ 3,500,000
Inheritance and Gift Tax	750,000
Railroad Gross Earnings	1,545,000
Telephone Gross Earnings	544,000
Freight Line Gross Earnings	16,000
Sleeping Car Gross Earnings	4,000
Occupation Tax	430,000
Royalty Tax	112,000
Money and Credits Tax	351,000
Corporate Excess Tax	3,000,000
	$10,264,000

These tables represent estimates of our Omnibus bill and the so called administration bill introduced the last day of the session which there was no chance to vote upon. You will note that the greatest difference in these two bills except the sales tax, lies in that the Omnibus tax bill does not carry as high a corporate excess tax, nor as high an income tax. No one knows what the corporate excess tax really is nor what it will produce but it was proven that a 20 mill tax advocated would drive corporations out of the state. The increase in the net income tax of the administration bill was raised to the highest brackets to the extent that it would discourage new business enterprises and many of these would leave the state. This is not a healthy condition, and in considering these tax levies we have to consider what other states are levying.

In reading the above I believe that the reader will admit that I have voted and worked for the best interest of our present form of government. I am glad that Mr. Melby admits this. There are a lot of other things that I would like to go into but my article is getting too long. In closing, may I ask the readers who believe in our present form of government to vote for me again and at the same time vote for my friend Geo. P. Jones. I feel that I am in better position to work for your interests serving with a man who believes as I do.

Yours very truly,
MARIUS WALDAL.

NELSON REPEATS HIS OPPOSITION TO ANY SALES TAX

Republican Candidate for Governor Replies to His Critics

Emphatically reiterating there will be no sales tax if he is elected, Martin A. Nelson, republican candidate for governor, pledged himself to strengthen the state's economic setup in a speech in St. Paul last week.

Strict economy, the elimination of waste and squandering, encouragement of business and industrial revival and a proper increase of income, corporation, utility and similar taxes were promised as means of strengthening the state economy.

"If the republican party is returned to power by the votes of the people on November 3rd," Mr. Nelson asserted, there will be a "reduction in the property tax, liberal old age assistance," and "abundant relief without waste."

The farmer-labor party has given the people of Minnesota "soothing speeches, soap box oratory that throbs with human sympathy, promises of plenty and a life of ease," Mr. Nelson declared.

Outside of that, all they have from some six years of farmer-labor rule is the waste of their substances, the squandering of their money, their taxes multiplied, debt piled on debt, gross abuses in farmer-labor controlled departments and an octopus of political power."

Hunters Are Warned to Observe All Game Laws

A warning to hunters that game laws are being strictly enforced was issued last week by A. C. Hanson, director of the division of game and fish.

Mr. Hanson pointed out that many hunters trying to rush the deer season have recently been arrested and heavily fined.

During the past week three residents of Deer River were fined a total of $200 in addition to costs for shooting deer, according to reports received by the division of game and fish. A number of hunters have also been arrested for spotlighting deer.

"One of the most common game law violations of recent weeks has been carrying guns set-up and loaded in motor vehicles," Mr. Hanson said. "Many hunters have been arrested on this charge or for attempting to shoot game birds from cars. Wardens have been instructed to watch all automobiles to see to it that guns are taken down and properly cased."

STATE CALLS FOR BIDS ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION JOBS

Bids on state highway construction jobs estimated to cost approximately $570,000 have been called for November 18 by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. The work, in Aitkin, Carlton, Cook, Jackson and Lake counties, will include approximately 20 miles of grading, 7 miles of which will also have a gravel base and 8 miles of which calls for a stabilized gravel base and surfacing.

Thief River Falls in 1908

Assuming that a survey of Thief River Falls, as a financial and commercial center, is as appropriate today as it was back in 1908, we present a survey incorporated in the Souvenir Booklet previously quoted. It was written by W. W. Prichard. We remind readers that we can only give the background of the city's status in this respect, since we do not have at hand the report on the past 28 years. However, we are confident the facts cited will be of interest: "In this day and age the business of any community or locality is to quite an extent gauged by its bank clearings. In the year 1888 the first bank was established in Thief River Falls known as the Polk County Bank. This bank was re-organized in 1896 as the First State Bank with a capital of $10,000. In December 1900, the second bank was established known as the Scandia State Bank, also capitalized at $10,000. This bank was reorganized in July, 1901 as the First National Bank with a capital of $25,000. In April, 1901, the entire deposits of the two banks amounted to but $75,000 and loans of $65,000. The Citizens State Bank with a capital of $20,000 was organized in 1903 and the Peoples State Bank with a capital of $30,000 in 1906. The combined capital and surplus of the four banks now amount to $100,000 and with deposits of half a million, the greater part of which belongs to the farmers. When we take into consideration that only a few years ago the medium of exchange was to quite an extent snake root and furs and the early settler had very little cash capital to begin with, the showing is not bad. Our merchants do a retail business annually of more than three quarters of a million dollars. Add to this the volume of business done by the Lumber Company with its annual cut of over 40 million feet, the flour mill with its 150 barrel daily output, the sash and door factory, the creamery and wholesale houses, and the figures are startling. The monthly payroll of the different industries and railroads amount to $30,000.

"The trade territory covers fully forty townships of land and it is estimated that not over one fourth of this is as yet developed. This being true, what will the volume of business be when the greater part of the land tributary to Thief River Falls is under cultivation?

"It is generally conceded that we now have one of the best market towns in the northern part of the state, and we are optimistic enough to believe that, in the near future, Thief River Falls will be the best town in the Northwest and a commercial center of great importance."

We also have from the Booklet a study of Thief River Falls as a railway center. New data are presented, which we pass on to the readers: "The City of Thief River Falls as a railroad center is well located. For many years it had no railroad facilities and was first connected with the outside world by a stub of the Great Northern from St. Hilaire and later by construction of the Greenbush line extending the territory of the city to the northern part of the state. Later on, came the main line of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway, popularly known as the Soo Line, between the Twin Cities and Winnipeg; and, just later the Thief River Falls Kenmare Line of the same road, was built 300 miles long, westwardly through the famous No. 1 hard wheat country of Northern Minnesota and North Dakota. The construction of this line at once made Thief River Falls a railroad center of no small importance by locating terminal facilities such as are required at a Division point; Round House, car repairing shops, division headquarters, etc., and bringing a small army of employes to the city, having a monthly pay roll of nearly twenty thousand dollars. With the advent of the Soo Line the city commenced to make marvelous improvements and now in the short space of four years no city in the Northwest can show better buildings and civic improvements, and all are built to stand the ravages of time; the builders well knowing that Thief River Falls is located in a strategical position to command the trade of all these hundreds of miles and scores of country towns lying north and west of here on the Soo Line, and the vast unbroken territory east, along the Red Lake River and the Great Red Lake, the largest in the state. We shall resume this study next week.

Growing With Your Child

PERSUASION VS. COMMAND

By the Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

You remember the story we had along about the third grade, the one illustrated by a picture of a man clutching his coat about him while the wind whistled and roared at him in a vain effort to make him take it off; while on the opposite page, the same man pulled off that same coat as fast as he could under the scorching rays of a slyly smiling sun?

The idea of power of persuasion and suggestion, as against that of command, is old indeed. But long and well as we have known it, we still fail to make use of it as we might.

An experiment done recently with small children is worth attention, for it brings out how surprisingly different results are in cases where the phrasing of speech in connection with guidance of children's activities is carefully done. Here are some samples of the kind of situation in which the children were placed, and the way they responded.

Children between the ages of two and a half and seven and a half were asked to cut a circle from a piece of red paper. To one group of them the directions given were, "cut it in the corner to save the paper." The other group was told, "Don't waste the paper." The children in the first group used the paper much more economically than those in the second.

Their response to other test situations were as interesting. In one, a Chinese puzzle box, very hard to open, was offered the children. After they had worked at it for a moment, the first group received the encouragement of the words, "You can do it," from the experimenter. The other group, after they had spent the same length of time, were asked, "Is it too hard for you?" In the latter case children soon began to put the box down, remarking, "You do it," or "I can't do it," while those who had been emboldened to believe they could accomplish what they had set out to do persisted much longer in their efforts.

While we often hear our homes spoken of as laboratories, it is true, of course, that we cannot control the conditions surrounding a child to anything like the extent to which they were controlled in this experiment. Nevertheless, such difference in behavior as are suggested by these results are an indication of what we might do, if we set out to be encouraging and constructive in our approach, instead of carelessly mingling our "do's" and "don'ts" at random. In every case, in the experiment, which instruction and encouragement were given, the success of the children was greater than when the less effective negative form of suggestion was given. It might pay us to watch our words for a while, particularly when we are trying to help a child learn a new habit in which success at the beginning is so important an element.

Of course we could, by putting much emphasis on the form of our speech with our children, make our dealings with them so cut and dried that spontaneity and easiness would vanish from our relationship with them. But by taking just a little thought, by curbing our impulse toward authority, we might avoid many situations like the follwing everyday incident.

In a certain nursery school, where the above experiment was conducted, an adult said to a group of ten four year olds, "We shall now have our rest, and we shall go on tiptoe for our rugs." Two of the children went on tiptoe. The rest walked.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Martin Nelson is still trying to explain his stand on the sales tax. First, he declared it was none of the people's business whether he was for or against a sales tax. Then he said nobody wants a sales tax "if it can possibly be escaped." Everybody knew it was the position of the Republican party that it could not be escaped. But as the storm and fury gathered around his head, he insisted he was always misunderstood and that he would not recommend a sales tax to the Legislature.

But the merchants and consumers of this state have risen up in arms against him and they are not satisfied with his evasive answers. At no time has Mr. Nelson stated positively that he will veto a sales tax bill if one is submitted to him.

Mr. Nelson's latest (he is becoming quite a contortionist) is that he could administer the state government without a sales tax "if"—and then he proceeds to give three "ifs". One of the "ifs" is stimulation and revival of business under "Republican policies." This, he evidently believes, will bring back special taxes, such as the gross earnings tax on railroads, to where they were before the depression, thus making it possible to reduce the state real estate levy.

But there is a fly in the ointment, and that is the fact that it was these Republican policies under Hoover which brought about the depression and consequently the droppage in special taxes. In other words, he is trying to sell the people a gold brick.

Latest efforts of the Republicans to blast the state Highway Department because of the purchase of land on Trunk Highway 56 near Columbia Heights revealed that State Auditor Stafford King had personally approved the land purchase.

The complaint was that the Highway Department should have purchased the land by condemnation proceedings. But the department saved money by not going to court and Stafford King approved the deal. The original amount asked for the property was $19,000 but the Highway Department negotiated until the figure was reduced to $16,400. The Highway Department had no authority to purchase the land without the state auditor's approval. He approved!

A lot of loose statements are being made these days about the finances of the Conservation Department. These statements are, of course, for political purposes, and a certain amount of latitude must be allowed. Nevertheless, here are the cold, bald facts:

The Department is better off financially than at any time in its history. During the six years of Farmer-Labor administration (Olson administration) funds diminished $374,427. To offset this the Department expended in permanent improvements such as land acquisition for conservation purposes $671,200. This remarkable showing was accomplished despite a dropping off in revenue from hunting and finishing licenses of from $100,000 to $200,000 a year; expenditure of $30,000 in stream pollution studies by the State Board of Health; and diversion of $168,626 in wolf bounties, and $35,000 for forest fighting purposes.

Attorney General Harry H. Peterson has been driving hard the fact that the platform of the Republican party says nothing about public utilities.

In a recent speech he pointed out that St. Paul telephone users have saved $700,000 as a result of efforts of his office. He added, "Telephone users in Minneapolis are entitled to a reduction of over $1,000,000 a year in telephone rates. Many other cities and other local communities are entitled to a similar reduction."

The Republican party in Minnesota and its candidates for office, having exhausted every possible issue which they could raise during the campaign and having been defeated on every one, are trotting out the threadbare red scare again.

In a last minute desperate effort to frighten voters, they are obtaining lists of ministers and churchgoers throughout the state and sending them scare literature, obviously prepared and circulated by the Republican party in the interests of Republican candidates.

Every person enrolled in Sunday school in Hennepin County has received an unsigned postcard, presumably coming from another church member, asking them to vote for candidates who will protest the home and church, the implication being that only Republican candidates will do this. Every priest and minister in the state has been already circularized by letters and pamphlets which intimate that only through electing Republicans can the state of Minnesota be saved from communism and a civil war.

WOMANLESS TOWN AWAITS 1ST BRIDE

Norwood.—Dale, a western Minnesota hamlet with a population of six bachelors, is awaiting the coming of the first bride. While the bachelors were lamenting the lack of a feminine touch, that it was too lonesome and that "darning socks ain't no fun", Jerome Ulven, 30 and the youngest man in the womanless hamlet, told his neighbors that he is planning to be married. He thinks he may have to add women's apparel to his stock of store goods, and that is something new to this town with its grain elevator, several potato warehouse, a garage, a church where services are held every two weeks, the general store, and the depot where three trains pass daily.

REPRESENTATIVE

MARSHALL COUNTY 67TH DISTRICT

I FAVOR—

Sound, Progressive Legislation for the benefit of the Farmer, Home Owner and the local businessmen.

Strict economy in state governmental affairs, including the elimination of extravagance in the existing departments of government.

A more equitable distribution of the tax load so as to lower taxes for the farmer.

I do not favor a sales tax.

A liberal and progressive program of state aids for the operation of the public schools, feeling that the education of our children is a state as well as local obligation.

State assistance for the construction of farm to market roads.

Encouragement for cooperative enterprises through beneficial laws.

Encouragement to industry and business so as to employ more labor at decent yearly wages.

An adequate Old Age Assistance program is desirable and necessary and I heartily favor a program that will insure happiness and security for our people at the eventide of their lives.

I am Independent and as such my efforts will be spent in working for all of the people and not for any individual, clique or party.

WEFALD, FORMER CONGRESSMAN, IS DEAD IN ST. PAUL

Was Serving as Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner

Knud Wefald of Hawley, former representative in congress and railroad and warehouse commissioner, died in St. Paul Sunday night following a heart attack.

Wefald was elected to the railroad and warehouse commission in 1932, for a term of six years. He resigned as executive secretary of the commission of administration and finance to become a candidate for the commission.

After representing Clay county in the state house of representatives in the 1913 and 1915 sessions, he was elected to congress from the ninth Minnesota district, serving during the 68th and 69th sessions.

Born in Norway in 1869, he received his education in the high schools of that country, and came to the United States in 1887.

Going to Hawley, he established a retail lumber business in 1896 and lived there since with the exception of two years, 1929 and 1930, when he was editor of "Normanden", a Norwegian language newspaper, published at Fargo.

Mr. Wefald had visited this city on many occasions in the course of his various election campaigns.

Let's Clean House in Minnesota

Prior to 1930, the Farmer-Labor Party severely criticized the Republican administration for the number of employees on the state payroll, which at that time numbered approximately ten thousand. Today, according to their own figures, this number has been increased to fifteen thousand six hundred nineteen (15,619), an increase of more than five thousand. This increase has come about in the departments under Farmer-Labor control.

When the Farmer-Labor Party obtained control in 1931, the state debt was $88,404,312.78. There were surpluses in the various departments aggregating Eight million ($8,000,000.00) dollars. In five years, the state debt has increased to $129,323,643.87. To this should be added deficits in the several departments aggregating approximately Seven Million, ($7,000,000) dollars, increasing the state's indebtedness more than Fifty-four Million ($54,000,000) dollars in five years time.

The Farmer-Labor machine has grafted upon the state's poorest paid employees by levying assessments of $3.00 to $10.00 per month. It has made party loyalty the sole condition of employment and has paid henchmen, wardheelers and others like Joseph Poirier fat salaries out of taxpayers' money for the sole purpose of recruiting members for the Farmer-Labor Party.

The Farmer-Labor machine under the guise of being a poor man's party has not only aided in pardoning millionaire criminals convicted on income tax evasion, but has restored them to citizenship and awarded them fancy contracts paid for by taxpayers' money. The Farmer-Labor machine has notoriously attempted to confine highway contracts to its friends. This has not only been approved but defended by the machine-controlled Attorney General. Had the schemes succeeded, the taxpayers of the state would have been swindled out of more than Four Million ($4,000,000) dollars.

The Farmer-Labor machine has entered into alliances with such outstanding impoverished liberals as millionaire brewer Bremer, Chain-Banker Lily, President of the First National Bank, Charles Ward, and others, whereby they have sold the Democrat Party "down the river" under a vain hope that it might help banker Benson.

What has happened to the many honest and sincere men who helped build the Farmer-Labor Party, men of the type of Magnus Johnson and others? What did that same machine do with the assistance of the local political satellites, to the game warden of this county? When honesty and integrity interfered with corrupt plans and purposes of the political racketeers now in control of the party, these men were promptly forgotten.

There are many sincere men and women in the ranks of the Farmer-Labor Party, but what control, if any, has the FARMER over the party today? The answer is simple. Look about you and you will find that the jobholders from St. Paul, the incompetent and the failures in their own occupation are the persons who today control the Farmer-Labor Party. Is it good policy to delegate power and authority to persons of that type? These are some of the important questions you must consider and determine when you cast your ballot on November 3rd. All the last minute campaign "smoke screen" now oozing out of Thief River Falls by the ton can't change the issue.

Minnesota Needs a Change

We urge all true, honest and sincere liberals, irrespective of your party alignment to vote for Martin Nelson and the Republican ticket for a return of honest, sound and sane government.

HOMECOMING AT N. W. SCHOOL IS WELL ATTENDED

N. W. Aggies Defeat Morris Aggies by 7-0 Score Saturday

The Northwest Aggies, coached by R. J. Christgau, defeated the Morris Aggies by a score of 7-0 in a thrilling game played on the Northwest School field Saturday. The victory contributed much to the success of the annual home coming celebration. Weekend activities opened with the huge pep meeting Friday evening, followed by a special assembly Saturday morning.

Speakers on the assembly program included T. M. McCall, chairman; Professor John A. Anderson, representing the Morris Aggies; Superintendent A. A. Dowell; coach R. J. Christgau; Captain Roland Wentzel; former Captain Elmer Ross, '34, Fisher; Esther Haugo, '34, Mahnomen; and Donald Spong, '27, Oklee. Other features of the program included selections by the school orchestra under the direction of Miss Marian Nelson and school yells by the student body. The Morris team was accompanied by a twenty-one piece band which added much to the interest of the colorful occasion.

The annual alumni dinner was held in the school dining hall during the early evening. Speakers who appeared on this program included Registrar J. W. Milnar, Coach A. C. Heine, Coach R. J. Christgau, Captain Wentzel, Captain Lloyd Jergenson and Miss Katherine Kneeshaw, former English instructor at the Northwest school, Rishton Bedard, '31, Northcote; Edwin Myers, '32, Warroad; Richard Holmgren, '33, Carp; Evelyn Bierbaum, '29, Clearbrook; Olive Stern, '35, Halstad; Clarence Weckwerth, '33, Hazel; Rose Naplin, '33, Wylie; Arthur Sanden, '33, Beaulieu. Harry Coulter, East Grand Forks, captain of the cross-country team spoke on behalf of this squad, which ran a brilliant race against members of the University of North Dakota team during the intermission between halves of the football game. The rest of the evening was devoted to a school dance and party. Alumni from as far south as the Twin Cities and west to Montana were in attendance.

Duluth Woman Renamed President of State PTA

Mrs. A. L. Lathers, Duluth, was re-elected president of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers last Thursday at the fourteenth annual convention of the congress in Winona by a vote of 192 to 108 for Mrs. S. P. Linsley, St. Paul, first vice president. Other officers elected are Mrs. A. W. Evans, Mankato, second vice president; Mrs. Spencer Earl Ainsworth, St. Louis Park, fourth vice president; Mrs. A. D. Strachan, St. Paul, treasurer; Mrs. Robert E. Johnson, Duluth, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. R. R. Leland Kenyon, historian.

Communist Charge Is G. O. P. Smoke Screen, Senator Benson Says

"The issue of communism was raised by the Republicans in this campaign for the purpose of detracting attention from their own shallow program and platform", Senator Elmer E. Benson charged in a talk delivered last Friday night at St. Cloud.

"I need not tell the people of Minnesota I am not a Communist," he stated. "They know I am not a Communist. The members of my church, which I served as treasurer for many years, know I am not a Communist, and they know further that I do not believe in communism. And neither are my colleagues on the Farmer-Labor ticket communists; nor do they believe in communism. And my party has not a communist program.

"I say that the only political movement in our state and nation which can prevent the growth of Communism in this country is the liberal movement such as the Farmer-Labor party. Communism flourishes only in a state of society where extreme injustice prevails, where the rights of man are flaunted, where social and economic liberties are denied. It grew in Russia only because Russia was governed by a benighted absolute monarchy which trampled upon the rights of its subjects—which stifled human rights and which denied opportunities to the individual.

Texas-Minnesota Game to Feature Homecoming at U. of M. Nov. 14th

More "Dads" than ever before are being invited to "Dads Day" at the University of Minnesota this year, the reason being plain—there are more students than ever before, and so more Dads.

Fathers of students in every district in Minnesota, nearly every state in the country and many foreign countries, are receiving invitations to make their annual pilgrimage to the university campus on Saturday, November 14 to see how son or daughter lives, meet their professors, inspect their rooms, and become acquainted with their associates.

The last home chance to see another Minnesota team that appears to be on its way to a championship will be among the incentives for visiting the university. The Texas University team will come north on that Saturday to see if it can remain limber under the unaccustomed northern blasts of Minnesota.

Dads Day has grown rapidly since it was started some 10 years ago. When it was found that students were actually going to the University of Minnesota for four years in some cases without a visit from home, which means without their fathers ever knowing what the university was really like, it was decided that something should be done immediately. As a result thousands of fathers have visited the campus in the ensuing years, many of whom would have come at all events, but some of whom would never have done so.

COUSINS HAVE NINE LIVING FOREBEARS

Rochester—When it comes to grandparents two one-year-old cousins in Wabasha county can boast loudly, for each is of a five-generation family and each has nine living forebears—four grandparents, four great grandparents and one great-great-grandmother. The two cousins who tie for grandparent honors are Shirley Mae Adler daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Adler of Millville and Allen Darwin Adler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adler of Theilman. Allen celebrated his first anniversary in a triple birthday celebration with his father and his great grandfather, their ages totaling 100 years.

Ole Skaar

Candidate for County Commissioner
Third District, Pennington County, Minn.

Will appreciate your vote and support at the General Election, Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1936

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT—Inserted by Andrew Bottelson in his own behalf and to be paid for at regular rates.

For Probate Judge
Second term

Andrew Bottelson

My first term has been good experience. I trust that my record in office will merit your approval and vote Nov. 3d, 1936, at the General Election.

To those not familiar with the facts, I will say that I have saved to the taxpayers the sum of $1,200.00 which previously was paid out for clerk hire in the office of Probate Judge in Pennington County.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW BOTTELSON.

719 THIEF RIVER FALLS FAMILIES TRIED NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE

(Under the startling 2 for 1 offer repeated again elsewhere in this advertisement)

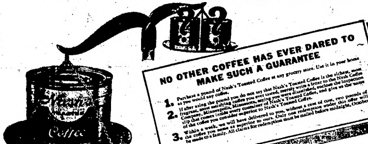
. . . . ONLY 3 ASKED FOR ANOTHER BRAND OF COFFEE!

SEVERAL WEEKS ago we published a full page advertisement in this newspaper in which we asked every family of this community to try Nash's Toasted Coffee under the guarantee printed below.

We asked every family to try Nash's Toasted Coffee in their homes, and then, if they did not pronounce Nash's Toasted Coffee the finest, richest flavored coffee they ever drank, merely write us a letter telling us of their dissatisfaction and we would give them two pounds of the coffee named as superior.

The results have amazed even us! The figures quoted above we believe speak for themselves.

You, too, should try Nash's Toasted Coffee in your home, and we are again repeating our two-for-one guarantee in this advertisement. It's clear-cut, with no "ifs" or "ands." Any grocer will supply you with Nash's Toasted Coffee under this guarantee. Nash Coffee Company, Minneapolis, Minnesota.



NO OTHER COFFEE HAS EVER DARED TO MAKE SUCH A GUARANTEE

1. Purchase a pound of Nash's Toasted Coffee at any grocery store. Use it in your home as you would any coffee.
2. If after using the pound you do not say that Nash's Toasted Coffee is the richest, most fragrant, most satisfying coffee you ever tasted, merely write a letter to the Nash Coffee Company, Minneapolis, Minnesota, saying you were dissatisfied, enclose the inspection slip that comes inside every container of Nash's Toasted Coffee, and give us the name of the coffee you consider superior to Nash's Toasted Coffee.
3. Within a week, we will have delivered to you, without a cent of cost, two pounds of the coffee you name as superior to ours. Only one redemption under this offer will be made to a family. All claims for redemption must be mailed before midnight, October

Scapegoat Pays

The idea of the scapegoat is practiced in some form or other in Tibet. In some cases an actual goat is sent into the wilderness. In others, a man is chosen who has to leave his village and live elsewhere for a whole year and when he returns someone else is chosen to bear the sin of the village.

TAX-PAYING TIME CALLS ATTENTION TO TEN-YEAR PLAN

Taxpayers Group Reminds Public of Delinquent Tax Measure

As the final day for last half payment of current taxes approaches, penalties going into effect November 1, attention is called to the recent state law in which delinquent taxpayers may take advantage of, the Ten-Year instalment plan to clean up their real old tax accumulations. Reports already received by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association indicate that taxpayers in many counties have decided to pay up old accounts in this way, and to care for current payments.

Those who desire to put their old taxes on an instalment basis will find the procedure comparatively simple, according to James P. McDonnell, president of the State Association, who outlines the method as follows:

"First of all, the law applies to taxes that have been delinquent for the year 1933 or prior. The taxpayer must file with the Clerk of Court a confession of judgment for the full amount of taxes delinquent and costs. His penalties and accumulated interest will then be excluded. Delinquent taxes can be refinanced over a period of ten years, the first payment of one-tenth to be paid down. The balance is to be paid in nine equal annual instalments, with interest at the rate of four per cent yearly, thus a taxpayer escapes old penalties.

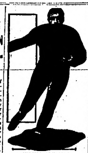
"Current taxes must always be paid in full, however, during the life of the contract. If the instalment plan is accepted, and the taxpayer fails to make the annual payment with interest on due date, or fails to pay current taxes before they become delinquent, all the penalties and interest cancelled under the contract will be reinstated, and the lands described in such confessed judgment shall thereupon be subject to forfeiture. The plan calls for a contract between the delinquent taxpayer and the State, and the contract must be adhered to, or the taxpayer will forfeit all the benefits granted," McDonnell pointed out.

Security State Bank of Oklee Granted Charter

The state department of commerce, at a hearing held in St. Paul last week, granted a banking certificate to the Security State Bank of Oklee. Peter Bergeron, O. O. Melby and J. O. Melby of Oklee and G. A. Belto of Gonvick were present at the hearing.

BOY KILLED WHEN SWING COLLAPSES

Ponsford—An 11-year old Ponsford boy, Benjamin Theo Bakken, was killed October 8 when the twirl swing or "giant stride" on the school play ground collapsed. As a last minute recreation before the school bell sounded several school children were swinging through the air, when, suddenly the center pole of the "stride" broke. It struck Benjamin and pinned him to the ground. He died the following morning at a Park Rapids hospital of a triple skull fracture. Four other youngsters were scratched and bruised.



JULIUS ALFONSE

Back at right halfback on the Minnesota eleven, after a year's absence from football. A splendid blocker and a tricky runner, he has all the requisites for a right halfback. He has added passing to his talents this season and is out to eclipse his yardage average of 8.5 made in 1934. Teammates selected him as co-captain along with Widseth on the 1936 team. He is five feet, eleven inches in height and weighs 175 pounds. His home is in Cumberland, Wisconsin. Alfonse contributed in large measure to Minnesota's defeat of Purdue by a score of 33 to 0 in Memorial stadium last Saturday afternoon.

WPA Projects May be Suspended Election Day If Workers Wish

Regulations for operation of WPA projects in this county on election day, November 3, were received this week at the office of the local area engineer from the office of J. H. Kovarik, district director at Detroit Lakes, who made public instructions promulgated by Victor Christgau, state administrator.

"Whether projects operate," said Mr. Kovarik, "depends on the wishes of the project workers. Federal regulations do not permit pay for time not worked, but such time may be made up if the exercise of voting franchise involves lost time.

"Whether projects operate should be decided by project foremen, after consulting the workers. Where workers and projects are reasonably near the voting places, there is no apparent reason for a suspension. However, where the workers travel long distances, it may be advisable to permit the men to remain at home on Tuesday and then make up the hours thus lost at the first opportunity."

HUNTERS BAG TRAP, HAWK IN ONE SHOT

Morton.—A hawk bagged by two Morton men as it soared over the trees in the Minnesota valley had a rusted No. 1 steel trap with a steel chain fastened to its foot. It was evident that the trap had been there for a long time, because part of the foot had grown out and around the metal much like a tree which finally grows around a wire fence. The addition of the heavy hardware on its leg had not prevented the hawk from finding enough to eat, for it appeared in good condition.

17 PER CENT OF STATE VOTERS DID NOT VOTE IN 1934

Pennington County Made a Good Showing, Survey Indicates

Pennington county has a total voting strength of 5243 according to Simon Michelet, president of the National Get-Out-The-Vote club, and in 1934, 2 per cent, or 110 citizens qualified to vote, failed to do so.

The stay-at-home total for the state as a whole was 17 percent, according to a recent survey. This would indicate that the people who are eligible to vote, but do not, could easily swing any election if they would but take the trouble to go to the polls.

According to 1930 census figures, Minnesota had a qualified voting population of 1,282,876 citizens. However, the largest vote cast in Minnesota was in 1934, when the total was 1,064,332, leaving the number of stay-at-homes at 218,544.

In the larger cities of the state, the percentage of people who do not vote is greater than in the rural sections. In Hennepin county, it is estimated that 50,124 citizens, or more than 19 per cent of the voting strength, did not vote. In Ramsey county, the number of stay-at-homes was 36,177, or 25 per cent.

An intensive drive is being made this year to get out this potential voting strength and increased registrations in the larger cities, as well as greater interest in the rural sections, point to a record vote. The Young Republican League of Minnesota is taking a prominent part in the drive to get the vote on a non-partisan basis.

PHEASANTS RESCUED FROM LAKE BY DUCK HUNTERS

Fergus Falls.—A group of duck hunters at Swan Lake recently displayed some real sportsmanship in rescuing a flock of pheasants from the water. A large flock of the game birds, about 100, attempted to fly across the lake, but as they neared the north shore became bewildered and fell into the water. The hunters immediately waded into the lake and rescued the pheasants, 18 of which were in such condition that they had to be killed. The game warden was notified and took possession of the dying birds, taking the others into a nearby cottage where they were revived.

Re-elect Buckler and Send a Farmer to Congress

Congressman Richard Thompson Buckler is the Farmer-Labor nominee for U. S. Representative in Congress. He deserves your Vote and Support. He fearlessly led the farmers' fight in the State Senate and in the U. S. Congress. He voted for you. YOU vote for HIM now! When the farmers prosper, business and labor prosper.

Buckler Pledges Continued Support of and Advocates:

—the Frazier-Lemke bill plan which would provide farm and home loans at 1½ per cent interest and 1½ per cent amortization payments.

—the bill fixing guaranteed minimum price for farm products.

—adequate aid and relief for the drouth stricken and needy.

—more liberal and adequate national federal old age pensions.

—fairer treatment for disabled veterans, widows and orphans.

—further legislation in behalf of the independent merchant and the small business man.

—a general federal aid for rural, village and city schools.

—federal government control of money and credits.

—favor additional silver legislation to raise agricultural prices.

—extension of rural electrification.

His Record is 100% for the People.

Buckler voted and fought for the Frazier-Lemke Farm Refinancing Bill and all other legislation in be-half of the farmers.

Buckler was a member of the Steering Committee and a co-author and sponsor of the Robinson-Patman Equal Opportunity in Business Bill.

Buckler voted for the bank deposit guaranty law.

Buckler voted for stock market regulation to curb the gamblers.

Buckler voted for the bonus and supported all veteran legislation.

For character and honesty, courage and fearlessness, ability and efficiency, aggressiveness and experience, vote for and send R. T. Buckler back to Congress for a second term.

Sleep One of Simplest Preventatives of Disease, State Doctors Declare

One of the simplest preventives of disease and disaster is sleep. Physician members of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association urge upon people of all ages the necessity for regular hours of sleep, in a bulletin issued today.

Regular sleeping habits not only increase your well being now, according to the doctors, but they stand you in good stead later on when age and trouble create a greater need for the release and refreshment of a good night's sleep.

"Habits of sleep can be cultivated in the same manner as habits of cleanliness or eating.

"If you have a life long habit of going to bed early and putting aside all plans, worries, regrets and longings as soon as you put out your light at night, the same habit will be the greatest possible help in getting you safely past real trouble. It will help you over illnesses and save you, probably, from the danger of collapse when a crisis arises.

"Putting worries aside is not easy if you have been in the habit of worrying for years after you went to bed; but psychiatrists have shown that it can be done with practice and it is better than any pill ever concocted for inducing healthful sleep.

Children, especially, should have a fixed early bed time, according to the bulletin. Their best hours of sleep come early in the night and loss of the early hours cannot be made up satisfactorily in the morning. No trifling considerations such as guests in the house or a show or a radio program should be allowed to interfere with their hours of sleep.

REEMPLOYMENT ITEMS

Interviewer, E. R. Stangbeln

Private employers are reminded that skilled applicants living in outlying counties are registered at the local NRS Office and can be secured through this office.

A new administrative building program is anticipated in this territory this fall. Foremen, carpenters, cement finishers, mixer operators, and other skilled workmen are urged to contact this office.

Farm hands, especially older men for winter jobs, should contact the NRS Office.

For the week ending October 17, 1936 the local office reported an active file of available applicants of 1,256 men and 221 women. Many of these persons have temporary employment or are employed in positions which they would leave for better employment.

For September 1936 the local office referred 184 persons to jobs; 170 were verified placements.

Register now for rush season and holiday employment. Early registrations will enable the local interviewer to contact prospective employers on the basis of the applicant's qualifications.

Women interested in chicken picking openings should apply now.

Several exceptionally qualified stenographers are now available; call your local employment interviewer.

10th Auto Show Opens in Thief River Falls Thursday, November 12

Public to Get First Glimpse of 1937 Models November 12, 13, 14

TO MARK FIRST USE OF WINTER SPORTS ARENA

Elaborate Vaudeville Show and Dancing to Feature Last Two Nights

Residents of Northwestern Minnesota will get their first glimpse of the much heralded 1937 models of automobiles at the tenth annual automobile show to be staged in the winter sports arena in Thief River Falls Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 12, 13, and 14. The local show will be staged simultaneously with the New York automobile show which opens the first of next week.

In connection with the automobile and other displays, a vaudeville show continuing for one hour and thirty minutes will be presented in the adjoining municipal Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, November 13 and 14. Featuring the program will be a musical extravaganza, "The All-American Revue", presented under the direction of the WCCO Artists Bureau of Minneapolis, and including four episodes, The New Orleans Mardi Gras, Wyoming Rodeo, Manhattan Greenwich Village and Banff Winter Carnival.

In addition to the evening performances of the vaudeville show, local merchants are sponsoring a free matinee showing Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock for all grade pupils of the city, and another free performance Saturday afternoon, November 14, at 2 o'clock for children of the surrounding rural community who are cordially invited to be guests of the merchants on this occasion.

Local automobile dealers who will be represented at the automobile show and the cars they handle are the Northern Chevrolet company, Chevrolet and Oldsmobile; Lund & Tunberg, Ford and Lincoln Zephyr; C. Gustafson & Son, Plymouth, Chrysler, Nash and LaFayette; Borchert & Johnson, Dodge and Plymouth; Thronson Motor company, Pontiac; Taxerass Implement company, DeSoto, Plymouth, Hudson and Terraplane; and Wiener Body & Fender Works, Buick.

A variety of other exhibits also will be displayed in the commodious arena by a group of local firms including the J. & B. drug store, Montgomery Ward & company; John Lind Motor Supply; Red Lake Ice & Fuel company; Kelly Hardware store; Falls Supply company; Borry's Garage; Oen Mercantile company; and the Larson company.

Next Thursday evening, the first night of the automobile show, a civic testimonial program will be presented in the Auditorium, where tribute will be paid to official bodies and civic groups of the community.

Dancing in the Auditorium will follow the program Thursday and Friday evenings, while on Saturday evening, November 14, a gala dance will be held in the winter sports arena, net proceeds of which will be set aside for purchase of arena equipment. Music for the dances will be provided by Allyn Casell and his eleven-piece recording orchestra, which will also play at the automobile show during the afternoon.

The dealers, he said, are now making plans for decorating the huge enclosure for the occasion.

[illegible]R'S PROCLAMATION

The annual [illegible] for the Thief River Falls Chapter of the American [illegible] will begin on Armistice Day, November 11th.

There is little n[illegible] to remind citizens of our community how vital [illegible] Cross is in the life of our country. During the p[illegible] both from actual observation and from the acco[illegible]rk done which were carried in daily newspapers, [illegible]ave seen just how important it is that we have an active agency of the American people to administer assistance when the need arises.

The Red Cross comes to us now with another appeal for membership dues that will finance the work during the year ahead. Our Red Cross asks little from the community, yet contributes much to the general welfare of our people.

For this reason, I sincerely urge those who are asked to participate in this great program by paying the relatively small membership to respond in a spirit of good neighborliness. I hope all will take part in the work by becoming members of the society.

It gives me great pleasure, therefore, as mayor of Thief River Falls, to hereby set aside the designated period as the time when all past members will be asked to renew their membership and for those who have not enrolled before to add their names to the ranks of Red Cross members in our community.

W. W. PRICHARD, Mayor.

FAIR ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING IS SET FOR NOV. 17

Election of Four Directors Included in Business to be Transacted

The annual meeting of shareholders of the Pennington County Agricultural society, sponsor of the county fair, will be held Tuesday evening, November 17, in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the Auditorium, Secretary Robert J. Lund announced today.

The item of chief interest will be the submission of the secretary's report on the financial outcome of the 1936 fair. Mr. Lund stated that it will reveal a substantial cash balance on hand at the close of the fiscal year, taking into consideration the sum of $1,550 which will shortly be received from the state.

Directors whose terms expire at this time include S. E. Hunt, W. E. Dahlquist and Roy Lambert, the last-named having resigned previous to his departure from the city. Also to be elected is a director to fill out the remaining one year of the term of Emil Griebstein, who also resigned earlier in the year.

ORGANIZATIONS GET RECOGNITION THURSDAY, NOV. 12

Tribute to be Paid to Community Groups at the Auditorium

A dozen or more official bodies and civic groups of this community will receive well-merited recognition at a public meeting in the Auditorium next Thursday evening, signalizing the opening of the automobile show and exposition sponsored by local car dealers in cooperation with Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion.

Included in the number of those to whom tribute will be paid, in addition to those announced last week, are the county child welfare board and the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Following the program refreshments will be served in the Civic and Commerce and Legion rooms to those who attend the event.

Hallowe'en Was Quiet, Police Chief Reports

"It was the most orderly observance in recent years", said Police Chief A. B. Stenberg in commenting on Hallowe'en last Saturday night. Numerous parties in private homes aided in keeping the children occupied.

Lincoln High School Football Team Ends Successful Season

The Lincoln high school Prowler football team, which closed its schedule Friday by going down to gallant defeat at the hands of a big Bemidji team 13 to 6, enjoyed a highly successful season under the direction of Coach George Lee, winning seven out of eight games played.

Shown in the above picture of the squad are, left to right, back row: Hess, Holmberg, W. Hill, Swanson, Thomas. Second row: Carlson, mascot; Nelson, Sundberg, Lunke, Schmeltzer and Sorenson. Third row: Coach Lee, Bredeson, Hanson, Lorentson, Caldis, Mickelson, Michalsky and B. W. Gapnielson, assistant coach. Fourth row: Booren, L. Stadum, Eide, Mattson, Johnson, Oleson, Tunberg and L. Nesse. Front row: Sahl, Peterson, Dicken, Adkins, Captain Milton Nesse, P. Hill, Wessling and Nelson.

The Prowlers were the first to score in the Bemidji game, Hill going over for a touchdown, followed later in the quarter by one by Bemidji, making the score 6 to 6. Bemidji scored the winning touchdown and point for goal in the second quarter. Numerous local citizens followed the team to Bemidji to witness the final game of the year.

PENNINGTON CO. CASTS RECORD VOTE TUESDAY

O. M. Mandt and Frank Race Are Winners in Commissioner Race

BOTTELSON RETAINS PROBATE JUDGE POST

Day and Melby Successful Candidates for Legislature Posts

Voters of Thief River Falls and Pennington county went to the polls Tuesday in unprecedented numbers, and a large majority of them cast their ballots for the winning candidates on the state and national tickets, throwing their support to President Roosevelt, Elmer Benson, Farmer-Labor candidate for governor; and Ernest Lundeen, candidate for the United States senate.

In the rural sections of the county, interest centered in the races for county commissioner. Frank Race was the winner in the first district by a substantial plurality in a field of five candidates, while in the third district Paul Roy, chairman of the board was reelected by a margin of nearly two to one over his opponent, Ole Skaar. Commissioner O. M. Mandt was returned the winner in the fifth district, getting 389 votes to 309 for Isaac E. Wilson and 295 for I. H. Iverson, sticker candidate.

Probate Judge Andrew Bottelson, seeking reelection, scored a decisive victory over his opponent, Lars Backe, the vote being 3,281 to 1,524. Adolf Eklund, who was unopposed in his campaign for reelection, amassed a total of 4,157 votes.

Representative J. O. Melby and W. F. Day of Bagley, seeking the two legislative posts in the 65th district, carried Pennington county by a substantial margin over their opponents, Marius Waldal and G. P. Jones. Figures for the entire district, including also Red Lake and Clearwater counties, are: Melby, 6,240; Day, 5,853; Waldal, 4,285; Jones, 3,494.

President Roosevelt proved to be the biggest vote getter in the county contest, maintaining a three-to-one lead over Alf. M. Landon, while the vote for Lemke proved to be negligible. Lundeen led Christianson in Pennington county by a better than two-to-one margin, as was the case with Elmer Benson in his contest with Martin Nelson.

The record-breaking total of 2,867 votes was cast in Thief River Falls Tuesday, compared to an aggregate of 2,266 in 1934, the previous high mark. Counting of ballots was not completed until late Wednesday evening. Votes cast in the city were as follows: First ward, 869; second, 823; third, 886; and fourth, 689.

In Pennington county a total of 5,166 votes were cast for the office of president of the United States, compared to 3,955 in 1932. For the office of governor 5,128 votes were cast, while in 1934 the total was 4,894 and in 1932 it was 4,809.

The county vote on Amendment No. 1 was: Yes, 2,458; No, 1,531. Amendment No. 2: Yes, 1,390; No., 2,646.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAMS TO BE HELD IN SCHOOLS

Exercises in Each School Set for Wednesday Morning

While no city-wide observance of Armistice Day next Wednesday, November 11, has been announced, Supt. Morris Bye said yesterday that the public is invited to attend programs being arranged for the occasion in the local schools Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Pupils will be given a half-holiday in the afternoon, he said.

Speakers who will deliver addresses on appropriate themes include Paul Lundgren, Lincoln high school; Kyle Montague, Washington school; Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Northrop; H. O. Berve, Knox; and Mr. Bye, Central.

Thanksgiving Turkey Pools Are Now Open

Outlook is for Increase in Marketings Thruout the Nation

Turkey pools operated by Thief River Falls buying agencies are now in full swing, and buying for the Thanksgiving market will continue thru Saturday, November 14, it was announced today.

Cash advances for the current pool are slightly lower than the figures prevailing a year ago when turkeys brought satisfactory returns to growers. Acting as a depressing factor in the market is the report that turkey production thruout the nation is considerably greater than during the past two years, altho it is anticipated that production in this section will not be materially greater.

It was reported this week that the national turkey crop is expected to run to 20,000,000 birds this year, approximately 1,000,000 more than for the years 1932 and 1933.

December buying pools for the Christmas market will open December 1.

New Pastor Is Coming to Serve Augustana Church

Announcement was made this week that Rev. C. W. Also published are separate tabulations giving the vote for county commissioner in the first, third and fifth districts, as well as the vote in the 65th legislative district.

President Carries 46 Out of 48 States in Nation Tuesday

ELMER A. BENSON WINS GOVERNORSHIP RACE

Lundeen Is Elected Senator; Schmahl Loses for Treasurer

The New Deal received a resounding endorsement in the national election Tuesday when President Franklin D. Roosevelt was named to remain in office for another term by one of the most decisive margins in the history of the country. He received the electoral votes of 46 of the 48 states, only two states, Maine and Vermont, swinging in favor of Landon. The President's plurality in the popular vote yesterday was mounting toward the 9,000,000 mark.

At the same time the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota, which during the campaign joined forces with the Democrats, obtained a firmer grip on the state administration. With returns still incomplete this morning, Elmer Benson had a lead of approximately 192,000 over his Republican opponent, Martin Nelson, in the contest for governor, while Ernest Lundeen led Theodore Christianson in the United States senate race by about 198,000 votes.

Secretary of State Mike Holm was apparently re-elected, having a margin of 80,000 votes over Paul Hartig with nearly half of the precincts in the state reporting. Farmer-Labor candidates for several other state offices had a big lead, including G. Lindstan for lieutenant-governor, H. H. Peterson for attorney general and Hjalmar Petersen for railroad and warehouse commissioner. With 2,860 of [illegible] precincts reporting, State Treasurer Julius A. Schmahl was trailing C. A. Halverson, F.-L., by [illegible] votes.

In the ninth congressional district, with half the precincts reporting, Congressman R. T. Buckler had [illegible] votes to [illegible] for Elmer A. Haugen, Republican, and 8,002 for Martin O. Brandon, Democrat.

With returns still incomplete President Roosevelt had a lead of 165,000 votes in the state over Landon.

A top-heavy Democratic majority in the national house and senate, seemed likely. The Democrats appeared to be winning enough seats to give them 75 of the 96 in the senate. House returns were slower but with something like two score of contests in doubt, the Democrats appeared sure of going beyond 300 seats. In the upsets, they had taken two Republican seats for every one of the Republicans had gained from them. They had 308 members in the last house.

Not since William Howard Taft went down in the snorting Bull Moose rampage of 1912 had the fortunes of the Republicans fallen to so low a state. Even then, though Taft got only the eight electoral votes of Utah and Vermont, all of the rest did not go to the Democrats. Theodore Roosevelt got 88; Wilson the remainder.

Governor Landon, his defeat behind him and congratulations already sent the winning candidate, told reporters he had no comment to make on the election, nor on future Republican plans.

CURTIS RETIRES; OPERATED DRUG STORE 36 YEARS

Pioneer Local Druggist Opened Store in City in September, 1900

J. P. Curtis, who has been proprietor of a drug store in this city the past 36 years, this week announced his retirement from that field of endeavor and the leasing of his quarters on East Third st. to the Oen Mercantile company.

Mr. Curtis first established a drug store in a building near the Brumund hotel September 18, 1900, following which, after occupying various quarters, he moved in 1906 into the Odd Fellows block now housing the Rex cafe. He remained there 27 years, after which he moved into his own building on Third st.

Active and enjoying good health, Mr. Curtis said he would retain his connection with the Rex cafe and continue to operate the life insurance business in which he has engaged as a sideline for many years. He is now closing out his drug store stock.

NEED HELP TO APPLY FOR MARRIAGE LICENSE

Bemidji—Assistance was needed in applying for a marriage license by a couple who found it impossible to make a trip from Crookston to Bemidji, where the application should have been filed. The couple, Peter Hanson and Selena O. Olson of Grygla solved the problem with help from the Pennington county clerk of court. The application was made with him and he then forwarded it to the clerk of court in Beltrami county together with his letter stating that the couple could not make the long trip and had asked him to assist in the situation.

Are You Burning the Most Economical Fuel?

"UNCLE SAM" SAYS, Technical Paper No. 242

Coke should be used for heating houses because it is a clean and convenient fuel. It eliminates smoke, reduces the necessity of cleaning the furnace and flues, requires less attention than coal and gives a more uniform temperature and heat.

PRIZE PORKER ESCAPES FROM BASEMENT HOME

Belle Plaine.—A small red pig, the size of a regulation football, was seen recently wandering about in an aimless fashion in the business section of Belle Plaine. There was a good deal of wondering as to where the little swine came from, since it was too small to have been considered eligible for a ride to South St. Paul. The little beast survived through the cool night, even though it was at one time roosting in the center of the highway with cars whizzing by, over and around it, luckily none of them scoring a hit on the pig. The next morning, still at large and apparently in good spirits, the juvenile porker was started out on a brisk tour of the town, followed by a large and constantly growing procession of automobiles, sprinters, long-distance runners, children and dogs, with the pig holding a comfortable lead on his pursuers all morning. It was learned the little animal belongs to the dentists' wife, who had won it as a prize at LeCenter, and had established comfortable quarters in the basement of her home for it, with visions of roast pork during the holiday season. The pig made a dash for freedom when a child in the family had left the basement door open.

ASTRONOMY AND THE BIBLE
GLORY PICTURES OF THE UNIVERSE!
A Popular Non-Technical Lecture on ASTRONOMY

Its Aim—To impress upon the minds the vastness of the unfathomable regions of space and to corroborate the Bible statement, "The Heavens declare the glory of God." Psalms 19:1.

One hundred of the latest photographs of the starry heavens taken through the telescopes of Heidelberg, Lick, Yerkes, and Mount Wilson observatories will be shown. Marvelous views revealing the entrancing glories in the amazing deeps of interstellar space. People who hear this lecture request that it be repeated. It has been given in Colleges, Churches, High Schools, Y. M. C. A.'s, and Theatres.

This lecture will be given by Professor M. N. Skadsheim of Grand Forks in the Methodist Church Sunday night.

Special Features: Some Christian University students and others will render a beautiful musical program beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Come early as seats will be at premium and standing room hard to find that night.

SUNDAY NIGHT, NOV. 8—7:30 IN THE METHODIST CHURCH
Corner of Conley Ave. and Bridge St., Thief River Falls, Minn.

WEEK NIGHT PROGRAMS BELOW

THE CENTRAL RADIO STATION OF THE UNIVERSE
What evidence do we actually possess that heaven can tune in and listen to human voices on earth? Don't fail to come and get that evidence.
Tuesday night, Nov. 10, 7:45 o'clock

HE PREACHED UNTO HIM —JESUS
The real experience of a seeker for truth portrayed. A true story that will strike a responsive cord in the hearts of young and old. James Ward.
Wednesday Night, Nov. 11 7:45 o'clock

THE VALUE OF A HUMAN SOUL
Men may know the value of material things, but—can you give the exact price the Creator has placed upon your soul? Don't fail to come and get the correct answer to this question.
Thursday Night, Nov. 12, 7:45 o'clock

Special Features: Before every lecture there will be given a varied program of beautiful gospel songs, solos and duets, readings, chalk talks, and beautiful stereopticon views.

All Are Cordially Invited; Seats Are Free!

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Corkscrew Logic

A Washington columnist in a syndicated article attempts to give the impression that bootleggers have disappeared. The writer says: "A good guess is that the majority have become lawabiding citizens, and now earn a livelihood as liquor salesmen, tavern keepers and bar tenders. Thus repeal has apparently made honest men of people whom the law once branded as crooks."

What an easy way to make good citizens—legalize their antisocial activities, and accept part of their ill-gotten gains as revenue! Why not legalize kidnaping and the sale of other narcotics? Think of the many good citizens we would gain—and the revenue!

But the fact is—even this compromising with evil has not ended bootlegging. This Washington columnist says, "Federal enforcement officers have reached the conclusion that the bootleggers of prohibition times are a vanished race." Only five days later, however, news dispatches from Washington said: "The treasury today threw 2,500 narcotic agents and law enforcement officials into a nation-wide drive against narcotics and illicit liquor. The drive was another in a series of nation-wide treasury moves against law violators." And the next day 1086 persons were reported as arrested on narcotics and liquor charges, customs agents alone having seized property valued at $152,000. "Large quantities of drugs, liquor and apparatus were taken by agents on other fronts," the dispatch read.

Repeal bootleggers are with us a-plenty. The attempt to paint repeal as anything other than a tragic failure cannot succeed.

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave,
When first we practice to deceive."

Proper Dish Washing Is Urged by the State Medical Association

A study made recently by public health officials shows conclusively that dishwashing often serves to spread bacteria on wishes and utensils instead of cleansing them.

This fact is noted in a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today to point out a common means of transferring infectious disease.

Specimens of dishwater, rinse water and swabs from dishes, glasses and silverware were analyzed from a large number of restaurants, lunch stands, soda fountains beer and liquor establishments. Some of the dishwashing was done with hot soapy water and some with cold. But in many cases the number of bacteria in the water as well as on the dishes remained high. The washing served only to remove a part of the food residue.

In the drinking places, glasses were merely rinsed in cold water, sometimes in a tub below the bar, and the glasses were contaminated anew each time they were rinsed.

Home dishwashing should be done with the utmost care to prevent the spread of infection from one member of the family to others. Clean cloths, hot soapy water and a rinse with uncontaminated scalding water are a real protection for the family against disease. The risks of contracting disease in public places would be greatly reduced if proper dishwashing methods were introduced in all restaurants and drinking places.

JOB REQUESTS AT N. R. S. OFFICES IN STATE DECLINE

Applications Shrink 46.8 Per Cent Compared to Year Ago

Activities of the National Reemployment Service during September were marked by another decrease in the number of new applications received and by an increase over August in the number of jobs filled in private industry. The volume of new applications in September of this year represented a 46.8% decrease over the number received in September 1935. The 7,739 jobs filled this September represent a 3.1% increase over the jobs filled in August and a 10.4% increase over the jobs filled in September 1935.

Activity in the solicitation of openings for private employers resulted in the receiving of 1,680 placements in private industry in September, a 38.1% increase over the same activity in August. During September, 1,249 "out of office" contacts with private employers were made by staff members of the service in the interests of securing employment in private industry.

During September, 5,814 placements were secured in public, prevailing wage employment. This represents a 1.2% increase in this type of placement over August. Placements on security wage projects declined to a point where they are now negligible in relation to the total placements secured.

A total of 65,900 men and women were represented by applications in the active files of the offices of the National Reemployment Service at the end of September. This represents a decrease of 2% over the August figures. Not all of this number are unemployed as the active files, in addition to including registrations of individuals unemployed, also include applications of those individuals working at security wages on works program projects, who presumably desire better employment, and also applications of employed individuals seeking better jobs or who are employed for a period of one week or less. During September of the 7,739 jobs secured, 823 were for women, and of the men placed 499 were veterans.

National comparisons made in September indicate that Minnesota, which ranks fifteenth in the nation in the number of applications appearing in the active file September 30, ranks eleventh in the total number of placements secured and eleventh in the number of private placements secured.

New Solem Township Resident Dies Nov. 2

Thosten Thompson Holten, well known farmer living west of Rosewood, died suddenly Monday afternoon, Nov. 2nd. Mr. Holten was born in Vangs, Valders, Norway on January 9th, 1865 and was at the time of his death 71 years old.

Mr. Holten came to America with his parents in 1866. The family settled in Goodhue county. Mr. Holten was married in 1894 to Miss Sigrid Erickson to which union two children were born. Mrs. Holten died in 1898.

In 1902 Mr. Holten moved to New Solem township Marshall county where he has resided since. In 1903 he was united in marriage to Annie Haugen to which union nine children were born.

He is survived now by his wife and 10 children: Mrs. J. K. Hollen, Northfield; Sigvart Holten, Cannon Falls; Theodore Holten, Northfield; Goodwin Holten, Farmington; and Eddlin, Inga, Alma, Bertha, Alice and Albin, all of Rosewood.

Mr. Holten was a member of the Rindal Lutheran church. Funeral services will be conducted there Saturday Nov. 7th at 2 p. m. Friends will meet at the home at 1:20. The pastor E. L. Tungseth will officiate.

Funeral Services Held Today for T. Gilbertson

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church in this city, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating, for Theodore Gilbertson, who died Sunday, Nov. 1, at his farm in Clover Leaf township. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Gilbertson was born in Sunburg, October 20, 1872. He was married at Sunburg to Beret Ellingson on Feb. 1, 1896. They moved from Sunburg to Brooten in 1897, and in 1904 moved again to Roseau county where they lived until 1910. In that year they moved to this city and four years later to Goodridge. Mr. Gilbertson operated a general merchandise store at Goodridge until 1932 when he and his family returned to Clover Leaf township near this city to make their home.

Surviving relatives are his wife, his three daughters, Mrs. Thelma Nelson of Red Wing, Mrs. Gulda Solheim of this city, Mrs. Emma Nelson of Brooten, his brother Olaus Gilbertson of Alberta, Can., and his sister Mrs. Geo. Buckstorff of Grafton. One daughter and one son preceded him in death.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Just another week and the first Minnesota show of 1937 models will be on. It's in our own town, so we will be there and so will you. We will be proud of our new models and so will you. Chrysler line is outstanding, with a New Chrysler Royal in the low priced field and it's the "Tops".

The 1937 Plymouth has met with unusual comments of public acceptance in our show room during the first two weeks we have now displayed, demonstrated and sold them. We hope to be able to save at least one from our Plymouth supply for the show next week.

We shall also show the new 1937 Nash-Lafayette "400" at the automobile show. This automobile is really a new kind of low-priced car. It's a bigger automobile in the low priced field. A beauty and a wonderful value.

USED AUTOMOBILES

In our recent trades we have added some great used car values in low priced cars and some later models. Here's the line-up:

1934 Plymouth 4 door DeLuxe Sedan
1934 Plymouth Business Coupe
Two 1934 Plymouth 2 door Sedans
Two 1929 Dodge 4 door Sedans
Two Model "A" Ford Sedans
1929 Plymouth 4 door sedan
Two 1926 Ford Coupes
1929 Whippet Sedan
1929 Buick Coupe
Others will be added soon.

USED TRUCKS

We have an exceptional bargain to offer in a "C1" International Panel truck. The one we have been using in our own sales and delivery. It is in perfect shape but not suited for our purpose. There is no beter truck bargain in its class.

We are also going to replace our big warehouse truck with the low type International truck that has the cab over the engine, just as soon as it is available. Our present big truck is in very fine condition. It's a "C35" 1½-2 ton with dual rear wheels and 160-inch wheelbase. To any one wanting a truck of this size, watch for this deal.

We have other truck bargains:
1934 International Pickup with stake bed.
1936 Ford "V-8" Pickup truck, just like new.
1929 Chevrolet with good box type bed.
1933 Chevrolet with dual wheels, long wheelbase and gravel box.
1932 Ford with duals and bed.
1930 Ford with bed.

Used cars and trucks take up room and this time of year we need space for storage and 1937 models now here means more trades most every day, so we are very sincere in stating our willingness to give special bargains in our used trucks and cars.

William Langer Leads in N. D. Governorship Race Over W. Welford

William Langer, long a dominant figure in North Dakota's political picture, apparently is headed back to the gubernatorial seat he was ousted from some two years ago.

With a surge of western rural votes favorable to him, reported late Wednesday from Tuesday's state-wide election, Langer swept aside the previous lead set up by Acting Governor Walter Welford and himself took the lead.

In the 2140 precincts reported Wednesday night, Lanager had 93,948 votes, compared to 92,504 for Welford, and 77,771 for John Moses, the Democratic candidate. Political observers said many of the unreported precincts were in admitted Langer territory.

Meanwhile the additional returns showed the definite defeat of Henry Holt of Grand Forks in his contest for congressman on the Democratic ticket, the incumbent Republicans—William Lemke and Usher L. Burdick—coming through with decisive pluralities.

Christina Martinson Dies Friday Morning

Mrs. Christina Martinson died at her home in the township of North Friday, October 30, at 8:15 a. m. She was seventy-five years of age at the time of her death.

Funeral services were held in the Chapel of the Erickson and Lund Funeral home Monday, Nov. 2, at one o'clock and at the Silver Creek Lutheran church at two o'clock, Reverend Hanson of Holt officiated, and burial was in the Silver Creek cemetery.

Mrs. Martinson was born in Malmahusland, Sweden, March 19, 1861. She came from Sweden to Grove City, in 1888, and later lived at Lake Lillian and Atwater. She was married at Atwater Nov. 5, 1890 to John Martinson. In 1904 they moved to Excel township, Marshall county, where she lived until three weeks ago, when she moved to the township of North.

She is survived by her son Morris of North township, and her sister Elna and her brother Nels Okeson, both of Sweden. Her husband, her parents, and one brother preceded her in death.

Ethel Parnow of Erie Wins Essay Contest

Miss Ethel Parnow of Erie, a graduate of Lincoln high school, won first prize, $15 in cash, in a Townsend essay contest sponsored by the Officers association of the Townsend club of Fargo, and participated in by NDAC students, and students in business colleges and professional schools of Cass county. Miss Parnow is a student at a Fargo business college. Prize winners were announced at a Townsend mass meeting Sunday afternoon in the Fargo high school auditorium.

The contest essays were written on the Townsend plan, the title being "What is the Townsend Plan and How Will It Benefit the People of the United States of America when it Becomes a Law."

Miss Parnow spoke at a meeting of Townsend club No. 1 Tuesday evening at the Interstate Business college.

Rites Conducted for Rubin Burstad, Age 3

Funeral rites were held November 4 at the Ecklund church near Erie, Rev. Bjorgan of Goodridge officiating, for Rubin Burstad, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Burstad of Star township, Erie, who died October 31 in a local hospital. Interment was made in the Ecklund cemetery.

Young Rubin is survived by his parents, a brother Robert, and two sisters Ruby and Eunice. He was born March 31, 1933 in Star township.

Fred Bjornson Is Given Harvester Co. Promotion

Fred Bjornson, who has had charge of International truck sales in this locality, this week was promoted to the post of block man in this territory for the International Harvester company. He succeeds M. J. Fuller, who has been transferred to the Grand Forks district.

PRESIDENTIAL VOTE INTERESTS CHICKENS

Graham.—Even chickens took an interest in this year's presidential election, and there is evidence of one hen supporting the republican party. Henry Halverson of East Stanchfield became a bit suspicious of the political creed of his leghorn hens a week before election when one of them produced an egg on the shell of which appeared the replica of a sunflower. From all appearances, it seemed that at least this one had turned definitely Landonite. It is not only the Kansas biddies who branded their eggs with sunflowers.

Growing With Your Child

What Phyllis is Learning

"Phyllis, come out of the water now!" The voice of Phyllis's mother echoed along the sunny, sandy beach where a number of little children were enjoying their play in the lake before lunch. The laughter and shouts of the children continued. Whether four-year-old Phyllis had even heard her mother was debatable, but if she had she paid no attention whatever.

In a few minutes the call came again. This time Mrs. Brown dropped her knitting and turned away from the friend with whom she was chatting, to say in a slightly irritated tone, "She's been in the water long enough! She'll be all shivers and goose-flesh if she stays in another minute." Then, raising her voice sharply, she called again, "Phyllis, do you hear me? Come out of the water! It's nearly time for lunch."

This time the child did hear; for she turned her head and called back, "In a minute!" but as the minutes went by, she made no move to withdraw from the group who were splashing and shrieking at the water's edge, absorbed in watching their little boats ride the waves.

All in all, more than a half hour elapsed before Phyllis sulkily and unwillingly followed her mother up the bank to the cottage. That afternoon, the scene was repeated, and the same performances, almost to the letter, was put on every day of the two weeks' stay the mother and little girl made at the lake. In other connections, too, the same long-drawn-out pleading, coaxing, ineffectual method seemed to be the rule; whether it was about going to bed, coming in to meals, or any other of the day's activities.

What deplorable habits were creeping into Phyllis's life! Without books or a schoolroom she was nevertheless being educated just as surely as though set and formal lessons were being hammered into her day after day, at meal, and play, and bed-hours. Her mother, by her lack of any consistent plan of getting the child to do what had to be done, was developing these habits in her helpless child.

1.—Inattention and lack of concentration. No effort was being made to gain Phyllis' attention before a suggestion or request was made. The mother who gets her child's attention, by one means or another, before giving a command will be rewarded by greater cooperation on the child's part.

THERE WAS AN ELECTION

Well it's all over now but the shouting, and when a victory is as one sided as this one was, of course there is a lot of shouting. And that's one nice thing about a one sided election. When the results are close only half the people are satisfied. This way, however, only a few of us shed tears.

Roosevelt's victory did not surprise us. We did hope, and believed, that the count would be close. The fact that it was so one sided, therefore, was a surprise to us. We would feel better about the results if the administration were opposed by a strong minority to give the much needed balance to representative government. That balance will now have to come from within the Democratic party itself.

From some angles perhaps the one sided victory is a fortunate thing. During the next few years Roosevelt will be confronted with problems a great deal more difficult than those he has faced in the past. Some of the solutions to those problems will not be popular. We all love a cheerful giver. And the administration has won the love of the people by giving cheerfully. But now we are approaching the time when it will become necessary to reverse the flow of money. Instead of going out it will have to start coming in. And in handling this difficult problem Roosevelt will need all of the popularity that was so evident in the election returns. It will require a wise as well as a benevolent leader to pilot the ship of state through the troubled waters of the next few years and Roosevelt, with the confidence of the crew, is in a better position to steer the ship wisely than would be a leader who did not have that confidence. In other words the election was an overwhelming vote of confidence in Roosevelt himself and the record of the next few years will depend largely upon Roosevelt's personal administration of our national government.

The results of the state election are less easy to understand. Farmer-Laborites themselves did not expect so sweeping a victory. Benson had never been before the voters before and Nelson had made a strong run against Olson two years ago. The Roosevelt tie-up must have been a big factor in the Farmer-Labor victory. Regan evidently was unable to deliver his block of Democratic votes to Nelson and Christianson. The results indicate that where the Democrats had no candidates of their own to vote for they voted for the Farmer-Laborites. Evidently the Wolf strategy was justified.

At any rate the prospects for the Republican party in the state of Minnesota are now less bright than they have been at any time in recent years. Whatever the sins of the Farmer-Labor party may have been in the past, Benson will be given an opportunity to prove himself good or bad by his own administration. With reasonably good breaks he will have a fair chance to be re-elected two years from now. But that is getting too far into the future and the future is always uncertain.

For the present Minnesota will continue to be governed by the Farmer-Laborites. Their right to rule cannot be questioned. The majority is clear-cut. In Minnesota, however, the minority is still strong enough to make itself felt in directing the affairs of the state and there at least will be an occasional argument about policies, principles and performances. Which is always a healthy condition.

And so, with the election out of the way, we can settle down to routine chores again. And who is there that will not now heave a sigh of relief and be glad that a regular program of entertainment can be enjoyed at the radio without running into dry as dust discourses on uninteresting subjects by long winded politicians. And before something is said about editorial writers who see all, hear all and invariably are wrong, we'll sign off for two more years.

Every tomorrow has two handles. We can take hold of it with the handle of anxiety or the handle of faith.—H. W. Beecher.

Russia is getting publicity on a double wheat crop in one year. The first crop on a twenty acre experimental plot was seeded in March and harvested in July. The second crop was seeded immediately after the first one was harvested and has matured, according to reports. Maybe that's a little better than we did here in Pennington county but we did get a double crop of oats this year and on only one planting. Which reads good, but unfortunately the double crop still didn't make one good single crop.

Another Red Cross drive gets under way next week and, as usual, deserves the support of our people. In recent years the Red Cross organization has been supplanted to a large extent by government agencies. This undoubtedly has been made necessary by the extent of the relief problems with which the country has been confronted. But now that we are approaching a normal condition again the need for the Red Cross will increase. The organization has done splendid work in the past and will no doubt serve a useful purpose in the future. Your spare dime or dollar goes to a good cause when it helps to maintain this original emergency relief organization.

One thing that makes it easy for us to feel good about the Democratic victory is the realization that now we can be sure Andy Anderson will be postmaster another four years. During the last few months Andy has carried a heavy load. Day in and day out he has waged a terrific battle in defense of the New Deal. His opponents in these battles have been a most unreasonable group. And now that the struggle is over we rejoice with him in his victory and congratulate ourselves on being assured that for a few more years at least we are going to have first class service at the post office.

FEDERAL RESERVE "PROFITS"

(Belle Plaine Herald)

We frequently note an item to the effect that the local National bank is changing over to a State bank. When one inquires the reason, it invariably is because a bank operating under a State charter need not belong to the Federal Reserve system. The public may have the idea that it is very profitable to a bank to be a member of the Federal reserve system, but bankers are always puzzled when they hear that statement. Actually it is the other way around, and since profitable operation is a necessity for every solvent bank, we observe a gradual increase in the number of State bank charters and a lessening in the number of National bank charters.

THE REWARD OF SOLEMNITY

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Once Tom Corwin stood observing a youthful speaker who was trying to get a hand from his listeners by joking with them. After the young fellow finished, the Buckeye statesman went up to him and said: "Don't do it, my boy. You should remember the crowd always looks up to the ring-master and down on the clown. It resents that which amuses. The clown is the more clever fellow of the two, but he is despised. If you would succeed in life you must be solemn, solemn as an ass. All the great monuments of earth have been built over solemn asses."

Did you know that nine of our 32 presidents of the United States never saw a railway train? Ten knew nothing of the relief gained through anesthesia? Twenty of the 32 never talked over a telephone? Twenty-two of the 32 never read by the light of an electric lamp? Twenty-three never rode in a trolley car propelled by electricity? Twenty-four never saw an automobile? Twenty-four of the 32 never saw a moving picture? Twenty-eight never listened to a radio? Twenty-nine of the 32 presidents never rode in an airplane?—Waseca Journal.

Not all persons realize the extent of Minnesota's tourist business. A survey just completed reveals that tourist trade so far in 1936 has brought $85,000,000 to the state. We are apt to think of California and Florida as the "tourist" states, but it is evident that Minnesota has possibilities. Thousands of people come here to enjoy our lakes and forests during the summer season.—Long Prairie Leader.

It is encouraging to note that the realities of life do not change through the ages. The precepts that were valid a thousand years ago are so today. We do not need any new philosophies. To be honest, kind, humble, generous, reverent—these are still the great virtues. The same God still guides the destinies of men, and the human heart still hungers for the enduring virtues and valours of eternity.—Larry Ho.

Generally speaking the great achieve their greatness by industry rather than by mere brilliance.—Bruce Barton.

Your manners will depend very much upon the quality of what you frequently think on; for the soil is tinged and colored with the complexion of thought.—Marcus Aurelius.

THANKS TO YOU ALL

At this time we wish to extend a word of thanks to the people of our county for the splendid vote given to the Farmer-Labor candidates in this county. To the County Committee, to the various precinct captains, and their committees and workers, we especially want to extend our thanks. After all the splendid result of the election in this county, and in the entire state of Minnesota is due to the splendid work of the various county committees, the precinct captains and their workers, and could not have been accomplished without them.

Now that the election is over let us all forget any feeling or bitterness that may have been aroused by the great struggle. What we need now for a time is peace and rest and quiet. Let us all go to work and forget about political campaigns for a time at least. I am confident that all the elected Farmer-Labor officials will do their level best to give the state a good, efficient, sane and progressive administration for the benefit of all of the people of the state as a whole. Let us now give to all of our elected officials regardless of party, our united co-operation and support in the administration of the affairs of state.

With sincere thanks to all both workers and voters who helped to make the victory possible,

Sincerely yours,
PENNINGTON COUNTY FARMER-LABOR ASSOCIATION,

Campaign Manager.

REEMPLOYMENT ITEMS

Interviewer, E. R. Stangbelle

The local NRS office has just received notice of a standing order for wood mill workers. These openings are with one of the largest sash and door factories in the world. Persons with at least three years' experience in Sash and Door Mill work should contact the local office for further details.

This is the first time in two years that August private placements have topped July's for the national system of United States Employment offices.

The National Reemployment Service in Minnesota for the month of August registered 4,877 new applicants; filled 7,494 openings from an active file of 67,265 registered applicants.

Dozens of persons who are anxiously waiting to get odd jobs such as putting on storm windows, doing odd repair jobs, shoveling snow and in general getting ready for winter, can quickly and conveniently be secured by telephoning 411, the local NRS Office.

The National Reemployment office will not be open for business on Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. E. [illegible]

Origin of City's Name

We offer here another version of the source of the name of Thief River Falls written many years ago by W. C. Smiley:

Let no one point the finger of scorn at Thief River. It is an ancient name, hoary with the traditions of centuries, and was, without doubt, the proper title of this stream before Columbus discovered the new world. The first white men who set foot in this region found the lake and river so called and learned the Indian tradition of the origin of the name, learned how a grim Sioux murderer, long before his tribe had been driven out by the Chippewas, had concealed himself in the vicinity of this river, and, for years, lived an outlaw's life of pillage and robbery, defying capture though surrounded by enemies.

About the year 1750 the Chippewas (Ojibways) drove the Sioux (Dakotas) out of Northern Minnesota, although for years thereafter, bands of Sioux warriors continued to roam this country as far east as Red Lake and to give battle to their hereditary enemies. The Chippewas translated the name into their own language but retained the meaning.

During this time the agents of the Hudson Bay company penetrated into this region and in 1800, Alexander Henry, a fur trader, writes of "Lac aux Voleurs" and "River aux Voleurs;" that is in French, "Lake and River of Thieves."

Major S. H. Long, of the United States army, in 1823 headed an expedition which explored the Red River as far north as Winnipeg. On the map accompanying his report of this journey he notes: "Thief R.", probably the first time the name was set down in the English language. Mr. Long did not, himself, see the river. This was left for an adventurous young man named Beltrami, Italian by birth, French by adoption and wanderer by choice, who deserted the party at about the location of the present town of Hallock, and struck across country, alone, to Thief River, which he descended in a canoe to the site of this city, Thief River Falls. Thence following up Red Lake River he crossed lower Red Lake, ascended Mud river to Mud lake and portaged to a little lake which he believed to be the source of the Mississippi and which he believed to be the source of the Mississippi and which he named, in honor of his sweetheart in far off France, "Lake Julia". Thence following the Turtle lakes and river he paddled down to Cass lake and from there followed the Mississippi back to Fort Snelling. Lake Julia still bears that name and this group of lakes is called the "Julien sources" of the Mississippi.

Beltrami, in his book "Pilgrimages in Europe and America", tells of this trip and mentions "Robber river (called Wamans Watpa, by the Sioux and Pewisei sibi by the Cypowais), so denominated because one of the Sioux, in his flight from the vengeance which had been denounced against him for murder, kept himself concealed, and robbed on this spot for many years, escaping the observation of his persecutors and enemies, by whom he was completely surrounded." The modern Chippewa name is Kemotake o cape. Kemota meaning "steal", Kemotake "thief" and cape "river."

From time to time persons have arisen among us who have clamored for a change of this name. To some it seems entirely too suggestive of the wild and wooly west to be a proper title for an honest, lawabiding community. However, so long as Chicago prospers and grows apace in spite of its name, which is just plain Chippewa for "skunk", we feel that old Thief River Falls can also under its ancient title.

While the source is little different from the generally accepted one on the surface, a study of the circumstances in each case and the meaning of the word in the two cases reveals considerable difference. In fact, the Smiley version interprets the original Indian name as having an even stronger meaning than the unpopular term, "thief". From the standpoint of historical accuracy we are inclined to give this version careful consideration, for that other story about the entire band of Sioux hiding along Thief River does not sound so probable. But we do not understand clearly the necessity of translating from the Sioux in the Chippewa. In the first place, we do not see that the former would so label one of their band, even though there were a renegade and in the second place we think the Chippewa would be likely to originate their own name in such a case. Here the Smiley sketch may be in error.

But it is gratifying to be able to sift the facts in the case, for some time the source of the city's name may assume significant proportions. We do not know of any other probable sources, so it would appear that the solution lies between these two accounts.

Dated November 3, 1936.

ANDREW BOTTELSON,
Probate Judge.
(Court Seal)
H. O. Berve,
Attorney for Petitioner,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

UNCONTROLLED TRUCK DASHES THROUGH TOWN

Chaska.—Three persons had a rendezvous with death last week in a wild ride through Chaska, pushed by the inertia of almost 28,000 pounds and without the aid of brakes. It was a breath-taking ride for the trio, who escaped without injury. The trailer of a truck had been loaded with eight tons of feed, seed, and flour in Minneapolis and the driver, his wife and assistant driver headed for Marshall. When they reached the top of Chaska hill on No. 41, the driver shifted from high into third and applied the hydraulic brakes. Half way down the hill a part on the brakes broke, the fluid shot out and the load started speeding down hill. The electric brakes were applied on the trailer, but soon failed. Then the emergency brake was thrown on, but the momentum of the great load kept the truck rolling and the friction of the brakes started a fire. Flames shot up into the cab through the floor and came within inches of a 50 gallon gasoline tank. The speedometer climbed from 30 to 35, to 40, to 45, to 60, and no one knows how much higher. The truck and van shot across the trunk highway intersection at terrific speed. It sped across the railroad tracks on which a train had passed only a few minutes before. The dash ended without injury to anyone when the driver took a chance on striking an upgrade pulling the truck to the curb in front of a store, where the front wheels climbed the curb and came within five feet of crashing into the store front.

Many Fail to Make Wills

TAMED CROW SPEAKS, LAUGHS, DOES TRICKS

Buffalo Lake.—A tame crow which talks, laughs, sneezes and performs queer stunts is an interesting pet possessed by the Wiggert family in Buffalo Lake. One of the amusing things about the bird, six years old, is the fact that it can enunciate words clearly. The sound is made by peculiar movements of the neck and tongue, although the tongue is not split. The bird, taken from a nest and tamed by Mr. Wiggert, says, "Polly, Harold and Hello", sneezes and laughs and plays foolish tricks on people. On one occasion the crow followed children to school, riding three miles into the country on the rear axle of a truck. When the truck stopped, Polly, the crow, flew down, said, "hello" and laughed heartily.

Trade Dispute

In the Middle ages the work of barbers and apothecaries overlapped and there was much argument between the two. The French hit upon the expedient of putting those in one trade into long robes and the other into short robes, which worked for a while.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 2, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Livestock receipts here and at other midwestern markets were very sharply reduced at this week's opening, and trade interests anticipated relatively small runs during the next few days with the result that prices shot upward in all divisions. Slaughter steers and yearlings and also she stock sold strong to 25c higher, and bulls and stock cattle steady to strong. Short-fed steers and yearlings earned $7.25-8.50, with choice lightweights quitable up toward $10.25. Grassy and warmed-up butchers made $5.00-7.00, grassy heifers $4.50-5.50, very thin sorts $3.25-4.25, medium to good shortfeds $6.00-8.00, cutter and low cutter cows $3.00-3.75, butcher cows $4.00-4.50, and fat cows $4.65-5.65. Sausage bulls sold up to $5.00, good beef bulls to $5.50. Medium to good vealer earned $6.00-8.00, choice sorts $8.50-9.00, and grassy killer calves $3.50-5.00. Plain light stockers went at $3.50-4.50, medium to good steers $4.75-6.75.

An advance of 10c on sows and butcher hogs ranging 190 lbs. upward placed better 190-300 lb. butchers at $9.00-9.20 and sows scaling 450 lbs. downward at $8.10-8.75. Barrows and gilts scaling under 190 lbs. sold 25c higher, better 160-190 lb. averages making $8.75-9.18, 140-160 lb. $8.00-9.00, and 100-140 lb. killers $6.60-8.50.

Fat lambs sold active today at $8.75-9.00 and the bulk brought $8.85-8.90. Common to medium lambs turned at $6.00-7.50, most slaughter ewes at $2.00-3.50, and plain to choice 54-62 lb. white-faced feeding lambs at $5.00-7.50.

Cave of Mummies Discovered

In limestone caves of the coastal mountains of New Guinea rows of mummies of men, their chins on their hands, their elbows on their knees, have been discovered. They are believed to be 1,000 years old. The caves are near the strip of coast administered by the Australian government. Almost at the time of the discovery a party of explorers stumbled on a valley populated by a hitherto unknown people who had dwelt there when the mummies were living men. Until the mummies were found there was no evidence that New Guinea tribes preserved their dead.

An Oxbow Lake

An oxbow lake is a stagnant lake formed in abandoned river beds when a river cuts through the neck of one of the meanders or loops characteristic of the course of rivers of slow current. Without outlet or inlet, the oxbow lake, sometimes called a bayou, often becomes a marsh or swamp and finally disappears.

1937 CHEVROLET TO MAKE ITS BOW IN CITY SATURDAY

Local Dealers Entertain Patrons at Election Night Party Tuesday

The new 1937 Chevrolet models will make their appearance in Thief River Falls Saturday, November 7, it was announced today by Frank Rinkel of the Northern Chevrolet company, local dealers. He added that coffee will be served to visitors during the afternoon.

Advance reports indicate that the 1937 Chevrolet is much improved both mechanically and in respect to the appearance and comfort of the car. In addition to refinements in body lines and wider seats, the car has a new valve-in-head engine.

The local agency was host Tuesday evening to a large gathering at an election night movie party in its show rooms. Included in the pictures shown were films dealing with safe driving as well as comedy and stunt films.

Shirley Temple Coming to Avalon Next Sunday in New Film "Dimples"

Singing and dancing her way into popular affection, Shirley Temple, diminutive movie star, will appear at the Avalon theatre in her latest film, "Dimples", Sunday and Monday, with a midnight show Saturday. An exceptional cast, headed by Frank Morgan, supports Shirley in the film, with Helen Westley, Robert Kent and Stepin Fetchit prominently featured. The picture tells the story of a lovable little street minstrel, Shirley, and her guardian, Frank Morgan.

Swedes Get Second Place on State Population Map

If you must know who's who in Minnesota, it's the descendants of Germany on the Rhine. The boasted numerosity of the Swedes, while no means a myth, is a mere 270,773 as compared with 327,785 Germans. Norway's sons and daughters cast 267,912 shadows across the Gopher landscape. These enlightening facts are set forth with their still more enlightening details in "Population Trends in Minnesota," Bulletin 327 of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, written by R. W. Murchie and M. E. Jarchow, rural sociologist.

The figures quoted are from the 1930 census and their descendants numbering 166,149; total Scandinavian, 684,905; French, 53,807; Slavs, 209,300; all other whites, 31,614, making a total of 1,424,657 foreign born and native born of foreign parents. The state's population in 1930 included 1,114,310 native persons of native born parents or a grand total white population of 2,538,973.

The local Gamble store, housed for the past several years in the Masonic block on Main av., will move December 1 into new quarters in the former Lyceum theatre building on LaBree av., which is now being completely reconstructed, it was announced today by Ralph McCain, Gamble store manager. The store's new home is being rebuilt into a two-story structure with four modern apartments on the second floor and with an attractive front of light red face brick. The new tenant for the Masonic block has not yet been announced.

Emil Morberg Elected to State Legislature From Marshall County

Emil Morberg, Farmer-Labor endorsed candidate for the state legislature from Marshall county, was elected by a margin of 86 votes over Carl A. Johnson Tuesday in an exceedingly close race on the basis of unofficial returns released this morning by County Auditor Levi Johnson at Warren. The total vote was: Morberg, 3,143; Johnson, 3,057. When half of the precincts in the county had reported, Johnson, independent candidate for representative, was leading by approximately 100 votes.

TURKEY DRESSING
Is Now in Full Swing

Where growers are picking out just their best birds for this market, their quality is fine. So we would advise being careful in selecting birds you are marketing now. Keep birds that are not fat for the Christmas market. It will pay you to do so. Market your turkeys on the down-payment plan where you have the chance to get what the market warrants for your turkeys.

You will find our handling of turkeys will meet with your entire satisfaction.

Have you listed your turkeys for dressing? If not, we would advise doing so to avoid delay when you come in. November 14th is the last day.

AUDITOR SENSTAD GETS ALLOTMENT OF DEER LICENSES

Big Game Hunting Season to Open November 15 for Eleven Days

With the deer season in Minnesota set for November 15 to 25 inclusive, County Auditor A. M. Senstad announced today that big game licenses are now available at his office. The fee is $2 for the license and 25 cents for the seal.

Several nearby counties are this year included in the territory where hunting will be permitted, among them Marshall and Kittson counties east of the old Pembina ridge; Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Beltrami and Clearwater. Other open counties are Koochiching, Cook, St. Louis, Hubbard, Cass, Itasca, Crow Wing, Aitkin, Kanabec, Pine, Carlton and Becker east of the Soo Line tracks.

Fawns are protected in all counties during the coming hunting season, the state game and fish commission announced. It was stated that checking stations will be established at all points of travel in the open counties, and hunters will be asked to report their success and to permit certain measurements to be made of deer taken. Hunters will also be asked to report the approximate number of deer seen, the number of days spent in hunting and the distance covered.

ROY LAMBERT TO OPEN DRUG STORE IN DETROIT LAKES

Former Local Pharmacist to Open for Business Saturday

Roy Lambert, for the past twenty years the proprietor of a drug store in Thief River Falls, whose business was taken over some time ago by the J. & B. drug store, is the owner of a new pharmacy which will formally open for business in Detroit Lakes Saturday, November 7, says the Detroit Lakes Record.

Mr. Lambert is known to many people in Detroit Lakes. A graduate of the pharmacy college of the University of Minnesota, he worked in the Carman & Christensen Pharmacy during the winter of 1900 and moved to Thief River Falls in 1910.

Mr. Lambert's wife is the former Miss Gladys Bush of Detroit Lakes, daughter of the Mr. and Mrs. George Bush. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert and son, George, have been making their home in the city for several months.

All fixtures and equipment being installed in the Lambert Drug Store are new. Booths and stools are being installed for the soda fountain service. Though sole owner of the new drug store, Mr. Lambert will use the Walgreen merchandising system. Assisting Mr. Lambert will be Henry Winch of Grafton, N. Dak., formerly of Thief River Falls.

ANDY URAM

Whose triple-threat abilities have made him the logical successor to Pug Lund and George Roscoe at Minnesota's all-important left halfback position. He first came into prominence in the 1935 Minnesota-Michigan game when he scored two touchdowns on 55 and 72 yard runs. His average yardage in 1935 was 7 yards every time he carried the ball. Recently, he carried the ball 79 yards to give Minnesota a 7-0 win over Nebraska. Uram is a consistent punter and an effective passer. He is five feet, 11 inches in height and weighs just over 170 pounds. Uram played a conspicuous part in Saturday's game at Evanston where, playing on a rain-soaked field the Gophers, after 21 victories in a row, went down to defeat at the hands of Northwestern University by a score of 6 to 0.

WPA Project Will be Closed Armistice Day

WPA projects in Pennington County will not be operated on Armistice day, Nov. 11. Word to this effect was received early this week by Merle Webb, engineer in charge of operations in Pennington County, from the district office of J. B. Kovarik, district director, to whom instructions were given by Victor Christgau, state administrator. Arrangements will be made on each project, Mr. Christgau said, so that this lost time may be made up and thus enable all project workers to receive full pay.

PHEASANTS PLENTIFUL IN WESTERN COUNTIES

Reports received by the division of game and fish indicate that pheasants are very plentiful in counties in the west central portion of the state in which the longer open season is in effect. This section of the state was not so severely affected by the heavy snows and blizzards last winter and bird loss was relatively small. Counties in which the pheasant season remains open until November 13 are: Wilkin, Ottertail, Traverse, Grant, Douglas, Pope, Stevens, Big Stone, Swift, Chippewa, Lac Qui Parle, and Yellow Medicine.

STATE FARMERS MAKE BIG SAVING THRU LAND BANK

Obtain Gross Interest Saving of $3,662,000 This Year

Minnesota farmers who have refinanced their debts through the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul will profit by a gross interest saving of $3,662,000 for the year 1936, a statement today from Roy A. Nelson, president of the bank, revealed. As nearly as can be estimated, says Nelson, this benefit will be divided among the owners of 36,000 farms.

Through rewriting former mortgages with the land bank in the Farm Credit Administration's seventh district, according to the bank's executive, the difference in interest rates yields an annual saving of $1,940,000 to borrowers in this state. Because Congress has temporarily further lowered the interest rate to 3½ per cent, to remain in effect until July 1, 1937, an additional saving this year of $1,722,000 goes to borrowers in Minnesota.

"The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul and the Land Bank Commissioner have loans on 17.8 per cent of Minnesota's 203,300 farms," said President Nelson. "These loans represent 12.6 per cent of the total value of all farm property in the state as determined by the census of 1935 and 39 per cent of the state's total farm mortgage debt. In 1935 the census estimated the debt at $435,730,000."

Latest computation of the land bank's statisticians shows that on September 30 the bank had outstanding in Minnesota 30,166 loans for a total of $119,415,000; also 23,584 Land Bank Commissioner loans representing the disbursement of $53,603,000.

East Grand Forks Sugar Plant Volume Declines

Except for a few carloads of sugar beets still remaining in the fields, deliveries of this year's crop to the American Crystal Sugar Co. Factory in East Grand Forks had been completed Saturday night.

The 1936 crop fell considerably short of last year's output but for some time to come will keep the factory at near capacity in its sugar manufacturing operations.

Loaded on the Dakota division of the Great Northern railroad was a total of slightly more than 1,000 carloads of beets during the present season, as compared with a total of 1,759 cars in 1935.

GAME HUNTERS WARNED AGAINST SHOOTING ELK

Several game wardens will be stationed near the Red Lake refuge during the deer season to warn hunters that they may encounter elk that have strayed from the refuge. Employees of the state forest service recently counted 31 elk in territory outside the northwest corner of the Red Lake refuge. Last year 27 elk were transferred from Itasca Park to the refuge, and they appear to be thriving.

NASH-LAFAYETTE 1937 MODELS OUT

Bigger and roomier and designed to the public taste in streamlined beauty, three new series of Nash-LaFayette automobiles were announced today for 1937. C. Gustafson & Sons are local dealers.

The three series announced by the Nash Motor Company are:

The Nash Ambassador Eight, aristocratic leader of the Nash line, built on a 125 inch wheelbase, powered by the Nash eight cylinder, valve-in-head, twin ignition motor which develops 105 horsepower, and fitted with luxurious appointments. Base price of this series is only $885.

The Nash Ambassador Six, generously designed on a 121 inch wheelbase, equipped with the Nash six cylinder, valve-in-head, 93 horsepower, twin ignition engine, and, like its companion Ambassador, a quality built car. This series has a base price of $785.

The Nash LaFayette-"400" with a 117 inch wheelbase, 90 horsepower Monitor-Sealed motor, a bigness and roominess rare in automobiles of the lowest price field, and appointments in keeping with the high Nash standard. Base price is $595.

Although all of the 1937 Nash offerings are readily recognized as members of the Nash family, each has distinguishing characteristics.

The Nash Ambassador Eight and the Nash Ambassador Six are identical in many respects. Radiator ornaments and treatment of headlamps, however, give different front end appearance, while treatment in decoration of the trunk in the rear also makes for ease of identification.

1937 DE SOTO IS SMARTLY STYLED

An entirely new De Soto, incorporating design, engineering and mechanical changes that include a completely new engine, added safety features, cushioned riding qualities and soundproofing thru the use of new insulation, was announced this week by the Taxeraas Implement company, local dealers.

Priced for a market treble the one tapped in 1936, officials of the De Soto Division of the Chrysler Corporation revealed plans for a volume production program.

The new De Soto is wider and longer than before. It has a simplicity of line with smart flowing curves and contours leading a definite smartness to the styling from front to back bumper.

Its distinctive front and features a radiator grille made up of horizontal chromium bars that sweep back along the hood to form the louvres of the car. A ribbon of body coloring, carrying the name "De Soto" in gold, block letters, divides the grille in the center.

The new De Soto has an overall length of 190 inches on a wheel-base of 116 inches. It will be offered in nine body models including a four-door touring sedan with trunk, a four-door sedan with luggage compartment, a two-door touring brougham with trunk, a two-door brougham with luggage compartment, a business coupe with rumble seat, a convertible sedan and a seven-passenger sedan.

'37 DODGE BOASTS VARIED FEATURES

The 1937 Dodge line to be on display at the automobile show here next week, reveals an array of interesting features, according to Borchert & Johnson, local dealers.

Ten body styles will be available—business, rumble seat and convertible coupes; two-door sedan and two-door touring sedan; four-door sedan, four-door touring sedan and convertible sedan; seven passenger touring sedan and limousine.

While the touring sedans are equipped with built-in trunks, the sedans have gracefully slanting lids in the rear body sections through which access is gained to roomy tire and luggage spaces. In coupe models, spare tires are carried back of folding seats.

The bodies of the 1937 Dodge line are entirely new; they are of all-steel construction, including the roofs which are integral with the remainder of the bodies. Not overly conspicuous yet sure to be appreciated in rainy weather are drip mouldings sweeping over door and window openings.

REDUCED PRICES ON 1937 BUICK

A series 40 special four-door five passenger sedan with large luggage compartment, listing at the factory at $845, features the Buick price structure for 1937, according to factory lists on the new models. The Wiener Body and Fender Works are local dealers.

This is a reduction of $10 under the factory list of $855 carried on the series 40 special four-door sedan of 1936. At the same time, a corresponding body model in the Buick series 60 Century cars is priced at the factory for 1937 at $1,035, representing a reduction from the corresponding 1936 Century model of $56.

The new series 40 special sedan, which has a tapered back housing the luggage compartment, carries the lowest price ever placed on a sedan model by this company, Mr. Perry said.

Base price of the new Buick cars is $765 list at the factory for the two passenger business coupe. Price reductions ranging from $20 to $55 were effective in all models of the series 60 Century cars. Prices were upped on five models of the two Buick de luxe lines, the series 80 Roadmaster and the series 90 limited, in keeping with custom built features incorporated in these models.

LINCOLN-ZEPHYR SHOWN NEXT WEEK

The "first anniversary" series of Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars for 1937 will be on display at the automobile show in this city November 13 to 14. Lund & Tunberg, local Ford dealers, are agents for the Lincoln-Zephyr.

Just one year old and with a successful year's record written since its maiden bow to the public last autumn, the Lincoln-Zephyr, representative of the Ford Motor Company and the Lincoln Motor Company in the medium-price field, enters its second year with important improvements which are expected to substantially widen its appeal. There are four body types, including a new three-passenger coupe.

Although basically, the 1937 Lincoln-Zephyr is the "car of the future" announced a year ago, the first anniversary models have substantially smarter appearance and pleasing improvements in interior treatment. Also, as a result of the "road" experience of some 15,000 enthusiastic owners during the past year, a few minor mechanical refinements have been made. Most important among these are a newly-designed luggage compartment reached through the rear deck hatch and a new steering system intended to further facilitate steering and parking.

The new cars continue to pioneer the Ford-Lincoln conception of advanced motor car engineering. They retain the exclusive Lincoln-Zephyr all-steel welded "bridge truss" design with its popular streamlines; the 110 horsepower V-12 engine and the superbly engineered running gear which contributes so much to the car's unusually comfortable riding qualities and ease of handling.

Still the most completely streamlined car built in production volume, the changes for 1937 noticeably enhance its smart exterior appearance and the beauty of its interior treatment.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

'LUMBERJACKS' TOPPLE LOCALS FRIDAY 13-6

Prowlers Make Numerous Threats But Capitalize Only in First Quarter

In the most desperately fought football game this season has known, the mighty avalanche of Bemidji's Lumberjacks conquered the bejeweled Prowlers, 13 to 6, last Friday evening and thereby carved out a clearcut highway to the northwestern Minnesota football championship beyond any argument or any doubt.

In the picturesque Bemidji Teachers College football grounds, a crowd of wildly excited fans witnessed one of the greatest high school football games ever played in the 60 year history of the nation's finest school sport.

This tense crowd saw a 60 minute swirl of action that no other game has even approached in this annual clash of two sectional teams. Terrific line play by fast young giants—hard driving and elusive running backs, forward passing that electrified the packed stand, especially by Bemidji, hard blocking and even harder tackling, magnificent kicking, despite a hard lake breeze, turned this climax game of 1936 into a combination of all-around skill and drama no other game could produce.

The Prowlers took the lead in the first quarter when they scored on Coach Lee's pet play with Hill carrying the ball. Adkins' kick was wide and the score remained 6 to 0. The gigantic 'Jacks thundered down the field with a murderous fury in reply to this unexpected Prowler outburst. The deadly Bemidji passing attack functioned and resulted in a touchdown by Lippincott on the receiving end of a completed forward pass. Milt Nesse blocked the attempted placement. The quarter ended with the score knotted, 6 to 6.

The rangy Lumberjack line rushed through to block Nesse's punt in the second quarter and then advanced the oval to the Prowlers ten yard strip where another completed aerial to Clark gave the Lumberjacks another six points. Olson replaced Clark at fullback to plunge over for the thirteenth point. Roger Wessling, star blocking back intercepted an enemy pass to break up another scoring threat.

Early in the third quarter, Bredeson recovered a blocked punt on Bemidji's ten yard marker, but the Bemidji line dug in with renewed vehemence to quench the Prowler rally and gained possession of the pigskin on downs.

Milt Nesse pegged desperate passes in the fourth quarter in an effort to overcome the seven-point advantage that loomed up greater and greater as the contest ebbed into its closing minutes, but the intended receivers were well "battled" up. Bemidji took to the ozone frequently in the final quarter but the Prowler defense rose to almost unbelievable heights to break up their passing attack. The memorable contest ended with Bemidji victors by a score of 13 to 6 and halted the Prowler victories at seven straight and completed the football season for the gallant Prowlers.

For congenial Coach H. J. Erickson's eleven, Clark and Lippincott were the spearheads of Bemidji's versatile attack. Behemoth Ralph Bucklin, captain and tackle and Gaylord Swisher, guard, were outstanding in their forward wall.

The results of this game was a tragic one for Coach Lee and his team, and especially so for the seniors, Captain Milt Nesse, Jack Adkins, James Peterson, Bud Nelson, and Selmer Dicken, who fought their hearts out in a valiant but failing attempt to preserve their undefeated record for their dear alma mater, Lincoln High School.

Lineups and summary:

Band Notes

The band members have elected officers for this year. Bruce Prichard is President; Ilene Hoffseth, V. President and Lois Morrell, Sec. Treasurer. These three together with Robert Quale and Ralph Gustafson make up the committee which are supposed to make rules for the band and to be in charge of any project that is taken up. This enables the band to have more share in their affairs and helps them to work better.

Members of the band having class instructions, which is a system originated by Mr. Prescott, director of the University of Minnesota's band. This consists of a regular course every week, and each pupil has a definite assignment. A card is kept of each pupil's progress on his instrument for the year. The members of each section who make the most progress in the course receives the first chair in the band. This system will help make the band members more enthusiastic, as each member will try his best to gain the first chair.

Junior Class Play Rehearsals Underway

The Junior class play, "The Nut Farm", directed by Miss Olson, is well under way. The cast is rapidly learning their parts and the producing staff has been chosen. The characters are:

Mrs. Barton	Fae Belcher
Willis Barton	Gordon Caldis
Robert Bent	Louis Kimball
Ezra Sliscomb	Roger Wessling
Helen Bent	Harriet Simonson
Agatha Sliscomb	Mary Chommie
Hamilton T. Holland	Floyd Melby
J. Clarence Beddeford	Robert Smith
Harold Van Horton	Jerome Salveson
Hilda	Evelyn Tungseth
Mrs. Sliscomb	Marian Oden

The prompters are Lorraine Amundson and Eileen Rolland and the stage managers are Dayton Silk, Robert Hanson, Lowell Nesse, and Clarence Haug. Thelma Skaar has been chosen to take care of the properties, and Yvonne Anderson is costume manager.

WIND-CHILL

Don't fret, Prowlers, several other good teams lost last week end too.

Bruce P. is entering debate. Says he has high hopes of raising his score of arguments won in Physics. (Hard competition ahead, Mr. Claffy.)

Thank you, Mr. Lee, for showing off that swell tie and shirt. And now Mr. Montague blossoms out with one super colossal new suit.

It's going to be rather an empty town this weekend with every one at homecoming. But just wait till the Auto Show.

When the teacher gives Bud K. his report card: In the little message on the front of the card it says, "Dear Mr. and Mrs. Kelly your daughter—she—." Hi, Bud old girl."

The whole gang seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely Halloween and then one young lady answers Monday that she had a lousy time.

Flash—A well known girl of the senior class while traveling to Bemidji to witness the football game last Friday night caused a lot of radio interference and disturbance. Did you have to comb your hair while the radio was on, Bunnie?

Our teachers have been all of "atwitter" and "atwitter" about their so-journs in Minneapolis. And we bet they're having a keen time too.

One of our teachers of the fairer sex who resides in Thief River Falls had a good reason for enjoying the time spent in Bemidji Friday evening, and who wouldn't when her reason is so tall and good looking.

Lot of "grownup kids in Lincoln went out and played around on Halloween. Was your window soaped? Were you chased by the cops?

Wonder if some of our football players were happy when the Greenbush gals "come to town?"

The famed and much-commented upon Mrs. Wallis Simpson, personal friend of King Edward VIII, has some ancestors by the name of Montague. Do you suppose there can be any connection between these ancestors named Montague and our famous English IV teacher?

PROWLERETTES CORNER

And boo! The gobbling will get you if you don't watch out—ah me—Halloween—and in the gym of all places! It looks pretty "cagy"—no 'twas supposed to be a window. Talking turkey? Well, perhaps I am, which all goes back to the bulletin board committee elected in each class who are throwing their cleverness and artistic ability to decorating the bulletin board. The winning committee receives for each of its members 100 points toward the school letter—"L"—and the honor of keeping the bulletin board seasonable and snappy for the remainder of the year. The first week's committee is made up of: Mae Anderson, Adeline Lorentson, Katherine Jacobson and Dagny Tungseth.

The "Prowlerettes" still get a "kick" out of volley-ball (I always thought you hit the thing with the "heel" of your hand-woof!

Seems as if potential prowlerettes (7th & 8th grade girls—if you're curious) are taking up tumbling with a vim. Ought to be some willowy little women entering our sacred portals come the next few years.

Ooooh—that Bemidji game—win or lose—my! I'll see you—but dust gets in my eyes!

The canny working girl knows it is one thing to be wed and quite another to be fed.—Winston-Salem Journal.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

"Oh Fudge!"—Prichard
"Stuff and things and stuff!"—Gustafson

Bruce Prichard's favorite pastime is to study, (?) yeah study! He was born January 3, 1920 in Thief River Falls. Of the books he has read he prefers "Mutiny on the Bounty" to any of the rest. When you hear the expression "Oh Fudge!" Bruce will be right behind it. Fred Allen is his favorite as far as radio stars are concerned. He seems easily satisfied, as far as his rhythmical instincts are concerned, with Lem Hawkins and the selection "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More". To get his "goat" just talk a lot. (That must be because he wants to do all the talking). He watches for the screen combination of Myrna Loy and William Powell and he enjoyed "The Thin Man" especially. English IV and Physics are his favorite subjects. Apple pie is also a favorite of his (no peach's influence there, he can still be a mascot and eat pie) When he grows to be a man he is going to be a physician. (Oh Boy!) He has taken part in band. He prefers "Skeezix" to any other comic strip and I guess he knows a little about golf, but here's the jolt, his nickname's "Butch"!

These mornings after the night before, seem to get Peg down. Margaret Gustafson was born March 7, 1920, in Thief River Falls. Some day she is going to be a doctor (believe it or not, a serious thought) She claims she's not partial to any subject (we get it, she isn't going to put her foot in it) The author Waller and book "Deep in the Hearts of Men" is her favorite. Jeanette McDonald and Herbert Marshall are her idea of good stars and the production "Naughty Marietta" rates ace high. She listens to Jacky Heller on the radio but enjoys Shep Field and his band playing "Through the Courtesy of Love", just as much. To satisfy her craving for sweets she prefers graham cracker pie. Her hobby is collecting elephants! She enjoys "Blondie" immensely, (and was it good today!).

Although we can no longer say "the undefeated Prowlers", we can still say and they will always be called the light but powerful eleven of 1936.

When the local gridiron men went down to their first defeat of the season at Bemidji there would be no cause for despair in local circles. Although it came hard that the last game of the season had to be our first defeat, it should bring no criticism on any member of the Prowler eleven. They lost a hard fought game to a powerful and brilliant team. It probably will add to the truth of the old saying that a very good big team is better than a very good little team.

The Prowlers were working under a great handicap mentally. Not only had they gone so far undefeated but they had only six points scored against them.

Therefore we should keep only words of praise for the team and offer our congratulations to Bemidji. They have a powerful eleven and, I am sure, they will be ready to admit they met a spunky and peppy team Friday night.

D. O.

Now that the football season has been completed so successfully, other events such as the Junior class play and debate catch the public eye.

A good deal more emphasis and attention could be given to the act of debate. Last year a team from Lincoln High came within one point of winning the district championship. Very little attention, aside from that of the debaters themselves, was given this achievement. This season Mr. Montague has twelve candidates aspiring to become future "Daniel Websters". Under such excellent supervision the prospects of at least one good team is very evident.

In the Junior class play "The Nut Farm" under Miss Olson's supervision there are several student actors now at work. At present all stage hand positions have not been filled. Here is an excellent chance for those people who have not had the time or chance to aid in extra curricular activities to do so now.

The annual Junior class play and debate are but two of the many extra curricular activities offered at Lincoln High School. Those who partake in them work hard to do their best. The other pupils should, and I am sure will, give their full support.

Summary of Football Season

The Thief River Falls Prowlers concluded the most successful football season last Friday that Lincoln High School has seen for many a year. Playing eight games and losing only one, this one to the Bemidji eleven which was a much heavier and more experienced team.

The first game of the season was played with Red Lake Falls inaugurating night football on the local field. The invaders had the distinction of being one of the two teams that were able to score against the Prowlers when their little quarterback picked up his team mate's fumble, crawled out of the pile-up, and scurried around left end for a touchdown. In spite of this little piece of luck on the part of Red Lake Falls, this was the only score they gained and the final tally was 33-6 with the Prowlers starting their march into a very successful season.

The next contest was played with Crookston on the latter's field with not quite as high a score as the first game. Although the locals were again on the long side of 13 to 0, they lost several additional opportunities to add to their lead after penetrating deep into foreign territory only to lose the ball either on downs, or as a result of a fumble. It was in this game that Sam Dicken intercepted a pass on Crookston's goal line and made his spectacular run 100 yards to a touchdown.

They next encountered Coach "Chalky" Reed's Little Green Wave of East Grand Forks, and with little difficulty added them to their growing list of victories by the largest score of all, 53 to 0. The following Friday brought them face to face with Grafton, a team that Lincoln High School hadn't beaten since 1931. This year, however, it was a different story, and Grafton had to swallow a 19 to 0 defeat handed to them by a fighting Prowler eleven.

Mahnomen was the next, should we say, victim, of the Prowlers onslaught and in this game they equalled the score that they gave East Grand Forks, 53 to 0. Mahnomen had been previously undefeated. Crookston Cathedral was next on the list, furnishing just a little stronger competition.

Every one of the Prowlers deserves all the credit that is possible to give them, for making this the most successful season in football for a long, long time, and certainly Captain Milt Nesse should be complimented and merits special praise for his splendid work through the season.

TEACHER'S TRAINING

At a recent meeting, the students of this department decided upon T. T. T. R. F. for the name of their organization.

All of the Training students have finished practice teaching of 2nd and 3rd grade language in the city schools. On Thursday and Friday of this week, the members of this department will practice teach and observe in rural schols. They have just completed one week of rural observation.

Miss Stapleton left on Tuesday night for St. Paul to attend the Teacher Training Conference and the M. E. A. During her absence on Wednesday, the students were in charge of the classes.

A Hallowe'en party was held in the Knox School on Wednesday night, October 28. Each of the Training students invited one girl friend to the party. Various committees were in charge of the arrangements.

On Tuesday, November third, a trial election was held. The Democratic party's candidates received the most votes.

At a class meeting on Tuesday, November third, it was decided that a committee from the department would be in charge of writing news for the Progress. The committee elected for November includes: Alice Ann Severson, chairman; Anne Hermanson; and Iris Ayers.

On Friday, October 30, Wayne Dalton, member of the U. S. Navy, formerly of Thief River Falls, spoke to the members of the T. T. T. R. F.

SENIORS FETED AT PEP MEETING

Pope Speaker at Final Football Pep Meeting

The Prowlers were given a rousing send-off to Bemidji last Friday at the pep fest held Friday morning in the high school assembly.

As usual, the pep fest was begun with the student body singing the school song. Mr Harrison accompanied us and the two cheer leaders, Mary Chommie and Lorraine Amundson directed us.

Robert Quale again acted as master of ceremonies and he called on Mr. Pope to give a short pep talk. Mr. Pope told us that the Bemidji players were the direct descendents of Paul Bunyan, but in spite of this the Prowlers had a good chance to beat them.

Leroy Rupprecht then entertained us by singing and yodeling, accompanying himself on a Hawaian guitar. This was so much enjoyed by the students that he was called back for an encore.

Coach Lee was invited to comment on the coming game. He said that it was going to be a tough game but his team would put all they had into it and would come out fighting. He then called all the senior football players who were playing their last football game for Lincoln High up to the stage. They were Milton Nesse, captain, James Peterson, Jack Adkins, Helmer Sahl, Selmer Dicken, and Bud Nelson. Milton Nesse spoke for all the boys and said that whether they won or lost the game, they would be good sports about it although this game did mean a lot to them.

Mary Chommie and Lorraine Amundson led several yells during the course of the pep fest and the pep meeting was ended by having the football team leave the assembly first.

THE SCREAMER

It's too bad that some of our modern Cleopatras can't leave our poor little fellas alone—for instance "Heicky" Booren and Don Lorentson.

No wonder Minnesota lost to Northwestern— 'cause even Thief River was beaten by Bemidji!

Ten to one there are a lot of kids that think the old home team is just plenty good enough— at least after sampling Bemidji's form of entertainment. It seems as though some of the kids actually left Bemidji before mid-night! Can you imagine that?

And did you hear about Vernon W., one of our associate editors? Little Vernon, at one time worked in a small town grocery store. One day, his employer asked him what he had done with all the limburger cheese. Up spoke gallant Vernon, "Why, I threw the old stuff out. It's been kicking around here for nearly ten years now!"

Careful there, "Tooney" Carlson. You know, you really shouldn't run around strange towns (Bemidji) claiming strange girls as your cousins. What do you think Elaine D. will think of that sort of goings on?

Compliments are apparently floating around that town of Bemidji. One sweet young thing thought Coach Lee was one of the members of the football team— that is, when she saw him in the Bemidji hotel. Was that your vest buttons I heard popping, Coach?

"We'll bet that some members of the football team would like to abolish that song "Us on a Bus" as well as "There's a Long Long Trail, A-winding." How about it, kids?

And speaking of songs, the Prowlers theme song following the Bemidji game should be when speaking of size, "I Never Had a Chance"—and referring to that monsterous 228-pound tackle, "The Way You Look Tonight."

PROWLIN' ROUND

Flash—Two great teams receive first defeat over week end—Minnesota's Golden Gophers and Thief River Falls' Mighty Prowlers.

Hill proved his mettle when he came back into the game in the final quarter after leaving it with a bad ankle in the first quarter.

Milt Nesse also deserves congratulations for his splendid game. Especially after being sick for a week before the game.

Don Lorentson played perhaps his best defensive game of the season. And Adkins was right in there too.

Hill was high scorer for the season with 78 points, Nesse next with 38, then Dicken 18, Adkins 18, Wessling and Mickelson 12 each and Nelson 8.

Bemidji scored only three first downs to the Prowlers two.

	Prowlers	Opponents
1st downs	82	22
Points	179	19
Score	22	2

The Bemidji "Lumber giants" certainly lived up to their name. Very much in keeping with the Paul Bunyan celebration they are going to have.

Hardest crash of the game came when Nesse and Buckland, giant Bemidji tackle and captain, met head on.

M. E. A. CONVENES IN ST. PAUL TODAY

School to be Dismissed During Annual Meeting

The schools of Thief River Falls are closed today and tomorrow due to the Teachers Convention which opened today in the St. Paul auditorium, and which will continue through Saturday, November 7. This year marks the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Minnesota Education Association in Rochester, August, 1861. The first session will be held on Thursday afternoon (today) at two o'clock.

There are some very noted speakers on the programs from day to day. Two of these important men are John Gundersen Rockwell, State Commissioner of Education, and Charles W. Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

A Tribute to the Master

IT MAY be news to some that Baron Munchausen, champion liar of all times, was a real person who really did exist. (No foolin'.)

The real Baron Munchausen was born in 1720 in the little town of Bodenwerder, on the Weser river, Germany. Like other German youths of his day he served as an officer of the Russian army against the Turks. Retiring at the age of thirty, he returned to live and to talk.

The baron's delightful conception of a talk was to seat himself at a generously supplied table and relate his fabulous adventures to a charmed circle. All his tall tales were about himself; most of them concerned also his famous horse.

Once he almost lost the horse. Riding over snow at night, the Baron, so he said, hitched to what seemed to be a post. He went to sleep, and, on awakening, found the snow melted and his steed hanging by the bridle from a church steeple!

The old home town of Bodenwerder has erected a monument in memory of its most distinguished son. The monument shows Baron Munchausen seated on his famous half-a-horse, the latter drinking at a fountain but unable to quench its thirst because all the water ran away.

The baron didn't know it but the sturdy horse had been cut in two by a falling portcullis as his master rode hastily into a beleaged town.

ROOSEVELT AND GARNER TRIUMPH AT SCHOOL POLLS

Democratic, Farmer-Labor Candidates Make Sweep of Offices

Tuesday, November third was election day in United States so election was also held in the high school. Seven booths were made on the platform in the assembly, and the students voted in their study periods. An election board which was also present made the idea more realistic. This is the first time this has been done in Lincoln high school. The election returns were as follows:

First Amendment to the Constitution—yes 265. No 212.

Second Amendment to the Constitution—Yes 215. No 260.

After hearing the results of the national election, our slogan might well be "As Lincoln High School goes, so goes the nation." This election proved a very successful enterprise in high school, and much praise is due Mr. Lee and his assistants for the skill and ease in which it was carried out.

1937 PLYMOUTH IS LONGER AND LOWER

The 1937 Plymouth automobiles, featured by a safety-styled body mounted on rubber, have been placed on display by all DeSoto, Chrysler and Dodge distributors.

Among principal features of the new Plymouth are new interior design, hypoid rear axles, airplane type shock absorbers, "studio" soundproofing and larger bodies.

The car gives the appearance of greater size, having been redesigned both inside and out. Long, low contours are emphasized by deeper fenders, a longer hood, new seamless steel unit top and an airflow styled back.

Grille designs employ vertical chrome bars on each side of a center strip, which is in the body color. Larger tear-drop headlamps are attached to the sides of the radiator by windstream supports, which blend into deeper hood louvres of chrome, surmounted by a flare in body color which sweeps back the length of the hood.

Body room in the new cars has been increased. Front seats have been widened by three inches and rear seats by two and a half. A redesigned rear compartment gives three more inches of leg-room. Overall length has been increased to 194 inches. The new roof gives an inch more of headroom without increasing height of the car.

The Plymouth is distributed locally by C. Gustafson & Son, Borchert & Johnson and the Taxerass Implement company.

NEW 1937 PONTIAC IS MUCH IMPROVED

A full line of Pontiac's two new automobiles (deluxe six and deluxe eight) announced November 4 will be on display at the auto show, T. M. Thronson, proprietor of the Thronson Motor company, announced today. They are longer in wheelbase, roomier, lower, even more pleasing in appearance, improved in comfortable riding qualities, with larger and more powerful engines, faster acceleration, higher top speed and additional economy. Data collected by engineers on many thousand miles of early test runs, it is said show still more brilliant performance than the highly acceptable 1936 Pontiacs.

Both lines will offer seven body styles: business coupe, sport coupe, cabriolet, two-door sedan, two-door touring sedan, four-door sedan and four-door touring sedan, although the straight sedan in both two-door and four-door eights will be built on order only. Prices are lower on fast selling de luxe 6 and 8 models.

These 14 bodies will be available in seven colors with striping that provides a harmonizing contrast. Basic colors are black, blue, brown gray, green maroon and cream.

Upholstery provides a choice of light tan lustrous mohair of mixed wool cloth of high quality, except for convertible coupes which are trimmed either in buffed, crush grain, tan Spanish leather or taupe colored worsted Bedford cloth.

The engineers have gone through the car and tailored the chassis, springs and axles to meet the trend toward longer and lower cars. For instance, lower floors and bodies meant one of two things; either a compromise chassis with objectionable tunnels obstructing the rear compartment or else a completely new chassis. Pontiac chose the latter.

Longer wheelbase and overall length have made possible extreme grace and beauty in the countour of body lines. Wheelbases are five inches longer (117 for the six and 122 for the eight.) Tops are one inch lower (67 inches) with more of a streamline slope of the body line back from the high point directly over the front seat. Estimated curb weights of four-door sedans are 3,430 pounds for the six and 3,565 pounds for the eight.

CHRYSLER OFFERS LOW-PRICE MODEL

Radical changes in exterior appearance, increased roominess in interior dimensions and the addition of a number of important new engineering advancements feature the Chrysler line for 1937, according to C. D. Gustafson of C. Gustafson & Son, local dealers. In introducing this new line, Chrysler announces its entrance into the low-priced field with a car that it expects to increase the volume of its production to double the 1936 figure.

The new low-priced car, which has been named the Royal, is large, handsome and high-powered. The company makes it plain that the Royal is not built to sell at a price but is even finer in performance, beauty, comfort, roadability, safety and economy than its predecessors.

The great demand for Chryslers in 1936 and the anticipation of a much greater demand in 1937, plus increased plant space, new machinery and greater manufacturing efficiency have made it possible to bring a car embodying all of Chrysler's fine features and with a full measure of the high quality that is traditional with the Chrysler name into a price range lower than any previously occupied by a Chrysler six. Interior dimensions have been so generously increased that the Royal has a roominess previously associated with much more expensive cars.

The line comprises four cars, with a total of 20 body styles. They are the Chrysler Royal with 93 horsepower and 109 inches overall length; the Chrysler Imperial, with 110 horsepower and 204 inches overall length; the Chrysler Custom Imperial with 130 horsepower and 223 inches overall length; and the Chrysler Airflow, with 130 horsepower and 213 inches overall length.

MANY CHANGES IN 1937 OLDSMOBILE

The 1937 Oldsmobiles, two new, distinctive and entirely different automobiles, are receiving the greatest ovation from the retail organization ever accorded new models. This was the statement made today by D. E. Ralston, vice president and general sales manager of Oldsmobile. Mr. Ralston made the statement in discussing plans for the public announcement of the two new cars this month.

"Oldsmobile again will set the pace in 1937," he said. "Not only are both the Six and Eight different from anything else on the road, but they are entirely different from each other. We are certain that they again will set the automotive styles for the coming year.

"This new styling and the many new mechanical advancements of the two cars have impressed our dealers tremendously. Certainly the great appeal of the new Six and Eight is reflected in the rapidly mounting dealer orders which accompany each pre-showing."

Mr. Ralston stated that the cars are bigger in every way, with longer wheelbases and roomier bodies. Many new safety features have been added. Comfort has been increased. Added economy of operation has been gained by improvements in carburation and slower engine speeds.

The engines, although retaining the proved fundamental engineering principles of their predecessors, are more powerful than before, providing more brilliant performance and higher economy as well as longer life and increased dependability.

The Oldsmobile is distributed locally by the Northern Chevrolet company.

STATE ASKS BIDS ON MORE MILES OF CONCRETE PAVING

Four-Mile Section on No. 75 North of Breckenridge Is Included

Bids on 12.4 miles of concrete paving in Cottonwood, Watonwan and Wilkin counties, have been called for November 20 by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. Bids on three bridges in Austin, were called for November 13. The estimated cost of the paving and bridges is approximately $400,000.

Two of the paving jobs with a combined length of [illegible] miles will be on Trunk Highway No. 60 in Cottonwood and Watonwan counties. When this work is finished, all of Highway No. 60 will be paved between Windom and St. James except for a short stretch between Mountain Lake and Butterfield. The other paving contract will be between Breckenridge and four miles north of T. H. No. 75 in Wilkin county.

Following are the jobs on which bids have been asked:

Trunk Highway No. 60, between Bingham Lake and Mountain Lake in Cottonwood county; length 5.7 miles; 67,438 square yards of concrete pavement.

T. H. No. 6, between Butterfield and 4 miles west of St. James in Watonwan county; 45,409 square yards of concrete pavement. This project may be tied with the job just above.

T. H. No. 75, between Breckenridge and 4 miles north; length 3.8 miles; 46,661 square yards of concrete pavement.

Fire Razes Two Houses in Euclid Thursday

Fire Thursday destroyed two dwellings at Euclid and threatened the entire southern section of the town but was brought under control by the Crookston fire department before reaching the telephone building.

The fire was discovered in the [illegible] dwelling owned by John Johnson and within a short time the entire building was a mass of flames.

When the seriousness of the blaze was realized the Crookston fire department was called but before it could arrive the fire had spread to the Will Kahle home to the south which also was destroyed. The telephone office is located just west of the Kahle residence and flames were spread toward that structure when the Crookston fire fighters arrived.

WEIGHT OF BUILDING HITS HAND, UNHURT

Granite Falls—With the weight of the upper story of Cudahy's warehouse in Granite Falls hitting three fingers of Alfred Anderson's right hand, no bones were fractured and the hand merely bruised. Mr. Anderson, an employee at Cudahy company, was repairing the upper floor of the warehouse, which was sagging, and in so doing raised the floor by means of a jack and cedar post. While the jack was in place, Anderson endeavored to shove a block between the joist and the post with his right hand, but the jack kicked out, letting the full weight of the upper story of the building down on his three fingers. Being alone, Anderson's hand could not be released until his cries for help were heard.

A LOOK-A RIDE-AND YOU'LL DECIDE
Everything points to Pontiac FOR 1937
BIGGER CAR! BETTER VALUE! GREATER ECONOMY!

AMERICA'S FINEST LOW-PRICED CAR
The Crowning Achievement of Pontiac's Policy of Giving More for Less

REMEMBER—no matter what other important business you have on hand—be sure to see the 1937 Pontiacs. You'll be well repaid, for Pontiac has built a new six and eight that have no counterparts in the history of motoring. The highlights of the 1937 Pontiacs are shown at the right. But even this imposing list can give you only the faintest notion of how completely Pontiac has overturned previous ideas of what a low-priced car should be. The new Silver Streak is bigger—full five inches bigger—and what a difference that makes in roominess, riding ease, smartness! It's an even better value—enriched with more basic advancements than any new car at its price. And it is even more economical than last year's Pontiac, official economy champion of its price class! Come in—see the latest, greatest models of the most beautiful thing on wheels—let your own eyes prove that everything points to Pontiac for 1937. It is America's finest low-priced car.

MORE BEAUTIFUL SILVER STREAK STYLING • SAFETY [illegible]-SEALED HYDRAULIC BRAKES • LONGER WHEELBASE—117 INCH ON "6" AND 122 INCH ON "8" • LARGER LUGGAGE AND SPARE TIRE COMPARTMENT • PERFECTED SAFETY CENTER-POINT STEERING • LARGER UNISTEEL BODIES BY FISHER • BIGGER DOORS • ADJUSTABLE TILTING 3-PASSENGER FRONT SEAT • IMPROVED KNEE-ACTION RIDE • PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Swiss lead world in Yodeling...

AMERICANS LEAD IN TELEPHONING

There are yodelers in the United States and telephone calls in Switzerland—but the Swiss are famed for their yodeling and this country leads the world in using the telephone.

Americans use the telephone more than all the rest of the world. In this country, fast, clear, accurate and far-reaching service is provided at a price within reach of a larger percentage of the population than in any other nation.

For more than half a century, the Bell System has worked constantly to improve telephone service and to keep down its cost. The Bell System organization is well fitted to this task. Through it, the best efforts of more than 250,000 telephone men and women are devoted to giving the United States the best and, for its value, the lowest-priced telephone service in the world.

School Notes

Last Monday Mr. Jaspers and some of the high school boys put up the west basket at the Municipal Auditorium. The squad has worked out three or four times last week and managed to get in a little practice in spite of the many other activities that conflicted with it. With these out of the way, practices will be more regular. Plummer opens with Clearbrook here on Nov. 13th. This will be a good game. It was last year, and, although Plummer won by a decisive score, it was not an easy game by any means. Those who saw the game last year feel that Plummer will have to play real ball to take the game from the Clearbrook quint, which suffered little in material strength through graduation.

Last Friday the Municipal auditorium was packed to the doors with a crowd that came to the school carnival. Apparently the efforts on the part of the school to have something of interest for everyone were successful, for the carnival and Hallowe'en spirit was in the air and all enjoyed themselves, leaving reluctantly only when the music stopped and the concessions closed down for the night.

TERRAPLANE AND HUDSON AT SHOW

Four completely new Hudson-built cars, the 1937 Hudson Eight, the Hudson Six, the DeLuxe Terraplane, and a new companion car, the Super-Terraplane, will be formally presented to Northwestern Minnesota citizens at the automobile show in this city November 12 to 14, O. E. Taxerass of the Taxerass Implement Company, local dealers, announced today.

Strikingly styled in the most advanced trend, the new cars are longer at the wheelbase by two inches, lower by two inches, wider, roomier and more powerful than preceding models. Characteristically sleek, the lines of the '37 cars flow rearward from the newly designed narrow radiator grille in perfect harmony around an interior said to afford a new conception of roominess and comfort in motor cars.

The complete line of Hudsons consists of an 8-cylinder car on 129-inch wheelbase, an Eight on 122-inch wheelbase, and a Six on 122-inch wheelbase. Both of the 122-inch wheelbase chassis in the Eight and the Six carry a complete line of bodies, all of which are entirely new this year, while the 129-inch wheelbase chassis is available in two body models—the Sedan and Touring Sedan.

Joining the DeLuxe Terraplane this year is a new Super-Terraplane of 101 horsepower featuring the new "Double Carburetion" principle, an engineering advancement introduced by Hudson for 1937. Both DeLuxe and Super-Terraplane carry a complete line of body models on 117-inch wheelbase as against 115-inches for 1936.

TWO-POUND CARROTS GROWN

St. Peter.—Along with the enormous sized pumpkins, beets and potatoes there is displayed in St. Peter huge carrots, some of them weighing as much as two pounds each. They were grown by W. H. Holz, Nicollet county auditor, in his garden along the Minnesota river bottoms.

Horses Remain in Fire

During a fire many horses became so panic stricken that they cannot be persuaded to leave the barn and remain there to perish.

500 PARENTS ARE PRESENT AT N. W. SCHOOL SATURDAY

Many From Pennington County at Parents' Day Celebration

Over 500 parents took possession of the Northwest School Saturday, the occasion being the seventeenth annual Parents' Day celebration. This was the largest gathering of fathers and mothers ever assembled on the Aggie campus. Ideal weather and good roads played an important part in the day's activities, as many parents drove nearly two hundred miles to attend the gathering.

The forenoon was devoted to a visitation of classes, and all parents were guests of the student body at a Parents' Day dinner in the school dining hall at noon. A special student program was presented during the early afternoon. This included selections by the school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Marian Nelson; address of welcome by Raymond Higgins, Bronson, president of the senior class; Girls' home project demonstration and style show under the direction of Miss Elsie Kingston and Miss Retta Bede, with Ruth Lorud, Twin Valley, chairman; a boys' home project demonstration under the direction of E. R. Clark and R. J. Christgau, with Woodrow Evans, Gully, chairman; selections by the boys' glee club and mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Katherine Henning; community singing; and a one-act play "Dress Reversal" under the direction of Miss Dorothy Smith, dramatics instructor. Members of the cast included Jack Fortier, Fitz; Chester Ingebretson, Ulen; Marian Augustine, Thief River Falls; Roland Wentzel, Fisher; Elmer Hess, Lockhart; Wilson Radwick, Roosevelt; James Wentworth, Hazel; Leland Hanson, Twin Valley, and Marshall Evans, Middle River.

Following the program, parents inspected the home project exhibits which were on display throughout the day. This work was completed by the students at home during the summer months as a part of their regular school assignments.

Included in the visitors were the following from Pennington county: Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wood, Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. S. Prestegaard; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Haugen, St. Hilaire; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nerstad, Highlanding; Mr. and Mrs. Mans Belberg, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Syvert Hanson; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Scholin; Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Farnow, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Iverson, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wentworth, Hazel; Mr. and Mrs. T. Rommestvedt, Goodridge, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Augustine.

'37 MODEL FORD TO BE AT AUTO SHOW

Thrilled at the opportunity of seeing the new 1937 Ford V-8 Model, H. R. Lund and F. E. Tunberg, well-known Ford dealers of this city, left this week for a national dealer convention of Ford dealers to be held in Dearborn, Michigan on November 6 and 7.

In introducing the 1937 line of V-8's to its vast dealer organization, the Ford Motor Company extended an individual invitation to every one of its dealers in the United States to visit the huge home plants in Dearborn.

Mr. Lund and Mr. Tunberg went first to Fargo where they joined nearly two hundred other dealers from the Fargo Branch of the Ford Motor Company on a special train taking them to Dearborn via Chicago. The group is making the trip under the direction of Manager C. O. Ruud and Assistant Manager W. C. Boskott of the Fargo Branch.

During the two-day meeting, which is the first national gathering of Ford Dealers ever to be held in Dearborn, the dealers will have an opportunity to closely inspect the 1937 Ford V-8's. Reports indicate that every available room has been booked for the dealers in Detroit hotels with nearly 7,000 dealers expected to attend.

Culminating the busy two-day session will be the presentation of the new Ford V-8's for 1937. Before leaving, Mr. Tunberg announced that the 1937 Ford V-8's, which promise to reveal startling developments in design and comfort, will be shown to the public locally at the auto show in Thief River Falls next week.

BOAR VICIOUSLY ATTACKS FARMER

Blooming Prairie.—Viciously attacking Carl Ruzek of Blooming Prairie, a 300 pound boar knocked him to the ground, jabbed his tusks into his legs and bit whole mouthfuls of flesh from them. As a result the victim was seriously ill during the following week and there was danger of infection developing in the deep wounds. The attack occurred while Mr. Ruzek was moving a number of hogs into another pen. As he herded them along, the large boar suddenly became angered and turned on the man. Rushing at him he knocked him to the ground and then sank his teeth into his legs. Carl's father rushed to his aid and a pet dog leaped at the furious boar attempting to draw his attention away from the victim. The boar also severely bit the dog, before he could finally be cornered and locked up. Twenty stitches were required to close the deepest wounds on Carl's right leg.

Men Can Easily Agree

What makes some men popular is the fact that they haven't any opinions and, can, conscientiously agree with everybody.

RIVER VALLEY

Three of our industrious co-workers constructed the temporary building for our Forum, in eleven hours of work last week. To them we extend our most hearty congratulations for their achievement. The hall building committee has applied for a grant to build our hall as a W. P. A. project. are is hoping that the application will be granted. But, regardless of the outcome, construction will be resumed in the spring.

The last regular meeting of the River Valley Forum was held at the temporary building, Tuesday evening, Oct. 27. The meeting was called to order by the chairman Dick Kolstrand. It was decided that Dr. Ingvolstad should be asked to lecture on Russia, at the Oak Park church, because of the little room in our temporary hall. A discussion was held for the purpose of submitting correspondence to the following newspapers: Tri-County Forum, Thief River Falls Times, Oklee Herald and Red Lake Falls Gazette. Peter Mandt was appointed editor-in-chief, with Mrs. G. Bremseth, Mrs. R. Gordon, Mrs. Nels Fore and Henry Dahlen as assistants.

The following officers were elected for the next meeting: Edwin Gordon, chairman; O. T. Lunden, V. Chairman; Mrs. O. T. Lunden, secretary. Mr. Denning then spoke on the political situation and brought it up for discussion. Edwin Gordon gave the financial report on the hall fund. It was also decided to appoint a new treasurer to take the place of Irene Gustafson. Mrs. O. T. Lunden was chosen for that purpose.

The meeting adjourned until Tuesday evening, Nov 10.

The last meeting of the Oak Park Lutheran League was held at the church Sunday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president Oscar Lunden. The program rendered as follows: Opening song by audience; devotion by Rev. Bjorgan; song by audience. The principal speaker of the evening being absent, the meeting was closed with the Lord's prayer by the pastor and the audience. The meetings will be closed for the year, because of the cold weather, but will be resumed in the spring. Dr. Ingvolstad has promised to favor us with a lecture at a later date.

Miss Vivian Bremseth is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bremseth. —Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Radniecki and sons Virgil and Richard shopped in Thief River Falls Friday.—Mrs. O. T. Lunden and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hovet of Erie were visitors in Gully Monday. —Visitors at the G. Bremseth home last Sunday were: Donald Brown and Wesley Clow of Humbolt, Scott Matthew, Miss Juliet Archambault and Irvin Maxwell of Thief River Falls.

On Friday afternoon a Halloween party was held at the Oak Park school, Dist. 52. A program was given by some of the children and games were played. —Miss Leon Bremseth returned to her home on Sunday from Thief River Falls where she has been under a doctor's care for the past week, with a broken arm, due to a car accident. We all wish her a speedy recovery. —Mr. and Mrs. John Elsbremer were Thief River Falls shoppers on Saturday. —Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gordon attended the Parent's Day Celebration at the N. W. S. last Saturday. They were accompanied home by Arthur Gordon and Nora Howard who returned on Monday to resume their studies at the school. —A group of neighbors and friends gathered at the Henry Van Altvorst home Saturday evening, to pay them a farewell reception. —Rayno Lethinen is employed at the River Valley Co.-op. Store until another clerk is hired. —Miss Alice Hedlund of McIntosh is visiting with her sister Mrs. A. M. Mandt for a few weeks.

Mrs. Rodahl, tenant at the Severt Holm farm is fortunate to have a new well dug on the place. Water was struck at a depth of eighty feet.

BRAY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thelen and Vernon and Stanley Anderson visited at the Palmer Pederson home in Thief River Falls Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Bowden, Alberta, Canada were guests at the O. K. Sevre and Selmer Olson homes Monday. —Miss Esther Johnson who has been spending the past two weeks with relatives in Grand Forks, returned to her home Wednesday.—Harry and John Horgen of Grand Forks and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Bowden, Alberta were supper guests at the A. P. Hegstrom home Tuesday. Emil Rux, who is employed at Hanson of Thief River Falls visit- Neche, N. D., Elmer Rux and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mosbeck of Thief River Falls were dinner guests at the Rueben Rux home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swanson and children were dinner guests at the Magnuson home in Thief River Falls on Sunday. —Henry ed at the Selmer Olson home Sunday.

PAY HONORS TO CIVIC GROUPS THIS EVENING

Public Invited to Attend Testimonial Meeting in Auditorium

TWELVE SPEAKERS TO GIVE BRIEF TALKS

Refreshments to be Served at Conclusion of Program

As an added feature of the tenth annual automobile show and fall festival opening in Thief River Falls today, a testimonial program will be held in the Auditorium this evening beginning at 7:30, when a group of twelve speakers will pay tribute to various official bodies and civic groups for their contribution to the welfare of the community.

The testimonial program is being sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association. W. L. Carlisle, president of the association, will introduce Morris Bye, superintendent of the local schools, who will preside as chairman. A cordial invitation is extended by officers of the association to all residents of this community to attend the event.

The speakers and the groups to which they will pay tribute include Rev. E. A. Cooke, who will discuss the contributions made to community welfare by the local American Legion post; Rev. E. L. Tungseth, Legion auxiliary; Father A. I. Merth, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Theodore Quale, fire department; Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Elks lodge; and Rev. R. M. Fjelstad, board of education.

Mrs. Will Korstad will speak of the work of the library board; W. E. Dahlquist, city council; H. O. Chommie, park board; Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Woman's club; Chester A. Myrum, Rotary club; and Paul Lundgren, child welfare board and Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross.

At the conclusion of the program, those in attendance will enjoy refreshments which will be served in the Civic and Commerce association and Legion rooms in the basement of the Auditorium. A dance in the Auditorium, sponsored by the Legion post, will wind up the evening's festivities.

OEN CO. SECURES QUARTERS FOR ITS GROCERY SECTION

To Open Shortly in Portion of Seed House Store on Third St.

With the opening in the next few days of the Oen grocery department in the east portion of the Thief River Falls Seed House quarters on East Third st., all departments of the Oen Mercantile company, whose building was recently destroyed by fire, are now provided for in temporary quarters, pending construction of a new home.

The men's and women's wear and shoe departments will open Saturday with a completely new stock in the Curtis building on Third st., it was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Olson, who will be in charge. The furniture department also this week is installing a stock of new merchandise in its quarters on Horace av. near Third st.

The work of clearing the basement of the razed structure has now been completed, and Rasmus Oen, head of the company, said this week that steel work for the new building is expected to reach this city Monday. Plans were completed this week by Brosten & Foss, Fergus Falls architects.

Will Give Service in Postoffice Saturday Afternoons to 6 P. M.

The general delivery window in the local postoffice will in the future remain open Saturday afternoons until 6 o'clock, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced this week after receiving approval of his request from the postoffice department in Washington. For some time past the window has been closed Saturdays at 1 o'clock and the change, which has the unanimous approval of local business places, will be of much added convenience to the public.

FIREMEN ARE SUMMONED

When smoke appeared in the Caldis block Saturday evening the fire department was summoned, and it was discovered that the smoke had originated in the heating plant.

Facts About the Auto Show

REMEMBER—The auto show continues three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 12, 13 and 14; and admission is free.

T. NESLAND, LOCAL BUILDER, KILLED MONDAY MORNING

Accidental Discharge of Gun While Hunting Causes Death

Residents of this community were shocked to learn of the accidental death Monday morning of Tom Nesland, well known local building contractor, who was fatally wounded by the discharge of a rifle he was carrying while following the trail of a deer three miles south of the service station on Highway No. 1 on the Thorhult ridge.

Tracks in the fresh snow showed that Mr. Nesland had left his car on the highway and had followed the fresh deer trail for three quarters of a mile into the woods when he stumbled over a windfall, the discharge from the gun passing out thru the top of his head. At the time of the tragic mishap, he was on his way to the Red Lake agency to bring a carpenter to be employed on one of his local contracts, leaving early in the morning and planning to be back by noon. He had secured the gun at his father's place on his way to the agency.

Late Monday afternoon his family received a message from the agency stating that two Indians had identified his abandoned car by means of his drivers' license certificate. Searching parties were organized at once and went to the scene, the body being found in the woods near midnight by his father, Gunder Nesland and two brothers of Silverton.

The body was brought back to this city at once, and was viewed Tuesday afternoon by G. H. Gustafson of Grygla, deputy Beltrami county coroner, who after being told the attendant circumstances, ruled that it was a plain case of accidental death, there being no suspicion of foul play.

Funeral rites will be conducted Saturday morning at 11 o'clock from the Erickson & Lund chapel, Rev. E. A. Cooke officiating, and from the Grygla Lutheran church Saturday afternoon at 1:30 with Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla officiating. Interment will be in the Grygla cemetery.

Mr. Nesland was in his 34th year, having been born in Benville township, Beltrami county, February 19, 1903. He moved from there to Kenosha, Wisconsin, in 1922 and was married in that city in 1927 to Miss Letha Burns. In 1932 he came to Thief River Falls where he had been active in the contracting business, having constructed a dozen or more residences during the past year.

He is survived by his wife and two small daughters, Audrey and Carol Jean. Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Nesland of Silverton; two sisters, Mrs. Inga David of Nielsville, Wisconsin, and Tillie, at home; and five brothers, Knut of McVille, N. D., Ole of Crestland, Wisconsin, Andrew of this city, and Halvor and Sever at home.

Armistice Day Duly Observed Wednesday

Armistice Day Wednesday was observed in this city by the closing of public offices and by programs in the various schools in the morning, followed by a half-holiday in the afternoon. COUNCIL ASKS EXPANDED WPA EMPLOYMENT

Endorses Resolution of the Workmen's Protective League

ASKS THAT MORE MEN BE MADE ELIGIBLE

Offer Well Company $200 to Make Ten-Hour Test of City Well

Acting favorably on a proposal of Earl Long, business agent of the Workmen's Protective league, the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday evening voted to support a resolution of the league calling on state and district WPA officials to liberalize their regulations for certifying WPA labor in order to provide employment for a large number of deserving men in the community who are barred by present regulations.

Also incorporated in the league's resolution was a request that WPA project workers be prohibited from taking private jobs while thus employed until such time as more work is available.

Mr. Long also proposed the opening of a sewer project covering three blocks at the west end of Fourth st. leading to the fair grounds to provide work for men not eligible for WPA jobs. The matter was referred to the council street committee.

Supt. Morris Bye of the local schools was present to arrange for the use of the Auditorium during the coming year by the schools for plays, programs, rehearsals and basketball practice sessions and games. The council fixed the rental at $350, the same figure as last year, with the understanding that basketball practice be started not earlier than 3 o'clock in the afternoon for four days a week. The Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring an independent basketball team, was granted the use of the building for two practice sessions a week during the season and for three or four scheduled games.

Following the reading of a letter from the McCarthy Well company relative to cleaning and testing of the city well, the council voted to offer the company $200 to send its equipment to the city and make a ten-hour pumping test.

M. M. Strom was granted a permit to erect a tile double garage at a cost of $400. Three applications for taxi license also were approved subject to filing of the necessary liability insurance as provided by a city ordinance. The application of Miss Palma Langseth for a reduction in the assessed valuation of her residence on LaBree av. was referred to the council tax committee.

Fred Frederickson appeared before the council relative to a WPA water main project on James st. between Conely and Kendall avs., which he stated has now been approved. Application for the project was made in August, 1935. The council voted to request an allotment of WPA funds for the necessary labor.

Nearly 500,000 Pounds of Turkeys Leave This City up to This Evening

By the close of today nearly a half-million pounds of dressed turkeys will have gone out of Thief River Falls destined for the Thanksgiving market in the eastern part of the country. Including today's shipment a total of 18 carloads will have left the city, each car averaging 26,000 pounds. The greater part of the Thanksgiving movement will have been completed by the end of this week, following which the Christmas pools will open the first of December.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL ENDORSED AT C. C. MEETING

H. O. Chommie Tells Civic Group of Work of the Red Cross

Following the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday, the annual Red Cross roll call which is under way this week locally and throout the nation was endorsed by H. O. Chommie, former member of the county Red Cross organization.

Mr. Chommie pointed out that a substantial share of the proceeds of the roll call will be retained in this community to provide for local emergencies. He also called attention to the aid rendered by the organization in relieving distress following the fire east of Grygla several years ago, and to the course in swimming instruction and life saving maintained in this city by the Red Cross during the past several years.

A letter was red from the state department of agriculture relating to the worms which have infested trees in this community the past summer, and recommending a course of treatment. The matter was referred to the park board with a recommendation to take necessary action.

DEER SEASON TO OPEN ON SUNDAY; CLOSES NOV. 25TH

Hunting in Several N. W. Minnesota Counties to be Permitted

At sunrise next Sunday thousands of Minnesota big game hunters will head for the north country in search of deer and bear. The season as set by the state conservation commission extends from November 15 to November 25 inclusive and applies to sixteen entire counties and parts of four other counties.

Counties fully open are: Cook, Lake, St. Louis, Carlton, Pine, Kanabec, Koochiching, Itasca, Aitkin, Crow Wing, Cass, Hubbard, Clearwater, Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, and Roseau. The deer season will also be open in that portion of Kittson and Marshall counties lying east of the old Pembina Trail running from the north boundary of Kittson county to the south boundary of Marshall county; all of that part of Becker county lying east of the Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Sault Ste. Marie railroad tracks; and all of Mille Lacs county lying north of the Great Northern railroad track running through Milaca, Foreston, and Beck.

The deer season does not apply to fawns. In Itasca county neither does nor fawns may be taken. All deer hunters are required to obtain big game hunting licenses. The resident license fee is $2.25, the non-resident $25.25.

Fair Association to Hold Annual Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

In addition to hearing the reading of the annual financial report, which will be submitted by Secretary Robert J. Lund, stockholders of the Pennington County Agricultural society at their annual meeting next Tuesday evening in the Civic and Commerce association rooms will elect four members of the board of directors of the organization which sponsors the annual county fair. The terms of S. E. Hunt and W. E. Dahlquist expire this year, while Roy Lambert and Emil Griebstein tendered their resignations some time ago.

1937 Models of Cars Go on Display Today at Tenth Auto Show

VAUDEVILLE FRIDAY, SATURDAY EVENINGS

Auto Show in Winter Sports Arena, Vaudeville in Auditorium

In a setting of evergreens, bunting and flags a score of the new 1937 models of automobiles representing a dozen of the most popular lines of cars on the market go on display today at the tenth annual automobile show which marks the first event to be held in the new winter sports arena.

The show, which is being staged simultaneously with the New York automobile exposition, and a week ahead of the Minneapolis event, will continue thru Saturday, affording residents of Northwestern Minnesota ample opportunity to witness recent progress in motor car design and construction. The arena will be open each evening until midnight, and admission will be free to the public.

In connection with the automobile display there will be a topnotch vaudeville show in the adjoining Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings. Thru the cooperation of local merchants a free show will be given Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock for all grade pupils of the city, with a second free matinee Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for children of the rural community.

Featuring the vaudeville program, which will continue for one hour and thirty minutes, will be the presentation of the "All-American Revue", staged under the direction of the WCCO artiste bureau of Minneapolis, and including four episodes: the New New Orleans Mardi Gras, Wyoming Rodeo, Manhattan Greenwich Village, and Banff Winter Carnival. Included in the offering will be a corps of attractive dancing girls, in addition to vocal and instrumental musicians.

Dances will be held in the Auditorium following the programs tonight and Friday evening, while Saturday evening, the concluding night of the auto show, a gala dance will be held in the winter sports arena, which, with its 14,000 square feet of floor space, offers accommodations to take care of a record crowd. Music for the dances will be provided by Allyn Cassell and his eleven-piece recording orchestra, which will also play at the automobile show during the afternoon.

Local automobile dealers who are cooperating in staging the auto show and the cars they will have on display include Lund & Tunberg, Ford and Lincoln-Zephyr; Northern Chevrolet company, Chevrolet and Oldsmobile; Gustafson & Son, Chrysler, Plymouth, Nash and LaFayette; Borchert & Johnson, Dodge and Plymouth; Thronson Motor company, Pontiac; Taxerans Implement company, DeSoto, Plymouth and Hudson-Terraplane; and Wiener Body and Fender Works, Buick. Cut-away chassis and other special models will feature the exhibits.

A group of local business places also will sponsor a variety of other displays relating to their particular line of merchandise. Included are Montgomery Ward & company, Oen Mercantile company, Larson Co., J. & B. drug store, John Lind Motor Supply, Red Lake Ice & Fuel company, Kelly Hardware store, Falls Supply company and Berry's garage.

A group of committees of the local American Legion post under the general chairmanship of O. C. Paulson is in charge of arrangements for the vaudeville shows Friday and Saturday and for the dances to be held each of the three evenings.

Meetings will be conducted in both English and Norwegian, those in the afternoon in Norwegian and all evening meetings in English. The meetings on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday will be held in the Zion church, and those on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday in the Trinity church. Afternoon meetings will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday.

Pastor Bergeson is a man of wide experience and exceptional ability as a speaker. He will be sure to bring messages of interest and vital importance to all, according to the pastors of the two churches.

60 RESETTLEMENT FARMS GIVEN O. K. BY HEADQUARTERS

Purchase Is Definitely Approved; Checks for Five Tracts Arrive

Sixty farms in Northwestern Minnesota have definitely been approved for purchase by the resettlement administration in Washington in connection with the Thief River Falls resettlement project, John W. Taylor, local manager, announced this week following a conference with G. B. Stephenson, assistant regional director in the Milwaukee office.

Checks have been received at the local office to pay for five of the farms purchased, and the remainder are expected to arrive in due course.

Mr. Taylor stated that construction of needed buildings on the various farms will not get under way until next spring as a result of unavoidable delays, and that as a result present owners of the farms will be permitted to retain possession until next fall.

SKATING RINKS AT NORTHROP & KNOX SCHOOLS PLANNED

School Board Votes Monday to Provide for Little Children

Action was taken at the November session of the board of education Monday evening approving the establishment of skating rinks again this winter at the Knox and Northrop schools. The rinks have been in operation the past several years, and have proved to be highly popular with the smaller children.

Supt. Morris Bye reported that a comparison with the enrollment at the end of the first six weeks period last year reveals 20 fewer pupils in the grades this year and 16 more in high school, giving a total enrollment of nine less than a year ago.

Mr. Bye stated that the attendance for the first six weeks period in the local schools was excellent, ranging from 92 to 99.5 per cent in the various grades, with the exception of the Knox kindergarten class, for which the percentage was 81.

Douglas Booren Named Head of Junior Chamber

At a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening, Douglas Booren, in the employ of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, was elected president to fill out the unexpired term of Chester A. Myrum, who resigned from the office prior to his forthcoming departure from the city to accept a post in another Nash-Finch wholesale grocery branch.

RINK COMMITTEE ORGANIZES FOR COMING SEASON

Alex Campbell Named Chairman; Sub-committees Appointed

At an organization meeting Sunday Alex Campbell was named chairman of the winter sports arena committee, which includes representatives of the city council, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Civic and Commerce association, American Legion, the rifle club, athletic club and Boy Scouts. W. E. Dahlquist was elected secretary-treasurer.

At the meeting season ticket prices were fixed at $3 for men, $2 for women, $1.50 for high school students and $1 for grade school pupils. Single admissions will be on the basis of 25 cents for adults and ten cents for children. It was agreed that the arena should retain 50 per cent of the gross receipts of all hockey games as rink rental.

Subcommittees to handle various details of the arena management were appointed and include: Maintenance, William LaVave; ticket sales, A. B. Stenberg; rink promotion, O. C. Paulson; and skating show, Alvin Christofferson. Alderman Carl Christofferson will be an exofficio member of all committees.

ROCKSBURY 4-H REPORT ENTERED IN STATE EVENT

Winning Club Will Receive Phonograph and Library of Records

The report of the Rocksbury 4-H club chosen by County Agent R. M. Douglass as most outstanding in Pennington County in the National 4-H social progress program contest is now being judged in the state club leader's office in competition with other winning counties of the state.

The report, which was worked up by the club with the aid of its leader, Henry Oen, and others, lists its many activities in promoting better social, recreational and self-improvement opportunities.

The club which numbers 24 members was one of 17 competing in the county. It will receive a handsome history and year book and its leader a beautiful gold medal. The state winning club is awarded a select library of 120 Victor records especially suitable for recreational use, and an RCA Victor player. Its leader receives a complete RCA radio set valued at $109.00.

Woman's Club Notes

Music

The next meeting of the Music group will be held Monday evening, Nov. 16 instead of the following Monday as according to schedule, as the Parent-Teachers meeting is set for Nov. 23. The group will meet in the club rooms in the auditorium. Hostesses will be Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., and Mrs. J. N. Nesse.

Young Matrons

The Young Matrons were entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Rasmussen, with Mrs. Wesley Wheeler assisting Mrs. Rasmussen as hostess. A short business session was held. Mrs. Fred Fredrickson read a paper on Etiquette, and the remainder of the evening was spent in needlecraft. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Penates

Mrs. W. N. Morell, Jr., assisted by Mrs. C. A. Bloomquist, entertained the members of the Penates group at her home Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ed Johnson read a paper on "Taxation", and "Crime and Crime Control", was the subject of the paper read by Mrs. A. E. Jacobson. Crocheting formed the diversion during the rest of the evening. Twenty-one members were present, including a new member, Mrs. Ray Kiland, who joined the group Tuesday evening.

Drama

The play "The First Lady" was read by Mrs. L. B. Hartz at a meeting of the Drama group Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Andrew Bottelson. Mrs. L. G. Culver reported on the authors of the play, George Kaufmann and Katherine Dayton, and on the production of the play. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bottelson assisted by Mrs. Lincoln Arnold.

Current Events

The Current Events group will meet Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, at the home of Mrs. H. A. Brumund. Mrs. J. Provencher will assist Mrs. Brumund as hostess. Mrs. Andrew Bottelson will read a paper the title of which is "Melting Pot."

For Mr. and Mrs. Blackstad

Seventy-five relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Blackstad of Goodridge entertained for them at a shower at their home near Goodridge Sunday afternoon. Entertainment included a program of musical selections and reading by Miss Genevieve Mangnell, a social hour, and refreshments served cafeteria style. Various gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Blackstad, whose marriage occurred last month. Residents of this city who were invited to the shower were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gevling and children, John Heider, Miss Cora Horton, Miss Ethel Rambeck, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rambeck.

Entertain at Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Hulbert were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Trost and Miss Pearl Trost of Warren at dinner at the Hulbert home at 617 North Horace Ave. Wednesday evening.

Zion Sewing Circle

The Zion sewing circle will meet at the home of Mrs. E. L. Tungseth at 315 North Arnold Ave. Tuesday evening, Nov. 17. A cordial invitation to attend is extended.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglass were hosts at an informal dinner party at their home Saturday evening. Dinner was served at seven o'clock, covers being placed for eight guests.

Good Cheer Club

The Good Cheer Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Roy Rude Wednesday, Nov. 18. All members are urged to be present.

Claussen-Hanson Vows Spoken at Goodridge

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Claussen of Goodridge was the scene of a beautiful wedding Saturday, November 7, at one-thirty o'clock, when Miss Mildred Claussen became the bride of Milford Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Hanson of St. Hilaire. Rev. Baumann of Mavie officiated at the ceremony. Miss Ethel Claussen, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid, and Melvin Hanson, the groom's brother, was groomsman.

For her wedding the bride wore a tunic dress of rust colored silk rough crepe and black accessories. Her bouquet was of yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns. The bridesmaid's costume consisted of a green silk rough crepe two-piece street dress and black accessories. The rooms were decorated in colors to harmonize with the attire of the bridal party.

Mrs. Baumann played the wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party, who took their places under an arched rose trellis. Nuptial music included "Oh Perfect Love" sung by Mrs. Baumann and accompanied at the piano by Miss Lorraine Buchols of Grygla.

A beautifully decorated four-layer wedding cake served as centerpiece for the dinner table. A five o'clock dinner was served to one hundred and thirty relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will make their home with the groom's parents on a farm west of St. Hilaire for the winter months.

Hosts at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Dahlen were hosts to the board of directors of the Savings and Loan association at a six-thirty o'clock dinner at their home at 230 North Kendall Ave. Wednesday evening. Covers were laid for A. F. Mattson, Paul Lundgren, W. W. Prichard, Dr. O. F. Mellby, and Stanton Dahlen.

Royal Neighbors to Entertain

The Royal Neighbors will entertain their husbands and wives at a get-to-gether party at the Masonic hall Wednesday evening, Nov. 18. A business meeting will be held promptly at eight o'clock.

LIONESS LOOSE IN NORTH WOODS

Baudette.—Hunters in the Nestor Falls section in Ontario are getting an added thrill this year because a lioness is loose and is roaming the woods somewhere between Nestor Falls and Sioux Narrows. It is thought that the animal escaped from a circus some months ago.

BIRTHS

Moderate Temperatures Prevail Here This Week

Following a cold snap last weekend when the mercury dropped below the zero mark Saturday, temperatures moderated this week and the remaining snow has thawed each afternoon. Aside from a light fall of snow Sunday evening, no further precipitation was recorded during the week.

SHEEP SLAUGHTERED BY SPEEDING TRAIN

Grand Rapids. — Wholesale butchery of sheep was never done more rapidly than last week, when a passenger train plowed into a flock of sheep at Cohasset, killing and injuring more than 50 of the animals. The sheep were part of a flock which had been shipped from Montana for sale to farmers in the vicinity of Cohasset. They had been held for several days in corrals at the stockyards, being taken for pasture during the day. When snow began to fall heavily, an attempt was made to get the sheep back to the corral, and as they started over the railway bridge the train approached. Although the man in charge tried to attract the attention of the engineer, he could not see the sheep until the train was upon the flock, due to the heavy snowfall. The animals were struck in great numbers, being tossed high in the air. Scores of them were found later in the mud and water below the bridge.

Funeral Rites Held Friday for Elo Sanders

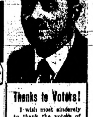
Funeral rites will be conducted Friday, Nov. 13, at two o'clock at the Highlanding church, Rev. Sabo of Mavie officiating, for Elo Sanders, who died November 9 at his home in Highlanding township. Interment will be made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Mr. Sanders was born October 7, 1850 at Blooming Prairie, Minn. In 1905 he settled on a homestead in Highlanding township, where he made his home for the remaining thirty-one years of his life. He was married in 1907 at Red Lake Falls to Anna Johnson, who survives his death.

Other surviving relatives are his two sons Sverre and Elvin, both living at home; one sister Mrs. E. P. Maynagh of Minneapolis, and one brother Sander Sanders of Minneapolis.

The Name "Mardi Gras"

The name "Mardi Gras" is derived from the old French custom of leading a fat ox in a street parade, Mardi meaning Tuesday and Gras, fat.



Thanks to Voters!

I wish most sincerely to thank the voters of Pennington County for the splendid vote given me at the last election. I assure you it was very much appreciated and I promise my best efforts in the discharge of the duties of the office.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

AUTO SHOW TIME AGAIN

Yesterday, at Grand Central Palace in New York City, the National Automobile Show, presenting the new 1937 models, opened its doors. Today, at the Winter Sports Arena in Thief River Falls, the Northwestern Minnesota Automobile Show is getting under way. Thruout the country, in large cities and small towns, people are thinking and talking in terms of automobiles.

As Americans, we have a right to be proud of our automobiles—and our automobile industry. The industry is a distinctly American institution. In this industry the benefits of mass production methods have been clearly demonstrated. Costs have been reduced. Quality has been improved. And, most important of all, reduced costs and improved quality have not been made at the expense of labor.

In this weeks issue of the United States News interesting comparisons are made between conditions in the industry at the present time and the conditions that prevailed during 1928. Production records for 1936 and 1928 are approximately the same, around four and a half million units. Compared to 1928 costs, passenger car buyers enjoyed a cash saving of $637,000,000 in 1936, and in addition to this cash saving received a product that is far superior in performance, efficiency and comfort. There are 7,000 more people employed in the industry this year than there were in 1928. With its subsidiary industries it is estimated that six million people, or about one out of every seven gainfully employed in the country, are employed in the manufacture, sale or service of automobiles.

Other interesting facts and figures presented by this paper are as follows:

Automobiles ranked first among this country's exports of manufactured products in 1935, with motor vehicle sales going to practically all countries, including Tibet.

Almost a fourth of the metal working equipment in all the factories in the United States is used by the automotive industry.

Last year 3,301,600 carloads of automotive freight paid the railroads $410,234,000.

Only 891 vehicles were imported into this country in 1935.

Three million auto radios were in use Jan. 1.

Eighty-five per cent of the installed horsepower in the United States is in automobiles.

Wholesale value of motor vehicles, parts, and tires sold in the United States and Canada during 1935 was $3,319,487,973.

Ninety-five per cent of all cars sell for less than $750 wholesale.

A complete survey of the tremendous influence of the automobile socially and economically would cover a wide field of activities. It has made a nation of tourists of us and millions of our people now make long trips each year, visiting points of interest thruout the country. It has changed the living habits of people, bringing rural communities closer to the cities and at the same time tending to decentralize industry itself. The automobile industry is an important customer of many other industries, which made the revival of the automobile industry so important a factor in the revival of the country as a whole.

The automobile has made great progress in just a few years. Looked upon at first as a luxury that only the well-to-do could afford, it now is considered a necessity by people of only ordinary means. More than twenty-six million passenger cars and trucks are now in use in the United States and less than twenty-five years ago authorities predicted that with the distribution of five million cars the saturation point would have been reached.

And what is the future of the industry? It is now estimated that five million cars will have to be manufactured each year for replacement purposes alone. The new models we see at the show today are marvels of performance when compared to the lumbering hulks of just ten years ago. But development has just started. E. R. Weidlein of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research states that the automobile has been developed to only about ten per cent of its possibilities. We are getting only about five per cent efficiency out of our fuel he states.

The encouraging thing about this situation is the attitude of the industry itself. Realizing the possibilities for improvement, manufacturers spend huge sums of money in research. Back in 1899 one manufacturer said of his product, "No better car will be made. Time cannot improve it." Manufacturers today freely predict that the automobile of twenty years from now will be as far ahead of present models as the present models are ahead of the cars of twenty years ago.

But we are interested primarily in the cars of today and today at the Thief River Falls Auto Show we have an opportunity to see the 1937 models of all the popular makes of cars. It is a thrilling display and well worth seeing. To stage such a show is no small undertaking and that so elaborate a show is being staged here, at this early date, only one day behind the National Show at New York, is a credit to the enterprising automobile dealers of this city who have made Thief River Falls the automobile center of Northwestern Minnesota.

Any man who will look into his heart and honestly write what he sees there will find plenty of readers.—Ed Howe.

In suffering one learns many things—among them, not to punish the innocent.—Charles Dickens.

Topics of the Times

By N. A. H.

An acute observer of the American scene suggests that what ails this country is not so much soil erosion as soul erosion.

Only 35 shopping days remain in which to postpone your holiday buying.

Anyway Mr. Lemke won another term in Congress.

It already begins to appear that all those snow fences along the highways may serve a useful purpose this winter.

Many a candidate, says Billy Noonan, who was out before election fixing his fences found that the voters gave him the gate.

Those new models at the automobile show will exert a powerful temptation to indulge in a little high finance.

Some local youngsters are too forward looking. They were skating on the river ice ten days ago when to do so was inviting plenty of trouble.

It's hard to figure out how Jim Farley could have overlooked the states of Maine and Vermont.

Remember parading thru muddy downtown streets in this city on that first Armistice night in 1918?

"Eyes left" was the order given at the polls.

The Steel Trust presumably will now move its iron mines out of Minnesota.

After all, the election revealed that there are still more than 15,000,000 Republican voters in the nation.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times of Nov. 11, 1926

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sempter of Hazel sustained injuries when pinned under their car which tipped over east of St. Hilaire.—Residents of this city cast 1,871 votes in the election last week.—Three buildings on Main av. north from the Auditorium, formerly occupied by H. M. Hicks, will be razed by December 15.—Charles Lieberman, local clothier, took over the lease of the Amann Clothing company on quarters in the First National bank block.—Supt. Ole Legvold of the power plant reported that in the first ten months of 1926 the water power turbines produced a total of 681,650 kilowatt hours of electricity.—By a narrow margin C. G. Selvig of Crookston defeated Knud Wefald of Hawley in the contest for ninth district congressman.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Times of Nov. 9, 1916

The outcome of the presidential race between Wilson and Hughes hinged, as the Times went to press, on the vote in California and Minnesota. Pennington county supported Wilson by a small margin.—With an ample supply of water available to supply power, the Hanson & Barzen flour mill is running night and day at this time.—The Auditorium was packed for an election night party sponsored by the Times. Returns were received by telegraph.

Through the construction of 150,000 square yards of concrete runways at the Minneapolis municipal airport, Minnesota has become one of the important aviation centers of the United States. Three runways, 150 feet wide and each about 3,000 feet long, were recently completed with W. P. A. labor. This is equivalent to nearly thirteen miles of standard 20 foot highway pavement. Only a half dozen airports in the country have a larger area of permanent, all-weather concrete runways.

Carl Elgsten Dies in Local Hospital; Lived Here 54 Years

Carl Elgsten, for fifty-four years a resident of Rocksbury township, died at 2:00 A. M. Wednesday in a local hospital.

He was born May 5, 1847, in Sweden, and was married there in 1878 to Johanna Peterson. Two years later, in the spring of 1880, they came to the United States and made their home at Red Wing. Two years later they moved to Rocksbury township and settled on a homestead where they have since made their home.

Mr. Elgsten is survived by his daughter, Anna, of this city, his son Ed of Minneapolis, a brother Nels Johnson of Spokane, Wash., and one grandchild. His wife preceded him in death on Sept. 20, 1935. One son and one daughter also preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Baptist church in this city Saturday afternoon, November 14, at two o'clock, Rev. Bjorklund officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

12-year Old Boy Dies in Grygla Hospital

Roy Mandan Nelson died in the Grygla hospital Wednesday evening, November 4, at the age of 13 years and eleven months. He was the son of Mrs. Bertha Nelson of Valley township, Marshall county.

Funeral services were held Monday at one o'clock at the Nelson home and at two o'clock at the Grygla Lutheran church, Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla officiating. Interment was made in the Grygla cemetery.

Roy Nelson was born November 7, 1922, in Valley township, and lived there all his life. He is survived by his mother, four sisters, Mrs. Nora Peterson of Gatzke, Mrs. Edna Nygaard of Grygla, Mrs. Ruth Ahlin of Sebeka, and Hazel Nelson, at home; his brothers Erwin of Grygla, and Vernon, Walter, and Herschel, all at home; also his grandfather, Hans Nelson of Twin Valley. His father and one brother preceded him in death.

Too many tell us to pull down all the bad work in the social building but do not offer us a shelter which will stand while the present edifice is made uninhabitable.

REEMPLOYMENT ITEMS

Interviewer, E. R. Stangbelle

The local National Reemployment office staff attended a subdistrict conference at Crookston last week. Representatives from the St. Paul and Bemidji offices attended the meeting.

Mr. J. S. Kvam and Harry H. Mayall, representative of the State office of the National Reemployment Service at St. Paul, on a tour of inspection throughout the state, visited the local NRS office Monday forenoon.

Minnesota ranked eighth in total placements for the month of August out of 29 states reporting for the National Reemployment Service.

Applications are requested to confine their contacts at the local NRS office to the forenoons as much as possible. The office is open at all times to private employers.

Persons interested in turkey picking should contact the NRS office.

Wood sawyers, with or without machine, can be secured through the local employment office.

Young men interested in doing odd jobs such as shoveling snow off walks should register now.

Youths sixteen years old or over may register at the National Reemployment Service.

Private employers may visit the employment office and check the files for prospective employes. If suitable applicants can be found in our files we will contact them for you. If you like, you can secure lists of registered applicants and contact them yourself at your convenience.

CHRYSLER ROYAL • CHRYSLER IMPERIAL CHRYSLER AIRFLOW

AN ENTIRELY NEW CHRYSLER INVADES LOW-PRICED FIELD
DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR THE GREATEST OF THE EIGHTS!
AMERICA'S MOST MODERN MOTOR CAR!

Chrysler invades the low-priced field!

A brand-new Chrysler Royal! A low-priced fine car . . . new style from bumper to bumper! . . . a big, roomy car! . . . a power-packed economy car!

Chrysler engineers have created an amazing new engine . . . the Gold Seal . . . 93 horsepower . . . with the highest compression for its bore the world has yet seen.

Then . . . new car style . . . new roominess . . . new riding ease . . . all at a new low price.

GOLD SEAL PRINCIPLE GIVES NEW POWER WITH ECONOMY

Gold Seal—Chrysler's new economy engine—is dynamite under complete and velvety control . . . super-high compression . . . new larger exhaust valves of Austenitic steel . . . uses ordinary gasoline. Gold Seal gives three or four more miles per gallon than many cars of much less horsepower.

With Automatic Overdrive! it gives even greater economy at touring speeds.

WORLDS OF ROOM!

Chrysler Royal is lithe, sleek, dashing . . . a wonder for room . . . 43¾ inches wide at the windshield . . . 53 inches at the center pillars . . . 54¾ inches at rear pillars . . . worlds of leg room, head room, elbow room . . . spacious, level tonneau floors.

Amazing new Aero Hydraulic Shock Absorbers . . . built like the landing mechanism of an airplane. They combine with Airflow weight distribution and Amola steel springs to give such a ride as no other low-priced car ever gave before.

Positively regal trim! Superb upholstery and appointments!

Every famous Chrysler engineering feature . . . Valve-Seat Inserts . . . Floating Power . . . time-tested, genuine Hydraulic Brakes . . . Safety All-Steel Bodies . . . finger-touch, shockless steering.

NEW 1937 IMPERIAL . . . AND NEW 1937 AIRFLOW

In the field of luxury cars, Chrysler presents two beautiful new masterpieces. In the thousand dollar range . . . the big, powerful Imperial . . . with the comforts of length and size, the beauty of long, sweeping lines, the finest of appointments, magnificent performance from 110 horsepower.

In the 1937 Airflow . . . America's most modern motor car. With new beauty, new longer, lower lines, new interiors . . . with exclusive advantages of room, riding comfort and safety made possible by Airflow design.

SEE THE CARS

The Chrysler Royal, Imperial, and 1937 Airflows are on display at Chrysler dealer showrooms.

Originated New Wheat

Years ago a Scottish farmer noticed a wheat plant in one of his fields with a branching stalk. It yielded sixty-three ears, and by saving the seed he originated a valuable new wheat.

SCHOOL BOARD PROCEEDINGS

PANG OF PARTING

Although they had known each other only three days they had to part, Smith's Weekly says.

"Come along" shouted the guard but the young man still held her hand.

"It'll be terrible without you" he sighed.

"And I'll miss you too" she said. "I was never so happy before and all because we met three days ago."

"Stand away there!" shouted the guard.

"You'll write," she shouted from the window.

"Every day." Then suddenly he tore after the train and as he almost overbalanced on the extreme edge of the platform he made a trumpet of his hands and cried: "Darling! Darling! What on earth did you say your name was?"

Keep Him Busy

Report—What is the professor's research work?

Professor's Housekeeper—It consists principally of hunting for his spectacles.

WITH ALL FOURS

Friend—Did you carry through your garden work this year?

Suburbanite—Well, I started but the worms finished it all right.

His Failure

"That fellow Jacobs has owed me $30 for two years."

"Can't you get it out of him?"

"Not a cent. But that's not the worst of it. I heard he'd started a debt-collecting business so I wrote to him and asked him to collect my debt."

"What happened?"

"He replied that all efforts to collect the money had failed and charged me $10 expenses."—Lewiston Journal.

Linguist

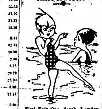
"Do you speak many languages?"

"No," said Senator Sorghum, "not to the extent of being grammatically reliable when I go abroad. There are so many dialects here in America that as a public speaker I have to study constantly with no aid whatever from a lexicon."

Cries Within Egg

The pewit bird will say "peewit," or something very like it, the moment it is hatched, and a cry from within the egg is sometimes heard.

THAT'S THE PROOF



First Fair One—Sarah, I understand that Jack is a very good diver.

Second Fair One—Well, you can see for yourself—it's four carat.

GOOD ANSWER

"What part of speech is 'woman's'?"

"Woman is ninety-nine one-hundredths of the whole speech, leaving the remaining one-hundredth to the man who is trying to get a word in edgewise."

OFF THE RECORD

Mother—Ethel, will you run to the door and call Fido, please?

Ethel—I can't mamma, 'cos I aren't speakin' to Fido since he broke my doll.

GIDDAP!

"Jim Haytossel says as how he allus pays as he goes."

"Well, if you'll notice he's chairbound most of the time."

JUST RIGHT

"A physician says that yawning is caused by an under supply of fresh air."

"That's right—also by an over-supply of hot air."

CATTY

Ella—How did I look in my new evening dress last night?

Kate—Charming, dear. Isn't it wonderful how much a dress can do for one?

EASY OPERATION

"I hear you have chills and fevers very badly in this country. How do you get rid of them?"

"Oh, just shake 'em off."

Manganese as Food

Experiments by scientists of Iowa university indicate that manganese is another of the minerals required by the body as food.

LIBERALS TO RULE LOWER HOUSE IN '37 LEGISLATURE

Caucus Wednesday Selects Elbow Lake Editor for Speaker

With a newspaper editor as speaker, a Democrat as chief clerk and a board of strategy to be formed to run the show, Farmer-Laborites took possession of one house of the legislature Wednesday, pledged to work in close harmony with Governor-elect Elmer A. Benson.

Liberal domination of the house of representatives was clinched in caucus in St. Paul when Farmer-Labor legislators were joined by enough independent liberals to assure control by a wide margin. The caucus got back of Harold H. Barker of Elbow Lake, as speaker, and he will be elected when the legislature meets January 5. He was assured more than 80 votes out of 131 in the house.

Important committee assignments will be made later, with a bloc of independents promised that some of them will be placed in key positions. A group of leaders will function as a board of strategy, conferring as they go along during the session to back up legislation desired by the new administration. John J. McDonough of St. Paul, a Democrat and former chairman of the house rules committee, but not now a member is slated to become chief clerk.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Liberal receipts of 15,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs, and 37,000 sheep arrived here at the week's opening. Better dry-fed steers and yearlings were scarce, however, and sold strong to slightly higher with lower grades dull and she stock about steady in a slow trade. A few good to choice fed steers and yearlings sold at $9.50-11.00, medium grades down towards $7.00, and plain butcher sorts $5.00-6.50. Cutter and plain heifers earned $3.50-5.50, some medium to good lots at $6.00-8.00, odd head up to $10.00. Low cutter and cutter cows bulked at $3.25-4.00, most beef cows $4.25-5.00, good fat cows up to $5.75. Sausage bulls brought $4.00-5.00 mostly, desirable vealers $7.00-8.50, cull to medium $3.50-6.50. Medium to good 600-850 lb. stocker and feeder steers brought $4.75-6.00, plain light stockers $3.50-4.50.

Hogs were steady with Saturday, better 180-300 lb. $9.00-9.35, 160-180 lb. $8.75-9.10, 140-160 lb. $8.25-8.90, 100-140 lb. killers $6.50-8.40, good light and medium-weight sows $8.50-9.00. Desirable 60-120 lb. feeder pigs earned $5.50-6.50.

Bulk of the better grade slaughter lambs brought $8.75, a few lots of selected kinds $8.90 to shippers, most throwouts $6.00-7.00. Better ewes earned $3.00-3.50, others $1.50-2.50. Strong-weight feeding lambs sold up to $7.25, lighterweights down to $6.00 or less.

1937 MODEL FORD BEING SHOWN AT LOCAL AUTO SHOW

Buyers Given Choice of Two Sizes of Motors in New Models

A new Ford V-8 for 1937, presenting definite advances in modern streamlined styling, and powered either with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine now in use in more than 3,000,000 motor cars, or a brand new 60 horse-power V-8 "economy" engine, which is a smaller counterpart of its older brother, is being displayed at the auto show this week by Lund & Tunberg, local dealers.

The cars were shown at Dearborn for the first time last Friday at a meeting of more than 8,000 Ford Dealers, the first general rally of Ford dealers from all parts of the United States ever held with Henry Ford, founder, and Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company.

Disclosure of the new lighter "economy" 60 horsepower engine as an optional power plant for the new Ford V-8 for 1937 will set at rest definitely rumors of a new "baby" Ford which have been circulated in the automobile industry for the past several years.

The new cars present many outstanding features, principal among which are:

Two engine sizes, a brand-new 60 horsepower V-8 which makes its first bow in the American motor car market, and the famous 85 horsepower V-8, with a number of important refinements. Either is available in the single chassis.

New cable-and-conduit control "soft easy action" brakes, with the "safety of steel from pedal to wheel."

New body lines in which the "tear drop" form has been used wherever practicable.

A de luxe five-passenger club coupe is the newest of the eleven body types available, five either with or without de luxe equipment and with either engine size, six with de luxe equipment and the 85 horsepower V-8 engine only. All closed body types have clear-vision ventilation system.

All-steel body, including new all-steel top, as well as steel structure, steel panels and all-steel floor.

Improved "finger-tip" steering, with increased wheel leverage.

Increased comfort, including new quietness of operation.

1936 Forest Fires Set Twenty-Five Year Mark, Director Conzet Says

The longest forest fire season in Minnesota in more than 25 years is about to draw to a close, according to Director Grover M. Conzet of the forestry division.

The season of high fire hazard this year began early in July and continued with hardly a break until late in October. At the present time heavy snows in the northern part of the state appear to have ended the period of hazard, but there is still some fire danger in central and southern parts of the state.

Mr. Conzet pointed out that fires would have caused far greater loss if the state division of forestry had not had the cooperation of the CCC camps in forested regions. Final figures as to the cost of fire fighting in 1936 and estimates of timber losses are not yet available.

ROLL CALL PROCLAMATION, THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON

The American Red Cross is close to the heart of every American. Its emblem symbolizes good will and neighborliness and brotherhood throughout our land. Its purposes spring from the deep seated desires of the people themselves, desires for restored orderly living and well-being wherever disaster and calamity strike.

All of us are proud of the work which the Red Cross did this year after the Spring floods and tornadoes. Urban dwellers and rural dwellers alike felt its ministrations in the areas devastated by wind and water as well as wherever disaster struck home in thirty-nine states.

The Red Cross program of service in disaster relief, in health work, in behalf of disabled ex-service men, in leading our children to good citizenship through the Junior organization and in all of its work for humanity, reflects the generosity and spirit of helpfulness of our citizens. The greater the Red Cross grows in membership the better this Nation and world will be. The return of prosperity brings with it an added responsibility on the part of all of us toward our neighbor in distress. We must give in proportion as we have received. When the havoc of storm, flood, accidental injury or war visits men, women, or children, this beneficient agency begins immediately its mission to heal, to mend, to replace.

Again, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, our people everywhere will have an opportunity to join the Red Cross. By joining, every American has the privilege, through individual membership, of sharing in its great work, both local and national. Membership is an evidence of good citizenship. I urge that all who can do so respond promptly and generously to the annual Red Cross membership roll call.

Former Local Resident Dies at Milwaukee

Word was received here this week by Mrs. Ed Hill that her brother-in-law George T. Jarman, a former resident of this city, died Monday in a Milwaukee hospital.

Mr. Jarman was for several years proprietor of the Soo Cafe in this city, and prior to that was for some time deputy sheriff of Red Lake county before that county was divided to form Pennington county.

Surviving relatives are Mr. Jarman's wife Bertha, his son Thad, who is a chemist with the Allis Chalmers Implement Co., of Milwaukee. Another son Claire died here several years ago at the age of seven years. Burial was at Milwaukee.

Three Local Boys Find Amputated Human Hand; Origin Still a Mystery

Three small local boys, each about ten years old, unearthed a gruesome plaything last Thursday in the form of a man's amputated left hand which they later told Police Chief A. B. Stenberg they had found enclosed in a glass jar near a local hospital. According to their story they startled more than one householder by depositing the hand on the doorstep and then ringing the bell, and also placed it temporarily inside a parked car. Local police turned the grisly find over to Coroner A. M. Smith after being told that local hospitals knew nothing of such an amputation being performed here recently.

2 1937 SERIES OF CHEVROLET CARS NOW ON DISPLAY

Master and DeLuxe Models Are Shown by Northern Chevrolet Co.

Chevrolet's 1937 models, announced as Complete Cars—Completely New, were introduced Saturday with public showings at the Northern Chevrolet company in this city and throughout the country.

Master and master de luxe models, each in six body types, comprise the two series of new Chevrolets. They are identical in chassis, engine, and body design, except for their spring suspension, rear axle and steering gear ratios, and trim and accessory equipment. Knee action, formerly optional as an extra, is now standard equipment on all Master De Luxe models at no additional cost. Master models are obtainable with semi-elliptic front springs only.

New features common to both chassis models include improved performance, especially in acceleration and hill climbing, resulting from a greater ratio of horsepower to weight; diamond crown speedline styling—a distinct departure from previous designs in overall appearance; all-silent all-steel bodies, with solid steel turret top and unisteel construction; safety plate glass all around at no extra charge; box-girder chassis frame made up of box section side rails and cross members, giving increased strength and reduced weight; new 6-cylinder high-compression valve-in-head engine, of larger bore and shorter stroke, developing 85 horsepower; hypoid rear axle drive gears, never before used in the low-priced field.

Besides these new features the Chevrolet retain all their previous basic principles, redesigned and improved. While completely changed in chassis and body, the 1937 models adhere closely to the proved engineering developed by Chevrolet through constant improvement year after year. In general the new chassis units are more compact, with a gain in strength and a reduction in weight. General effects of the changes, says the Chevrolet announcement, are improved performance, safety, economy and comfort. Reduction in the overall height has been made possible by the use of the hypoid rear axle, while increased roominess has been obtained by the re-location of the power plant and the body on the chassis frame.

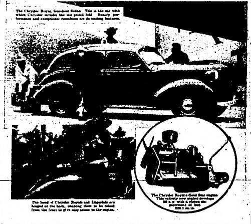
Chrysler Offers Dynamic New Cars in 1937 Lines

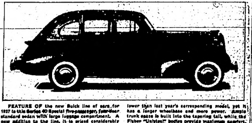


The Chrysler Royal, four-door Sedan. This is the car with which Chrysler invades the low priced field. Beauty, performance and exceptional roominess are its leading features.

The hood of Chrysler Royals and Imperials are hinged at the back, enabling them to be raised from the front to give easy access to the engine.

The Chrysler Royal's Gold Seal engine. This entirely new engine develops 93 h. p. with a piston displacement of 228.1 cu. in.

New Sedan Is Price Standout for 1937



FEATURE OF the new Buick line of cars for 1937 is this Series 40 Special five-passenger, four-door standard sedan with large luggage compartment. A new addition to the line, it is priced considerably lower than last year's corresponding model, yet it has a longer wheelbase and more power. Ample trunk space is built into the tapering tail, while the Fisher "Unisteel" bodies provide maximum comfort.

STATE TAX RATE FIXED AT 12.45 MILLS FOR 1937

State Auditor Announces a Reduction of 1.12 Mills From This Year

A state tax rate of 12.45 mills for the coming year was announced Saturday by State Auditor Stafford King. The figure represents a reduction of 1.12 mills from the rate in effect this year. For the cities of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth the rate will also be reduced to 12.22 mills, Mr. King said.

He estimated the new levy would produce approximately $14,878,000 in tax revenue, allowing for a delinquency of less than the 10 per cent shown this year. The reduction was caused by the reduction from 8.7 to 7.8 in the millage set up by the legislature to cover appropriations. Also, .04 mills was eliminated because the University of Minnesota building fund certificates authorized in 1929 have been retired.

"The 1937 legislature undoubtedly will find it necessary to raise additional funds as requirements will be increased to finance relief needs and other social security activities," said King.

"The general revenue fund deficit is $7,000,000 and will approximate $11,000,000 when state aid to the schools is paid. The department of education has been unable to certify state aid this fall because of delayed reports required from county auditors and until this is certified, we cannot know the situation accurately."

To Fifth District Voters

I wish to express my appreciation to voters in the fifth district of Pennington County for the fine endorsement given me at the polls, Nov. 3rd. Will continue, as heretofore, to work for the best interests of the district and county. Thank you all.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ASKS HIGHER AUTO FEES

Proposes Higher License Fees, One Cent Rise in Gas Tax

Increased automobile license fees, a bond issue, or a one cent increase in the state gasoline tax will be needed to finance an estimated $17,780,000 state highway department budget for next year, legislative interim tax committee members were told Saturday in St. Paul.

Present sources of income for the highway department would produce $15,892,000, G. T. Ellison, assistant highway commissioner, told the committee. Of this revenue, $7,900,000 would come from license fees and $7,792,000 from gasoline taxes.

Items in the budget estimate for next year, as submitted to the committee today, as submitted to the committee today, include financing of bonds, $4,000,000; maintenance, $7,000,000; motor vehicle division maintenance, $360,000; state share of grade crossing separation projects to match $1,400,000 federal funds, $420,000; right-of-way purchases, highway patrol expense, departmental administrative expense and non-reimbursable items on federal road aid program, $2,000,000 and for matching of federal aid, $4,000,000—a total of $17,780,000.

The highway department recommends the one-cent-gasoline tax increase and a restoration of motor vehicle license fees to the pre-depression period level, Ellison said.

He added the department also believes the one-mill road tax could be abolished since the increased revenues from the one-cent gasoline tax raise would produce approximately the same amount of allocation to the counties as would be eliminated by abolition of the one-mill road levy.

An increase of one cent in the state gasoline tax would produce approximately $3,000,000 additional, Ellison said. Of this amount, one-third would be allocated to the counties.

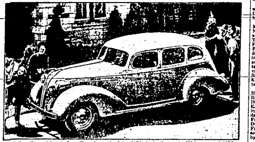
CLINGS 2 HOURS TO BOAT IN ICY WATER

Detroit Lakes.—Following the harrowing experience of clinging to a boat in the icy waters of Long lake for two hours, Leo Eldenschink escaped death to celebrate his 21th birthday anniversary. Leo, while hunting with a friend, was thrown into the icy water when his boat sunk. Although he tried to swim, he could not make it and returned to the boat, which had overturned, clinging cold and numb. His friend heard the cries for help, but could not get a boat from the nearby farmer and two hours elapsed until aid could be summoned. As the two hours clicked off their slowly moving minutes, Leo and his boat gradually drifted to shore where an ambulance waited. As his feet touched shore, he realized he had won a great battle against death and collapsed in the arms of those who had come to help.

Long, Low Contours Mark New Plymouth for 1937

REVOLUTIONARY "safety styling," and massive bodies pillowed on rubber-poise mountings for a new kind of "hushed" ride make their bow with the new Plymouth for 1937. Hypoid rear axles, complete soundproofing and big airplane-type shock absorbers are other Plymouth innovations this year. Interiors are roomier, with the added luxury that only extra space can give. Eight "deluxe" and three "business" body types are included in the 1937 Plymouth line. The models shown above are the new Four-Door Touring Sedan (lower left), the Two-Door Sedan (upper right) and Rumble Seat Coupe.

1937 Super Terraplane Sedan



Here's the sedan model in the Super Terraplane series. It has 117-inch wheelbase and a 101 h.p. motor. A 107 h.p. special power dome motor is optional equipment in this series.

Lost Teeth Early

The foods used by the early Egyptians were so abrasive that, although the people were racially endowed with beautifully formed teeth, the teeth were usually worn off at the age of thirty five and at fifty were almost gone. These facts were ascertained by a careful study of 270 skulls of ancient Egyptians among the collections of the University of California Museum of Anthropology.

"It's simply beautiful"

It will pay you to ask the questions below, about any 1937 car you are considering, when you visit the Auto Show. And remember that the completely new 1937 Hudson and Terraplane can answer "YES" to all of them.

Ask this about DRIVING and RIDING

Does the car you are looking at "almost drive itself"? • Can it offer you the latest and greatest 1937 driving advancement, which enables you to shift gears . . . at any speed you desire . . . without ever pulling a gear lever or pushing a clutch pedal? • Can you drive it all day without ever taking either hand from the steering wheel? • Has it a lower center of gravity? A solid, one-piece front axle, and long leaf front springs, wholly free from steering and braking strains?

Ask this about STYLE and ROOM

Is its style completely new . . . with longer, lower, more graceful lines? • Is it useful style, with no sacrifice of roominess and comfort? • Have wheelbases been increased? • Are bodies wider . . . front seats a full 55 inches wide? • Is there more head room, shoulder room, leg room? • Plenty of baggage room? • Is the rear floor level (no hump)? • Can you have a front floor clear of brake and gear levers? • Do fabrics, tailoring and equipment compare favorably with the costliest "luxury" cars?

Ask this about PERFORMANCE and ENDURANCE

Do you get more power than you find in any other car at the same price? • Does the car merely claim performance and endurance, or has it proved them in the most punishing stock car "torture test" of all time? • 40 new official records made by 1937 cars! • Has it proved gasoline economy, at the everyday speed of 30 miles an hour . . . instead of offering only someone's extravagant estimate? • Are all these tests officially certified by the American Automobile Association?

Hudson and Terraplane alone can answer "YES" to all these questions!

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT PRELIMINARY WORK UNDER WAY

Local Postoffice Is Giving Aid in Registering Employers

The treasury is gradually perfecting arrangements to collect taxes under the old age pension section of the social security act, it was announced in Washington last week.

Postmaster Andrew Anderson stated that the local postoffice, in common with others thruout the nation, will cooperate with the Social Security board in obtaining information from employers and assigning of social security account numbers to employes covered by Title II of the act. Forms are to be filled out by employers and returned to Mr. Anderson or Assistant Postmaster Walter Smith on or before November 21.

Among the groups of employes exempt from the provisions of the act are employes of the railroad industry subject to the carriers' taxing act; farm laborers, domestic workers in private homes, casual labor, and employes of the United States government and its subdivisions.

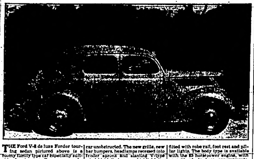
Collections most likely will be on a monthly basis, it was said in Washington, with the assessment for January falling due the last day of February. Hundreds of inquiries have come in already from the 3,600,000 employes estimated to be affected.

The board will co-operate with the postoffice until transfer of the records into its jurisdiction; but the tax collections are solely a treasury responsibility. Under the law, the tax on both employes and employers will remain at one per cent until 1939, run from then until 1943 at one and a half per cent, and gradually rise to a maximum of three per cent for 1949 and thereafter.

Whites in Porto Rico

The white population of Porto Rico is estimated as between 70 and 75 per cent.

Ford V-8 de Luxe Touring Sedan for 1937



THE Ford V-8 de luxe Fordor touring sedan pictured above is a roomy family type car especially suitable for touring. Baggage can be stowed away in the deep luggage compartment, leaving the interior of the car unobstructed. The new grille, new bar bumpers, headlamps recessed into fender aprons and slanting V-type windshield that opens, highlight the car's new lines. Seats are wide enough for three. The rear compartment is fitted with robe rail, foot rest and pillar lights. The body type is available with the 85 horsepower engine, with or without de luxe appointments, or with the new 60 horsepower V-8 engine without de luxe appointments.

RISING HOG MARKET FOR 1937 SEEN BY BERESFORD

A rising hog market for the summer and fall months of 1937 was the prediction of Rex Beresford, extension animal husbandman who spoke before the approximately 300 livestock feeders who attended the Swine and Cattle Feeders Day program held recently at University Farm, St. Paul. Discussing the outlook for livestock feeders, Mr. Beresford based his prophecy on the fact that the prospective number of hogs to go to market after January 1, 1937, would be relatively small.

WOMAN THOUGHT DEAD RETURNS TO DAUGHTERS

Farmington.—After a period of 21 years in which Mrs. Howard Rude of St. Paul was thought dead, she returned to Farmington to visit her daughters. The older of the two daughters, who was four years at the time of separation, recognized her mother when she saw her. Years ago the family of Mrs. Rude was struck with misfortune and the girls, two and four, were put in an orphanage. Later they found homes with families who treated them as their own children. The mother, whom the daughters believed to have died during the flu epidemic, re-married. Recently she decided to return to visit her daughters, who are now both married and have families. The reunion was a happy one.

LOCAL TEACHERS BACK FROM STATE EDUCATION MEET

Hear Noted Speakers at Convention Held Last Week in St. Paul

A large group of members of the faculty of the Thief River Falls schools resumed their duties Monday after spending three days last week at the convention of the Minnesota Education association in St. Paul. Many also took advantage of the opportunity to attend the Minnesota-Iowa football game in Minneapolis Saturday afternoon.

President L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota, addressing the second general session Friday asserted American educational leaders must become "instruments of social progress."

"Educators must become leaders without surrendering any of their liberties or violating the privileges of responsibility," he said. "The most important challenge to education is to keep the schools fully abreast of the needs of the times."

Speakers at an afternoon session Thursday included Dr. John G. Rockwell, state commissioner of education and Paul S. Amidon, superintendent of schools in St. Paul.

Resolutions adopted asked:

Continuation of safety education in schools; appropriation by the legislature of funds to pay in full all state aid monies, particularly those for education; allotment of state income tax revenue to schools; civil service system for all state employes; and continuation of student aid by the state and federal governments.

Good Care of Common Colds Held Necessary by State Physicians

Pneumonia appears often in people who have been suffering with colds. Members of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association therefore urge everybody to look out for colds, not only as evils in themselves, but as possible precursors of something more dangerous.

No serum or vaccine has been developed as yet, according to the physicians, that can be generally recommended as a preventive of colds or influenza. The only reliable preventives are involved in good general hygiene with plenty of sleep, care not to become chilled and avoidance, as far as practicable, of other people who are suffering from colds.

The best treatment is to go to bed promptly. If fever or chills, cough or pain in the chest or blood tinged sputum develop expert advice should be sought immediately because those symptoms suggest pneumonia and the sooner pneumonia is treated properly, the better the chances of the patient to recover quickly.

There are many types of pneumonia and an effective serum treatment has been developed to treat one of the commonest types. If this treatment could be given early the huge annual pneumonia death rate could be cut enormously according to this bulletin.

Pensions for Presidents' Widows

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln was the first woman to receive a pension from the federal government as the widow of a President. The bill granting the pension was passed July 14, 1870, and allowed her $3,000 a year from and after the passage of the act. An act approved February 2, 1882, increased her pension to $5,000 a year. Contrary to popular belief, there is no general law providing pensions for the widows of Presidents of the United States. Each pension of this kind thus far granted has been by special act of congress.

RED CROSS AID TO MORE THAN 500,000 DISASTER VICTIMS

Large Urban Areas Devastated As Elements Hit 20 States East of Mississippi

"The number of disaster victims assisted by the Red Cross during the fiscal year ended June 30 was more than four times the number aided in the previous twelve month period," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman, said in opening meeting on highlights of the annual report just issued. "Over 125,000 families were given food, clothing, shelter and medical care, and thousands of homes were rebuilt or repaired by the Red Cross to enable them to carry on."

Pointing to the many-sided problems created by the wide variety of types of disasters which occurred during the year, Admiral Grayson said, "The Red Cross sent hundreds of trained workers into 38 states to meet the needs of victims of catastrophes which included earthquake, epidemic, explosion, fire, hurricane, ice jam, landslide, refugee relief, shipwreck, tornado and typhoon. The Red Cross took charge at the scenes of 105 domestic disasters of major [illegible]."

The report emphasized the marked value of Government-Red Cross cooperation when disaster strikes, citing as example the flight of Army bombing planes which dropped Red Cross food to marooned refugees at Renovo, Pennsylvania, during the Spring floods. More than 10,000 persons were rescued from the second floors of homes in Wilkes-Barre and Kingston through Coast Guard-Red Cross cooperation at the height of these same floods.

"Government agencies and relief groups were of invaluable assistance to Red Cross relief forces at all times," Admiral Grayson stated.

The complete resources of Red Cross leadership, training and disaster experience were brought into play by the Spring floods and tornadoes which took so heavy a toll of life and property in eastern and southern states this year, the annual report reveals. The Red Cross aided 77,000 families in 14 flooded states east of the Mississippi and 6,000 families in 6 tornado hit states south of the Mason-Dixon line in this one operation.

"Never before have so many communities [illegible] borne the brunt of attack by wind and water within a single year, challenging Red Cross preparedness and efficiency by so wide a variety of pressing human problems," Chairman Grayson said.

In its work of relief to disaster sufferers the Red Cross expended in excess of $8,300,000 for the year. The report points out that this figure does not include assistance given in 29 lesser disasters with a total of 3,000 persons aided, and adds that additional millions will be used to "clean up" Spring floods and tornadoes.

"Numerous local disaster situations occurring during the year were met by Red Cross chapter funds and manpower," Admiral Grayson said. "In each major relief operation undertaken the great army of Red Cross volunteers aided trained workers with the task of rehabilitating those without resources who had suffered losses."

"The Red Cross disaster relief service is one of many Red Cross activities supported by the American people through membership at the time of Roll Call, held each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving."

Red Cross Nurses Combat Illness on Wide Front

At the close of the fiscal year ended June 30 there were 673 Red Cross nurses bettering health conditions and caring for the sick in 604 communities. These Red Cross public health nurses cared for a total of 303,616 persons during the year and made more than a million visits on their behalf.

The annual report of the American Red Cross states further that these nurses cooperated with doctors in examining 471,063 school and preschool children, with 142,[illegible] physical defects found and correction treatment arranged in 200,050 cases.

In 790 Red Cross chapters 1,232 [illegible] taught Red Cross home hygiene and care of the sick, issuing certificates to 58,120 persons completing the course. In addition, 1,777 Red Cross reserve nurses were called upon during the year for disaster and epidemic control work.

Membership in the American Red Cross last year showed an increase of 300,000. A total of 4,127,000 men and women enrolled, their dollars enabling the expanding Red Cross program of service to be carried forward at full strength. An increased membership is sought this year at Roll Call time, November 11 to 26, to meet the increasing demands upon the organization during 1937.

Fortifications Still Attract

The immense fortifications of Cartagena, Colombia, loom up as they must have done to the freebooters of old. Their 40-foot walls are well preserved, and visitors make them an important objective of their sightseeing. Other famous monuments of Cartagena denote its eventful and glamorous past: the Church of San Pedro Claver and the tomb of the saint whose labors among the negro slaves won him the title of the Apostle of the Indians, and La Popa Hill, crowned by the ruins of a white convent where strange legends of the "Madre de Popa" are still told.

U. of M. Student Loses His Pants on Alf Landon

A number of politicians figuratively lost their shirts on the election but Dixon Andrews, University of Minnesota student from Faribault, lost his pants.

Andrews, a sophomore in the college of agriculture, bet on Landon with Maurice Tuccillo student from Scarsdale, N. Y. The loser, game to the core, paid his forfeit last Thursday.

As the weekly convocation crowd assembled at noon in front of Northrup auditorium, Andrews, minus his trousers, walked in solemn dignity across the promenade in front of the building.

Hundreds of amused and hilarious students read the sign he carried suspended around his neck.

It read: "I lost my pants on Landon."

RIVER VALLEY

The River Valley creamery board met last Wednesday evening for the purpose of opening bids for wood to be used by the River Valley Co-operative creamery the coming year. The Hall committees also met the same evening.

The town board of Deer Park and the Hall committees met last Saturday evening in regard to their calling a special town meeting to decide whether or not the town board of Deer Park should be authorized to sponsor the W. P. A. Hall building project. It is understood that all necessary funds are to be furnished by the River Valley Community Club and the hall to be turned over to the club when completed. —The River Valley Forum was postponed last week on account of the election. —Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mandt left for Duluth Sunday where their son Lowell will be given medical aid. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lundeen. —What has been known as the Driscoll farm has been converted from a raw swamp and brush land into tillable soil. Laborers have been at work all summer grubbing, piling brush and later tractors have been braking, and men have been busy hauling stone and grubs. A field of 100 acres in flax, broke last year yielded the owners a good harvest this year.—Mr. and Mrs. Nels Fore and Bjorne Fossum visited at the G. A. Hovland home in Plummer Sunday.

Dinner will be served at the Clearwater Ladies aid, and a sale afterwards at the church Thanksgiving day. —Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lillo are residing on what was the Martin Fore homestead in Hickory. —Miss Rachel Anderson of Grygla and Anne Mandt, students at the Bemidji S. T. C. visited at their parental homes over the week end. —Arthur Gustafson have had the well drillers on his place a few days. It was thought for a while that the striking of water was hopeless, but a vein was finally struck at a depth of about 200 feet. —Stanley Rodniecki of Thief River Falls called at River Valley Monday. —Miss Alice Hedlund, who has been visiting at the A. M. Mandt home, returned to her home in McIntosh Sunday.

Bennie Bendickson made a business trip to Thief River Falls Friday. —Alvin, Anne and Gladys Mandt were shoppers in Thief River Falls Saturday. —Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Radniecki visited at the Stanley Depta home in Hill River Sunday. —James Radeck received an injury on his hand, which resulted in blood poisoning. To date, he is recovering nicely.

Elephants Vegetarians

Despite their great size and ferocious appearance, provided, as they were, with two sets of tusks apiece and huge molar teeth that were renewed if the animal lost them, prehistoric elephants were vegetarians, dining chiefly on trees, shrubbery, grass and other forms of vegetable matter. During glacial ages they were triply protected from the cold by one long coat of hair and two woolly coats.

Red River Valley History

By Ida E. Hedding

Early Day Railroad Data

Resuming the account of Thief River Falls as a railway center, in the early historical booklet, we find that the Soo offices here were a busy place at that time, and that the Great Northern railroad also had an extensive business. We find in the account a prophetic attitude on the part of the author. While it may have seemed extravagant then to us, we know the idea now seems very modest. But we have an article confined to prophecy in the booklet, written by Rev. Ino H. Smith, who wrote:

"From twenty to thirty thousand dollars worth of business is done each month at the local offices of the Soo Line, and ten thousand dollars worth of business is done month at the local offices of the Soo Line, and ten thousand dollars monthly at the Great Northern office, and it is gratifying to know that during the financial stringency of the past year, that business increased monthly at Thief River Falls.

"It needs no prophetic eye to see that in the not far distant future Thief River Falls will have a line of railroad to the Zenith City opening up a wonderful country of prairie, forest, and stream, covering a great portion of Northern Minnesota, whose silence as yet is unbroken by the whistle of the locomotive.

"In other articles in this book mention has been made of the vast territory lying east of this city which has not yet been penetrated by any railroad, so that people have been and are now coming to Thief River Falls from a distance of over fifty miles to the east and northeast, and on account of this lack of transportation facilities this large territory is not producing one tenth of what it is capable of, and it does not take a prophet to see this territory must be accommodated with railroads.

"Knowing these conditions, some of the business men of the city have within the last year organized a company for the purpose of building an electric railway into this territory and steps have already been taken to secure water power with which to produce electric power and inspections have been made with the idea of locating the line and it is safe to say that this line will be built within the next two or three years. This line will become one of the great feeders for this city and will insure the northeastern territory to this city forever and will at the same time be a blessing to the farmers in this vast region.

"When this has been accomplished, together with a line from Duluth and the county seat has been located here, which is sure to happen, there is no question but Thief River Falls will be a very large city.

"One question is always pertinent in regard to new towns that have sprung up so rapidly in this great Northwest. It is this: what of the future? It is a question that prospective settlers ask, and have a right to ask regarding any community where they think of making their home or investing their capital. This question we shall endeavor to answer, in as conservative a manner as facts will warrant, in relation to Thief River Falls.

"In the territory that must always be tributary to our city, there are 8,500 quarter sections of land, of which 6,000 quarter sections are, as yet unoccupied. Some of this land requires draining; but every foot of it can ultimately be brought under the plow. Let us pause at this point, and calculate the possibilities of this territory, with one family of five on each section of land it is easily capable of sustaining 20 cows; and that a net annual profit of $25.00 per cow can readily be realized, on a total net, annual profit of over $1,000,000 from cows alone.

"Great as these figures appear they are the result of calm sober thinking and are below rather than above the results that may be reasonably expected. But actual farming operations have demonstrated beyond a doubt the fertility of the soil and its adaptibility to the culture of wheat, barley, oats, rye, flax and all garden vegetables, giving ample assurance that diversified farming can be carried on with profit. When these simple facts are more generally understood there will be no difficulty in securing our city and its environment a large and thriving population.

"Closely connected with and growing out of, a flourishing agriculture, are plants of various kinds, such as creameries, cheese factories, and slaughter houses, where the products of the farm will be turned into articles of commerce.

"These will be supplemented by such establishments as fostered by our natural location and facilities. It only needs to be known that water power capable of running a score of factories is simply awaiting development and can be supplied cheaply, to bring to our doors, factories that will turn our lumber into furniture, hard-wood flooring, wagon, boxes, and commercial fixtures."

GOLDEN EAGLE SHOT AT HAWLEY

Moorhead.—In addition to his bag of pheasants, A. W. McConn of Moorhead, wholesale potato dealer, brought home a large golden eagle which had a wing spread of seven feet, two inches and weighed 20 to 25 pounds. McConn was hunting in the Hawley area when he spied the eagle perched in a tree. Thinking at first that it was a large hawk, he sneaked up on it and came close enough to wing it, then ran up and put a shot through its neck. The bird had talons as large as a man's hand. In the claws were found bits of sheep wool, indicating it had been carrying off lambs. The eagle, believed to be the largest of its kind killing in the Moorhead area, will be mounted and presented to the Fargo Eagles lodge.

ADULT LEARNING IN NEW U CENTER WILL BEGIN SOON

Project to Bring Organized Groups of Adults to "U" Campus

Representatives of more than 50 statewide organizations in civic, professional, educational, business and governmental fields in Minnesota have accepted invitation to take part in the dedicatory conference of the University of Minnesota's new Center for Continuation Study on November 13 and 14. The delegates will spend much of Friday discussing in groups the services which the new center can supply to them, while on Saturday morning they will hear a panel of speakers on "What should be the university's services to adult leaders." One of the speakers will be Margaret Culkin Banning of Duluth.

The meeting will start off a Minnesota educational project that has attracted national attention because it presents a new approach to the problem of adult education. The Minnesota plan will be to bring to the campus for fairly long periods organized groups of people concerned with a central subject, such as dentistry, engineering, cooperatives, or civic water supply.

Arthur E. Bestor, president of the Chautauqua Institute, Chautauqua, N. Y., and president of the American Association for Adult Education and Alvin S. Johnson of New York, director of the New School for Social Research will be the visiting speakers. Following the Friday morning program Dr. Bestor will speak at noon on, "Toward a new system of education" and at Friday's dinner meeting Dr. Johnson will discuss, "The meaning of educational reconditioning."

President L. D. Coffman, who originated the new project and obtained WPA funds to help erect the new building that is to be dedicated, will open the two day conference, speaking on, "The purpose". He will be followed by Dr. Harold Benjamin, director of the Institute, whose topic will be, "The Plan".

WOMAN FINDS $150.00 IN BILLS IN WASHING

Albert Lea.—A West Hollandale housewife was surprised on wash day when she opened her washing machine to hook a bundle of clothes from the hot suds and discovered with the clothes a $10.00 bill. Amazed at such a find she lifted the next haul with speed and energy and found a large roll of bills. She netted a total of $150.00 in fresh washed bills, very clean, ready for circulation upon repair of the machine damage. It developed that the head of the house had carefully parked the bills in his shirt pocket for safe keeping, had thrown the shirt in to a corner of the clothes closet and since then worried about what had become of the money to be used in payment of expenses due.

BANK SAVES CASH, MAN CAN GO WEST

St. James.—Due to the alert action of Watonwan county bankers and police officers in saving an inheritance which might have fallen into the hands of some slicker real estate men, Hilding Nelson is on his way to California to spend the winter. Stepping from a train in St. Paul, Nelson met a man who greeted him as an old friend. A conversation ensued and the man discovered Nelson had fallen heir to some money. He tried to interest him in a farm near Anoka, which he could buy and turn again shortly at a profit of $3,000. Nelson came home and endeavored to raise the necessary money at his bank in Ormsby. He was given a cashier's check, but was unable to cash it, the sheriff having warned all banks in the vicinity. The man who was making the deal slipped out of town when he found that Nelson was having difficulty in getting his cash. Nelson did not suspect that he was being cheated, ever after he could not find the man who wanted to make the deal.

107-YEAR-OLD MAN ASKS FOR PENSION

Fergus Falls.—The oldest resident in Otter Tail county, Michael Heise of Aurdal, who will celebrate his 107th birthday anniversary on Christmas Day, has made application for old age assistance at the Fergus Falls court house. Born in Poland more than a century ago, Mr. Heise came to America [illegible] years ago and has lived in Otter Tail county for 50 years. He is a widower, has been twice married and has no children. Mr. Heise has never been ill in his life and is still in good health although he is somewhat feeble [illegible] can be proved by papers which be brought from Poland.

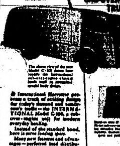
THE 1½-TON INTERNATIONAL CAB-OVER-ENGINE TRUCK



The above view of the new Model C-300 shows how readily the International cab-over-engine chassis lends itself to specialized body design.

International Harvester presents a truck of striking design for today's demand and tomorrow's traffic—the INTERNATIONAL Model C-300, a cab-over-engine unit for modern everyday hauling.

Instead of the standard hood, here is extra loading space.

Many new features and advantages—perfected load distribution for operating economy, short-turning radius, accessible engine, increased visibility and driver comfort in a low-priced truck for the 1½-ton field.

Two wheelbase lengths: 99-in. for 11 and 12-ft., and 117-in. for 13, 14, and 15-ft. bodies back of cab. Call us for an early demonstration of INTERNATIONAL'S new cab-over-engine truck.

Steel Reinforced With Steel

COMPLETING installation of the interior bracing in the new "unisteel" turret top body by Fisher that features the 1937 General Motors cars. Greater resistance to torsional, beam and compression stresses than is possible with any other type of construction is claimed for the new body, since the inner and outer structures are welded into a permanent shock-resisting unit and both carry a portion of the load.

Clearwater Co. Votes $40,000 Bond Issue to Build New Court House

Approval of a bond issue not to exceed $40,000 for the purpose of erecting a county court house under one of two federal plans was given by the voters of Clearwater county at the general election November 3, says the Bagley Farmers Independent. The vote was 3,048 for the bond issue, and 1,468 against.

According to the tentative plans submitted to the county board by the architect, who also designed the Bagley school addition, the new court house will have a full basement and two upper floors. It will be 68 by 100 feet in size, fronting to the east as does the present wooden building.

The architect's estimate as to the cost is $65,000 and he guarantees the figure within five per cent. The federal grant allowed by PWA last week was for $29,250. This is a grant of 45 per cent of the proposed cost. The county's share would thus be approximately $35,750.

N. W. AGGIE TEAM ENDS SEASON PLAY WITH FINE RECORD

Several From This Section Were Members of the 1936 Squad

The Northwest School won the state school of agriculture football championship as a result of a 7-0 victory over the Morris Aggies and a scoreless tie with the Grand Rapids Aggies. Coach R. J. Christgau's teams have therefore won five championships during the eight years he has been in charge of athletics at the Northwest School.

The 1936 season opened on the home field, after four days of practice, with the Grand Forks high school reserves as the opposing team. Followers of the team were surprised at the performance staged by an entirely new forward line supported by three veterans in the back field. The score ended 14-7 in favor of the Northwest School. On October 9, the Northwest team met Park River, North Dakota on the latter's home field and went down to defeat by a score of 19-0. In this game, Joe Wideth, brother of the University of Minnesota All-American tackle and a former Northwest School star, made an excellent showing for one who had had only eleven days of football practice. The following week, the Northwest School met the Grand Rapids Aggies on the latter's home field and played to a scoreless tie. The most brilliant performance of the season was staged in connection with the Home Coming celebration Saturday, Oct. 24, when Coach Christgau's warriors defeated the veteran Morris Aggie team by a score of 7-0. In the closing game of the season, the Aggies defeated the strong Mahnomen High School team by a score of 6-0.

SILVERTON

All who wish to take part in the Christmas program please meet at Silverton church on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15 after church.

Barstad home. —Carl and Alphen Berggren are employed at a wood cutting camp near Red Lake. —Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum and children and John Ranum a nephew of Mr. Ranum from Grand Forks, who is visiting at the Ranum home, were guests Friday evening at the O. T. Gilbertson home. —Mrs. O. Hedahlen of Thief River and Mrs. O. T. Gilbertson were brief callers Saturday at the Neal Paulson home in Thief River Falls. They also visited at the home of Mrs. John Rude, a former resident of this vicinity but now residing on the former Gilbert Hovle farm west of Thief River Falls.

Martin Barstad came Wednesday from Moorhead Teachers College where he is a student to spend the remainder of the week at his parental home. Mr. Barstad was accompanied by his roommate Olaf Styler who visited at the Barstad home until Friday. Mr. Barstad returned to Moorhead on Sunday afternoon to resume his studies.—A large gathering enjoyed the program on Sunday afternoon given by the Luther League at the Barstad home and consisted of a reading by Estelle Hanson, two songs by the Angell sisters, a short talk on sending the young folks to college by Martin Barstad and routine business.

Sherwin Ranum attended the basket social held at his boyhood school near Holt on Saturday evening. —Martin Barstad and Olaf Shyler of Moorhead visited Elwell school on Thursday. —Bernice, Rack and Dorothy Woolson visited at the Barstad home Thursday.

The pupils of Elwell school enjoyed a Hallowe'en party on Friday afternoon. The occasion was also the birthday of Margery Christensen. —The following pupils made the second months honor roll at Elwell school. Joanne Omundson, Grace Sundt, Doris Helgeland, Pearl Peterson, Clyde Christensen, Margery Christensen, Doris and Hazel Hegrenes, Elfie Hanson, Vera Luhe. —Elwell school finished and turned in their collection for the Red Cross to Mrs. Brumund and will soon be working on their Christmas Seal allotment.

Rural Electrification Making Rapid Progress in Minnesota, Says Hay

Progress in rural electrification is such that a million farm homes throughout the nation will be able to see the new year in by electric light, according to the Rural Electrification administration. It is possible that 2,317 additional farm homes in Minnesota may have this service by the first of this year, J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, has informed the Minnesota Farm Bureau. About 10 per cent of Minnesota farms now have high line or private electric service.

Six co-op power lines are now under construction, they being Meeker, McLeod, Southern Lake county, Douglas, Jackson-Martin and Wells, in Faribault county. Seven other co-ops have received loan allotments and ten are in line to receive their loans and make contracts immediately.

County farm bureaus are taking a leading part in promoting the local co-ops in most Minnesota communities, and through their office at Washington are keeping in close contact with developments there, according to officers.

Cent, or Penny

Our copper coin is defined in an act of congress of 1790 as: Cent: "The highest copper piece of which 100 shall be equal to the dollar." When an additional act outlawed the circulation of the English penny in America in 1787 the name "penny" was applied to the American one-cent piece by popular usage. It is still known by both names.

"WON'T GO HOME", SAYS 14-YEAR OLD

Sleepy Eye.—A 14-year old girl, who together with a 17-year old boy, was taken into custody in the railroad yards at Sleepy Eye, says that she has definitely made up her mind that she will not return to her home. The youngsters, whose homes are in Frankfort, Indiana, decided to hop a freight train and head for Florence, South Dakota to seek employment. Both were greatly disappointed when their trip was abruptly ended, following a police radio broadcast advising officers to be on the lookout for them. They were picked up at Sleepy Eye, and word was sent to their home town, the sheriff leaving at once to take the boy and girl back to their homes. They gave no reason for running away except that they wanted to find work in South Dakota.

Tall Tales

As told to FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Champion of the Oil Fields

ASK any Texas or Oklahoma oil-driller who's the best in his business and he's certain to answer "Why, Kemp Morgan, of course!"

Ask him why and he will tell you it's because Kemp had more unusual experiences than any other seeker after "black gold" ever did.

For instance there was the time Kemp lost his best drill. He was working in soft ground but he noticed that the drill kept going slower and slower the farther it went down. Pretty soon it stopped completely. When Kemp tried to pull it out, it was stuck fast. Come to find out that he had hit an alum mine and the hole had shrunk up around the drill so tight that even Kemp couldn't budge it.

Then there was the time a Texas "norther" swooped down on Kemp's rig. But it didn't stop him—no sir-ree! He just kept on drilling, and brought in a 22-inch gusher. It was so cold that the oil froze as it spurted upward so there was a solid column of frigid oil. Kemp just took out his knife, hacked it off in three-foot lengths and shipped it to the refinery on flat cars.

That was in Texas but Kemp had a funny experience once in Oklahoma. He drilled a well so deep that it tapped a rubber mine 'way down in Brazil. She began to gush pure rubber, so Kemp just blew his breath on it to make it solid, cut it off in 11-foot lengths and shipped it to the place in Ohio where they made tires for trucks.

When the average driller brings in a "duster," he moves his rig away from there pronto. But not Kemp Morgan! He knew what a tough time the Kansas farmers had digging postholes in the summer when the ground was baked hard. So whenever he'd strike a dry hole, he'd just take his two hands, pull it up four feet and two inches at a time and saw it off. Then he'd ship a carload of these lengths across the state line where they always found a market.

Early Indian Custom

One of the customs of the early Ohio Indians was to assemble each autumn along the banks of the Cuyahoga at Cleveland and indulge in a general frolic. After piling up their canoes on the river bank and turning over all their weapons to their squaws so that they wouldn't harm each other in their excitement, they would settle down to imbibing all the whisky they could hold. In the spring of 1700 they were assembled and frolicking as usual, purchasing their supplies of fire-water from Maj. Lorenzo Carter, a Cleveland pioneer. In proportion as the redskins became more inebriated, Carter would weaken the whisky by diluting it with water—until after hours and hours of frolicking the Indians became almost sober from drinking.

Santo Domingo Founded in 1496

Santo Domingo was founded in 1496 and has lived for more than four and one-third centuries as perhaps the most picturesque example of a Spanish colonial town of the Sixteenth century to be found anywhere. It is surrounded by ancient walls with bastions, and its streets are straight and narrow and unchangeable through the existence of massive houses built of stone for permanence. The cathedral in this earliest of settlements has age of its own, dating from 1512, and contains the reputed tomb of Columbus. And the cell in which Columbus and his brother were confined is shown in the old fortress.

The King's Road

Wherever you live, you are certain to have heard of that famous thoroughfare in London called Rotten Row, says Pearson's London Weekly. And most likely you've wondered why it has such a funny name. Kings have used that thoroughfare for hundreds of years, since the the days when it led from the palace at Westminster towards the Royal hunting forests. Because it was the road used by kings it was known as the Route du Roi (French for "the road of the King")—and Rotten Row is just a corruption of that name.

Endless Fight

Biggs—I suppose you're still going around with the same girl?

Giggs—Yeah. One round after another.

The Time Factor

Lizzie—Does a giraffe get a sore throat if it gets its feet wet?

Izzie—Yes, but not till the next week.

A Scream

Employer—Sure, I'm looking for an office boy. Do you smoke?

Boy—No, thanks, but I'll take some ice cream!

VIKING

Last Wednesday evening the Viking 4-H club held their meeting at the village school house. A business meeting was held after the program. The officers elected were leaders, August Peterson and Mrs. Paul Engen; assistants, Rev. H. O. Peterson and Solvig Samuelson; president, Gerold Peterson; vice president, Fern Anderson; secretary, Charles Gustafson; treasurer, Bernice Tangquist; reporters LaVern Peterson and Clarion Frederickson. Rev. H. O. Peterson and Solvig Samuelson were presented with a purse of money for the splendid work they have carried on the past year. Luncheon was served in their honor after the meeting. A large number of folks from here attended, also some from Newfolden. The social part of the evening was greatly enjoyed.

The Ladies aid of the Mission Church held their annual business meeting at the church last Wednesday afternoon. Officers reelected are: pres. Mrs. Emil Beckman, vice president, Mrs. John Larson; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Anderson; assistant, Mrs. Alton Cackst. Committee for Sunshine fund, Mrs. Emma Tangquist, Mrs. E. O. Styrlund and Mrs. A. A. Tornell.

Lila Urtes of Warren visited at the Henry Rud home over the week end.—Kennet Greenley of Minneapolis spent Saturday and Sunday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. F. O. Styrlund spent a few days at her sister's home, Ole Anderson at Warren. —David Drotts and Casper Shefveland were business callers at Grand Forks last Wednesday. —The Shipping Association shipped a carload of [illegible] Saturday.—Alton [illegible] Thief River Falls [illegible] caller here [illegible] Bowman accompanied by Mrs. Carl Bloom and son LaVern of Rosewood motored to Thief River Falls to visit Carl Bloom at the sanatorium. —The Lindquist folks gave a party for Mrs. Charlie Lindquist who left Tuesday for Grand Forks to visit her sister. From there she will leave Wednesday for California to spend the winter.—Gladys Sorenson of Thief River Falls spent Friday here with her folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sorenson and daughter Doris were callers at Thief River Falls Saturday.—Albert Hellquist and son Victor of Rosewood is busy drilling wells at the Gilbert Odden and Clarence Tangquist farms.—Frank Hanson and family motored to Grand Forks Monday accompanied by Mrs. O. H. Hanson who spent a couple of days with her daughter, Mrs. I. G. Lodoen. From there she left of Wednesday for Boise, Idaho to spend the winter.

A large crowd attended the apron social at the Lutheran church Saturday evening.

Highest, Lowest Temperatures

A temperature of 134 degrees was recorded at Greenland ranch in Death Valley, California, on July 10, 1913. This is said to be the highest observed under proper conditions of exposure with standard thermometers. The coldest is probably 65 degrees below zero, recorded at Fort Keogh, Montana, in January, 1888.

Beginning of Fairy Tales

The [illegible] fairy tale is usually considered to have begun with Hans Christian Andersen. It is distinguished from the traditional or folk tale in that it is the known creation of a modern author, whereas the folk tale has come down to us through the centuries by oral transmission.

When the Dinosaur Ruled

There was a period, some geologists estimate it at 135,000,000 years, when the dinosaur in almost innumerable forms, were as truly masters of the earth as the mammals, including man, are today. That was the Reptile age, or the Mesozoic era.

Storvick (Helen Weeks) of Mason City, Ia., and Milton Weeks of Minneapolis, who arrived Sunday morning; Pearl Weeks of Madison, Minn., Karl Weeks of Kerkhoven, and Joseph Weeks of Minneapolis, who arrived Monday; and Mrs. Nelson (Gladys Weeks) of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. Chester Vinard (Josie Weeks), of Chicago, who arrived Tuesday.

The Grotto of Lourdes

It is estimated that the Grotto of Lourdes has been visited by 25,000,000 persons since 1858 when, according to tradition, the Virgin Mary revealed herself repeatedly to a peasant girl and the healing efficacy of the spring was revealed. No precise data have been published as to the total number of permanent cures. It is estimated that 2 per cent of the visitors are pilgrims in search of a cure. Of these, 1.5 per cent profess to be cured.

Miss Ila Moe, who teaches at Wylie, spent the week end at her home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Cloutier, Miss Gertrude Engelbert, and Leo Duffield spent Sunday at Grygla.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Peterson spent the week end with the latter's parents at Crary, N. D. They returned Monday.

Leonard Hellquist returned Monday after spending the week end in the Twin Cities visiting with his brother Ernest, a junior at Macalester college, and attending homecoming festivities at the University of Minnesota and Macalester college.

Growing With Your Child

Attitudes Toward Adults

The stages through which a child passes in his relations with adults make an interesting study. While a tiny baby may display rebellion toward the adult who is undressing him, or washing him, his rage is directed, not at the person, but at the blocking and thwarting which he is undergoing. Because of their almost complete helplessness and inability to do anything for themselves, babies tend toward a passive relationship with the adults who care for them. Not until they begin to be interested in holding a spoon, and feeding themselves, or getting something an adult does not want them to have, can they be said to begin to build up resistance. When a baby has advanced to the stage of being cooperative in trying to put his arm into a sleeve, or wanting to hold the cup from which he drinks, advantage should be taken of his desire to do for himself. Even if it were unimportant to encourage habits of independence and selfhelp, it would still be desirable to let a child do as much for himself as possible, because of the danger, otherwise, of his developing feelings of antagonism and opposition toward the adults who surround him.

Between the ages of two and three, as a matter of fact, a baby seems to pass through a period of "resistance against adult influence and striving for power and independence." This is often described as "negativism." Our interest here in this phenomenon has to do with its effect on the child's social relationships, which may be far-reaching if it (the negativism) is carelessly handled.

Insofar as it represents a child's striving to make a place for himself in the world as he knows it, it is a perfectly healthy and natural thing. If, however, he is balked at every turn, his natural desire to get along without a great deal of assistance may curdle into obstinate delight in foiling and thwarting the wishes and commands of his parents. The parent who says, "The only way I can get my child to do a thing is to tell him not to do it," is admitting that he has approached the guidance of his child's independence wrong end to.

The desire to be on pleasant terms with others is just as strong in the child as in the adult. If his obvious delight in his own power over others is not magnified by too much attention or by punishment, he will soon adjust himself to his new-found status, and cheerfully cooperate in what may reasonably be expected of him. The four or five-year-old who has been wisely handled during the time when he was increasingly able to get about alone and do things for himself shows a friendly attitude toward the adults in his environment which augurs well for his future work and play relations.

It is quite as possible for a child to build up too great dependence upon his parents as resistance against them. Extremely intimate and clinging relations between mother and child are to be deplored, because of the likelihood that they will prevent the development of easy and natural relations with individuals outside the home. A child who has been too much with his mother fears and dislikes kindergarten; the boy or girl who has been encouraged to continue childish dependence on parents past its natural limits finds himself or herself terribly homesick on going away to college.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

ST. PAUL HOST TO MINN. TEACHERS

M. E. A. Sessions Held in City Auditorium Last Week

Last Thursday and Friday the local schools were closed to enable the teachers to attend the State Teacher's Convention which was held in St. Paul. The convention opened on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. This year marked the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Minnesota Education Association.

The teachers were given the opportunity to hear several noted speakers at the convention. John Gunderson Rockwell, State Commissioner of Education and Charles W. Gilkey, Dean of the Chapel, University of Chicago were two of the important speakers. Others were: Stuart Chase, economist and writer, who spoke on "The Economy of abundance; Lotus D. Coffman, President of the University of Minnesota, "Challenge to the Association"; Ray W. Hatch, head of the Department of Social Studies of State Teachers College, Montclaire, New Jersey, "Training in Citizenship"; the Rt. Honorable Lord Marley, Deputy Speaker of House of Lords, London, "Recent Developments in International Relations."

On Friday special group sessions were held for all the different departments included in elementary and high schools.

The teachers were also given the opportunity to hear the St. Paul Civic Opera Company when it presented "Cavalleria Rusticana", with guest artist, Harvard Lorany, who is a graduate of a St. Paul school and has received world wide fame. This was done through the courtesy of the detail division of the St. Paul Association of Commerce.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Miss Helquist's General Science classes have been studying how to get air to work. Particular interest was shown in the caisson and the pupils discussed the movie "Under Pressure" as an example.

The Latin II students have been reviewing first year Latin and studied translation of the stories.

English III classes have begun the study of early American Literature. The Sophomores have started library lessons.

CALENDER OF EVENTS

Nov. 20: The Junior class will present their play "The Nut Farm".

Nov. 26-27: Thanksgiving vacation.

Mr. Lundgren Speaks to Students on Armistice

On Wednesday, November 11, Armistice day, given due recognition in Lincoln High School. Mr. Paul Lundgren spoke at the assembly on Wednesday morning. Music was furnished by Chorus groups. The boys glee club sang a medley of war songs including "Good-bye Broadway, Hello France", "It's a Long Way to Tipperary", "My Buddy", Hinky-Dinky Parley Voo", "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "Over There." The girls' sextette rendered "Belgian Rose" and "Rose of Normandy".

There was a half-holiday, Wednesday afternoon.

THE SCREAMER

And how are all you young things after such an exciting (?) vacation. The old homestead was rather a quiet place with so many at either convention or home-coming. As a matter of fact, we'll bet plenty of kids crept up on a lot of lost sleep. Right? I thought so! But poor Mr. Montague and Mr. Riggs. It seems as though conditions were not so favorable for driving and they both maintain that they lost at least five years of their life. Too bad, too bad! And do you know why? Cause they had a most difficult time keeping the windshield clean!

Well, anyway, some of the junior girls took advantage of the vacation. Guess how! They were actually trying to dance! Not a bad idea—suppose some of you boys snatch the idea. No kidding!

Who says styles are advancing? Quite the contrary; No doubt you know to what this is printed. That new fad in shoes—high ones, mind you. No offense, Ardith, we really think they are quite the thing.

Of all the dumb stunts ever pulled, Floyd M. certainly pulled the dumbest one the other night. Some clever young somebody gave him a piece of incense which he ate. And then he wondered why he got sick!

Rog. W. and Pomeroy H. haven't returned from homecoming yet. Of course we won't wish to be curious, but nevertheless we would just as soon know the why and wherefores.

We hear that hunting wasn't so good this week end. Not hunting dears(?) by any chance, were you, Baken.

Oh boy! Wouldn't a human hand look lovely on your front porch? Especially with nobody attached to the hand. Well you can start worrying about it now, cause you might find just that thing any day now. It has been seen by some of our citizens and were they scared? Yaw, just plain scared! And then they say that nothing ever happens in this town!

Pennsylvania's Only President

PRACTICE DEBATE TEAMS CHOSEN

Four Teams of Debaters Begin Work

During the past few weeks the debate squad has been gathering material for use in the active debating which will soon begin. Mr. Montague has arranged the debaters into the following teams for practice debates: Vernon Wedul and Robert Smith, affirmative; Marjorie Mathesan and Fae Belcher, negative; Bruce Prichard and Marion Oden, affirmative; Gordon Holte and Gordon Nesset, negative.

The proposition-Resolved: "That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated", is a much discussed topic of the present day. Accomplishments in electricity have developed very rapidly during the last decade. These appliances have and are becoming practically a necessity for life. The question for debate deals with how this electricity should be generated.

Throughout the year the debate teams will present arguments on whether these electric utilities should be governmentally or privately owned and operated.

Each year the Interstate Committee on Debate selects a present day problem and condenses it into the debate proposition. This committee chooses a question which has several arguments on either side.

During the recent years the committee has presented former college debate propositions for discussion in high schools throughout the United States. Colleges and high schools never debate on the same topic the same year.

Debating is carried on in all high schools and colleges and is becoming of greater interest to students each year. Debating is not only of value to the student interested in public speaking, but also to the public which may know conclusions of its own when arguments are presented.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

"Hear ye! Hear ye!" "L" girls attention! The G. A. A. will hold a meeting—a peppy one too, I hear. They will learn a new pep song and the G. A. A. Board will put on the skit.

The Second Bulletin Board Committee has been chosen. They are: Norma Looker, Anna Hanson, Mary Chommie, and Lorraine Amundson. They will display the Bulletin board in an attractive array of colors according to the season, etc.

Volley ball practice goes on and a tournament.

Senior class dues are now payable. The Seniors have started their first semester drive to accumulate the amount necessary to put over the various projects that they will finance during the year. The Seniors have picked an ideal time of the year for due collections this year. There are no other expenditures for the pupils at this time that will make it impossible for each and every Senior to pay his dues at once.

Last year the present Senior class, then Juniors, collected only part of the intended dues, intending to make it easier for the class members to pay this year. With the masquerade but a few weeks off money is needed to hire an orchestra and hall also money will be needed to give the Senior Class play a start. This enterprise will pay for itself but money is needed to give it the necessary financial backing. But the greatest expenditure of the year will be editing the "Prowler." Every year this turns out to be a great problem and can be solved only by prompt payment of dues.

WIND-CHILL

You have to hand it to the teachers and the rest of the populace who drove down to Minneapolis during the week-end—for managing to stay on the skating rink which served as a road. Either they are good drivers or were stepping along hand-in-hand with "Lady Luck."

More than a few students were only half awake (i. e. less than usual) on Monday morning—could it be because of celebrating too hard during vacation?

And now a new autograph hunter comes up in the form of "Bud" Kelly who came home from Minneapolis with the autograph of Fletcher Henderson, noted orchestra leader.

Everyone, big and little, old and young, seems to be "Big Game" minded. Either deer, ducks or football, basketball, and now hockey.

We hear that the Junior girls are going to step out again Thursday, Friday and Saturday. (Lucky people, all of us who went to Minneapolis are "dead broke" again.)

Do you suppose Mr. Montague ever took tap dancing lessons? He seems to be a second Bill Robinson!

If you are looking for an interesting afternoon ask Mr. Harrison to relate his stories of his old Model "T" and his homestead.

Been wondering which one of the hundred (more or less) depressions in the snow-ladden ditches between here and Minneapolis was made by Mr. Claffy?

Quite a number of senior and Junior girls spent the week end in "The Forks!" What the attraction, if any?

Can you imagine (?)

Pomeroy Hill without gum?

Joyce Olson without Marcella Ruane?

Marion Oden without her books?

Joyce Bennes missing a show?

The Nesse boys without their car?

Dorothy Johnson without Harold Buck?

Marjorie Mathewson not singing?

Mary Chommie two minutes early for class?

Don Peterson (Freshman) walking to Bemidji?

Warren Hill (Freshman) without anything to say?

Floyd Melby eating incense?

Robert Quale a Democrat?

"The Nut Farm" Promises to be Very Entertaining

The Junior class play entitled "The Nut Farm" will be presented in the city auditorium Friday, November 20. "The Nut Farm" is a hilarious farce to be enjoyed by young and old.

The Bartons—Ma, Willie and Helen have come with Helen's husband, Robert Bent, from Newark, New Jersey, to California. Robert has sold his business in the East for thirty thousand dollars and is expecting to buy a nut farm in California, settle down and find a peace and contentment that Newark had never brought him. He reckons with Hollywood, however.

Willie has a yen to be a director of film comedies, while Helen, the charming young wife of Robert, meets and falls victim to the flattery of a certain promoter, Hamilton T. Holland. Holland's graft is the flattery of silly young wives into believing they are potential screen stars—in cases, of course, where the adoring husband has sufficient cash to make him worth fleecing. Helen finally persuades her Robert to postpone the buying of the nut farm and invest the money in a film starring her, certain, according to Mr. Holland, that the money will be more than tripled. Willie knows that the money will be crippled, not tripled, and uses every effort to dissuade Robert from investing with the oily Holland. But "willie" wins. Willie does manage to get the directing assignment.

What happens to the money, the fearful headache that follows the showing of the film, the penitence of Helen and her mother, who had backed her aspirations, and the final and surprising climax put upon the entire plot by the irrepressible Willie, give to the comedy a steady sweep of hilarity, interest, and climax that have combined into making it a big hit.

Press Convention to be Held at Mankato

Information has been received in the "Progress" office relative to the Minnesota High School Press Association convention which will be held at Mankato on Friday and Saturday Nov. 20 and 21.

The two day program will consist of 40 round table discussions, a movie, banquet, dance, and contests for school publications. Cecil Hurst's orchestra of Minneapolis will play for the convention dance.

Plans are being made by Director Howard Olseth to obtain Elma Scott Watson, editor of the Publishers Auxiliary as one of the main speakers.

Judging of publications will be done by professors in the journalism department at the University of Minnesota.

Due to a lack of funds, the Progress staff will not be represented at Mankato.

TEACHER'S TRAINING

School was resumed on Monday morning, Nov. 9, after a two days vacation.

During this time, Miss Stapleton attended the Teacher Training Conference and M. E. A. held in St. Paul. On Monday morning, she related her experiences at the convention to the members of the T. T. T. R. F. Two of the most interesting talks and demonstrations were presented by Mrs. Palmer of Chicago and Lord Marley, Deputy Speaker of the House of Lords, London.

The Training students observed and did practice teaching in the rural schools on Thursday and Friday, November fifth and sixth. The following is a list of the students and the school in which each taught: Pennington County—Iris Ayers, Dist. 136, Helen Jacobson, teacher; Anne Hermanson, Dist. 48, Grace Sampson, teacher; Vivian St. Martin, Dist. 28, Race Woolson, teacher; Evelyn Peterson, Dist. 42, Geneva Overum, teacher; Red Lake County—Esther Bluemke, Dist. 11, Theodore Vigen, teacher; Rebecca Paquin, Dist. 9, Irene Holberg, teacher; Polk County—Ardrea and Audrey Moland, Dist. 113, Hilma Lundby, teacher; Marshall County—Alice Ann Severson, Dist. 20, June Ortloff, teacher; Thelma Kolden, Dist. 67, Verna Johnson, teacher; Beltrami County—Eleanor Tornes, Dist. 119 and 120, Helen Roen, teacher, and Roseau County—Irene Hammer, Dist. 81, Eleanor Hammer and Myra York, teachers; Luella Bjorkman, Dist. 27 S., Lennea Holm, teacher.

The next unit in the practice teaching of the Training students is Fourth and Fifth grade reading in the city schools.

On Monday afternoon Miss Stapleton was hostess at an informal lunch for the members of the T. T. T. R. F. The students furnished the entertainment by relating their experiences while practice teaching.

BASKETBALL TEAM STARTS PRACTICE FOR '37 SEASON

First Game Will be Played on December Fourth

Basketball practice at Lincoln High School began November ninth with approximately twenty candidates, among whom are five letter winners, answering the call of George Lee, the Prowler basketball mentor.

The veterans who attended practice are: Captain "Bud" Nelson, Leonard Helquist, Milt Nesse, and Loren "Bones" Stadum. Roy Lee, the mighty atom, Clark Mickelson, and Don Lorentson, last year's second team aces are conceded an excellent opportunity to break into the starting lineup. Others who are expected to develop into potential first team material are Gordon Caldis, Robert Quale, Milfred Haughum, tricky ball handler, Clarence Haug who exceeded all expectations on the second team last year, Jerome Salveson, Kenneth Jaranson, Miloy Nelson, Cliff Olseon, Lynn Booren, Roger Wessling, Reuben Mickelson, and Earl Nickolson.

Despite the fact that four regulars on last year's aggregation have passed into the ranks of the graduates, prospects for a winning quintet are brighter than last season. Coach Lee has numerous substitutes to fill the gaps caused by the graduation of Captain Gilbert Mickelson, center; Adrian Lorentson, forward; Vic Jung and Art Nelson, guards.

Captain Nelson at forward, L. Stadum, all-district choice at center, M. Nesse at guard, and Helquist, who may be shifted to guard instead of holding down a forward position which he held last year, have all but clinched a regular berth on the team. The remaining position is open at present and who will occupy it in the opening game will probably remain a mystery for some time.

Prospects for a winning "B" team are not as promising as in the past but a capable aggregation will be assembled without a doubt.

The first game of the season will be played at the local Municipal Auditorium on December 4th with the ever-powerful Cass Lake Indians furnishing the opposition.

Inch Plug in Inch Hole

The national bureau of standards says that it is possible to put a one-inch plug into a one-inch hole if the surface is lubricated. The amount the plug can be oversize and still enter by hand depends on the "oiliness" of the lubricant.

GRYGLA

A fine baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shaefer residing on the Bennie Vigen farm west of town Wednesday Nov. 4th. Mother and child are doing exceeding well and are to be congratulated. —Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Grovum accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Brown spent last Wednesday at Thief River Falls on a shopping tour.

While returning from Manford, N. D. where they had taken Mrs. Moe who will reside with her daughter Norma for an indefinite period, Mrs. Elmer Hylland and Ivan Moe met with an auto accident which came nearly proving fatal. Another car coming onto the highway did not use the necessary precaution in stopping to look and consequently it became a dead heat at the intersection. Ivan while driving at a fair pace managed to control his car so that there was no direct smash but after getting clear, the loose gravel started the car to swerve and before it was stopped rolled over twice. The occupants were not severely bruised other than a bad shake up but the body of the car was badly smashed. However, the car proceeded under its own power about two hundred miles getting back to the Hylland home in the early morning.

The program given by the North Star Farmers Club at the hall last Friday evening proved as usual another of those entertaining events. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Day were in charge of the program and many complimentary remarks were heard. A lunch was served after the program after which all who cared to tripped the light fantastic. —The sale of furniture advertised for last Friday did not turn out as expected due to the fact that the truck bringing the goods just couldn't be kept on the road and hit the ditch. It was way late in the afternoon before the merchandise arrived, too late to be unloaded, but the auctioneer got busy and sold a lot of stuff left from the preceeding wek. Sale bills are now out advertising a further auction on Friday, Nov. 13.

Mrs. S. T. Anderson and Mrs. Melvin Sorenson were joint hostesses in entertaining the Ladies aid at the Norwegian church last Thursday afternoon. A capacity crowd being served a delicious lunch resulting in a neat sum for the treasury.

Mrs. Cliff Bjorkman and son Dick arrived Monday from Austin for a weeks visit at the Brown and Sandberg homes. Mr. Bjorkman will arrive Saturday to indulge in a deer hunt the season opening Sunday. They expect to leave for their home the first part of next week accompanied by Mrs. Anna Brown who will spend the winter with them. —Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wold, Mr. Hagen and Blanche Urkfield from Lakeville were pleasant visitors at the Gilbert Lesher and Ben Fonnest homes.

A meeting of the 4-H club was held Friday evening to reorganize for the coming year. A good program was given and much interest was displayed with prospects bright for the coming year.

An enjoyable evening was had at the Max Koenig home last Monday evening when a few of his friends sprung a little surprise on him and advised that he had another birthday. A mighty good time was reported and lots of eats in evidence.

Next Sunday the deer season opens and from the way licenses are being taken out locally the woods will be full of huntsman. However, deer are reported very plentiful so no doubt many will get their legal limit. It might be well to caution some regarding the elk moved to the country northeast of here last year, for shooting one is liable to lead into serious difficulty. A good motto might be to "Look before you shoot."

How Thorns Protect

Thorns and spines are generally very well placed and so contrived as to be thoroughly efficient. In the Egyptian desert, near the pyramids, a small thistle is so arranged that the sensitive nostril or tongue of a browsing animal must somehow dispose of the thorns before the green leaves can be reached.

HELLO, OLD MAN!

You're not old, of course — it's just an affectionate term used by your good friends and you like to hear them say it.

We, too, are flattered when people refer to the old West Hotel. A famous landmark for half a century, now completely refurnished and redecorated — in fact, as modern as any hotel in Minneapolis. Comfort, convenience, hospitality and the best of service await you at The West Hotel. Popular prices for both Rooms and Meals. Write for descriptive folder and map.

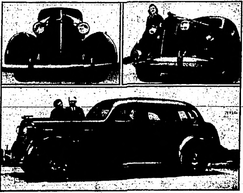
Nash LaFayette Introduces 1937 Models



Three distinctive new lines of modern motor cars have been announced by the Nash Motors Company for 1937. Bigger and roomier, smartly styled, each series is a leader in its price class. While retaining all popular Nash features and built to conform to the high Nash standards of quality, the new models have been improved and refined in body, chassis and motor. Every feature adding to safety, comfort, performance and economy has been engineered right into the 1937 Nash LaFayette cars. Leader of the line is the aristocratic Nash Ambassador Eight. Next in size and price is the Nash Ambassador Six. In the low price field is the Nash LaFayette-"400." Pictured above at the left is a head-on view of the Nash LaFayette-"400." At the right is the front view of the Nash Ambassador Six. Below is shown a side view of the Ambassador Six four-door sedan.

MUCH BUILDING CARRIED ON IN CITY THIS YEAR

Construction Represents an Investment of Nearly $250,000

THIRTY NEW HOMES BUILT DURING YEAR

Winter Sports Arena Is Largest Project to be Completed

Building projects completed or got under way in Thief River Falls during the current year represent an investment by local citizens of nearly $250,000, it is revealed in a survey made by the Times this week. Included in the new construction is the erection of approximately thirty residences in various parts of this city, representing the biggest home-building movement in this community in many years. Seventy-five building permits were granted during the year, compared to 60 in 1935.

The biggest single project to be brought to completion this year is the winter sports arena, calling for the expenditure of in excess of $40,000. Of similar magnitude is the new two-story building now being started by the Oen Mercantile company to replace the structure recently destroyed by fire. Another substantial project now being completed is the office and apartment building being erected by Thomas Waale and Dr. O. G. Lynde on LaBree av. N. at a cost of more than $15,000.

Among the other business property improvements made this year or now under way are the remodeling of the Lyceum theatre into a store building and apartments; a seed cleaning plant and garage erected by Fred Forsberg & Sons; garage and warehouse erected by the state highway department; addition to the B. E. Dahlquist building on Third st.; Northern Trading company warehouse; dry cleaning building for the Narverud Cleaners; remodeling of the Aaseby garage; warehouse for the Thief River Falls Seed House; garage for the O'Hara Fuel & Ice company; and remodeling the William Gilbertson store on Main av.

New homes in the city occupied during the year or now being completed include those of Gust Ooseth, Tom Nesland, Lester Ringstrand, H. M. Grendahl, Swedish Evangelical Free church parsonage, Stanton R. Dahlen, William Frolland, A. F. Olson, Ray R. Harris, H. O. Tommerdahl, O. F. Halldin, T. C. Orme, Herbert J. Meyers, N. A. Holen, A. B. Kriel, Dr. L. V. Johnson, F. A. Rinkel, Mrs. A. Lein, M. T. McFarland, three bungalows; Herbert Gulseth, Carl J. Lundgren, H. N. Elofson, Roy Barzen, John Lind, George Williamson and Alfred M. Johnson. In addition the home of A. B. Stenberg was extensively remodeled, and a large number of lesser remodeling contracts were carried out.

Major construction work announced for the coming year, in addition to the completion of the Oen store building, includes the erection by the Bache theatre interests on LaBree av. of a three-story motion picture theatre structure. Construction of one or more additional business blocks also is in prospect, in addition to which it is anticipated that home building will continue on a large scale.

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT COMEDY FRIDAY EVENING

Class Play in Three Acts Has Movie Colony for Background

"The Nut Farm", a three-act comedy with its scene laid in the motion picture colony in Hollywood, will be presented by the junior class of Lincoln high school in the municipal Auditorium Friday evening at 8:15. The production will be staged under the direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson.

Members of the cast of young performers include Fae Belcher, Gordon Caldis, Roger Wessling, Harriet Simonson, Mary Chommie, Floyd Melby, Robert Smith, Jerome Salveson, Evelyn Tungseth, Robert Quale and Marion Oden.

The play tells the story of the complications that ensue when the head of the family plans to use his accumulated $20,000 to buy a California nut farm, while others in the family wish to use the money as a means of entering the motion picture business.

Arena Provides Ideal Setting for Auto Show Last Week

The new winter sports arena, with its 14,000 square feet of floor space, provided an ideal setting for the tenth annual automobile show staged in this city last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Attractively decorated for the occasion with a lavish display of flags and bunting, and with 25 of the new 1937 models of cars on display, the throngs of Northwestern Minnesota citizens who attended the event were free in their praises of the effectiveness of the exhibits. LEGION POST TO SPONSOR LOCAL HOCKEY SEPTET

Campbell and Christofferson Co-Managers of League Entry

SCHEDULE TO BEGIN ABOUT DECEMBER 12

States-Dominion League Is Selected as Name of New Circuit

The States-Dominion league was the name selected for the new hockey circuit at a meeting of league officials in this city Sunday. Present plans call for the playing of the first games by December 12, with nine home and nine away-from-home games to be played on the regular schedule, leaving some open dates for exhibition games.

The Thief River Falls entry in the league will be sponsored by the local American Legion post, and a committee of members has been appointed to promote the septet, which will be known as the Thieves. Serving on the committee are Alex Campbell and Alvin Christofferson, co-managers; A. F. Berge, secretary-treasurer; and A. B. Stenberg, O. C. Paulson, Earl Effinger and Joe Marurka.

Uniforms for the players, which have been provided by local business places, will carry the firm's name on the back of the sweaters across the shoulders and the name Thieves diagonally across the front. The uniforms will include scarlet sweaters with royal blue trunks and stockings of scarlet, blue and white.

The pre-season dope favors the Hallock and Emerson teams, with Roseau and Grand Forks close behind, and the University of North Dakota and Thief River Falls an unknown quantity. The local squad, however, includes a number of fast, smart and experienced players, and local hockey enthusiasts are satisfied the team will stay in the top bracket from the beginning of the league schedule.

Included in the local squad will be Vernon Williams, Ray Parbst, Rube Julien, Earl Johnson, Bobby Taylor, Lester Lindberg, Ted Skoglund, Mike Van Jura, Mike Foy, Ole Berling, Adrian Lorentson, Clifford Higginbothum, John Lynsky, Bob Black, Kenneth Lindberg, Grant Gulrud and Lloyd Lund.

The Legion management is negotiating for the services of Spencer Wagnild of Minneapolis as coach. He has played with the fast University of Minnesota team and was chosen on the all-Big Ten hockey team, in addition to having competed in the Olympic tryouts.

New Manager Is Named for Cut Rate Grocery

C. W. Kollitz, for the past six months associated with the Cut Rate grocery store in Warren, Monday assumed the position of manager of the Cut Rate store on LaBree av. in this city. Mr. Kollitz, who formerly lived in Minneapolis, has spent all his adult years in the grocery business.

1ST PTA MEETING OF FALL SEASON SET FOR MONDAY

Dr. J. V. Breitwieser of University of North Dakota to Give Address

Dr. J. V. Breitwieser of the University of North Dakota will deliver an address next Monday evening in the Lincoln high school assembly room at the first meeting of the Parent-Teacher association to be held this fall. Dr. Breitwieser is dean of the school of education and director of the graduate division at the North Dakota institution, and has gained a reputation as a writer and lecturer.

Ronald G. Riggs, high school band director, will contribute to the musical portion of the program a clarinet solo, "Schon Rosmarin", by Kreisler. The freshman girls sextet, under the direction of Miss Erma Springen, will supply two selections, "The Night Will Never Stay", by McCarthy, and "My Little Banjo", by Dichmont. Included in the group are Mildred Jensen, Elaine Douglass, Lois Jordal, Elaine Rambeck, Doris Hostvet and Dagny Tungseth.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program by a committee of members. The business portion of the meeting will include the election of a president of the association to succeed Donald Chalmers, who left the city last summer.

Carl B. Larson's Car Is Recovered After Being Taken at St. Paul Hotel

Carl B. Larson was notified Wednesday by Twin City police authorities that his car, which was stolen November 10 from the street in front of a St. Paul hotel where he had left it for a few minutes, had been recovered in the southern part of the state and that two men had been taken into custody in connection with the theft. A brief case in the car, which contained valuable papers, had been thrown out some blocks away from the scene of the offense, and was returned to Mr. Larson the next day by the man who picked it up. Two traveling bags in the car when stolen had not been recovered yesterday. The car was considerably damaged when found, having been run into a ditch.

Civic and Commerce Group Sponsors Program Thursday

Fitting tribute was paid last Thursday evening to official bodies and civic groups of Thief River Falls for their community achievements at a testimonial program in the Auditorium, sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association.

Supt. Morris Bye, introduced by W. L. Carlisle, president of the association, called on Twelve speakers, each of whom devoted his remarks to one of the organizations. At the conclusion of the program lunch was served to those present in the association rooms in the basement of the Auditorium, a committee of members quickly providing for the large gathering.

Rev. E. A. Cooke spoke of the work of the local American Legion post, calling it a cross-section of the community, and complimenting it for its statewide honors won for various activities in which the post has engaged. Rev. E. L. Tungseth, the next speaker, told how the work of the Legion auxiliary supplements that of the Legion post, and stated that the community is justly proud of the auxiliary for developing the local drum corps to the point where it is one of the leading advertising assets of the city.

Rev. A. I. Merth, discussing the record of the Junior Chamber of Commerce during its brief existence, said that its record of achievement to date promises well for the future. Included in its record, he said, is sponsorship of an independent baseball team and of flood lights on Lincoln athletic field, and the bringing before the city council the matter of installing new street signs, a project carried out last summer.

The local fire department was cited by Theodore Quale as an organization that is little heard of and little appreciated until the need for its services arises. Mrs. J. M. Bishop called attention to the charitable activities of the local Elks lodge since it was organized

J. C. KRETZSCHMAR IS NEW OWNER OF THE PALM GARDEN

Former Resident Buys Cafe and Leases Building From M. Bothun

Martin Bothun Monday sold the Palm Garden cafe and leased the building it occupies on Main av. to Carl Kretzschmar, recently of Northfield. The new owner took possession immediately, while Mr. Bothun will devote his attention to the Thief River Greenhouse, also owned by him.

Mr. Kretzschmar, a brother of Mrs. H. A. Brumund, was born in this city and attended the local schools. He has been engaged in the hotel and cafe business the past 25 years, having been associated with the A. L. Roberts Hotel corporation for ten years and operating a hotel in Northfield the last two years.

Mr. Bothun first opened the Palm Garden cafe in a new building erected for the purpose three years ago, and it is one of the most attractive eating places in this section. Mr. Kretzschmar announced that he would discontinue the sale of beer.

BEGIN MONDAY ON NEW SOCIAL SECURITY ACT

Postoffices Throut Nation Start Assembling of Information

BLANKS WILL BE SENT TO WORKERS TUESDAY

415,000 Working People in Minnesota Come Under Terms of Act

A total of 1254 post offices in Minnesota began Monday to assist the Social Security Board in putting into action the plan involving the setting up of accounts for all eligible employees in the State under the social security act, according to Roland Hill, acting state director of the National Emergency Council.

It is estimated that social security accounts will be set up for about 415,000 working men and women in Minnesota, employed by approximately 70,000 employers. Throughout the United States as a whole about 26,000,000 workers will participate in this program. These accounts, comparable to annuity insurance, will enable workers to retire at the age of 65 with a monthly income for life, the amount of which is to be based upon the previous wage record of each employee.

In these accounts all the 26,000,000 persons estimated to be eligible will, starting January 1, 1937, begin storing up cash values payable to the worker at 65 or to his family if he dies before reaching the age of 65. These cash values will at all times be substantially larger than the worker's own contribution under the social security act.

All persons working for salary or wages except those engaged in agriculture, domestic service in private homes, government service, and in a few other excluded occupations, are eligible. It is expected that many of those in occupations not now covered will eventually become eligible through occasional or part-time work in those occupations which are covered.

The social security board emphasizes the fact that, while this undertaking is of unprecedented proportions, the plan in which 46,000 U. S. post offices are now cooperating with the board is quite simple and will be conducted with all possible conveniences to employers and employees.

Post offices throughout the country Monday began distributing to employers a form known as the "Employer's Application for Identification Number." This form asks the employer seven simple questions, answers to which will enable the post office department to know how many employee's application forms to deliver to each employer.

Then, beginning on Tuesday, November 24, post offices throughout the country will distribute to employees, through their employers, forms known as "Application for Social Security Account Number." These employees' application forms will be distributed to all work places and will also be available at all post offices. Local post masters will announce when these forms are available. The employee's application is a simple form asking a few questions such as name and address of the worker, name and address of his employer, the date and place of birth, and father's and mother's name.

On the return of this information to the post office a social security account will be set up for each person eligible and he or she will be furnished a card—comparable to an insurance identification card—certifying that an account has been set up and bearing the number of the employee's social security account so as to make it easy for the worker to find out at any time just how his or her account stands.

MORRIS BYE SPEAKS TO ROTARY CLUB TUESDAY

Morris Bye, superintendent of the local schools, was the speaker Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club. He discussed briefly the history of education in Minnesota.

Thanksgiving Benefit Ball Will be Staged in Auditorium Thursday

The committee in charge of the winter sports arena announced today that a Thanksgiving ball will be held in the municipal Auditorium next Thursday evening, November 26. It was stated that the net proceeds will be utilized for the purchase and installation of an amplifying system in the arena. Music for dancing will be supplied by Abbie Andrews and his dance band, which has proved to be popular with local dance patrons.

Auto Show Hailed as a Decided Success

Large Crowds Assemble in Arena to Inspect the New Models

Several thousand persons who attended the tenth annual automobile show in the winter sports arena last Thursday, Friday and Saturday came away with the definite impression that they had witnessed a show of metropolitan caliber.

The huge structure, attractively decorated for the occasion with a profusion of flags and bunting, provided an ideal setting for the display of the new 1937 models of automobiles, 25 in number. The arena was at all times comfortably filled with spectators, and local dealers report that a considerable number of sales were closed at the scene of the exhibits. The showings of home appliances also drew much attention.

Trends revealed by the new models were toward more gracefully streamlined bodies; added safety features, including the general use of steel tops and safety glass, wider windshields and improved braking; and prices as a rule are on about the same basis as last season.

More than 1,000 persons assembled in the arena Saturday night for the dance that concluded the exposition. Smaller crowds attended the dances in the Auditorium and the vaudeville programs Friday and Saturday evenings, altho the quality of the numbers appearing on the program was well up to advance reports.

POULTRY SHOW PREMIUM LISTS ARE SOON READY

Plans Being Completed for Annual Event Set for December 8-11

Plans for the annual Pennington county poultry show at the Auditorium December 8 to 11 were further developed at a meeting Saturday afternoon of directors of the poultry association, sponsor of the event. The board formally approved the appointment of Professor M. C. Herner of the Manitoba Agricultural college to serve as judge.

Market classes of turkeys, which will be featured again this year, will first be shown alive and then dressed and judged again, with one set of prizes being awarded, it was announced. Poultry raisers also will be allowed to bring in birds for sale and not for exhibition on payment of a fee of 25 cents a bird.

Secretary Vernon Copp stated that copies of the premium list will be distributed next week. Other officers of the association include Cal Toomey, president; Harry Woolson, vice president; Henry Oen, treasurer; and William Yonke, St. Hilaire; Bernhard Ranum, Rosewood, and B. O. Norby, Carl Brahs and W. H. Quist of this city, directors.

TAX COLLECTIONS IN OCTOBER SHOW INCREASE OVER '35

Current Tax Payments Total $82,447, Gullingsrud Announces

Substantial increases in payments of current and delinquent taxes in October, compared to the same month in 1935, were reported this week by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud. Current taxes paid last month aggregated $82,447.46 and delinquent taxes $15,959.74, while in October, 1935 the corresponding figures were $74,547.28 and $11,476.73.

Following are the various items included in October collections, which aggregated $187,795.71:

Current taxes	$82,447.46
Int. and penalties	587.33
Delinquent taxes	15,959.74
Private redemption	411.08
State land interest	129.34
Mortgage reg. tax	116.65
County revenue	25.26
State loan	959.79
Game and fish	412.50
Road and bridge	89.97

Elected to Fair Board

HARRY R. LUND

Who Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of the fair association was elected to the board of directors, succeeding Roy Lambert, who has left the city.—Mr. Lund had charge of the horse racing events at the 1936 fair in July.

ALMOST DOUBLE '35 SHIPMENT OF TURKEYS GO OUT

Total of 37 Carloads Are Shipped From City for Thanksgiving

A revival of the turkey raising industry in Northwestern Minnesota from the low point reached in 1935 is indicated by the fact that shipments of the birds by Thief River Falls marketing agencies for the Thanksgiving season this year aggregated 37 carloads compared to only 20 cars in 1935. Shipments, however, are still far below the record figure of 82 carloads attained in 1933 and slightly below the 1931 total of 44 cars.

With each car bearing approximately 25,000 pounds of turkeys, a total of 925,000 pounds have left Thief River Falls in carload shipments, in addition to which a considerable quantity remains to be forwarded by express in advance of the holiday next week.

Pools for the Christmas turkey market will get into operation December 1, and a large additional quantity of the birds is expected to be received at that time.

RE-INVESTIGATION OF ALL ON RELIEF IN PROGRESS HERE

Lynskey Making New Survey to Determine Those Most in Need

A re-survey of the work relief rolls in Pennington county was started this week to determine families most in need. Instructions in accord with WPA requirements governing the requested re-check were received the fore part of the week by John Lynskey of Thief River Falls, county certification officer, from Benjamin E. Youngdahl, director, Coordinated Field Service, which agency has been requested to conduct the survey. Because there are not sufficient funds to give employment to all unemployed persons, WPA is desirous of restricting employment to those most in need.

Revision of work relief rolls is of special importance to county officials as its first objective will be to eliminate those who, as a result of the recovery program and improvement in private employment, are no longer in need of relief. In so far as quota restrictions will permit, those removed will be replaced by other employables who are still in need. It is expected that this will result in reduction in the cost of local direct relief.

Co-incident with the re-check will begin the termination of WPA's share of drouth relief which was started in July as an emergency measure and designed to terminate about December 1. By that time, most of the 19,000 drouth sufferers who have been given temporary employment, will have had an opportunity to earn enough cash to meet their pressing needs during the winter.

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO MEET THIS EVENING

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting this evening at 6:30 in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Auditorium, it was announced this morning.

FOUR ELECTED DIRECTORS OF FAIR TUESDAY

Hunt, Dahlquist, H. R. Lund and Woolson Elected at Annual Meeting

ASSOCIATION IN GOOD SHAPE FINANCIALLY

Cash Balance Remains After Big Expenditures for Improvements

As a result of the record breaking attendance at the 1936 Pennington county fair in July, with correspondingly large receipts, the Pennington County Agricultural society, sponsor of the event, will close the year in sound financial condition, it was revealed in the report of Secretary Robert J. Lund submitted at the annual meeting Tuesday evening in the Civic and Commerce association rooms.

At the meeting, which was attended by 25 members of the organization, four directors were elected, including S. E. Hunt and W. E. Dahlquist, who succeed themselves; Harry R. Lund, who was elected to take the place of Roy Lambert; and Harry Woolson, succeeding Emil Griebstein, long-time member of the board who resigned earlier in the year.

When the sum of $1,850 due from the state is received shortly, Mr. Lund informed the members, the association will start out the new year with a cash balance of $1,200 after paying a $400 bank loan. This balance will be carried over in spite of the fact that a major improvement program, including rebuilding of the bleachers and other work, was carried out last summer, involving the expenditure of $2,530.02.

Earl Long headed a delegation from the Workmen's Protective League that appeared at the meeting to propose an extension of the city sewer and water mains on to the fair grounds as a means of creating work for the unemployed and improving the water and toilet facilities on the grounds. After several members had spoken in favor of the project, it was voted to refer the matter to the board of directors.

Secretary Lund's report revealed total receipts during the year of $13,588.78 in addition to a cash balance at the beginning of the year of $755.93. Major items of receipts were: Concessions and privileges, $1,231.50; building rentals, $200; class and race entry fees, $578.70; carnival percentage, $822.05; gate and grandstand, $6,803.20; state reimbursement, $1,850; appropriations from county and city, $900; merchants' prize tickets, $1,014.75; and loans, $400.

Disbursements for the year aggregated $14,827.97, the principal items including salaries, $400; printing and stationery, $340.27; advertising, $447.40; police and watchmen, $218.85; music and attractions, $3,130.07; repairs and replacements, $2,550.02; labor, $802.94; free prizes, $1,095.75; premiums, $1,937.45; purses, $1,450.40; interest, $351.78; insurance, $358.88; and miscellaneous, $929.44.

The report showed that 3,061 entries were received at the 1936 fair, and that a major share of the $1,937.45 in premiums went to the livestock, 4-H and agricultural departments.

500 COUNTY MEN SALLY FORTH IN SEARCH OF DEER

Numerous Hunters Back With Trophies; Season End Wednesday

Veritable army of deer hunters, including approximately 500 from Pennington county, is taking advantage of the season which opened Sunday and continues until next Wednesday. More than 500 licenses have been issued by County Auditor A. M. Senstad, about the same number as two years ago.

Among the first successful hunters to return with trophies were H. M. Olson, George Mostue, Carlie Johnson, Art Bredeson, Cliff Myrin, August Holmberg, A. J. Cloutier, James Newland, Henry Van Pelt and Willis Carlisle of Detroit Lakes who hunted with his brother W. L. Carlisle.

The largest bucks entered in a contest being conducted by the Kelly hardware store were those bagged by Newland and Van Pelt, 225 pounds each; and Ray and Lloyd Dougherty of Grygla, 195 pounds each. The contest will continue until the close of the hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Christensen were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kriel, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlson, and Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Aasby at two tables of bridge at their home Saturday evening. Refreshments were served.

Irene Ortloff and Edwin Anderson Wed

Miss Irene Grace Ortloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Ortloff of St. Hilaire, and Edwin Anderson, son of Anton Anderson of Hazel, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14. The service was read by Rev. Gust Larson at the home of the bride's parents at four o'clock. Attendants at the ceremony were the bride's sister and brother, Miss Norma and Raymond.

The bride's dress was of navy blue crepe and her bouquet consisted of pink and white snapdragons, pompoms and ferns. Her attendant wore a black velvet tunic dress. House decorations carried out a color scheme of pink and white.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to sixty relatives, the dining table decorations matching the room decoration color scheme.

The bride and groom will make their home on the groom's farm at Hazel.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lens, and Mr. and Mrs. Sergius Lens, all of Reynolds, N. Dak.

Mrs. Halgrim Honors Mother On Birthday

Complimentary to her mother, Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Sr., Mrs. Hazel Halgrim entertained at a party at her mother's home at 116 North Horace Avenue Thursday afternoon, November 12. The event was in celebration of Mrs. Prichard's eightieth birthday anniversary, which occurred that day.

Needlework occupied the hours, and in the late afternoon luncheon was served buffet style. A huge frosted birthday cake topped by eighty lighted candles graced the buffet. Mrs. Prichard performed the traditional ceremony of blowing out the candlelight. Birthday gifts from the guests were presented to Mrs. Prichard. Baskets of white, yellow and golden chrysanthemums and daisies, gifts to the honor guest, decorated the rooms for the occasion.

Guests present to honor Mrs. Prichard were the Mesdames Peri Mabey, J. J. Horry, G. Penney, Andrew Bottelson, Charles Heinze, O. F. Mellby, H. A. Drumund, George Booren, L. G. Larsen, Charles Shirley, Mary V. Shaw, Philip Bryant, and W. W. Prichard Jr. The latter assisted Mrs. Halgrim as hostess.

Trinity Congregation Honors C. A. Myroms at Farewell Party Sunday

Members of the various organizations of the Trinity Lutheran church assembled in the downstairs parlors of the church Sunday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Myrom, members of the congregation who will leave soon to reside at Hastings, Neb. The farewell party was held in connection with the congregation's usual Fireside meeting, between the hours of five and eight o'clock.

Complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Myrom, leaders of the church organizations of which Mr. and Mrs. Myrom were members spoke in behalf of the groups, expressing appreciation for the part taken by the honor guests in church activities. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad opened the program, speaking in behalf of the Trinity congregation. In behalf of the Dorcas society of which Mrs. Myrom is president, Mrs. A. M. Senstad as vice-president of the society, presented Mrs. Myrom with a purse of money. B. O. Norby, superintendent of the Sunday school, spoke expressing the gratitude of that organization.

The Lutheran brotherhood was represented by W. N. Merell, Jr., who presented Mr. Myrom with a Bible as a gift of remembrance. Mrs. Myrom was presented with a purse of money from the choir, Robert J. Lund, choir director, making the presentation. Mrs. Myrom was a soloist with the choir. Mr. Myrom, in behalf of himself and his wife, responded to the presentations. A song by the choir completed the evening's program.

Supper was served, the following families and individuals acting as hosts: B. O. Norby, W. N. Morell, E. L. Rolland, R. J. Lund, A. M. Senstad, A. E. Jacobson, O. G. Lynde, Andy Williamson, Miss Edna Larson and Mrs. Nels Larson, R. M. Fjelstad, the Misses Hagna Steenerson, Ruth Mickelson, Emma and Agnes Tandberg. Baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the tables.

Sixty Girl Scouts at Party Tuesday Evening

Approximately sixty girl scouts, members of Troops one, two, three, and four, assembled at a reorganization meeting in the Legion club rooms in the auditorium Tuesday evening. The troop committee, which is composed of Mesdames B. O. Norby, A. C. Peterson, and Orrin Lynde, were the hostesses. Reorganization plans were discussed. Mrs. L. B. Hartz, Miss Rosina Dahlen, and Miss Augur were present and assisted in making plans. The meeting opened with scout exercises. Games were played and refreshments were served buffet style from a table decorated with Thanksgiving favors and lighted by candles. A feature of the refreshments were fancy cookies with a girl scout emblem design. Assembly singing closed the evening's activities.

RUTH MELLBY WED IN NEW YORK CITY TO N. Y. PHYSICIAN

Ceremony Performed at Fort Washington Church Last Sunday

The service which united in marriage Miss Ruth Mellby, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby, and Dr. Valentine Ujhely, son of Mrs. Amalia Ujhely of Budapest, Hungary, was read at two o'clock Sunday afternoon at Fort Washington Presbyterian church in New York City. Reverend Megaw, pastor of the church, read the service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore for her wedding her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin with lace blouse under a jacket of ivory satin. Her grandmother's brooch was pinned at the throat of the blouse. Over the ensemble she wore a long veil. Her bouquet was of calla lilies. Her maid of honor Miss Mavis Peat of New York City wore blue. Ralph Fabri of New York was groomsman.

Beautiful nuptial music comprised an important part in the ceremony. Preceding the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March which was played for the processional march of the bridal party, "Liebestraum" was played. The bride's cousin Miss Agnes Forde of New York City, sang. While the vows were spoken "Andante" from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony was played softly.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception given in honor of Mrs. Ujhely by the American Woman's Club, was held in the reception hall of the club. Thirty-five guests were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Ujhely left on a motor trip up the Hudson, and will be at home after November 25th at 630 W. 181st Street, New York City, and Bath, New York.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and St. Olaf College, and for the past year and a half has been studying voice in New York City. Her husband is chief of the Department of Psychiatrists in the Veterans hospital of the state of New York.

Among those attending the wedding ceremony were Dr. Mellby, the bride's aunt Miss Gladys Grindeland of Northfield, Mass., and Mrs. R. M. Sheldon of New Cannon, Conn., formerly of this city. The groom's mother, and his sister Countess Zichy of Budapest, Hungary, were unable to attend the ceremony.

Evangelist Continues Bible Lecture Series

"We are living in the days when divine prophecies are being fulfilled with unerring accuracy. The most distant contingencies do not perplex God, though the futurity of a single day is hidden from man. Man may make shrewd guesses concerning future events, but the whole is a conjecture, which may or may not come to pass." So said Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture last Sunday on "Another King Will Rule the World." "To be able to foretell future events with infallible accuracy is the peculiar province of the Almighty alone." His "Back to the Bible" lecture program is announced elsewhere in this issue.

A Sane, Sound, Scriptural Message

Genuine Bible Lectures are given on the vital phases of the everlasting Gospel of Jesus Christ. Come early on Sunday for a good seat as the church is always filled that night.

HEAVEN'S ARTIST PORTRAYS FUTURE EVENTS
The Empires of the World Depicted by Symbols Indicating Their True Nature

THIS WILL BE AN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

Before the lecture beautiful scenic pictures from various parts of the world will be thrown on the screen. Come early for the stirring gospel songs.

SUNDAY NIGHT, NOV. 22, 7:45 in the Methodist Church
Corner of Bridge St. and Conely Ave., Thief River Falls, Minn.

WEEK NIGHT PROGRAM BELOW

TUESDAY NIGHT, NOV. 24, 7:45
THE SWIFT MOVING FLAMING TORCH OF HUMAN PROGRESS

For thousands of years men lived, labored and traveled as their forefathers had done. No significant changes took place till suddenly epoch making events in the world of science and mechanics transpired. Why did not this great awakening come earlier?

WEDNESDAY NIGHT, NOV. 25, 7:45
TWO MEN THAT WENT TO HEAVEN AND CAME BACK

Who were they? Did they say anything about that place? What was the purpose of their coming? A gripping message. Hear it! James Ward.

THURSDAY NIGHT, NOV. 26, 7:45
THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

When do men show their appreciation and gratitude to God for His innumerable blessings and tokens of His unfathomable love? You will greatly enjoy the various special features that night.

Special Features: Illustrated songs will be thrown on the screen for congregational singing, chalk talks, stories and readings will be given.

All Are Cordially Invited to Attend the "BACK TO THE BIBLE LECTURES"

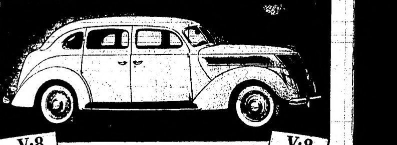
THE FORD V-8 FOR 1937

The Quality Car in the Low-price Field



V-8 85 HORSEPOWER • Maximum Performance with Good Economy

V-8 60 HORSEPOWER • Good Performance with Maximum Economy

Two Engine Sizes - One Wheelbase

AND A NEW LOW PRICE

The New Ford V-8 for 1937 is the most beautiful Ford car ever offered. It is built in only one size—one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance. But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance—or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car—lower operating costs—and a lower price.

When you drive the 1937 Ford with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a power plant that gives everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. Today, improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually low gasoline consumption.

The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness—even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

We invite you to see this new Ford car, and arrange to drive one equipped with the engine that fits your needs.

AUTHORIZED FORD FINANCE PLANS
$25 a month, after usual down-payment, buys any model 1937 Ford V-8 Car—from any Ford dealer—anywhere in the United States. Ask your Ford dealer about the easy payment plans of the Universal Credit Company.

FEATURES

APPEARANCE — A newly designed car. Headlamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

COMFORT AND QUIET — A big, roomy car. Extra space is in the body, not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Center-Poise Ride further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

SAFETY

BRAKES — New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. "The safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. Tests show that about one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY — Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure all steel, sheathed with steel panels—top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge.

$23,000 PAID ON LOANS EXTENDED BY LOCAL AGENCY

Production Credit Group Officers at Meeting in Detroit Lakes

Repayments of more than $23,000 on their short-term loans were made by members of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association, during the first 8 months of this year, according to information given out at the conference of North Dakota and northern Minnesota production credit boards of directors held at Detroit Lakes, Nov. 16-17.

The 5000 members of these associations have used their membership and credit standing to make short-term loans of a few hundred up to several thousand dollars each for such purposes as purchasing livestock, machinery or supplies for their farms, paying for labor, repairs, etc.

The average loan of this association is $394 and on September 1 its 299 members had obtained $81,000 throughout the association from January to that date. During the same time they had repaid over $23,000 which is 17 per cent of the total volume of their loans outstanding at the first of the year plus those of the succeeding 8 months, a repayment record that drew compliments for the directors and members.

George Susens, president, and J. S. Montgomery, secretary of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, which supervises the associations, and President F. H. Klawon and Secretary A. E. Severied of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank through which they obtain their funds by discount, attended the conference. Charts showing a comparison of the membership, volume of loans, rate of growth, expenses, and income, of the 12 associations afforded topics for discussion.

The board of directors and secretary-treasurer of each association made up the delegates to the conference, the local delegation comprising: Secretary-Treasurer Robert J. Lund, F. D. Voth, Alfred Langren and V. C. Noper, all of this community; F. S. Erdmann of Red Lake Falls and Bert Grahm of Roseau.

Hunters Reminded to Report All Game Taken

All hunters are asked to send their reports of game taken in 1936 to the division of game and fish without delay. Hunters' game reports constitute the only reliable means of obtaining information as to the abundance or scarcity of migratory waterfowl, upland game birds, deer, and other forms of wildlife and provide essential data for the opening and closing of seasons. Last year a large percentage of hunters failed to send in their game reports.

ST. HILAIRE

Ortloff-Anderson

Saturday afternoon in the presence of relatives and close friends occurred the marriage of Miss Irene Ortloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ortloff to Edwin Anderson, son of Anton Anderson. TAX COLLECTIONS SHOW INCREASE IN MARSHALL COUNTY

Gain $70,541 From June 1 to October 31, Treasurer Reports

Marshall county tax collections increased $70,541.07 during the period of June 1 to Oct. 31 this year over last, gains being made in both current and delinquent tax payments, according to P. E. Kvikstad, county treasurer, as reported in the Warren Sheaf.

The substantial increase in collections in attributable to better general conditions throughout the county, while the bargain delinquent tax payment laws contributed greatly to the payment of delinquent taxes.

Current tax collections for the period this year total $167,145.38 while current payments for the 1935 period totaled only $142,529.81 or a net gain of $24,615.57. Delinquent tax payments during the past period totaled $94,502.95 while during a similar period a year ago the delinquent tax payments totaled only $48,577.45 or a net gain of $45,925.50, Mr. Kvikstad's figures show.

The total tax collections for the county during the period ending October 31 this year reached $261,648.33 while the total collections during a similar period last year totaled only $191,107.26, the records show.

Plummer School Notes

The Busy Bee Club is planning a program and a party for Thanksgiving.—Last Wednesday the boy scouts met for the first time this year. Plans were made for activities to be carried on this winter and the time for future meetings was agreed upon.

The assembly period last Friday was held in the hall. Mr. Ripple gave a financial accounting of the school carnival and thanked all who had a part in making the carnival a success. After a few announcements Mr. Ripple turned the assembly over to Mr. Adrian.

Mr. Adrian called on Mr. Jaspers, the coach, to comment on the basket ball game to be played that evening with Clearbrook.

Carol Hovland and June Norby led the pep fest that followed. Both are able leaders and possess the right kind of school spirit. They can be counted on to do their part willingly, effectively, and well. The band under the direction of Mr. Ohnstad played a few numbers and worked out a few cheers with the rooting section.

Mr. Jaspers added a few remarks on sportsmanship after which the assembly adjourned.

Wins First Game

Plummer won its first game of the season by defeating Clearbrook 17 to 10. The game was close all the way. Plummer's prospects for a winning team are good; more play will develop a smoother functioning and a better eye for the basket. A large enthusiastic crowd attended the game. Cow bells added the novelty note to the cheering while the band rounded out the cheering with its peppy numbers.

The next home game is with Goodridge. They play here the 25th of November.

The visiting week which the P. T. A. agreed to sponsor at its last meeting has been set for the first week in December. All parents are cordially invited to visit school at some time or other during the week. The regular meeting of the P. T. A. is set for December 3, 1936.

SMILEY

Mr. and Mrs. Bendik Hammer, whose marriage occurred several weeks ago at International Falls and are spending their honeymoon at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hammer, were honor guests at a surprise party given for them at the B. B. Hammer home Sunday afternoon by sixty-four neighbors and friends. The afternoon was spent with a social hour followed by a short program including an introductory talk by Alfred Bredeson of Thief River Falls; several songs sung by a quartette composed of Elias Angell, Ruth and Ruby Angell and Alfred Bredeson. P. H. Wright of Kratka presented the honor guests with the gift which was a purse of money, from the assemblage. The couple responded with a few words of appreciation. They will make their future home in International Falls where Mr. Hammer is employed. The bride is the former Cora Carlson of that city. The community extends best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Mrs. V. E. Ringstrand and Mrs. R. Blane of Thief River Falls were social callers at the Carl E. Olson home Wednesday. —L. O. Stenseth and Fred Luke returned to their respective homes Sunday after attending a three day session of the Farmers' Union convention in Madison last week. These men represented the Smiley unit of which they hold offices. —Sunday dinner guests at the O. N. Olson home were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gilbertson of Silverton and Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCrum and son Bruce.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Cramer and sons and Mrs. Albert Derochie and son Forrest of Thief River Falls were Sunday guests at the Carl E. Olson home.

Congratulations and best wishes are happily extended by the Smiley folks to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rehm (Olive Nelson) whose marriage took place last Sunday at the Bethania church at noon with Rev. O. O. Bjorgan performing the marriage rites. The couple were attended by the brides' sister Marian Nelson and the groom's brother, Joe Rehm. A wedding dinner was served by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Nelson with only the immediate families of the couple and relatives. They are making their home on the groom's farm in Kratkta.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wood and child of Portland, Maine were dinner guests Wednesday noon at the home of Mr. Wood's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Burtness. This is the first re-union of Mr. Wood and Mrs. Burtness in fifteen years. —Oscar Valsvik returned to his parental home last week from Grand Forks where he had spent the past summer being employed on his uncles farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Olson and daughters, Clarice and Geraldine were callers Friday evening at the Norman Johnson home in Thief River Falls. —A group of the younger set of the Smiley Community club are busy these evenings practicing a one-act play entitled "New Wives for Old" to be presented on the forth coming club meeting. —Ortun and Mark Olson and Clifford Buoen of Thief River Falls spent the week end near Baudette, hunting deer.

A Norwegian home-talent comedy entitled "Rev i saueskind" will be presented at the Smiley hall Friday evening, Nov. 20, at eight o'clock. There will be a free dance to patrons after the show. Lunch will be served by the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Nelson and daughters were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Knut Knutson in Kratka Sunday. —Mr. and Mrs. James Conely of Thief River Falls visited with their niece, Mrs. S. S. Nelson and family Friday.

Owen Weckwerth is recuperating quite nicely after receiving serious injuries about the face and body in a car accident occurring a week ago.—Agnes Longren and Edna Hilde of Adams, N. D. were social callers at the Theodore Bjorge home. —Ethel Kivle and Elizabeth Jonie of Thief River Falls were business callers at the O. N. Olson home Thursday. —Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum and family motored to Erskine Sunday to visit relatives. —Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Olson and Sever Holm spent Thursday evening at the former's brothers home, O. N. Olson. —Mrs. John Longren and daughter Agnes and sons, Carl and Alfred, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hilde of Adams, N. D., and Mrs. Theodore Bjorge and son Marlyn motored to Alvarado one day last week to help Mrs. T. T. Larson's birthday which occurred that day.

THE fates are kind to the automobile buyer of next year—just take a look at Buick's offerings and you'll see why!

Here are four lines of new cars—aces every one—the ablest cars, the handsomest performers, the biggest values we believe the automobile industry has so far seen.

There is the 1937 Buick SPECIAL—stepped up in style, power, room and finish—thriftier than ever, and at the same low price.

There is the cyclonic CENTURY—all compact of obedient explosive energy—quicker, quieter, more sensational even than before.

There is the magnificent ROADMASTER—just what its name suggests—more powerful, more maneuverable, more luxurious now than its marvelously mobile predecessor.

And there is the lordly LIMITED—the Avenue's proudest saunterer—fleet, sophisticated, capacious—uncommon carrier of the elect.

Every one of these cars brings something fresh and progressive to motoring—every one of them outranks in engineering and appointment even the phenomenal cars that uphold Buick's current sensational success.

See them and you'll say that the $14,500,000 appropriated and now being spent on top of the recent $15,000,000 put into re-tooling and re-equipping Buick factories is money not only wisely but fruitfully employed!

Safety glass included—accessories slightly extra. Prices subject to change without notice. General Motors terms to suit your liking.*

COMPULSORY INSURANCE

Machinery has now been set in motion for the administration of employee's old age insurance as provided for in the Social Security Act. Blanks have been distributed among employers and by the first of the year the names of the twenty-six million eligible employees will be properly registered. Payroll taxes, half to be paid by employees and half by employers, will go into effect January first. It is a gigantic undertaking and some time will be required before the new machine can be expected to operate smoothly.

That the purpose of the plan is highly commendable no one will deny. It forces millions of people to do what everyone knows they should have done, namely provide for the needs of old age by buying insurance. The reason so many have not done this is because they have felt they could not afford it. Now the matter will no longer be optional. They will now buy the insurance with or without their consent—and be better off in their old age as a result.

As we see it, the one big weakness in the plan is that it does not cover all employees and all employers. The reasons for this discrimination are obvious. Some classes of labor are employed on so irregular a scale that it would be next to impossible to keep a record of their employment and wages. The injustice is that these people who are not included will pay a substantial part of the costs for those who receive the benefits. Every consumer will contribute to that cost. But only a portion of the consumers will enjoy the protection. In this respect the farmers, as a class, will be the principal losers. And to correct this situation it would seem proper that the act be amended so as to enable those who are not compelled to buy the insurance to buy it voluntarily if they so elect to do.

But taking it all in all, the plan has much to recommend it. Defects, as time and experience bring them to the surface, can be corrected. Certainly, as a result of forcing people to make reasonable provision for their old age, millions will face the declining years of their lives with that much to be desired spirit of independence that is so essential to happiness.

Now that we are getting near the end of the year, a summary of the season's building activities is certainly in order. It has been a good year. In the construction of new homes it has been the best year the city has had for a long, long time. And the dwellings that are being constructed are good, substantial buildings. During the past five or six years there must have been close to a hundred new homes built, besides many of the older ones being remodelled and some of them converted into duplexes. But the home shortage is still acute so apparently construction in this field has not been overdone. Several nice improvements in the business section are under way too. The Oen Store fire may have been a heavy loss to a few individuals but apparently the corner is going to take on a greatly improved appearance as a result of the damage. This will be especially true along Third street which will have a whole block of attractive store fronts when the scaffolding is finally torn away. So the year 1936 will hold its own very nicely with other good years in the improvement of the city. If 1937 does as well for us we will have little cause to complain.

Visitors to the Auto Show last week were impressed by the beauty of the display of new cars. But they were also impressed by the building which housed the show, the new Winter Sports Arena. Many who have been skeptical of the value of such a building are now convinced it can serve many practical uses during those months it is not used for skating. "At the Arena" will designate the "where" of many community activities.

If, in the spirit of Thanksgiving, we should give thanks for material blessings, then this community has much to be thankful for indeed. In a year of drouth and scarcity, we have been favored with plenty. While other communities, many of them, have received less than they need, we have been given abundance. And for this we should be thankful. But next year may reverse the order. Next year, or the year following, it may fall to our lot to feel the blight of adversity. Experience teaches us that that is likely to happen. So in offering thanks for our present good fortune, let us pray for the wisdom that will direct us to wise uses of our present abundance. With wise and provident husbanding of our present resources, we will be prepared for those years when we are less favored. We then will have something to be thankful for even in the lean years—thankful that we had been blessed with the wisdom to provide for adversity in the days of plenty.

Another Junior class of the high school will present its class play at the Auditorium Friday night. If you happen to be personally acquainted with one or more of the youngsters who go through their lines on that occasion you will enjoy the performance immensely. And even if you do not happen to be acquainted with a member of the cast, such a program offers good entertainment. Every oldster who ever fumbled through a part in a home talent performance of any kind will get a full measure of enjoyment for the price of his chair rental at the Junior Class Play.

IN DEFENSE OF WINTER
(Christian Science Monitor)

Copper and Indian red fade out; the last yellow apple drops from its tree. Early sunsets seem to withdraw to a greater distance, while their lingering colors take on a new and colder purity. The pink suggests the pink of stone cliffs seen across wide plains; the silver-green shines like a faraway, frozen lake. Soon it is winter.

There's that long town of white to cross
Before the blackbirds sing.

But what if it were always summer; if the monotonous green never gave way to any russet change? Supposing no logs ever glowed in living room grates, slowly falling apart in feathers as the companionable hours pass?

Winter can be the cozy corner of the year. Gone are the open windows of the hot months; instead, long indoor evenings bring reading, scrapbooks, mending, listening to the radio. Outdoor scenes have a restrained perfection unlike the beauty of any other season. Nothing could look more peaceful than a landscape of trees through whose stilled branches the large, weightless snowflakes gradually drift and settle. And when the pussy willows return, one will welcome them all the more for the white interim.

Topics of the Times
By N. A. H.

Local auto dealers are all puffed up with the compliments they are receiving for the high quality of the show they staged last week.

President Roosevelt's liberal supporters will view with alarm the news that one of his sons is to marry the daughter of a DuPont Liberty Leaguer.

A fat man, we understand, is notable for his daily doesn't.

The deer season opened without much of any snow, which was a break for the deer.

Considering the fine record the University of North Dakota football team made this year, its supporters will be excused if they think N. D. stands for something besides Notre Dame.

Speaking of paying election bets, the Republicans were the most liberal party after the returns came in.

Washington, D. C. we understand, is so crowded with government functionaries that it was necessary to go to Baltimore to find room for the social security division now being set up.

It's getting so you can't believe anything any more. Now a Columbia university professor tells us an apple a day won't keep the doctor away.

Even the Thanksgiving day is only a week distant, community-minded folks don't welcome the news that turkeys are to be sold more cheaply this year.

Red Lake Falls folks can't be very superstitious. They dedicated their new community building Friday the 13th.

With President Roosevelt due to remain in office another four years, that Red Lake river project he approved late last summer for completion this fall may yet become a reality.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

Double Shower

A double wedding shower was held on Sunday afternoon at the Elmer Johnson home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson who were married recently. The rooms were appropriately decorated in pink and white, and the dining room table had pink and white streamers and a large four tier wedding cake for a centerpiece. A program of singing by Mrs. Carl Christianson and Misses Selma Solley and Emma Johnson, and a talk by Joe Belange. A little bride and groom, who were Donne Greyson and Esther Johnson presented the honor guests with the presents.

A delicious lap lunch was served to between seventy five and one hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christianson were the guests present from town.

Class Play

Remember the Junior class play, "Yimmie Yonson's Yob" on Friday evening at the school auditorium at eight o'clock. Come and bring some one.

The choir of the Lutheran Free Church sang at the funeral of Elo Sanders on Friday afternoon at Richlanding. Miss Hannah Sund sang a solo in Norwegian. The members of the choir who were present were: Mrs. Carl Christianson, Mrs. Fred Urdahl, Mrs. J. M. Johnson, Misses Hannah Sund, Orda Urdahl, Mable Johnson, Ethel Moquin, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Urdahl, Ludolph and Orville Urdahl, Ernest Swanson. Mrs. A. H. Josephson was the accompanist.

Attend Auto Show

Everything points to Pontiac FOR 1937
A General Motors Value

BIGGER CAR—BETTER VALUE
GREATER ECONOMY

NEW MORE BEAUTIFUL SILVER STREAK STYLING—A daring new use of chromium and longer, lower, smoother streamlines make Pontiac again the world's most distinctive car.

NEW LARGER UNISTEEL BODIES BY FISHER—The safest bodies ever built, with chair-high seats, adjustable, tilting 3 passenger front seat, lower unobstructed floors, bigger doors, and larger luggage and spare tire compartments. Trunks are 50 per cent bigger.

NEW LONGER WHEELBASE—Five more inches increases Pontiac's size to 117 inches for the six and 122 inches for the eight and adds proportionately to Pontiac's roominess and comfort.

NEW IMPROVED KNEE-ACTION RIDE—The same open type Knee-Action used on expensive cars, combined with new weight distribution and double-action shock absorbers.

NEW PERFECTED CENTER-POINT STEERING—To protect the driver from fatigue and to make control easier and surer, this feature is added to Pontiac's famous triple-sealed hydraulic brakes—the finest money can buy.

NEW POWER AND ACCELERATION WITH EVEN GREATER ECONOMY—The Scotch Mist manifold, plus other engine improvements, increases horse-power and get away—yet adds 10 per cent and more to Pontiac's famous thrift.

AMERICA'S FINEST LOW-PRICED CAR—enriched with more basic improvements than any new car of its price

All America marvels at what Pontiac has done—improved in every way a car that owners said "couldn't be better" . . . increased its size, luxury, comfort . . . boosted its mighty power and lively get-away . . . enhanced the beauty of the most beautiful thing on wheels . . . improved its economy by 10 per cent and more!

Nor is that the whole story. Pontiac has done all this yet Pontiac prices are again near the lowest. Everything points to Pontiac for 1937. On every count it qualifies as America's finest low-priced car. Step inside, take a ride—that's the way to prove it.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

At a meeting of the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, held on November 10, 1936, it was moved by Alderman Baker and duly seconded by Alderman Christofferson, that the following Resolution be adopted, viz:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the following Resolution which has been adopted by the Workmen's Protective League, of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, be and the same is hereby in all things approved and adopted as a correct expression of the sense of the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, viz:

"WHEREAS, there is a great deal of complaint that many worthy and needy working men are unable to secure employment on various W. P. A. projects in this locality, due to the present unfair and unjust rules and regulations of the W. P. A. administration, and,

WHEREAS, The Workmen's Protective League feels that the complaints are justified, and that there is a just ground for complaint for the reason that the rules and regulations for certification to W. P. A. projects have the tendency and effect of keeping needy and deserving laboring men, who are now in need of employment, from securing certification to W. P. A. projects, and,

WHEREAS, we find that there is a large number of needy and worthy working men, who are now in need of employment, and who should now be certified for W. P. A. projects.

NOW, THEREFORE, Be It Hereby Resolved, That it is the opinion of the Workmen's Protective League of Thief River Falls, Minn., that the present rules and regulations of the W. P. A. should now be modified and changed so as to permit and make possible the certification of a greater number of men for W. P. A. projects, and that in particular the rules and regulations should now be changed so as to make possible the certification and employment on W. P. A. projects of those who have not heretofore had such employment, and of those who have not heretofore been on relief, but who are now in need of employment, and,

BE IT HEREBY FURTHER RESOLVED, That a rule or regulation should be adopted so as to limit the right of W. P. A. employes to go out and take private employment, in times when there is an insufficient amount of employment available to all working men, it being the sense of the Workmen's Protective League that the W. P. A. workers should not be allowed to go out and compete with other workmen for jobs while they are employed on the W. P. A. projects, and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That a copy of this resolution be sent to the State W. P. A. office in St. Paul, Minn., and another copy be sent to the W. P. A. office at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota."

TRAIL FARMER IS KILLED WHEN CAR UPSETS IN DITCH

Anton Anderson Killed Near Village Wednesday Afternoon

Polk county's fifth automobile fatality in less than four days occured near Trail Wednesday afternoon when Anton Anderson, 40, Johnson township farmer, was killed on highway 92 west of the village.

Mr. Anderson met his death when his coupe rolled into the ditch as he rounded a curve coming into the village from the west. His death resulted from a broken neck which he sustained when he was thrown against the top of the car.

Mr. Anderson was a World War veteran. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Tilda Anderson, with whom he lived, five brothers and four sisters. He was not married.

More Effective Than Quinine

The drug atabrine has been found to be many times more effective in the treatment of malaria than quinine.

Funeral Rites Held for Torjus Boe Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday, November 14, at the Boe home and at the Valley church, Rev. Lerohl of Oklee officiating, for Torjus Boe, who died November 11 at his home in Chester township, Polk county, near Oklee. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Mr. Boe was born in Norway February 9, 1859. He came to America and settled near Grand Forks in 1880. He was married there in 1892 to Olina Torkelson. In 1896 he and his family moved to a homestead in Chester township, and Mr. Boe spent the remaining forty years of his life there.

Mr. Boe's surviving relatives are his wife, one son Tellef at home, and four daughters Mrs. Shumway of Winnipeg, Mrs. Moredin of Grand Forks, Mrs. Anderson of Fisher and Sadie Boe at home.

MRS. A. M. SMITH TAKES CHARGE OF YULE SEAL SALES

Appointment Is Announced This Week by Public Health Group

Mrs. A. M. Smith will be local manager of the 1936 sale of Christmas seals in Thief River Falls, it was announced Monday by the Minnesota Public Health association. The appointment marks the opening of active local work upon the 1936 sale.

"All of us have many ways in which to spend our time as all of us have many ways in which to spend our money," said Mrs. Smith in accepting the chairmanship. "In the same way that everyone who spends money for Christmas seals shows his belief that this expenditure for better community health is worthy, I feel that time spent in the cause of the Christmas seal is worthy.

"I am certain both that many hours will be given by willing workers to the seal sale and that the seals these workers will distribute in Thief River Falls will find more purchasers than in any recent year."

Salary Increase for Game Wardens Voted

A general salary increase for state game wardens to take effect January 1, 1937 was ordered by the Conservation Commission at its regular meeting last week. Under the new schedule wardens now receiving $125 a month will receive a $10 monthly increase and wardens receiving $130 will receive a $5 increase, thus establishing a uniform salary of $135 monthly for all wardens.

BOOK EQUIPMENT FOR THE BLIND NOW AT LIBRARY

"Talking Books" Being Distributed in County, Thru the PWA

Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, local librarian, announced this week that she is now receiving applications for the use by blind persons in this section of talking book machines, which are being supplied to the local library under a PWA project.

Mrs. Halgrim explained that the equipment includes phonograph records of books and electrically operated machines on which they are reproduced. Records are ordered from the school for the blind at Faribault are needed, and the phonographs may be retained as long as they are used regularly. It is pointed out that the equipment will be of service only where electric current is available.

In addition to Pennington county, Mrs. Halgrim is supervising the distribution of the equipment in Polk, Beltrami, Roseau and Lake of the Woods counties.

TWO POLK COUNTY AUTO COLLISIONS TAKE FOUR LIVES

Accidents Occur Saturday Near East Grand Forks and McIntosh

Two automobile collisions in Polk county Saturday took a toll of four lives and sent four others to hospitals, some of them in serious conditions.

The dead are: Miss Oline Braaten, 45, of near Thompson, N. D.; William Driscoll, 44, of Near East Grand Forks; Roy E. Penn, 31, of Grand Forks; and Cliff Wintz of Fosston, Minn.

Penn and Wintz were killed when Penn's car and a turkey truck crashed on highway No. 2 three miles west of McIntosh Saturday night. Their bodies were taken to McIntosh. George Smith of Wadena, Minn., driver of the truck, was taken to the Fosston hospital to be treated for head injuries.

Miss Braaten and Mr. Driscoll died a few hours after the cars in which they were passengers collided, head-on, two and three quarters miles northeast of East Grand Forks. Both succumbed in a Grand Forks hospital where they were taken after the accident. Three other persons received injuries in that crash.

The injured are Mrs. Driscoll, who rode with Mr. Driscoll in the rear seat of a car driven by Olaf Gjovick of Strathcona, who was only slightly injured, and O. S. Braater, who drove his machine with his sister as a passenger Braaten and Mrs. Driscoll were expected to recover. Gjorvick suffered a knee injury.

Paul Olson Dies in Hospital Here Thursday

Paul Roy Olson, a salesman for the Neutrine Candy Co., who has worked in this city and vicinity for some time, died at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 12, in a local hospital. He was 29 years of age at the time of his death.

Mr. Olson was born November 9, 1907 at Valley City, N. D. He is survived by his mother Mrs. Freda L. Olson of Millers Tavern, Va., two sisters, Mrs. Alfreda Olson and Mrs. Francis Lugther, both of Millers Tavern, Va., and two brothers Willard of Minneapolis and Woodrow of Millers Tavern, Va. His father, two sisters, and one brother preceded him in death.

The body was removed to Valley City, N. D. for final rites and burial.

CITY ORGANIZATIONS HONORED AT PUBLIC MEETING THURSDAY

in 1913. It gives, she stated, a substantial donation to welfare work each year, and each year distributes forty large Christmas baskets, in addition to sponsoring Flag Day observances. She told how the lodge had acquired the Elks park at a cost of $9,000 and had presented it to the city without cost.

Rev. R. M. Fjelstad cited the board of education, which he said renders a valuable service by handling the affairs of perhaps the largest enterprise in the city. W. E. Dahlquist, discussing the work of the city council, said that the progress made by this city in recent years is due not only to natural advantages but to the fact that the council, in cooperation with other groups, has grasped the opportunities that have presented themselves. He commended the body for having put into effect a reduction in rates for service supplied by the municipal power plant.

Mrs. Blanche Korstad called attention to the valuable services rendered by the nine members of the library board working in cooperation with Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, librarian. H. O. Chommie outlined the varied activities of the park board, including maintaining and improving the city parks and playgrounds, developing the swimming pool and sponsoring the municipal golf course.

Chester Myrum told of the development of a spirit of good will and understanding by the Rotary club, and cited its activities in providing a leader for the county 4-H clubs, aiding in Boy Scout work and supplying a municipal Christmas tree. Dr. A. E. Jacobson discussed the activities of the Woman's club in the direction of making a better and cleaner city. Paul Lundgren cited the work of the child welfare board and the Red Cross chapter, and summed up by saying that the difference in the progress of various communities lies in the characteristics of its organizations and individuals.

"Cain and Mabel" Billed at Avalon Next Sunday

"Cain and Mabel", a spectacular musical production starring Marion Davies and Clark Gable, will be the film offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, with a midnight prevue Saturday evening at 11:15. The picture is filled with catchy musical airs and specialties in which 160 chorus girls take part. Included in the supporting cast are Allen Jenkins, Roscoe Karns, Walter Catlett and Ruth Donnelly.

The Dionne quintuplets will be the feature attraction next Wednesday and Thursday in their latest picture, "Reunion".

HAROLD ARNESON IS AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM IN ST. PAUL

Funeral Rites Held in City Tuesday for Former Local Man

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Community church for Harold Arneson, formerly of this city, who was fatally injured last Friday in St. Paul when struck by a car, his death resulting shortly afterward in Ancker hospital. He was 36 years old. Rev. F. A. Cooke officiated at the last rites.

Mr. Arneson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Arneson of St. Paul, was born in Elbow Lake August 20, 1900, and resided in Thief River Falls for five years, leaving for Canby in 1926 and two years later going to St. Paul where he has since resided. While a resident here he was married in 1926 to Miss Martha Dostal, who survives him, together with their two children, Betty Lou and Jimmie.

Other surviving relatives include his parents; two brothers, Henry of Washington, D. C., and Stephen of San Juan, Puerto Rico; two sisters, Mrs. Don Ryan of Brainerd and Mrs. Philip Taylor of Washington, D. C.; his grandmother, Mrs. Ann Fish; three uncles; and two aunts including Mrs. L. H. Larson of this city.

Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Writer of Bad Checks Is Arrested Tuesday; Hearing November 27th

Elmer Braaeth, 29, formerly living north of Grygla and who came to this community about six weeks ago, was arrested Tuesday evening by local police on a charge of issuing checks with no funds in the bank, using the aliases of Art Johnson, Art Morby and Alfred Morby. Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court this morning adjourned a hearing in the case until Friday, November 27, pending further investigation. Braaeth is reported also to have confessed to the theft of a quantity of wheat from a granary in Beltrami county. A woman and three children who accompanied him to this city were sent back by authorities Wednesday to their home in Cavalier county, North Dakota.

CHAMPION BEEF FETCHES $1,471 AT STOCK SHOW

4-H Worker's Baby Beef at South St. Paul Show Nets $1.45 a Pound

Miss Leona Padelford, 20-year-old exhibitor of the grand champion baby beef at the Minnesota Junior Livestock show at South St. Paul went home Friday with a check for $1,471.75 in her purse, highest price ever paid for a grand champion in the 19-year history of the exposition.

In common with 1,070 boys and girls who exhibited entries in beef, swine, sheep and poultry classes, Leona bid a tearful goodby to her pet steer at the conclusion of Thursday's auction.

Her 1,015 pound winning Aberdeen Angus Yearling, purchased by Swift & Co., for $1.45 a pound, cost the girl only $66 originally. Feed came to about $125, Leona told her friends, giving her a net profit of $1,280, plus the hearttug of being separated from the animal.

The grand champion lamb, owned by Dale Benson, Canby, sold to Wilson Packing Company, for $4.05 a pound, second highest lamb bid in the history of the show. Net sale price was $425.25. Walter Osborne's grand champion hog went to Hormel & Co. for $1.05 a pound and a net price of $378. Osborne is from Madelia.

Largest buying crowd on record at the exposition cheered as auctioneers rang up the sales.

The reserve champion lamb, raised by Shelly Jones of Morristown, was purchased by the First National Bank of Owatonna for $1.30 a pound, while the Egan Chevrolet Company of South St. Paul bought the reserve champion hog, entered by Donald Behrens of Windom, for 35 cents a pound.

N. W. Hospital Heads Meet in Wadena Friday

Wesley Hospital in Wadena will be the scene Friday, November 20, of the presentation of the certificate awarded by the American Hospital Association in the competition entered by all small hospitals in America for the best program presented on National Hospital Day last May.

Dr. A. F. Branton, of Rochester, president of the Minnesota Hospital Association, will make the presentation to Miss Madell Motsiff, superintendent of the hospital. The hospital last year was awarded an honorable mention for its work on Hospital Day, and this year took first honors. Honorable mention was awarded by the American Hospital Association to St. Mary's Hospital of Duluth for its work in cities over 15,000 population. Sister Patricia, superintendent, is president elect of the Minnesota Hospital Association.

In conjunction with the presentation ceremonies, which will be made a civic occasion in this city, Dr. Branton has called a divisional meeting of the heads of hospitals in this section of the state. More than 25 are expected to attend. The superintendents will discuss "Small Hospital Problems."

Dealers and Citizens Warned All Christmas Trees Must Bear Tags

Minnesota's one million dollar Christmas tree industry began last week when many dealers in the northern part of the state started cutting operations.

Under terms of the Christmas tree tagging law, which went into effect for the first time last year, all dealers in Christmas trees must purchase one or two cent tags from the state division of forestry and attach them to their trees.

Dealers who have obtained the $100 license must buy one cent tags; unlicensed dealers buy the two cent tags. Chemically processed trees do not require the tags.

The Christmas tree tags have for the first time enabled the division of forestry to make an accurate estimate of the extent of the industry in Minnesota, according to director Grover M. Conzet.

Records of tag sales in 1935 show that approximately 1,750,000 trees were cut and that 660,000 of this number were used in Minnesota. The bulk of the trees sent out of the state went to the upper Mississippi valley, but some carloads were traced as far south as Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. Conzet pointed out that the law requiring Christmas trees to be tagged has greatly reduced illegal cutting and has prevented over-production and waste.

All citizens are urged to see to it that the trees they buy for the holiday season are properly tagged. Dealers may obtain detailed information from their local forest ranger.

Women Overtake Men in Numbers in State, Study at 'U' Indicates

Women are catching up on the men, in numbers, in Minnesota, and in the two largest cities have managed to pass them, it is shown in a study of Population Trends in Minnesota by Professor Robert W. Murchie of the department of sociology.

In 1850 there were 61 plus males in the state to every 38 plus females, but in 1930 the ratio had been drastically changed to 52.18 men to every 47.82 women.

Among the foreign born white population, namely, those who came as immigrants, there is still a natural preponderance of males, namely, in the state's present population, in 1930, 217,083 males and 170,311 females.

Today, of the three largest cities, Duluth is the only one retaining masculine predominance, as might be supposed from its position nearer the frontier. There the ratio is 102.2 males to 100 females, but in Minneapolis, males are but 94.4 to 100, and in St. Paul 93.9 to 100. Forty years earlier, in 1890, all three cities were far more masculine than feminine, Duluth having the overwhelming ratio of 172.8 to 100.

SHOOTS GRAY FOX FROM TREE PERCH

New Prague—A 16-year old Lonsdale youth, who shot a large silky-haired gray fox perched in a tree, is greatly envied by his pals. While out hunting rabbits near his home he spied an animal in a tree. Raising his gun, he aimed and fired, and down came the animal, which, to his surprise, proved to be a fox. Neighbors remarked that it was very unusual to find a fox in a tree, since the animals are not climbers, but it was thought that dogs had frightened it into leaping the distance of 18 feet to safety.

COW KILLED BY LIVE LIZARDS

Howard Lake—Two live lizards were responsible for the death of a 14-months old Brown Swiss heifer belonging to Ernest Krohn who lives three and one-half miles north of Howard Lake. The animal was found dead and examinations revealed two lizards in its stomach.

WPA HEAD SPEAKS AT DEDICATION OF R. L. FALLS HALL

$10,000 Community Building Formally Opened Last Friday

The new Red Lake Falls community auditorium was formally opened Friday night when crowds from Red Lake Falls and the surrounding territory filled the place during dedication ceremonies.

Dinner was served in the dining room of the new structure and the program followed with Victor Christgau, state administrator of the works progress administration as the principal speaker.

The project is one of the outstanding in the seventh district and was sponsored by the city of Red Lake Falls.

The building cost approximately $70,000 of which $38,000 was furnished by the federal government. More than $12,000 was originally invested by the American Legion post here which several years ago finished the basement and put it to use.

The structure is 122 feet long and 62 feet wide with steel girders supporting the roof. It is termed a three-unit structure offering the community a spacious auditorium, and dining hall, offices for city officials and quarters for the fire department.

The auditorium and stage occupy practically all of the first floor, providing seats for 1,000. The dining hall and kitchen are located in the basement while on the south side of the basement are rooms for city officials.

Senator-Elect Lundeen Favors U. S. 3d Party

The declaration in favor of a national third party by U. S. Senator-elect Ernest Lundeen, published in the public press under date of Nov. 10, brought immediate and favorable response from Emil E. Holmes, Minnesota state chairman of the Union party.

"The statement by Senator Lundeen advocating the formation of a National Farmer-Labor party is good news to many of us," Mr. Holmes said today. "To the patronage seekers, however, it will be very bad news for Jim Farley cannot be expected to become very enthusiastic about that idea.

"We are happy that our endorsement of Ernest Lundeen is now vindicated and that we can go forward together in a common cause. Whether we call it the Union Party or the National Farmer-Labor Party is not important.

CATCHES OPOSSUM ON NEW ULM FARM

New Ulm—A Home township youth in the New Ulm vicinity recently caught an opossum in a trap which he had placed in a tree at the farm home of his parents. It was the first opossum seen in many years in that community, since its natural habitat is in the south. The animals are seldom seen in northern climates.

RIVER VALLEY

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE RIVER VALLEY FORUM

A handful of us—perhaps a dozen—men and women met in the River Valley Creamery office one evening last April to listen to Mr. Denning, Forum leader, explain the Public Forum plan. After due discussion we decided to try it out.

The following week we met in the River Valley Co-operative store. About thirty-five members were present. The following week we met in the school house nearby. Probably fifty, or more, were present. The next two or three meetings were held in the creamery—attendance constantly increasing. People came for instruction and entertainment from a radius of twenty miles, or more. The creamery was unsuited for such gatherings. People occupied all available space, sitting on the churns, on the vats, in the windows, in the office, standing in the doorway, and driving their automobiles as near as possible.

A committee was appointd to study the situation and devise a plan to take care of the crowds. Hearing that the Borgen Show people had a second-hand tent for sale, the Committee was given authority to act. The tent was purchased and set up near the creamery. The crowds continued to increase. It is estimated the attendance averaged between three and four hundred at each time. It is positively known that over five hundred people have attended these meetings—over five hundred members! The aggregate attendance is probably in excess of five thousand.

Speakers have come to address our meetings from long distances, Fargo, Tenstrike, Crookston, Hallock, Thief River Falls and other places. Even Minneapolis has been rpresented with a promise of a speaker later on. We want to pay our utmost respect to Thief River Falls, whose people have been especially generous to us in the way of supplying talent and material aid. The Civic and Commerce Association sponsored our Labor Day celebration, and merchants and others donated generously. We look upon this as a magnificent gesture of brotherly kindness. Editor Dahlquist, especially, has been a mighty good friend to us.

The certain approach of cold weather made tent meetings impossible. A temporary meeting place has been arranged, which will house us until the biggest event of all takes place.

As a direct result of the Forum we are building a fine community hall. Plans and specifications are complete, and a site for the hall has been purchased. A structure costing about $8,000 is planned.

Such, in brief, is a sketch of the River Valley Forum. We have the unique, but proud, distinction of being the largest public forum in the state of Minnesota!

By the way, River Valley is a strong cooperative community.

The last regular meeting of the River Valley Forum was held at the temporary hall Tuesday evening, Nov. 10. The meeting was called to order by the chairman Edwin Gordon. Opening song by the audience. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The officers elected for the next meeting are as follows: Chairman, Alvin Mandt; vice chairman, Thorman Lunden; secretary Rayno Lahtinen. Maurice Lehtinen was elected to take the place of Arnold Korupp as a member of the hall committee. Edwin Gordon gave the cost of the temporary building, totaling $46.50. Remarks were given by Mr. Denning in regard to the election. He stated that the landslide was probably due to Public Works, Ole Age Pensions and other relief agencies. A discussion on the election was then held by the audience. A discussion was held on our procuring a traveling library. A motion was made and carried that the money for the library is to be taken from the lunch fund. Maurice Lehtinen was nominated as librarian with Dick Kolstrand and Thorman Lunden as assistants. Mr. Denning explained the social security Act. It was later opened for discussion. Mr. Denning gave several facts for the cause of temperance. O. M. Mandt reported that Mr. Webb, W. P. A. Adm. would meet with the town board and hall committees, Nov. 19 at River Valley. The meeting adjourned until Tuesday evening Nov. 17.

H. A. Bush, Otto Hohle and Mrs. O. J. Peterson members of the local school board, accompanied by Einar Johnson foreman of the local W. P. A. project motored to Bemidji Tuesday where they purchased brick for the local school building now being constructed.

Mr. and Mrs. Thor Myren and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Brattelli spent last Tuesday at the Gunder Nesland home near Thief River Falls.

The Party given at the Ole T. Byklum home by Mrs. Byklum and Mrs. Arneson for the John Jelle family last Tuesday was very well attended and a very neat sum was given to the benefactors. The hostesses furnished an elaborate lunch.

Mrs. Signe Johnson a resident of Big Grass township left Thursday for Chicago where she will spend the winter. During her absence her cattle and place will be taken care by L. H. Davey.

Ralph Monroe who has purchased the Moran oil station assumed management Tuesday and is now ready to meet all old and new customers of the place.—John Brevik a former resident here now residing at Sennas Wash., is visiting relatives here. He is staying at the Hans Wick home. —A very large crowd was in attendance at the furniture sales held last Saturday at which every piece of furniture and miscellaneous items were sold.

The funeral of Tom Nesland, accidentally killed a week ago while out hunting, was held here last Saturday. The church was filled to over-flowing and a truckload of flowers in evidence to comfort the sorrowing friends and relatives. Tom was born and raised in this community, his parents and brothers and sisters are old time residents here until a few years ago, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

An accident which might have proved serious happened to Orvin Lloyd last Sunday afternoon. While riding a horse the animal decided to buck and "rare up" with the result that Orvin was thrown off and then the horse kicked him in the forehead breaking his nose. People seeing the accident from a very short distance arrived at once and assisted him into the hospital in front of where the action took place. The patient was dressed and taken care of by Dr. Adkins and according to latest reports will soon be out and around as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Kiewel spent Saturday at the H. A. Farmer home. —Mrs. G. W. Booren and son Lynn of Thief River Falls spent Sunday afternoon visiting friends in the village. While here Mrs. Booren had her first view of a deer hunt as it should be staged.

Last Sunday a number of friends reminded Mrs. P. P. Maney of her 76th birthday. Those in attendance were O. J. Johnson and family, Rudy Leverson and family of Thief River Falls, J. R. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Sheldrew, Ellen Croninger and family and the J. E. Maney family. A delicious dinner was served the visitors and needless to say was very enjoyable.

Another old time resident has passed to the great beyond. Targe Rystad Arneson, whom lately has been making 1 home near Strandquist passe ; away, the funeral being held in Grygla Tuesday, Rev. Anderson officiating. Tom was a early homesteader here and only until the last couple of years did he reside on his old farm. No known relatives are in this immediate vicinity.

Mrs. F. A. Brown entertained a few relatives at a supper last Monday evening in honor of the Cliff Bjorkman family from Austin. Cliff says that in the absence of venison he very much enjoyed the chicken. —A baby girl arrived at the James Teigland home last Friday. Mother and child all well.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Lunde of Shelly visited last Sunday at the C. M. Lunde home here. —Miss Viola Henning assumed her work at the Walle Cafe last Sunday after spending a weeks vacation visiting at her home east of Middle River. —The John Gonnering family motored to Argyle last Sunday and spent the day with relatives.

The past week, the territory east and north of here has been a Mecca for hundreds of deer hunters. Earlier reports said that deer were very plentiful but word coming back from the many huntsmen reveal many empty bags. The weather has been warm and clear, ideal in a way, but some new fallen snow would be more than welcome by the hunters.

Swan Larson, one of the pioneers of the Thorhult community, passed away, Nov. 13. Funeral services was held at the Geo. Carlson home last Monday and was very largely attended. Rev. T. Anderson officiated. Mr. Larson was an active and highly respected and has done a great deal for the unbuilding of his community. He was born in Sweden, April 29, 1867 and leaves to mourn his death, several children. His wife passed away years ago.

A guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Hulbert of 617 North Horace Avenue over the week end was Harry Miller of Litchfield, salesman for the Anderson Chemical Company of Litchfield. After a trip through this region in the interests of his work, Mr. Miller will return to this city Saturday. His wife will arrive here from Litchfield the latter part of the week and they will spend the week end at the Hulbert home, leaving Sunday for their home at Litchfield.

USES TAX RECEIPT TO PAY STORE BILL

Baudette.—Tax receipts could be put to good profit if they could always be used in payment of purchases in a store as was done at Baudette. A man living near Williams came to town to pay his taxes at the court house and then presented his receipt as payment at a store where he made his purchases. The proprietor, who was busy, gave it a swift glance and seeing the county sheriff's name on it, took it for a county order and gave the man several dollars in change. The error was not discovered until the cash was checked in the evening.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

TUMBLERS NOW PRACTICING FOR OPENING SHOW

Gymnasts Commence Regular Winter Practice

About 30 tumblers have been working out for the past six weeks under the direction of E. W. Gabrielson, Lincoln High School Physical Education instructor. Present plans indicate an attractive season for the tumblers, students, and interested spectators. Early in December the tumbling team will make its first public appearance at one of the home basketball games. Those showing the most promise and rapid development, according to Mr. Gabrielson are the following: Clarence Freed, Richard Battleson, Lional Bergstrom, Selmer Dicken, Robert Hanson, Pomeroy Hill, James Aalbu, Ralph Gustafson, Perry Pederson, Clifford Lunke, Hjalmer Aasby, Red Aalbu, and William Clasy, Jr. Mr. Gabrielson announced that the more difficult tumbling exercises would be performed by this group, and that they would carry the brunt of the exhibition work. Others who will appear in every exhibition are Allen Connor, Warren Hill, Glenn Newland, David Jaranson, Delmer Hovie, Robert Ahlof, Harry Oen, Milton Poppenhagen, Harley Lunke, Robert Samuelson, Ray Altoff, and Lowell Nesse. Jack Adkins and Milton Nesse will do most of the weight and pitch work.

The tumbling team will perform at five of the home basketball games during the coming winter. These exhibitions will include mat tumbling, spring board tumbling, horizontal bar exercises, Adagio dancing, and flying-ring exhibitions.

Early in April the tumbling team, together with about 85 grade school tumblers will stage a giant circus in the municipal auditorium. Aside from the feature of the circus which will be the performance of a tumbling team composed entirely of first grade pupils, the show will include all of the stunts that were shown at basketball games. In addition there will be clown acts, juggling acts, dancing, and magicians. The high school band will be on hand to add zest to the occasion. Magic feats, strongman acts, and pyramid building will round out the program.

What would Warren Hill and Don Peterson (Freshmen) be doing at Jr. Play practice (?) Monday? Must be some current attraction.

It seems as if the gang is about to surprise a certain Jr. girl some night soon. Well, hide the garlic pickles, Peggy.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

"The Crime of Dr. Forbes"
"The Road to Glory"—Reidy

If you receive a slam as "none of your lip" thrown at you from a certain Lenny Halquist don't feel badly because it just happens to be Lenny's favorite expression. He was born Feb. 2, 1920 in Thief River Falls. In accordance with the coming season his favorite sport is basketball. His favorites on the screen are Robert Kent and Gloria Stewart and the movie "The Crime of Dr. Forbes." He believes in backing home town talent for his favorite orchestra is the new Campus Freshmen playing "The Organ Grinder Swing" (yeah! shall we tell what we think, gang). He enjoys Jack Benny on the Jello Program. He prefers Jack London's style of writing to any other and the book "Call of the Wild." Here's a tip for you guys who are planning an easy senior year. His pet peeve is studying and his favorite subject is Agriculture IV, (what do you gather?) In the line of food banana cream pie seems to appeal. If he succeeds in his ambition he will be a second Bernie Beirman.

Obviously Ariel Reidy likes to talk for her favorite subject is English IV. She was born March 19, 1920 in Adams, North Dakota. She too prefers banana cream pie. She likes to listen to Bing Crosby's Kraft Music Hall, Bing being the main attraction. Joan Crawford and Fredric March and the show the "Road to Glory" rates tops with her as far as the cinema is concerned. The book "Asylum" by William Seabrook is her favorite. She detests egotistical people! Her hobby is one few indulge in, but it is to read other people's letters. Her future ambition is to be a private secretary (DeLuxe) and Miss Wise is her inspiration. "My Kingdom for a Kiss" played by Bob Crosby seems to satisfy her.

TEACHER'S TRAINING

The T. T. T. R. F. members have begun a new unit in practice teaching. They are teaching Fourth and Fifth grade reading in the city schools. Vivian St. Martin, Andrea Moland, Evelyn Peterson, Alice Ann Severson, Rebecca Paquin, and Audrey Moland are practice teaching in the Knox school. In the Washington school are Irene Hammer, Luella Bjorkman, and Dorothy Hoover. Five students—Anne Hermanson, Iris Ayers, Esther Bluemke, Eleanor Tornes, and Thelma Kolden—are teaching in the Northrup school. This unit will continue until Thanksgiving vacation.

Last Wednesday the Training students attended the Armistice Day program at the high school. All of the student s enjoyed the program.

On Friday, November 13, a class meeting was held. At this time it was unanimously agreed that the members of the T. T. T. R. F. would contribute to the Pennington County Red Cross fund.

FIRST P. T. A. HELD MONDAY

Freshmen Girls Sextet, Mr. Riggs on Program

There will be a Parent-Teachers meeting next Monday, November twenty-third at eight o'clock in the Lincoln High School Assembly.

The main speaker will be Dean J. V. Breitwieser of the University of North Dakota. For the past eight years he has headed the School of Education and has been director of the graduate division. His other university experience includes work at Indiana, California, Columbia, and Colorado College. He is a writer of note and editor, and as a lecturer has a well deserved reputation.

The Freshman Girls Sextette will sing a selection under the direction of Miss Springen. They are Mildred Jensen, Elaine Douglass, Lois Jordal, Elaine Rambeck, Doris Hostvet, and Dagny Tungseth.

Director Ronald G. Riggs will play a clarinet solo, Schon Rosmarin by Kreisler.

At the close of the meeting, lunch will be served.

THE SCREAMER

Have you heard the latest? Elmer is back in school. From the hospital, don't you know. And furthermore, he had numerous female visitors—so being sick can't be so bad after all!

There have been a great number of requests for introductions to those two young fellows now working at the Avalon theater. And gossip has it that Helen S. and Francis W. are just the girls to perform the fete. And if they won't do try Helen O. and Selma J.

W. P. A. workers are even found in Lincoln High school now. According to Dr. Meyer-Oakes, the chemistry classes very closely resemble W. P. A. workers because of their speed. That's terrible, just awful terrible.

The "Martins and the Coys" aren't the only ones who can feud. Take Mona M. and Lorraine B. for example. And guess what they're feuding about. One lucky young lad from Crookston. Careful there, girls! Don't let this thing get serious.

Hold everything! Brunelle E. and Wayne K., are united again. Maybe it's 'cause Wayne is going to join the Navy.

It's a blamed insult—the way the "Knights" of Thief River Falls woo the "damsels" from other towns—instead of being loyal to home town lasses. Right?

Calling all busy-bodies! Calling all busy-bodies! Be on the look-out for new romances budding from the Junior class play. Now don't say we didn't warn you!

CLASS PLAY

Tomorrow evening another Junior Class will present another Junior Class Play. This will be the class of "38's first major appearance in the social activities of Lincoln High School.

Each year for the past several years the production of an outstanding metropolitan stage show has been undertaken by the Juniors. All of these shows have been highly successful, both from the audiences point of view, in pleasure derived and from the class's aim of bettering their financial standing.

Last year's attempts surpassed all previous records in both the attendance and the gate receipts as well as giving a presentation highly acceptable to the large audience. But this year's play "The Nut Farm" with its splendid cast under the able direction of Miss Olson is expected to surpass even last years splendid record.

Be on hand and give the Juniors a great sendoff.

High School students have a great advantage over residents of neighboring towns, in their gigantic new winter sports arena. The arena was opened with an exceptionally large auto show and general celebration last week-end. During the course of the winter there will be a local hockey team entered in a league composed of teams representing cities in North Dakota and Minnesota as well as the University of North Dakota. The rink should prove to be an excellent place for events other than winter sports during the summer months. This will in time, lead to better basketball floor for high school teams by eliminating dancing on the Auditorium floor and will provide a place for other events that interfere with the practice of the team.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Ooooooh, my bones! I can't blame physical ed. either— or can I? That ice certainly has a—for me. Worth it? "But definitely"! Not only for the sport and thrill of flashing steel blades on a smooth surface—but right with the fun, all prowlerettes like us may earn a point an hour toward that "L". Keep your date by all means, and don't forget to report your hours. We're not clairvoyant (nifty word, that, coming from the gym!)

Oh, and by the bye—if you don't hear the announcements tuck this away in your cranium crevices! Volley ball practice every Tuesday night—Frosh at 7:15—and upper classmen at 8:00—or come at the convenient hour, y'know. We must attend five out of six practices and the three tournament games to qualify for points—now don't forget! Here's hoping you all rate 150! First team, yah!

There will be a few human Mexican jumping beans next week—want to know? Versatile Mr. Gabrielson and "friends" have fashioned a spanking good spring-board (I predict an early spring!)

And the little bunny just went lapity, lapity lap! Some mighty classy jackrabbit hops at that—but hard on the paws. Wandering again? No—just reminding the Thursday-Friday gym classes—tish!

Reminds me—a Bouquet of pansies to the bulletin committee for the week. With that I'll duck the not-so-fresh vegetables. See you—next week—with a grin!

THE KEYHOLE PEEKER

My! My! Those up and coming Juniors boys have a new edition from St. Hilaire. (eh Bob Sande?) The Soph. gals think he's all right. (tut tut Ardith)

Something oughta be done about it. But then it only happens once every four years. A certain Jr. girl had a party Fri. nite carried out in truly Leap Year Fashion. Some fun, eh Jean L.?

Would Don Lorentson rather go hunting than go to a Leap Year Party? (Ask Eileen Rolland) But then he may have won a bet.

Me thinks there's great tap-dancing ability in form of Bum Quale? (Now Bum, You're holding out on us.)

BASKETBALL TEAM NOW PRACTICING IN AUDITORIUM

Cap't. Nelson, Nesse, Stadum, and Helquist Form Nucleus

Basketball practice at the Municipal Auditorium began last Monday with fifteen high calibre players answering the call of Coach George Lee, cage mentor.

Four lettermen, seniors, Captain Bud Nelson, forward; Milton Nesse, guard; Leonard Helquist, guard; and Loren "Bones" Stadum, sophomore center; appeared in fine form and will undoubtedly hold down their positions in championship style. The remaining post has been occupied by numerous players during workouts in the high school gymnasiums, but likely predictions are to the effect that either Roy Lee or Clark Mickelson will start in the first game of the season on December 4th with Cass Lake furnishing the opposition.

Don Lorentson, Gordon Caldis, Robert Quale, Milfred Haugham, Clarence Haug, Lynn Booren, Jerome Salveson and Kenneth Jaranson, Juniors; and Rueben Mickelson, sophomore; are almost on par with those previously named and these should figure prominently in Prowler basketball this season. With such competent material vieing for honors, a battle royal will ensue for the remaining positions on the first quintet.

Jack Adkins, a first team member last year who has intentions of reporting for practice should be a welcome and important cog in the Prowler basketball machine.

As in football, Coach Lee has been assisted in basketball by Mr. Gabrielson and Ade Lorentson who have proved to be invaluable assets in the Lincoln High athletic department.

Practice at the Municipal Auditorium will be held four days weekly. Work will be under way at five o'clock in the afternoon and will wind up at six thirty for the remainder of the season.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

The English II classes have started to take library lessons.

The English IV classes gave Armistice speeches on Armistice Day.

The Modern History classes have started the study of the French Revolution.

The American History classes have just finished the study of the war of 1812.

The Home Economics II classes have finished their woolen dresses. They then had a style review for the mothers and friends on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Leavitt Awarded Letterwriting Prize

Of particular note this week is the announcement that Miss Leavitt, local Lincoln High School librarian, has won first prize in a contest sponsored by the Washington National Insurance Company.

This contest was a statewide contest in which teachers of the state were offered prizes for the best letter on "Why Teachers Should Have Health and Accident Insurance." Many Minnesota teachers entered the contest, and much praise should be accorded Miss Leavitt for the letter. As first prize, she was awarded $15.

HOME ECONOMICS TEA NOVEMBER 12

Mothers and Faculty Members Entertained

On Thursday, Nov. 12 the Home Economics II classes gave their annual Tea for their mothers and the members of the faculty. The mothers were entertained from 4-4:30 p. m., and the faculty was entertained from 4:30-5 p. m.

The classes were divided into various committees in order that all might have a part in making the tea a success. The following committees with their members were in charge:

Reception— Helen Anderson, Dorothy Noper, Margaret Gustafson, Selma Jensen, Ruth Hanson, and Madeline Gunderson.

Table appointments— Lois Morrel, Brunell Erickson, Elyce Protz, Mary Mayer-Oakes, Vivian Bornholdt and June Ystesund.

Serving committee—Ellen Dalla, Ruby Engelstad, Anna Hanson, Mae Lindquist, Beatrice Thompson, Bernice Vigness, Dorothy Green, Myrtle Furuseth.

Invitations— Lorene Dahl, Esther Hetland, Dorothy Snelling, Frances Westin and Dorothy Lang.

Arranging Order of Appearance —Eunice Mullen, Harriet O'Hara, Nona Nelson, and Hettie Gustafson.

At this tea the girls modeled the wool dresses they had made, giving the mothers and members of the faculty the opportunity to see just what has been done so far this year. Refreshments were made and served by the girls themselves. Much praise is due Miss Dahlen and the committees in charge for the efficient way in which the affair was carried out. All present reported it to be a big success.

Mr. Johnson was handing out the Cigars Monday morning. Best Wishes to the 7½ lb addition to the family!

Why don't some of our high school teachers attend these dances. We'd like to see them have fun too.

'NUT FARM' TO BE PRESENTED BY JUNIORS FRIDAY

Eleven Juniors Will Make Stage Debut Tomorrow

"The Nut Farm", a grand three-act comedy centering around Hollywood and the motion picture world, will be presented by the Junior class of Lincoln High School on Friday evening, November twentieth, at eight-fifteen o'clock. It will be presented in the Municipal Auditorium and has been under the direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson.

The cast consists of:

Mrs. Barton	Fae Bakker
Willie Barton	Gordon Caldis
Ezra Sliscomb	Roger Wessling
Helen Bent	Harriet Simonson
Agatha Sliscomb	Mary Chommie
Hamilton T. Holland	Floyd Melby
J. Clarence Biddeford	Robert Smith
Harold Horton	Jerome Salveson
Hilda	Evelyn Tungseth
Robert Bent	Robert Quale
Mrs. Sliscomb	Marion Oden

The Barton family, consisting of Willie, a most ambitious young chap who yearns to be a film-comedy director, his married sister, Helen, whose husband has thirty thousand dollars and who is ambitious to become a movie star, and their mother, the patient though frequently sorely tried third member of the group, carry on most of the plot and action of the comedy. Helen's husband, who has sold a grocery store in Newark New Jersey, with the intention of buying a nut farm in California, is more or less the motor of the plot, for it is his thirty thousand that enables Helen to get a chance to be a star. Poor Hubby Robert! By the time a slick producer, an effeminate scenario-writer, a bored leading man, his own wife and his brother-in-law get through with that thirty thousand, all Bob has left is a memory and not a happy one. Fortunately, Willie saves the day and the money by a cute little bit of movie magic and everything ends happily. There is not a weak role in the entire play.

Tickets for the play are now being sold by Junior salesmen at the prices of 40c for adults and 20c for students. Plan to attend and buy your tickets now!

Woe is all us girls. Or, haven't you heard of Robert Taylor's engagement to Barbara Stanwick (cheer up, girls, there's lots of eligible bachelors.)

Us poor Juniors. They're all mad at us. We get scolded for not bringing our class dues, for making too much noise, and now Mr. Riggs tells us to come to school every day so he can have a perfect attendance, (just once, remember).

YOU NEED THESE life-saving advantages OF CONCRETE

From your own experience you know that concrete is the safest road. Its even surface makes driving easier, reduces nervous strain and results in better car control. Its gritty texture improves traction and braking, resists skidding, wet or dry. Because of its flat "crown" drivers don't tend to ride the center of the road—passing is safer.

Concrete makes night driving safer. Its light-grey surface reflects more light, helps you see better. Illuminates obstacles and pedestrians. Sharply defines the edges and helps you stay on the road.

Highway officials are striving to reduce traffic accidents. Urge them to pave with concrete and secure for your community the safest as well as most economical pavement money can buy. You can benefit by your active interest as many others have done.

Concrete costs less because it stays built. It does not require annual rebuilding or constant maintenance. It leaves future highway funds intact for more road construction.

BENSON GIVES BRIEF RESUME OF '37 PROGRAM

Governor-Elect Working on Matters to Submit to Legislature

WANTS LIBERALIZED OLD-AGE ASSISTANCE

Will Seek to Have Congress Put Frazier-Lemke Bill Into Effect

Returning last week from a visit in the east, Governor-elect Elmer A. Benson at once set to work outlining the legislative program he will present to the legislature, which convenes January 5, 1937, and studying the needs of the various state departments.

"I regard the election as an overwhelming indorsement of the principles and the program of the Farmer-Labor party," Governor-elect Benson said. "The people have said that this is the program they wish carried out and I am therefore pledged to carry it out to the maximum."

One of the first steps the governor elect declared he will take according to the Minnesota Leader, official organ of the Farmer-Labor party, is to call in authorized spokesmen of such groups as farmers, labor, teachers, cooperatives and independent business men to discuss with them legislation pertaining to their particular needs.

Although Senator Benson has not completed his outline of the legislative program, he stated that he is giving particular attention to the following subjects:

Advancement of rural electrification.

Extension of the mortgage mortgage moratorium law.

Curbing of chain farming.

Legislation to enable Minnesota to receive the full benefits of the federal social security law.

Liberalization of the old age assistance law.

Unemployment insurance.

Adequate relief measures.

Tax revision in conformity with ability to pay, and easing of the burden of the home owner and farmer.

Civil service legislation.

Revision of the chain store tax law in the light of the recent decision of the United States Supreme court; and increasing the rate of the tax graduated on a number of stores in chain.

Safety labor legislation.

Legislation to enable municipally-owned power plants to extend their service beyond the present limitations.

Water conservation legislation.

A state youth act.

A state fair trade law.

Improvement in the Workmen's Compensation act.

Legislation to facilitate the work on the part of municipalities, desiring to embark on public utility enterprises.

Means of effecting better control over public utilities and their practices, especially practices pertaining to their system of accounting upon which rates are based.

Senator Benson stated that the state would make every effort to influence national legislation at the next session of congress and particularly urge upon congress the passage of the Frazier-Lemke bill, guarantee of cost of production of farm products and the nationalization of the munitions industry.

WPA STARTS WORK ON CONCRETE POOL IN WEST SIDE PARK

Also to Make Concrete Tennis Courts in Bridge Street Park

A large temporary shed is being completed this week in the city park fronting on West Third st., which will give protection from the elements while a concrete wading pool is being constructed in the park as a WPA project sponsored by the park board. The pool will have a diameter of forty feet and will range in depth from six to eighteen inches. When the project is completed the shed will be moved to the Bridge st. park on the east side of the river where two regulation concrete tennis courts are to be constructed. It had been planned to get the work under way during the past summer, but the projects were delayed for various reasons.

FIRST OF TALKING BOOK MACHINES HAVE ARRIVED

The first shipment of talking book machines to serve blind persons in this community arrived last Thursday from the school for the blind at Faribault and the equipment is now ready for distribution, Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, librarian, announced.

Accepts Nebraska Post

CHESTER A. MYROM

Mr. Myrom served during the past year as president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and with Mrs. Myrom has been active in the work of the Trinity Lutheran church and its various organizations. He has been succeeded at the local wholesale house by Lou Chaney.

BAD CHECK WRITER BREAKS OUT FROM JAIL HERE FRIDAY

Believed to Have Had Aid of Accomplice in Sawing Jail Bars

Elmer Braseth, who was arrested in this city early last week on a charge of writing worthless checks, escaped late Thursday night from the county jail where he had been confined pending a trial. Two iron bars on one of the windows had been sawed away with a hack-saw, and authorities are of the opinion that the escaped man had the assistance of his brother, Alvin Braseth, who had been released from custody Thursday for lack of evidence.

Both men left the city in their car early Friday morning, going first to Pembina to take with them on their flight a woman and her three children who had been living with them, and who had been sent back to her home the preceding Wednesday.

Sheriff Arthur Rambeck and Police Chief A. B. Stenberg went as far as Fargo in quest of the men, but, altho they located numerous relatives in communities along the way, they found no trace of the missing parties.

Gamble Store Will Open In New Quarters Monday

The local Gamble store this week-end will move from its present location in the Masonic block on Main av. to attractive new quarters in the former Lyceum theatre building on LaBree av., which has been completely remodeled to suit the needs of its new tenants. Christmas Seal Chairmen for Pennington County are Named

Local managers to direct the Christmas seal campaign have been appointed for Pennington county, it was announced this week by the Minnesota Public Health association, sponsor of the campaign. The seal sale opens officially thruout the nation today.

Included in the list of local chairman are Mrs. A. M. Smith, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Baldwin Borreson, Oakland Park sanatorium; M. R. Graham, St. Hilaire; and Mrs. V. C. McLeod, Goodridge. In Thief River Falls the seal sale will be sponsored by the medical auxiliary, it was announced.

The 1936 campaign marks the 30th anniversary of the introduction of the Christmas Seal into the United States as a means of raising funds to fight tuberculosis. The fact that three and one-half million people have died of tuberculosis during the last thirty years is emphasized in the message sent out to the local committees. In this message the forward strides which have been taken are also stressed and it is pointed out that the death rate has been cut two-thirds.

PREMIUM LISTS ON POULTRY SHOW GO OUT THIS WEEK

19th Annual County Event to be Held December 8th to 11th

In preparation for the 19th annual show sponsored by the Pennington County Poultry association and scheduled to be held in the Auditorium in this city from Tuesday, December 8, to Friday, December 11, premium lists are being sent out this week by Secretary Vernon Copp to all prospective exhibitors in this section. Those not receiving copies of the list can obtain them at the county agent's office, he said.

With improved market prices on poultry products this season compared to recent years, an unusual amount of interest in the forthcoming event is anticipated. Premiums on displays of the various classes of poultry will range from 50 cents to a maximum of $4, while on turkeys the premiums will have a top limit of $5.

The premium list points out that boys and girls submitting entries in the 4-H division will not be required to pay an entry fee. All boys and girls enrolled in poultry club work in 1936 are eligible to show.

Elofson's Store Gets New Fixtures; Optical Department Adds Man

Attractive new equipment is being installed this week in Elofson's jewelry store to facilitate the display of merchandise, including a handsome wall display fixture to be equipped with indirect lighting, and several fixtures for the center of the floor. At the same time announcement was made by Dr. A. R. Hulbert, in charge of Elofson's optical department, of the addition to the staff of E. K. Carlson of Minneapolis, who has had several years experience with Twin City wholesale optical establishments.

Second Accident Caused by Parked Truck Sunday

The second accident in the past few weeks resulting from parking long trucks on the downtown streets occurred Sunday evening when a car driven by Leonard Evenson of Newfolden, while passing another car, crashed into the rear of a parked truck operated by Harold Dietz. Local Young Lady Gets 250 Pound Buck Near International Falls

That Rudyard Kipling was speaking the truth when he said "The female of the species is more deadly than the male" was demonstrated last Friday when Miss Jewel Klevestad, Times linotype operator, bagged a huge buck with an estimated weight of 250 pounds while hunting in the vicinity of International Falls. She shot the animal behind the shoulder, and it died almost instantly. Miss Klevestad was accompanied on the expedition by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hauge of St. Hilaire.

SALVATION ARMY TELLS OF LABORS IN THIS SECTION

Envoy Bailey Solicits Co-operation of Public at Christmas Time

Envoy and Mrs. E. W. Bailey, in charge of the work of the Salvation Army in this community, in a statement today reminded the public that the local unit is a going concern and is contributing materially to the physical and spiritual wellbeing of numerous citizens of Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall counties.

Among the contributions made by the agency, Mr. Bailey cited furniture given to sixteen families and clothing and fuel to twelve families, in addition to which 747 garments have been presented to needy families and meals or lodgings furnished to a total of 154 transients. Other work included the furnishing of transportation and the distribution of 647 periodicals to hospitals and homes. A total of more than 400 meetings have been conducted by the organization during the year.

Envoy Bailey stated that the Salvation Army unit here will have a heavy burden to bear during the Christmas holidays, and he solicited the cooperation and financial support of the public in carrying on its activities.

ROY OEN TO LEAVE COACHING DUTIES AND RETURN HERE

Resignation From Staff of Oberlin College Is Announced

Announcement was made this week at Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, that Roy Oen, football line coach and instructor in athletics at that institution, has resigned from his position effective at the end of the current semester, and will return to his home in this city to assist his father, Rasmus Oen, in the conduct of his widespread business affairs.

Roy, who served as captain and center of the University of Minnesota football team in 1933, went to Oberlin a year ago this fall to serve as instructor in physical education. In addition to his connection with the football team, he coached the freshman basketball team and assisted with baseball in the spring.

Commenting on his departure the Oberlin student newspaper said, "The line which Oen has coached for two seasons has been the team's strongest forte. From light, inexperienced material a stout-hearted and fighting forward wall has been developed which would do honor to any coach."

Wylie Man Is Now Aiding Lynskey in County Office

Edgar Naplin of Wylie, following his appointment by the county board, recently assumed the post of assistant to John Lynskey, supervisor of old-age assistance in Pennington county, and is now engaged in making a recheck of WPA workers in the county, carrying out instructions from state headquarters. Mr. Naplin is a graduate of Gustavus Adolphus college in St. Peter.

Fargo Man New Manager of National Tea Store

Martin E. Nelson of Fargo during the past week assumed the post of manager of the National Tea company store in this city. He succeeds Hans Hanson, manager the past year, who returned to his former home in Newfolden to engage in business. Mr. Nelson has been in the grocery business for twenty years, having had chain store experience the past six years.

C. W. POPE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE LOCAL PTA

Mrs. Carlisle Named Vice President at Meeting Monday Evening

STIMULATING TALK GIVEN BY N. D. MAN

Schools Most Democratic Institution, Says Dr. Breitwieser

In a stimulating and well-organized address delivered at the first fall meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Monday evening, Dr. J. V. Breitwieser, dean of the school of education of the University of North Dakota, discussed the nation's rich heritage in the form of the American public school system, and asserted that the schools of this country constitute the most democratic institution in existence.

In a brief business session C. W. Pope of the high school faculty was named president of the organization, succeeding Donald Chalmers, who has left the city; and Mrs. W. L. Carlisle was elected second vice president, taking the place of Mrs. T. C. Orme, resigned.

Mrs. A. M. Smith, local Christmas seal sale chairman, called attention to the opening of the campaign, and the association voted to buy a $5 Christmas seal bond. Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, local librarian, demonstrated one of the new talking book machines for the use of the blind, and reproduced an explanatory record by Harry L. Hopkins, federal director of the WPA, which is sponsoring the distribution of the equipment.

Musical features of the program included two selections by the freshman girls sextet directed by Miss Erma Springen, and two clarinet solos by Ronald G. Riggs, director of the high school band. Mr. Riggs also took occasion to ask the cooperation of parents in getting the band members to practice regularly.

Dr. Breitwieser pointed out in his address that education in the United States is much more in the hands of the local communities than it is in the countries of Europe. Children, he said, are being exploited in nations ruled by dictatorships as well as in Russia.

The downfall of earlier civilizations, he declared, was due to a failure to give all classes of society an education, for, he stated, as general education increases, the danger of revolution declines.

Supt. Morris Bye presided over the meeting, which closed with the serving of lunch by a committee of the association.

John Arnold Named Vice President Junior C. C.

At a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening, John Arnold was named vice president succeeding Douglass Booren who was recently advanced to the presidency to take the place left vacant by the resignation of Chester Myrom. Preliminary steps were taken in the direction of forming permanent committees to deal with taxation, publicity, conservation and national affairs.

Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy at Avalon Sunday

"To Mary—With Love", a romance based on the widely read novel of the same name, and featuring Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy, will be the film offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, with a midnight prevue Saturday at 11:15. The supporting cast includes Ian Hunter, Claire Trevor and Jean Dixon.

Local Journal Carrier, 13 Years Old, Awarded Free Trip to New York

Duane Peterson, 13, Minneapolis Journal carrier in this city, left Tuesday evening for Minneapolis where he will leave for New York City on a special train with a large group of other Journal carriers from thruout the Northwest who have been awarded free trips to the metropolis in recognition of their achievements in securing new subscribers for the paper. Their visit in the eastern city will include two days of sightseeing, taking in all points of interest. Duane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson, 905 LaBree av. N., and Mrs. Peterson will accompany him as far as Minneapolis.

Checks Arrive for 19 Resettlement Farms

Total of $44,200 to be Paid Shortly to Owners of Tracts

Nineteen checks aggregating $44,200 to pay for additional tracts acquired for the local resettlement project were received during the past week and will be distributed shortly, J. W. Taylor, project manager, announced today. The checks cover payment for 3,002 acres of land at an average price of $14.81 per acre.

A total of 49 tracts, embracing 62 farms, have now been approved for purchase, and more acceptances are expected within the next thirty days when options expire, Mr. Taylor said.

Mud lake settlers in eastern Marshall county have been advised by Mr. Taylor that he expects that the tracts will be sold to purchasers on market appraised values without regard to their cost, as has been done in connection with other similar projects. Plans call for the building on each tract of a one and one-half story house 22 by 28 feet, with full basement, and a Gothic-roofed barn 32 by 48 feet, as well as a milk house and poultry house.

John A. Toplias of Washington, D. C., is now stationed in this city to serve as acting resident engineer in charge of construction. He is now arranging for materials which will be bought on bids, and a temporary yard will be set up here to prepare lumber for use when the building season opens in the spring. WPA labor will be utilized for the construction work, it has been announced.

Children Thrilled by Toyland Displays Now Shown at Local Stores

Children of the Thief River Falls community, and many of their elders too, will get a thrill this week-end when they visit numerous local stores and inspect the Toyland displays, signalizing the approach of the Christmas season. Toys to gladden youthful hearts are being shown in infinite variety, and at prices to meet the requirements of the most limited purse. Store proprietors are pointing out the advisability of making an early selection while stocks are yet complete.

COUNTY RED CROSS COLLECTS $549 IN ANNUAL ROLL CALL

Mrs. H. A. Brumund, Chairman, Offers Thanks to Public for Cooperation

The Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross collected a total of $549.50 in the course of its annual roll call ending this week, of which sum $35 was supplied by the St. Hilaire unit, Mrs. H. A. Brumund, roll call chairman, announced today. Of the total amount the county chapter retains $330.25, while $219.25 has been sent into national Red Cross headquarters.

Following a check of final results, Mrs. Brumund expressed gratitude for the public response during the roll call period, saying "The outcome of such an appeal cannot be measured wholly upon a dollars and cents basis. Service rendered in the roll call by volunteer workers, the manner in which these solicitors were received on all sides and the faith in the Red Cross evidenced thruout the chapter territory are all as gratifying.

"The Red Cross is only as strong as its membership. It is able to serve humanity only in the degree to which it is supported. In behalf of the local chapter I take this means of expressing appreciation and thanks to all citizens of Pennington county who gave so generously of their time or funds, or both, during the annual roll call.

"Since the Red Cross is an agency of and by the people, its entire membership is entitled and urged to take a part in the chapter's year-round activities. Thru it we multiply our usefulness."

Mayor Prichard Issues Proclamation Relative to Christmas Seal Sale

Thanksgiving Day marks the opening of the annual Christmas Seal sale, an event with special significance this year since it is the thirtieth anniversary of the Christmas Seal in the United States.

Thirty years is a comparatively short time in which to battle successfully a disease as old as the history of mankind. Yet since the first Christmas Seal made its appearance in this country, the death rate from this ancient foe of mankind has been slashed two-thirds.

In Minnesota, too, the death rate has decreased nearly two thirds in three decades. But a slight rise in the rate for 1935, the first rise in ten years, should serve as a warning that we cannot afford to relax our vigilance.

The battle to control the disease must go on. Christmas Seals offer everyone an opportunity to save lives and to protect his own home.

I urge every man, woman and child to buy these penny health stamps generously and use them plentifully.

W. W. Prichard, Mayor.

Name of City Is Painted on Roof of Auditorium

A crew of WPA workers during the past week painted the name Thief River Falls on the roof of the Auditorium in huge orange letters large enough to be discernible from passing airplanes. The local job is part of a nation-wide air marker project sponsored by the Works Progress administration.

STEEL WORK BEING PUT UP ON NEW OEN BLOCK

Much of the steel work for the new Oen Mercantile company store building has been erected during the past week, and about half of the first floor joists were put in place. Workmen on the job are hoping for a continuation of the moderate temperatures prevailing up to date this month.

BRINKS FETED ON GOLDEN WEDDING AT ST. HILAIRE

Pioneer County Residents Honored on Anniversary Last Saturday

On Saturday, November 21, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brink of St. Hilaire observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary with a golden wedding celebration at the Victor Brink home at St. Hilaire. All of their children and grandchildren were present at the event.

A three-course dinner was served to fifty guests at 12:30 o'clock. The table of honor was set for Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brink and their children. A four-tier bride's cake baked and decorated by Miss Donna Brink, oldest grandchild, graced the table as a centerpiece. Golden chrysanthemums decorated the table of honor and the other three tables set for relatives and friends. Victor, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brink, who presided as toastmaster, read the messages of congratulations from relatives and friends. Rev. Larson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of which Mr. and Mrs. Brink are members, pronounced grace. At the close of the dinner, the group was photographed in the yard of the home in which Mr. and Mrs. Brink have lived for the past thirty-five years. Rev. Larson spoke congratulations and an informal program of songs, instrumental music and recitations was presented by the young people. Mr. and Mrs. Brink were presented with a purse of money as a gift from the assembled guests. Rev. Dahle closed the anniversary observance with a few remarks.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Brink and daughters Donna and Ruth of St. Hilaire, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brink and daughter Suzanne of Gladstone, Mich., Mrs. Mack Brown of Fresno, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brink and son Dewayne of St. Hilaire, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brink of Nashua, Mont., Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Brink and daughters Beverly, Jean and Frances of Fairview, Mont., Mrs. Augusta Peterson of Litchfield, Miss Effie Frederickson of St. Hilaire, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jordin of Litchfield, Mrs. Fred Hobart of Willmar, Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer Freeberg of Crookston, Claus Adolphson and daughter Hazel, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson and children Raymond and Marion, Felix Anderson and daughter Gladys, Mr. and Mrs. Verdie Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hallstrom, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. Paul Thyren, W. P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Lindquist, and children Vernon and Vivian, Mrs. Molina Swenson, Art Jacobson and F. W. Sweet, all of St. Hilaire.

CASH FOR SOIL PROGRAM TO BE PAID SHORTLY

First Pennington Co. Checks Due to Arrive Soon After Jan. 1

FIRST STATE CHECKS AVERAGE $140 EACH

Total of $17,500,000 Due to be Paid Farmers in Minnesota

Christmas money totaling more than $17,500,000 is coming into Minnesota as AAA payments to farmers.

The first AAA checks for benefit payments under the federal soil conservation program were received last week by Minnesota farmers from the federal government. Six hundred fifty-four checks amounting to $96,728 have been mailed already, an average of $140 for each farmer.

About 125,000 Minnesota farmers signed up for the 1936 soil program, and their checks will be mailed as rapidly as applications for them come in and the checks can be issued. At the average of $140, Minnesota payments will total about $17,500,000.

County Agent R. M. Douglass, whose staff is now checking over soil conservation records for Pennington county preparatory to sending them in to Washington, announced this week that first benefit payments for this county should arrive shortly after January 1, 1937.

Over the country, checks are being mailed at the rate of about $20,000,000 a week, and the total is expected to reach $100,000,000 by Christmas, AAA officials reported Friday at Washington.

They estimated that around $350,000,000 more will be distributed in January and February for shifting land from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops and for carrying on soil-building practices, such as liming and new seeding.

South Dakota farmers have been mailed 297 checks totaling $43,[illegible]; North Dakota farmers, [illegible] checks for $35,736; Wisconsin farmers, 789 checks for $56,518. The Minnesota and Dakota payments are made from the federal disbursing office in Minneapolis.

Payments to November 14 throughout the country totaled 24,517 checks for $2,163,123 or an average of $90, compared with the Minnesota average of $140. In all farm states, more than 4,000,000 farmers signed up for the 1936 soil program.

SOCIAL SECURITY BLANKS GIVEN TO EMPLOYES NOV. 24

Must be Returned to Postoffice Not Later Than December 5

A total of 1,187 workers' pension forms were distributed Tuesday by the local postoffice to 173 employers served by the institution, with instructions to deliver the blanks to each of their employes, who will fill them out in qualifying under the terms of the federal social security act, Postmaster Andrew Anderson stated today.

He added that the completed forms are to be returned to the postoffice by Saturday, December 5, and may be either mailed in, handed to a letter carrier or turned over to the employer. Anyone having difficulty in filling out the forms, he said, may secure assistance at the postoffice. If hand written, the answers on the blanks should be printed plainly in ink.

Receipt of application blanks and their completion will be the first definite contact of employes with the social security act now going into effect, and handling of the forms is one of the biggest tasks ever undertaken by the post-office department.

All persons working for salary or wages except those engaged in agriculture, domestic service in private homes, government service, and in a few other excluded occupations, are eligible. It is expected that many of those in occupations not now covered will eventually become eligible through occasional or part-time work in those occupations which are covered.

SNOWFALL ARRIVES IN NORTHWEST WEDNESDAY

A light snowfall arrived locally Wednesday, the first of any consequence in the past several weeks, coming on the heels of a shower of rain Tuesday that left streets and sidewalks in slippery condition. Moderate temperatures have prevailed during the past week.

I O O F BANS BEER SELLERS AS MEMBERS

Repeal will make the beer and liquor business respectable. — WET Promise.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows barred operators of restaurants which sell beer from membership in the order at the ninety-second annual Grand Lodge session in Bay City, Mich., last week. The grand lodge placed such restaurant proprietors in the same category as operators of hotels with licenses to sell liquor, bartenders and saloon keepers, who already had been denied membership.

The ruling had been issued some months ago by State Supreme Court Justice Edward M. Sharpe, of Bay City as grand master of the lodge. At the closing sessions of its annual state convention it rejected a minority report recommending that such restaurant operators not be classed along with tavern keepers.

Before taking this action, Grand Lodge adopted a resolution favoring "the strictest kind of enforcement of our liquor law" and approving an amendent to the State liquor control act, "the result of which will prohibit dancing in so called beer gardens."

This resolution was submitted by Justice Sharpe, who remarked that he had become alarmed at the lack of enforcement of liquor regulations observed about the state.

The ruling issued previously by Sharpe states that anyone selling "beer for consumption on the premises is not eligible to continue as an Odd Fellow."

The difference between a prejudice and a conviction is that you can explain a conviction without getting mad. —Buffalo Evening News.

RED RIVER VALLEY SPELLING CONTEST IS SET FOR FEB. 12

Champions From 13 Counties Will Vie at Winter Show in Crookston

The twenty-third annual Red River valley rural school spelling contest will be held at Crookston on the closing day of Winter Shows week, Friday, February 12, 1937. Four thousand copies of spelling lists have been printed and forwarded to the county superintendent in the thirteen Northwestern Minnesota counties. These lists will be placed in the hands of rural school teachers who will prepare their pupils for the county contests. The champion speller from each of these thirteen counties will then meet during Winter Shows week for the final spelldown of the Red River Valley.

The champion speller will be awarded $7.00 in cash, a championship banner which becomes the permanent property of the school in which the contestant is enrolled, and the Charles Munn trophy which will be kept in the winning county superintendent's office for one year. Other prizes will be awarded as follows: second place, $5.00; third, $3.00; fourth, $2.00, and all other contestants $1.00 each.

In addition to these cash awards, the Red River Valley Development association, sponsors of the contest, will pay the travel and hotel expense of each contestant to and from the Winter Show providing the County Commissioners of the county make their usual contribution to the development association. Officers of the Red River Valley Development association include the following: W. E. Dahlquist, Thief River Falls, president; T. M. McCall, first vice-president; Wm. Ash, St. Vincent, second vice president; S. M. Sivertson, treasurer, and E. W. Spring, secretary.

The contest is being supervised by a committee of county superintendents including: H. E. Sevig, Polk County, chairman; Mrs. Esther Olson Coleman, Kittson county; and Clarissa Berquist, Becker county.

IDEAL 4-H GIRL

VIRGINIA ANDERSON, 17, Cloquet, selected by State Club Leader T. A. Erickson as the year's most all-around club girl in Minnesota, wins an all-expense trip to the 15th National Club Congress to be held in Chicago, Nov. 27-Dec. 5. She has been a club member six years and successfully completed projects in health, leadership, room furnishing, clothing and canning. Her room furnishing demonstration won first at the state fair last summer, and she was Carlton county health champion in 1935-36. She will compete with other central state champions for regional honors, and if successful will be a contender for three cash college scholarships of $400, $300, and $200, given by Montgomery Ward, sponsor of the contest, together with Chicago trips and county medals.

SEASON FOR BASS AND SUNFISH TO END DEC. 1

The open season for all species of bass and sunfish will close Tuesday, December 1, in both northern and southern zones. Sand pike, muskellunge, and crappies may be taken until February 1, 1937. The season for wall-eyed pike, pickerel, great northern pike and yellow perch remains open until March 1. Inland herring may be taken until January 10. Whitefish and tullibees may be netted for domestic use only until December 25, 1936.

IF CHANGES ARE WANTED, ACT NOW

We were reminded again this week that a few changes in our municipal government structure would be desirable. The suggestion this time was that we should stagger the terms of office of our councilmen, thus avoiding the upheaval in local administrative affairs that sometimes comes with a city election. It was pointed out that with more gradual changes in the personnel of our board of governors we could expect a more intelligent supervision of the city's rather diverse interests, particularly the water and light department.

The idea is not new. As a matter of fact it is one of those suggestions that crops up every time the affairs of the city are discussed. And while there are many differences of opinion as to what changes should be made in our government structure, there seems to be general agreement that the present structure needs an overhauling. Our reason for passing along the idea at this time is that, with another legislative session about to get under way, now is the time to take steps to secure such enabling legislation as may be needed to provide for whatever changes we may want to make.

Several Minnesota cities of about the same size as Thief River Falls have reorganized in recent years, adopting new charters and codifying their ordinances. The experience of these cities is available thru the League of Minnesota Municipalities, in which Thief River Falls maintains a membership. A careful study of what has been done in other communities to meet problems very similar to our own would be helpful in guiding our actions. Fortunately the information for such a study is available through the League organization.

It would seem, therefore, that the first preliminary step in an attempt to improve the government of our city would be the appointment of a committee to study the problem and to bring in a report with recommendations. If such a committee were organized at once it would be possible to have a report in plenty of time to secure enabling legislation for recommended changes from this coming session of the legislature. With that preliminary work out of the way, the matter could then be submitted in a definite form to the voters, and if the committee, appointed by the council, were sufficiently representative, there is little question but that their recommendations would be approved by the people. But if this is to be accomplished during the next two years, then immediate preliminary action is necessary.

Last year the snow that came in October remained thruout the winter. And it was a long, cold winter. October of this year was very much like the October of a year ago. It brought a covering of ice to the river and a blanket of snow for the ground. But the weather man has relented a little during the past couple of weeks. November has been kind to us. So perhaps the remaining months of the cold season will be a little less severe than they were a year ago. But weather is such an irresponsible thing. Up here we have had just a trace of snow. A hundred miles south of us the snow has already blocked roads. Down at Fergus Falls the Journal commended the city for removing snow banks along the business streets so that cars could park along the curb. That sounds like a lot of snow and reminds us of what is ahead of us. But at any rate, even at its worst, this winter is already a week or two shorter than the one we had last year.

Over at Cloquet the Commercial Club has launched a campaign for the development of that community's greatest natural resources through changes in the tax laws that will make it possible for land owners to make timber a paying crop. For a long time the need for changes in the method of taxing timber lands has been recognized. A reasonable tax on the cutting of timber, instead of on the land itself, would encourage the conservation and development of our forests. The present tax system discourages the type of selective cutting that is necessary to the maintenance of a permanent forest such as many European countries have developed. This system results in a cutting of everything that is marketable, followed by a long period of tax delinquency. Minnesota will take a long step forward in its conservation program when it enacts laws that will encourage the development of its great forest resources rather than their destruction, and the program launched by the Cloquet Commercial Club deserves immediate attention by our lawmakers.

Republicans are getting some consolation out of the fact that Landon and Knox received a bigger percentage of the popular vote than the Democratic candidates of sixteen and twelve years ago did. The Democrats of that period, however, did manage to maintain a vigorous minority in Congress, while the Republicans now are practically without a voice in the national capital, or, for that matter, in the state capitals. So taking it all in all the Republican party has very little to feel good about.

It's a funny thing how one improvement makes necessary several more. Now it's going to be practically impossible to get along without another white way extension down to Knight Avenue on Second Street. The Arena needs it. Another block that needs more illumination is Second Street between LaBree and Horace. With a crowd in town this block is parked full and, with ample power, we should make it easy for visitors to find their way around on dark nights. As a matter of fact, better lighting on some of these side streets would help a great deal toward the solution of a difficult parking problem.

Folks who live beyond the borders of the Sixth District may wonder why Congressman Harold Knutson is able to weather the storms of "off" political years. To natives of the district, however, there is nothing strange about it. He really represents the district. For instance, after the recent election when he knew that he had been chosen to return to Washington, he spent two weeks visiting various communities thruout his district, inviting his constituents to bring their problems to him. Who ever heard of a public official acting that way. Most of them are very ingratiating before election but they are hard to find after the votes are counted. So maybe Harold Knutson's long record of service is not such a surprising thing after all. It must be that the voters down in the Sixth really think well of him.

Only twenty-four more shopping days before Christmas, and it will soon be 1937. Well, it won't do any good to cry about it so let's make the most of it.

PROGRESS IN ELECTRIC USE
(Minneapolis Journal)

One important reason for the high standard of living in the United States is found in the great use of electric power. Factory workers have an average of 4.86 horse power at their command, or almost twice as much as the workers of Great Britain, which comes next on this list.

Residential use of electricity is far below what it should be, but it has been increasing steadily. Charles Steinmetz once said: "Electricity is expensive because it is not widely used, and it is not widely used because it is expensive."

That statement was made in 1911, when the average use was 260 kilowatt hours per year for each resident, and the average residence rate was 9.43 cents. The Edison Electric Institute finds that for the year ending July 31, 1936, average consumption for residences had risen to 701 kilowatt hours, and the average rate had dropped to 4.84 cents. Electricity is much cheaper, on the whole, and it is much more widely used.

The Steinmetz statement still is true as a principle. Lower rates mean more consumption, and greater consumption makes possible lower rates. In the effort to extend this principle, both the Federal Government and the privately owned companies are engaged. Rates still must and do vary widely, according to the cost of power, density of population, and other factors.

THE MAN WHO SUCCEEDS
(Murray County Herald)

Dr. Robert Collyer once said: "God gives no man a supreme place who will not do a supreme work." And that is the plain truth. You can test a man by the quality of his work. If he is always attempting some ideal task you know he is a good man. If he is satisfied with a shiftless job, and taking things easy day by day, you know that he will not achieve any great work in this world. All men do not have the same capacity for doing things. But if a man does the best he can on any job he takes over, you know his spirit is right, and he is in partnership with Divine forces, seeking to make the world anew each day. You can spot such a man at once. His eagerness, his energy, his enthusiasm, his joyful demeanor,—all these, mark him as a man set apart not because he has rare ability, but because he has rare spirit, and is always ready to do his part.

ELDEST OF THE NINE
(Duluth Herald)

"Nine old men" is the fashionable way of referring to the supreme court these days. The eldest of the nine was 80 last Friday. His name is Louis Dembitz Brandeis. His record deserves a glance.

As a Jew, as the child of foreign-born parents, as one who had received part of his education abroad, as a man whose views were very liberal for the time, he was subjected to a torrent of criticism when President Wilson nominated him for associate justice in January, 1916. The attack continued through the winter and spring, but in June the senate confirmed the appointment and he took his seat in the supreme court.

Justice Brandeis is a liberal, but he is also a fearless and wise interpreter of the Constitution. He and the late Justice Holmes were together in many a fight. His record had much to do with the absence of serious criticism when President Hoover named another Jew of liberal views, Benjamin N. Cardozo, to the supreme court.

There are few Americans today who are not glad that the criticism of 1916 did not prevail and who do not hope that the eldest of the nine old men may continue to serve his country for many years.

BACK TO THE GOOD EARTH
(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

A federal census report which has just been [illegible] on the size of farms in the 1930-1935 period, indicates that there has been a large dependence upon the soil when other sources of income failed. Population growth means that the total number of farms steadily increases but the significant thing about the 1930-1935 figures is the gain in small farms. In that period the national total of all farms rose [illegible] and two-thirds of the increase was made up of small tracts ranging from three to nineteen acres. This trend was noted in every [illegible] of the states and in consequence the average size of the 6,812,202 American farms was reduced from 156.9 acres to 154.8.

That industrial conditions were a prominent factor in the movement to little farms is indicated by the fact that it was largest in the states where populations are more heavily dependent upon payrolls or in the South, where general income [illegible] suffers if the cotton textile industry is in the doldrums.

In New England with its many factories, the number of 3 to 9 acre farms more than doubled and it nearly doubled in the East north central states. [illegible] were considerable but not quite so large. The West north central area including Minnesota reported a gain of from [illegible] to [illegible] in the small farms and in the state itself the number [illegible].

The national figures indicate a reversal of the away-from-the-farm migration of 1920 to 1930 when many thousands of rural residents were attracted by abundant opportunity in the cities. The returning movement since 1930 includes a large proportion of persons who already know something about farming and prefer to take their chances with the land [illegible] rather than the public [illegible].

Topics of the Times
By M. A. B.

It is cheering to reflect that in a little more than three weeks the days start getting longer.

The Minneota Mascot tells about the paper that during the recent campaign said a candidate was lying all over the state when it meant to say he was flying.

Jim Farley is visiting in Ireland, and he'll probably bring back a few lucky shamrocks to use in the next campaign.

Those who missed the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago a few years ago may cheer up. There will be a world's fair in San Francisco in 1939 and one in New York City in 1940.

Loyal citizens will give the home town merchant the preference when Christmas shopping time comes around.

Strike in Match Factory—Headline. That sounds appropriate.

Puzzle the deer season left undecided: When is a fawn not a fawn?

The next governor of Minnesota has a big job cut out for him, and here's hoping Businessman Benson will take the ascendancy over Politician Benson.

Mrs. Simpson, we are advised, is proving that life begins at forty.

With all the deer hunting licenses sold in the state this month, game wardens ought to be assured of getting their salaries for a few months.

Mussolini is abolishing all Italian law courts. Why not? The Duce has been handing down all the decisions anyway.

Well, we got our Indian summer but the fuel dealers didn't do any cheering.

The Statue of Liberty in New York harbor was fifty years old this month, And, strange to say, it still stands for something.

East Grand Forks didn't relish the news that the sale of liquor is to be legalized in North Dakota.

Steps are being taken to establish a community skating rink on the lots west of the Ramstad barn on Third st. Taking the lead was a Commercial club committee including Daniel Shaw, John Bratrud and Fred Haug.—The local fire department will stage its 25th annual ball Friday evening.—William Spenheim, substitute carrier in the local postoffice, has been named a regular carrier effective December 1.—The Zion Lutheran church congregation celebrated the completion of a new parsonage on Arnold av.—J. J. Yorachek escaped serious injuries when his car tipped over on the highway near Bejou.

CAMPAIGN PICTURE TAKEN FOR ACTOR'S

Red Wing—While some may think that campaign pictures have little effect on a candidate's success, possibly the success of one of the few Republicans who withstood the Democratic election may be attributed to a large vote of the women. A customer at a local restaurant noting a framed picture asked the proprietor if he was a Robert Taylor fan. Eric Iverson, the proprietor, replied in the negative and the visitor asked Eric why he had Robert Taylor's picture framed so prominently. The picture was that of the first district congressman, August Andresen.

SAILORS COME—BOOST BUSINESS

Two Harbors—Sailor's have stimulated business in all lines of [illegible] particularly pool halls, clothiers and cafes, for the first time in many years. Fifty-six vessels in all were tied up in Two Harbors, Duluth and Superior [illegible] last week with 15 more due at the head of the lakes, with this great number awaiting charters to load. As a result sailors have had opportunity to get out and test their land legs, to the consequent profit of business in this section.

Chauffeurs Licenses Must be Renewed This Month, Mike Holm Says

Mike Holm, secretary of state, reminds all chauffeurs of the necessity under the law of renewing their chauffeurs licenses during this month. Now, as before, if application for renewal of chauffeur's license is filed during the month of November, the fee is only $1.00 and no examination is required. If the application is not made before the first of December, however, an additional charge of $1.00 as penalty is required by law.

"We have absolutely no authority to waive the penalty", said Mr. Holm, "so we trust that chauffeurs will send in their applications for renewal during the month of November and thereby avoid the increased cost to themselves."

Application blanks for renewals were sent to all licensed chauffeurs before November 1. Many were returned because the licensee evidently had moved to a new address without reporting to the department. Any chauffeur who has not received his application blank should write immediately to Mike Holm, secretary of state, Saint Paul, and the required blank will be supplied.

Safeguard All Babies From Diphtheria, Says Medical Association

Diphtheria has reared its ugly head in Minnesota again and physician members of the Minnesota State Medical Association's Committee on Public Health Education today urge parents to have all unprotected children immunized against it immediately. A small epidemic among unprotected children in Minneapolis is the occasion for this warning.

People have been lulled into a false security against diphtheria, the bulletin points out, because of the great drop in the amount of diphtheria cases and deaths in the state during the last ten years.

Widespread immunization with toxin anti-toxin or toxoid among school children is the chief reason for this dramatic drop. Doctors have constantly warned, however, that protection of school children is not enough because it is the babies and pre-school children who are most susceptible to the disease; and a large percentage of these babies and small children are still unprotected. Among these unprotected children an epidemic is likely to put in its appearance at any time and such an epidemic cannot be prevented until all babies are immunized as a matter of routine in the first year of life.

The procedure used is simple and effective in the vast majority of cases according to the doctors. Its effectiveness is greatest when it is done in babyhood, furthermore, and the Schick test, given after the immunization procedure is completed, will tell definitely whether or not the child has been successfully protected.

The death rate from diphtheria of children under five is 125 for every 1000 cases according to State Board of Health figures. The rate after five years is only 35 for each 100 cases. All diphtheria will stop in the opinion of the physicians and of the board of health only when all babies between six and 12 months old are immunized.

Safety Group to Work for Improved Traffic Code for This State

Plans for presenting a revised state uniform traffic act to the next session of the Legislature will be discussed by public officials and others interested in traffic safety at a meeting to be held Monday November 23 at the State Capitol.

W. F. Rosenwald of St. Paul, chairman of the uniform traffic law committee of the Minnesota Public Safety commitee, has called the meeting for 10 a. m. in the Senate chamber. Mr. Rosenwald is maintenance engineer of the Minnesota highway department.

Members of the traffic law committee include representatives of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, the League of Minnesota Municipalities, Minnesota Automobile association, International Sheriffs' and Peace Officers' association, Minnesota Police association, public safety groups, police departments of the larger cities, truck and bus organizations and various individuals active in traffic safety work.

State Highways Made Safer by Removal of 100 Grade Crossings

With nearly all of Minnesota's federal allotment or railway grade crossing funds spent or under contract, the state has completed or contracted for the elimination of nearly 100 dangerous rail-highway crossings, according to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. In addition it has added to motoring safety by protecting nearly 50 grade crossings with automatic electric signals which flash red lights on and off whenever a train approaches. Most of the work is completed or nearing completion, but a small amount will be in progress during the coming winter. The highway department received $5,295,441 of emergency federal funds with which to carry on the grade crossing program. Minnesota has consistently held first place among all the states in the rapidity with which its crossing eliminations under this program have been completed.

THREE LOSE LIVES IN SUICIDE EFFORT NORTHWOOD, N. D.

Former Trail Woman and Two Children Run Over by Train

Huddled on the tracks holding her two small sons in her arms, Mrs. Bella Paulson of Northwood, N. D., and her children were killed late Thursday afternoon when a Great Northern passenger train ground over them.

Leaving behind a jumbled note for her husband, Ray Paulson, Northwood oil station operator, she wrote: "I hope to see you again in heaven." Asking his forgiveness she left incoherent directions for her burial.

Coroner G. L. Anderson said the note was clearly written while she was under a terrific mental strain. She said nothing of taking the children to their deaths, he added.

At 3 p. m. Mrs. Paulson called her husband and told him she was going to visit some friends. She was later seen in Northwood at 5 p. m. She drove five miles north, and parked the car.

Going 400 feet from the crossing she and the children huddled on the track. The engineer first saw what he thought was a tumble-weed. He blew the whistle, slammed on the brakes—too late.

Mrs. Paulson and nine-months-old Romaine were killed instantly. Six-year old O'Claire who had started school this fall, was tossed to one side by the onrushing train. Fatally injured, he was rushed to a Northwood hospital where he died.

The Paulsons came to Northwood six years ago from Trail. Mrs. Paulson was 30 years old. Besides her husband she is survived by her father, Ole Huseth and one brother, Tom Huseth, both of Gonvick, Minn.

Start Buying Christmas Turkeys Here Next Week

Buying of turkeys for the Christmas market will get under way in Thief River Falls next week and freight shipments will continue to leave the city until the end of the following week. In the opinion of some local buyers, shipments during the Christmas marketing season will exceed the total of 37 carloads forwarded from Thief River Falls previous to Thanksgiving.

Joint Funeral Rites Held for Wilhelm J. and Harriet Anderson

Joint funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Trinity Lutheran church in this city for Wilhelm J. Anderson and Harriet Viola Anderson, whose deaths, due to pneumonia, occurred just four days apart. Both died in a local hospital, Wilhelm's death occurring on his twenty-eighth birthday anniversary, November 19, followed by the death of his sister on November 22. Reverend Herman Larson of St. Hilaire officiated at the final rites, and interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery.

Brother and sister were born on their farm home three miles east of this city, Wilhelm being born in 1908 and Harriet on February 15, 1907. Both were prominent members of the community in which they were born and lived throughout their lifetime. They attended Hiawatha school district No. 26 and were members of the Augustana Lutheran church of this city.

Surviving relatives are their mother, Mrs. Charlotta Anderson, three brothers Clarence, Gote and Erland, and two sisters Martha and Ina, all living at home. Their father preceded them in death January 5, 1933.

Joy Hoppe Dies at Faribault Friday

Joy Josephine Hoppe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoppe of Goodridge, died Friday, November 20, at Faribault. She was nine years, eleven months, and fifteen days of age at the time of her death.

Joy was born in this city December 12, 1926, and lived with her parents at Goodridge during her entire life. Funeral services were conducted at the Erickson and Lund chapel in this city Tuesday, November 24, at one o'clock, Rev. O. Bjorgan of Goodridge officiating. Interment was made at Argyle.

Surviving relatives are Joy's parents, a sister Shirley and three brothers Russell, Earl and John Jr. all of Goodridge; also her grandfather James Hardy of Argyle.

CHASES, CATCHES GASOLINE BANDIT

Alden.—The act of "borrowing" gasoline did not prove worthwhile for the man who attempted it at Alden, for the filling station attendant chased and caught the bandit and received his money. The man who tried to "borrow" the gasoline, parked his car near a filling station, where he secured gas can and two gallons of gasoline. He pointed to his car and said he would take the gas there, put it in his car and then return the can and pay the station attendant. He put the gas in the car, but did not return with the empty can or the money. The station attendant who witnessed the incident, immediately jumped into a car parked beside the pumps and started after the bandit. When the latter was "collared", he said that he had intended to drive only a few miles into the country and then return in a short time to pay for the two gallons of gas and to fill his tank.

"OLD GLORY" FAILS TO FLY, ROPE GONE

Red Wing—The lack of a steeple jack has caused comment that the local legion post was careless about the display of the American Flag. "Old Glory" has not flown from the top of the 80-foot staff on Mt. LaGrange which towers above this city. Some one stole the rope on the staff during the week and no one was available who dared risk the climb to insert a new cord. Legion members worked ten hours getting things in shape but the height was more than any one cared to tackle.

Short-Lived Republic

The Central American republic was short-lived and had its origin in the pact of the union drawn up in December, 1920, with Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras signing, Costa Rica favorable and Nicaragua non-committal. Revolutions in several of the constituent republics caused the collapse of the plan of union within a year.

APPLICATIONS FOR JOBS AGAIN FALL OFF IN STATE NRS

Minnesota Offices Fill Total of 6,110 Jobs in October

Activities of the National Reemployment Service in Minnesota during October were marked by a large decrease in the number of new applications received. This was the fourth consecutive month in which the volume of new applications has shown a decline. The October decline in new applications represented a 16.3% decrease from September of this year and a 48.9% decrease from the October 1935 figure.

A total of 6,110 jobs were filled by the Service in October. This represented a 16.4% decline from the number secured on October 1935 and was due chiefly to the fact that 1935 placements included several thousand relief persons to the Works Progress Administrations which this year have not been handled by the Employment service.

Activity in the solicitation of openings from private employers during October resulted in the securing of 1,618 placements of this nature. This represents a 3.7% decrease from the September results and is due in part to the usual seasonal decline in this activity. During October, 1,208 "out of office" contacts with private employers were made by staff members of the Service in an effort to secure employment possibilities in private industry. An intensive campaign of employer contacts is now underway by a staff of trained personnel and it is expected that as a result of this work, private employers will avail themselves to greater advantage of the facilities offered throughout the state by the National Reemployment Service.

During October, 4,396 placements were secured in public, prevailing wage employment. This represents a decline from September as is to be expected at this time of the year since weather conditions in Minnesota normally curtail construction work of all types.

Noise Constitutes Big Public Health Problem, Medical Group Declares

Noise constitutes a serious public health problem in the opinion of the Minnesota State Medical association's public health education committee which issued a bulletin on the subject today.

Noise contributes definitely to tension, restlessness and exhaustion and these, in turn, play an important part in the current high death rate from heart and circulatory diseases.

The heart and circulatory disease, often associated with kidney degeneration, are the result of wear and tear on the body. They are brought on prematurely by over-exertion, too little sleep, by anxiety and tension. The increasing noise, especially in the cities and towns, is considered by all medical authorities to be a definite factor in wearing out modern men and women before their time.

According to recent figures compiled by the life insurance companies, the death rate from the heart, arterial and kidney group of diseases in the country where the noise is less and where people as a rule lead slower, quieter lives, is only half what it is among factory and industrial workers in the cities and it is much lower than among professional men and women and clerks, most of them employed, also, in the larger centers.

Noise automatically produces muscular tension and irritation even when the victim is asleep and unaware of it, according to the doctors. In the day time it makes concentration difficult. At night it deprives people of proper rest and recuperation to withstand the next day's racket.

Dumb Animals are the ones that can satisfy their appetites without taking something to stop the misery.— Buffalo Evening News.

Samuel Kennedy of Hazel Dies Nov. 22

Samuel Kennedy died November 22 at the home of his nephew William Clarke of River Falls township near Hazel. Funeral rites were held Tuesday afternoon at the Larson chapel, Rev. J. H. Smith officiating, and on Friday, November 27, final rites and interment will be made at Fergus Falls.

Mr. Kennedy was born March 18, 1860 in Morona, Ia. As a young man he took a homestead near Flandreau, S. D., and later moved to Dell Rapids, S. D., where he engaged in the restaurant business. He moved to Fulda, Minn., in 1910 and made his home there until 1919 when he came to Pennington county to reside with his nephew.

Mr. Kennedy is survived by his brothers Walter of Idaho, Will of St. Paul, and Andrew of Sheldon, Iowa.

MANY CHILDREN ARE VICTIMS OF TRAFFIC MISHAPS

Fatalities Among Children Increase This Year in Minnesota

An alarming increase in traffic accident deaths of children of grade school age in this state was revealed today by A. V. Rohweder, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety Committee.

Citing a need for additional caution on the part of motorists and increased educational activity by parents and safety leaders, Rohweder said that fatalities among children from 5 to 14 years old as of November 1 of this year equaled those for the entire twelve months of 1935.

"The traffic deaths among children of this age totaled 58 for 1935," he said. "Reports received by the committee for accidents throughout the state up to only November 1 of this year showed an equal number of fatalities."

Rohweder pointed out that no deaths occurred while the children were under supervision of school patrols. The majority of the fatalities resulted while the children were at play in the streets. Others were caused by automobile-bicycle collisions.

"The situation is one that needs serious consideration", he said. Rohweder asked that motorists exercise extra caution while driving in residential districts where children may be at play. He also emphasized the danger of fast driving through alleys into which children may dash from back yards.

"Although it may prove a problem in some cases, parents will avert many a tragedy if they will forbid their children from playing in the streets and alleys. The streets should not be used for coasting in the winter, nor should they be the scene of a ball game in the summer."

Referring to the deaths among children riding bicycles, he praised ordinances adopted by some cities licensing bicycles and setting standards for equipment. The Minnesota traffic accident picture, the committee chairman added, is none too bright.

The first ten months of this year brought 524 deaths, as compared to 495 for the same period of 1935.

"In October of last year, 74 persons died," he said. "The deaths for the same month this year totaled 77 and it is likely that additional October fatalities will be reported to the committee."

M. S. T. C. Alumni Meet At Luncheon Saturday

Alumni of the Moorhead State Teachers College met at the Evelyn hotel Saturday afternoon, Nov. 21 at 1 o'clock, the meeting taking the form of a luncheon.

Twenty-four alumni from Thief River Falls and neighboring vicinities, Mr. and Mrs. Bye and Dr. Archer of Moorhead were present. Emma Tandberg, chairman, opened the meeting, Lyda Batten gave the address of welcome. School songs were sung at intervals.

A vocal solo, "A Winter Lullaby" by R. de Koven was sung by Alice Bredeson. Dr. Archer, head of the Dept. of Education at the college spoke on "Changing Trends in Modern Education". At the close of his address moving pictures of campus activities were shown.

A short business meeting was held at which time Vincent Schneider was elected as chairman and Adeline Erickson as secretary for the ensuing year.

Colombia's Climate Varied

Colombia is as large as Spain and Portugal combined. It can boast, like California, of every climate under the sun: from tropical lowlands its three Andean ranges rise to heights of more than 17,000 feet, and the fruits and grains of torrid, temperate and Alpine regions succeed each other as the altitudes rise. Its mineral wealth is equally varied. Gold is produced in quantity. Colombia has been the world's principal source of platinum and emeralds. Coal is abundant. And American geologists have classified Colombia as one of the largest potential oil fields.

James Sether, Former Local Resident, Dies at Los Angeles, Calif.

James O. Sether, a former resident of this city who left nine years ago to reside on the West coast, died Thursday of last week in Queen of the Angels hospital at Los Angeles, Calif. He was 74 years of age at the time of his death. Death was caused by a disease which developed following an automobile accident in 1926.

Mr. Sether came to America as a Norwegian immigrant boy, and homesteaded in Minnesota in the early 1880's. As the state developed, he began selling groceries on the road and for 27 years was a familiar figure in the communities of the northwest. Mr. Sether came to this city from Warren twenty-two years ago, and left here about nine years ago for Long Beach, Calif., where Mrs. Sether passed away in 1931. Shortly after her death Mr. Sether moved to Los Angeles, where he has since made his home.

Mr. Sether was a member of the United Commercial Travelers and of the Trinity Lutheran church in this city.

Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon from the Wee Kirk o' the Heather in Glendale, Calif. Burial was made at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather.

Surviving relatives are Mr. Sether's sisters, Mrs. Bessie Severson of Winlom, Mrs. Gunhild Bottom of Holt; a brother Olaf Sether of Blabon, N. D., and his children, Wendell of Los Angeles, Mrs. Alma O'Leary of Edmonton, Alberta, Can., Mrs. Henry Sande of St. Hilaire, and J. Leland Sether, Mrs. Pearl Auringer, and John Sether, all of Hollywood, Calif.

Rites for Paul Dahle Conducted Saturday

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, November 28, at the Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating for Paul Andrew Dahle, who died Monday at Mayville, N. D.

Mr. Dahle has resided in Pennington county for the past thirty-two years, most of which was spent in North township, with the exception of the past three years during which he has resided in this city. He was born December 9, 1862 in Winneshiek county, Iowa. On November 23, 1893 he was married to Anna Nyaven at Mayville, N. Dak. They resided at Mayville prior to coming to Pennington county.

Mr. Dahle is survived by his wife; his children Mrs. Arthur Ilstater (Alma) of Livingston, Mont., Theodore and Clarence of Mayville, N. Dak., Mrs August Austinson (Bell) of Thief River Falls, Palmer of Steiner, and Ida, Andrew, Ervin, all living at home; also four sisters, one brother, and ten grandchildren.

Cooperative Study Unit Conducts Final Session

The cooperative study group sponsored by local cooperative organizations and directed by V. N. Hegg of Minneapolis came to a close Monday evening when the last class in the series was held. Mr. Hegg in his discussions outlined the progress of the movement both in this country and in Europe, especially in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, England and Finland. A motion picture dealing with cooperative enterprises in Europe was shown November 16.

The malamute, frequently called the "husky" of the North, is essentially a work dog. This is the type of sled animal used extensively to set up communications between northern communities when all other methods fail.

Adult Education Public Forum Opens Here Friday

Organization of an adult education public forum in Thief River Falls will take place Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the Auditorium. In charge of the meeting, which will be conducted under the auspices of the state WPA organization, will be G. G. Denning, representing the state group. All men and women of the community above school age are invited to attend the first session, Dr. Denning said. Admission will be free.

Angeline Havel Will be on Radio Monday Evening

Miss Angeline Havel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Havel of this city, will be guest artist on Station KTSM, El Paso, Texas, next Monday, November 30, at 10:30 p. m. Central Standard Time. Miss Havel is continuing her studies for a degree in music at the Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, under the guidance of Cecilia Ray Berry, well known piano instructor affiliated with the De Paul Conservatory of Music, Chicago.

ICE CREAM FROM REINDEER FAT

Morris—It is true that Eskimo children eat lots of Eskimo ice cream, according to the letters which children of the local school have been receiving from children in the Arctic circle. Exchanging letters with students in Alaska is one of the activities of the geography class of the local school. It is true the ingredients of their ice cream differ from that enjoyed by children in this country. Telling of the Christmas and Thanksgiving entertainments to which this delicacy is served one of them furnishes the following recipe: "We cut the reindeer fat very small and fine and we pound it so there won't be any lumps in it. Then we get a pan with seal oil in it. Next we add the seal oil and work it with our hands and stir it. Some times we add some white fish, tomcods, and trout in it, too. Pretty soon the fat and oil will be white and fluffy. Then it is ready to add some cold water. The cold water is stirred in until the water is mixed and after that is done the berries are added.

Origination of Mourning Band

The mourning band is supposed to be the outgrowth of the old English custom of requiring servants to wear a complete mourning dress following the demise of a member of the household. Families who could not afford to provide a complete mourning garb for their servants required them to wear a black band around their hats or sleeves.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Chevrolet Co. Produces 1,130,000 Cars in 1936

The Chevrolet Motor Company today offered its thanks to the American people for having given the company the greatest year in its history by buying 1,130,000 new 1936 Chevrolets. In display advertisements printed in newspapers throughout the country, Chevrolet expressed its appreciation for the warm friendship of the American people, which enabled the company to break all previous marks for domestic production and sales.

Appearance of Red Owl Store Much Improved

Final details are being completed this week on the interior of the Red Owl grocery, following the remodeling of the front, decorating the walls and rearranging the shelving and counters to permit more efficient operation. The attractive plate glass front has a vitrolite base of black and red, and the center counter system has been adopted for the arrangement of equipment.

Local Attorneys Plead Before Supreme Court

Paul Lundgren and H. O. Chommie, local attorneys, presented arguments Monday before the Minnesota supreme court in St. Paul in the case of Lena Sjoberg of Middle River vs. L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., involving a lease. Mr. Lundgren represented the plaintiff and Mr. Chommie the defendant.

Theodore E. Bratrud Honored at Marquette

Theodore E. Bratrud, sophomore student in the Marquette medical school at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, last week was admitted to membership in The Circle, honorary medical fraternity. Membership in the organization is one of the highest honors a student in the medical school can attain. Mr. Bratrud is the son of Dr. Edward Bratrud of this city.

C. M. Babcock, Highway Chief Many Years, Dies

Charles M. Babcock, leader in the establishment of the Minnesota trunk highway system, died Monday at his home in Elk River following a heart attack. He was 65 years old. Mr. Babcock served as highway commissioner for 23 years and was the guiding force in the highway department from the time of the establishment of the trunk route system in 1921. Funeral rites were held Wednesday in Elk River under state auspices.

Back-to-Bible Lecture Series Continues Here

A world empire through the fusion of present kingdoms is a dream which will never be realized as long as the world stands, because it is contrary to Bible prophecy, according to Evangelist David Gulbrandson. He made the statement during a discourse in the old Methodist church on Bridge St. last Sunday night, where his campaign is growing in interest and attendance. The lecture program for next Sunday and the following week is announced elsewhere in this paper.

"U" NEEDS HELP OF LEGISLATURE, REGENTS DECLARE

Cite 75 Per Cent Growth in Enrollment in Past Fifteen Years

The University of Minnesota is asking the 1937 Legislature to set its annual support appropriation for each year of the biennium 1937-39 at $4,000,000 and in addition to re-establish the yearly building appropriation of $300,000. The Board of Regents also asks permission to issue certificates of indebtedness so that $1,500,000 may become immediately available for deferred building.

For last year and for the the year now under way the maintenance appropriation has been $3,100,000. As long ago as 1931, however, a request was made for $3,825,000.

Speaking for the Board of Regents, President L. D. Coffman sets forth six reasons for asking a major increase in support funds.

While collegiate enrollment has grown by 75 percent in the fifteen years since 1921, total funds annually appropriated by the state have actually declined.

On a "per student" basis, the state provided $332 a year for each student in 1921-'22 and this year provides but $185. Otherwise stated, it spent $1, then and is now spending only 56 cents.

The number of young people graduating from Minnesota high schools is continuing to grow, as it has over the past fifteen years, and charted trends show that this will continue for some years into the future.

University of Minnesota enrollment is now the largest it has ever been.

The university is experiencing increasing difficulty in holding the best members of its staff and is facing the likelihood of conducting its work with a larger percentage of teachers in the lower ranks.

The increasing number of students is not only jeopardizing teaching standards but is interfering with the productive work of the faculty.

The first four buildings on the list of those contemplated if the building fund is reestablished are those for Business Administration, Forestry, a new general classroom building to suppliment Folwell Hall, which is outgrown, and a building for Agronomy and Plant Pathology. This would provide two buildings for the main campus and two at University Farm.

SELLS STOLEN KNIVES TO STORE MAN'S WIFE

Askov—The attempt to sell paring knives to the wife of the hardware man from whose store they were stolen, did not prove very profitable in Askov, even though the knives were offered at a great bargain. Prices had been reduced from thirty cents to ten cents. As a salesman, who was canvassing among housewives, came to the home of a hardware dealer's wife, she recognized the store's marking on the knives. A ten-day sentence in the county jail at Stillwater was given the salesman, who upon contact with the state bureau of criminal apprehension, was found to have a long record of petty crimes committed in various parts of Minnesota.

Harold Atwood, Winona, Is Named to Railroad and Warehouse Office

Appointment of Harold Atwood, Winona merchant and former state legislator, as state railroad and warehouse commissioner to succeed the late Knud Wefald, was announced Friday by Governor Hjalmar Peterson.

Commissioner Atwood, who was one of more than 60 recommended, immediately qualified by filing oath of office with Secretary of State Mike Holm.

The appointment of Commissioner Atwood will create a complete Farmer-Labor commission after January 4, when Governor Petersen succeeds Chairman Frank W. Matson of St. Paul.

The third member is Charles Munn of Osseo, former speaker of the state house of representatives. His term expires in January, 1939.

Third Annual College Health Lecture Course Opened by State Group

To inform Minnesota's future teachers and professional leaders on health, the Minnesota State Medical Association and the Minnesota Public Health Association starts this week its third annual college health lecture course as part of the Christmas Seal educational program.

The lectures will be given by Minnesota physicians, authorities in various fields of medicine. Each college chooses subjects from a list of thirteen offered.

Subjects include: "Uncovering Tuberculosis by Modern Methods", "Mental Health", "Present Day Knowledge of Cancer", "Drugs and Narcotics", "Physical Fitness a Necessity Today", "Modern Use of the X-Ray", "What Everyone Should Know About Allergy", "History of Epidemics", "What Do You Eat and Why?", "Infectious Diseases and How to Combat them", "What about Those Ductless Glands?", "The Social Security Program at Work in Minnesota" and "Relations of Nutrition to Normal Development".

Colleges which have already signified their intention to have the health lecture course include: St. Catherines', Luther Theological Seminary, Hamline, Macalester, St. Paul Seminary and St. Thomas, all of St. Paul; College of St. Benedict, St. Joseph; Concordia, Moorhead; Carleton and St. Olaf's, Northfield; St. Mary's St. Teresa's and State Teachers College, Winona; Gustavus Adolphus, St. Peter, and the State Teachers Colleges at St. Cloud, Mankato and Bemidji.

State Hatcheries Give Out 493,000,000 Fish

A total of 493,098,250 fish were produced by Minnesota hatcheries and distributed in 75 counties during the fiscal year ending July, 1, 1936, according to A. C. Hansen, director of the division of game and fish. Wall-eyed pike as usual headed the list with a distribution of 471,474,132. White fish were next with 7,690,095 distributed, chiefly in Red Lake and Lake Superior. There were also distributed 3,106,900 lake trout; 1,987,633 brook trout; 902,684 brown trout; 604,570 Loch Leven trout; 1,060,258 rainbow trout; 2,973,000 great northern pike; 143,674 sunfish; 43,049 crappies; and 268,030 bass.

BAN ON FAWN MAY REVIVE ONE-BUCK LAW CONTROVERSY

Game Officials Cite Dissatisfaction With Present Arrangement

Dissatisfaction with this year's experiment of protecting fawns during the deer season in Minnesota is expected to revive discussion of the controversial one buck law.

The ban on fawns was recommended by the state Conservation Commission at the request of many sportsmen's groups, but reports received during the deer season seem to indicate that the experiment was not generally approved.

Officials of the department of conservation and sportsmen are pointing out that it is exceedingly difficult to distinguish a fawn from a yearling doe at any distance. Incomplete reports of seizures of fawns indicate that a large number of hunters mistook fawns for does.

Many sportsmen believe that if fawns are to be protected at all the only practical method of doing so would be to limit the deer season to antlered bucks, in other words to have a one buck law in effect in all or a part of the deer country.

The protection of fawns this year also raised difficult problems of law enforcement. It is undoubtedly true that many hunters honestly shot fawns by mistake, yet many others may have shot fawns knowingly. Game wardens were obviously placed in a difficult position.

2,572,164 Miles in Ten Months, Is Patrol Record

The Minnesota Highway patrol traveled 2,572,164 miles by automobile and motorcycle in the first 10 months of 1936, according to a report by John P. Arnoldy, patrol chief, to N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. Of this, 560,420 miles was by motorcycle and the balance by automobile. In the 10-months period the patrol weighed 3,705 trucks, checked 20,691 cars for lights, 59,804 for brakes and inspected 120,031 drivers licenses. Aid was given 65,034 motorists, traffic directed in 1,445,362 cases; 146,871 traffic violators warned but not arrested as the patrol continued its educational program; 46,622 tagged for illegal equipment, 19,277 tagged for improper licenses, 7,947 drivers arrested and fines totaled $74,804.

Fergus Falls.—Eighty Canadian mounted police and their horses, together occupying five train cars, passed through Fergus Falls last week. The mounties, dressed in their bright scarlet coats, were returning to Winnipeg, Canada following a tour of the United States and a visit to the Texas centennial, where they participated in the exhibition. Two cars were filled with horses.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. E. [illegible]

Middle River Village History

We offer here a bit of past history from an early sketch: The most progressive new town in Northern Minnesota. Twenty-two miles north of Thief River Falls on the Greenbush branch of the Great Northern road is located the Village of Middle River.

The town site was located, promoted and is owned by a corporation known as the Northern Townsite Company, which corporation includes in its membership such sterling business men as Hon. A. D. Stephens, of Crookston, Col. R. A. Wilkinson, of St. Paul, T. P. Hamre and M. V. Evenson, of Thief River Falls. The company located the village and surveyed the site in the spring of 1904 on the line of the then proposed Great Northern branch road. The company displayed good business judgment in locating the village, for a more ideal townsite could not be conceived. The village is situated on the banks of the stream for which it is named, the business section being on the south side and the residence section on the north side of the river. A well graded street and a public wagon and foot bridge connects the two sections. The village rests on dry sandy soil with ample drainage into the river and its streets are dry at all times of the year.

The townsite company at the very inception of the village laid a good foundation by grading up the principal streets in both sections, and set out evergreen trees along the residence streets. And from that time until now the spirit of progress has prevailed among the citizens and property owners, and the village, while it is not yet a city, has made remarkable progress in everything that tends to insure stability and growth.

The pioneers of the village in business lines were the general merchandise firm of Hjertos & Dalquist, the hardware firm of Hall & Larson, J. C. Dills, druggist, and R. D. V. Carr, the publisher of the Middle River Pioneer.

The railroad reached the village late in October, and from then on, other business enterprises and substantial citizens came to the new town so rapidly that by the spring of 1905 the village had population enough to incorporate. In addition to the firm of Hjertos & Dalquist, two other general merchandise stores are now in operation, the proprietors being Jonas Sjoberg and B. P. Benson. The Middle River Hardware Company operate the only exclusive hardware store in the village, although Mr. Sjoberg maintains a large hardware department in his general store. Other business institutions here are the following: The St. Hilaire Lumber Company, managed by A. W. Peterson; The Red Lake Falls Milling Company's Elevator, C. A. Berg, manager; Hanson & Barzen Milling Company, John Phillipson, manager The State Bank of Middle River; H. L. Melgaard of Argyle, president, A. C. Kvennes, cashier; the Owl Saloon, J. P. Deschenes, Prop.; The White Elephant Saloon Henry Young, Prop.; Middle River Land & Loan Co., the membership of which are V. A. Greer and John McNichols; Pioneer Hotel, V. A. Greer, Prop.; Scandia Hotel, Eric Orwald, Prop.; Nordlum & Schenke, liverymen; Anton Wicklund, Blacksmith; Anderson & Wood, meat market; The Pioneer, R. D. V. Carr, publisher.

But perhaps the one business enterprise that more than all others has advanced the interests of the village and community, is the Middle River City Co-operative Creamery Association. The association formed of farmers and the business men of the village, built the creamery in the spring of 1907 and commenced business on the 10th of June. The commencement was made with about 40 patrons and the highest output for the summer of 1907 was 29 tubs per week. The present season (1908) there are 85 patrons with an output of 50 tubs per week.

The village has a neat School house, built and equipped on modern lines and costing $2,400.

The First Presbyterian Church has been in use for two years, while the Norwegian Lutherans have a church building in process of construction.

The village has always kept pace with much larger municipalities in the matter of public improvements, having well graded streets and good side-walks. The village council is at present expending several hundred dollars in the construction of a dam and lake in the river. Several thousand feet of dirt is being excavated, which is being utilized in making a dam and grading up two boulevards, one on each side of the lake, which will be a block long by 175 feet wide. The boulevards will ultimately be lined with trees and sown to lawn grass and in connection with the lake will be of pratical utility in furnishing a reservoir of water for fire protection and the watering of stock, and providing an unlimited supply of ice for the ice houses of the village.

As is seen by illustrations elsewhere in this publication, Middle River is surrounded by well improved farms owned and operated by successful farmers. No part of the state has richer lands, and the yields of all kinds of grains and grasses are the very highest.

Hard and Soft Metals

When metals are heated they soften. When they are cooled they harden. When lead is cooled to liquid air temperatures it becomes hard enough to vibrate when struck and thus give off sound.

SMILEY

Harriet and Willie Anderson Die

Shocked and grief stricken were the people of this community upon the suden deaths of two of its most popular and best-loved young members, Harriet and Willie Anderson, daughter and son of Mrs. Oscar Anderson, both of whom died of double-pneumonia, four days apart. The grim reaper claimed Willie on Wednesday morning after a few days illness and Harriet Sunday afternoon after a ten day illness. Both Harriet and Willie were born and raised in this community and have contributed widely to community club and church work. They will be missed for in their passing the community loses two of its best citizens and young folks. They leave to mourn, a mother, three brothers, Clarence, Kriand and Gate and two sisters, Martha and Alna. Their father preceded them in death four years ago. Words alone cannot express the heart-felt sorrow of the Smiley folks to the bereaved family.

O. N. Olsen and son Ortton re- Mr. Olson received medical treatment for an infected lip. They also visited at Eagle Bend with the former's sister, Mrs. Ed Thorpe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum and family visited Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Anton Paulson. Their daughter Junice remained at the Paulson home to be employed.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Olson and daughters and Mrs. Albert Derochie were guests at a card party at the Fred Cramer home in Thief River Falls Sunday evening.

Bernard Wold returned home after being employed at the Carl Beiswenger home.

The Smiley Community club meets at the hall Friday evening, Nov. 27. Election of officers will be the main event. A splendid program is promised.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCrum were Wednesday evening supper guests at the Carl Hovle home in Thief River Falls.—Albert Derochie has spent the past three weeks in Omaha, Nb., visiting relatives and friends.

Do-A-Way Club

Re-organization of the Do-A-Way handicraft club was held at the O. N. Olson home Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Esther Franks of Plummer who represents the P. W. A. division of handicraft work and Clara Olson will be our leaders this year. Officers elected for the year were, president, Mrs. Vivion McCrum; vice president, Mrs. Agnes Markus, and secretary treasurer, Mrs. Leah Burtness. A most interesting afternoon was spent. A sumptuous repast was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Theodore Bjorge and Clara Olson. The next meeting will be held at the John Ranum home Wdenesday afternoon Dec. 2.

Carl Beiswenger Sr. was a honor guest at a supper party at his home Wednesday when a group of relatives and friends helped him celebrate his sixty-sixth birthday. The evening was spent playing whist and mill.

BIDS ARE CALLED ON [illegible] HIGHWAY BRIDGES

Bids on five state highway bridges, to cost approximately $195,000, have been called for December 11 by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. One of the bridges is a highway separation in Ramsey county and the others are all stream crossings, in Koochiching, Jackson and Stearns counties. The Ramsey county job will separate Trunk Highways Nos. 61 and 12 near their eastern entrance into St. Paul.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS SHOW FAVORABLE EARLY SEASON PROSPECT

First String Cagers to Meet Cass Lake Quint Dec. 5th

Coach Lee has ben experimenting recently with two Prowler fives in an effort to locate a tentative starting lineup. On the first quintet, were Captain Bud Nelson and Clark Mickelson, forwards; Loren "Jones" Stadum, center, Leonard Helquist and Milfred Haugham, guards. Versatile Don Lorentson has seen service at Haugham's guard position, and also supplanted Mickelson at forward frequently. The mighty mites, Roy Lee and Ruben Mickelson worked at the second string forward positions with Robert Quale at center, and Milton Nesse and Gordon Caldis at guards. Rueben Mickelson vacated his position at times in favor of Lynn Booren, while Clarence Haug also saw action on the second string quintet.

The marked improvement shown in recent workouts by Clark Mickelsin, Milfred Haugham and Don Lorentson gained them temporary command of the coveted regular posts.

Unless unforeseen developments take place, the Prowler first team will consist of Captain Nelson, C. Mickelson, Stadum, Haughan, Helquist, Nesse, Lorentson, Lee, Quale, and Caldis.

Rueben Mickelson is handicapped by his light weight and being a sophomore, he will probably land on the Prowler "B" aggregation. Haug, Booren and R. Mickelson, together with Jerome Salveson, Ken Jaranson, and Earl Nicholson will form the nucleus of the "B" squad, if they fail in their quest for first team berths. Scrappy Wallace Tunberg and Alvin Dicken, sharpshooters and free throw experts, are also excellent second team prospects.

A great number of second team games have been scheduled, and juniors and sophomores are especially encouraged to attend second team tryouts.

THE SCREAMER

Good old us! Always keeping our promises. You know last week we warned you to be on the lookout for romances budding from the junior class play. And so there were some. However, the most promising of these involves Mary C. and Rogen W. Now what do you think of that?

We've definitely decided that Fae B. will be a beautiful woman at the age of 50. Happy voyage, kid!

Well, well, Eric. So you've abandoned Esther! Of course it's your own business, but do you believe in giving them all a break?

The party goers of this most charming little city seem to delight in breaking chandeliers. Kind of expensive past-time—but Joyce B. didn't mind that so much but when her food was kidnapped (or something)—Shame on you, Milt N. and Jack A.! A body would almost be inclined to believe that you kids were starved at home.

My, my. Some of Lincoln High's romances just seem to persist for ever and ever. Take Merten W. and Gordon C. for example.

These mid-night shows certainly are popular, especially among the younger set. As a matter of fact some individuals think a mid-night show is even superior to a party and that's something.

TEACHER'S TRAINING

Thursday afternoon, Gordon Caldis, Roger Wessling and Floyd Melby, members of the Junior Class play cast, spoke to the T. T. T. R. F. students.

On Monday night, November 23, all training students attended the P. T. A. meeting in the Lincoln High School.

The latest unit in practice teaching, Fourth and Fifth grade reading, was concluded on Wednesday.

Players Introduce in Prevue of Play

On Thursday afternoon Miss Olson told about the Junior Class Play to be staged at the auditorium Friday night and introduced the cast. The cast presented a few skits from the play for the benefit of the students.

Robert Quale and Gordon Caldis gave the first skit. It was followed by Floyd Melby and Fae Belcher in the second short skit. Harriet Simonson was next and then came Robert Smith and Mary Chommie.

The last to give a part of the coming play was Roger Wessling. Other characters in the play include Marion Oden, Jerome Salveson and Evelyn Tungseth. They also played a part from the second act.

Clifford Olson urged all the classes to buy tickets, and told the Seniors that they should buy tickets or else they couldn't have a prom; the Juniors, that they should buy because it is for their class; the Sophomores, for building up their selling ability for next year; and the Freshman, well they had better just tag along to be good sports.

SCHOOL OBSERVES NAT'L BOOK WEEK

Several New Books Are Added to Library Shelves

Last week was celebrated as National Book Week. Each year the week of November 14-21 is set aside as a tribute to the libraries and books of the nation. It is particularly fitting that this be done.

Throughout the year most people visit the library at some time or other. Few people however stop to consider the value of the library.

In all walks of life books play an important part, but to those attending school they have a supreme importance. School, after all is just the preparation for one's life work, and how better could one be aided than by the ideas and experiences of others?

The libraries offer vast treasure houses of information which are yours merely for the using.

A school library is absolutely essential. It offers first-hand information to all students. Its books offer reference material on all subjects besides giving them recreational reading.

Both boys and girls find that reading is fun and that the books and magazines in the library give them healthful recreation.

A very essential part of the library is the magazine rack. Our school library now has 22 different magazines so that students may follow their hobbies in them or catch-up on the latest current events.

Two books that have recently been added to our library are: "The Boy Mechanic" and "Make It Yourself" published by Popular Mechanics. These books offer the latest scientific news for science-minded high school students.

All students should visit the library whether for reference material or recreational reading, and really learn that reading is fun.

FIFTEEN RURAL STUDENTS IN PART TIME SCHOOL

Varied Course Offered Under Pope, Gabrielson Harrison

On November fourth the second annual part-time school for farm boys started under Mr. Harrison.

At present there are fifteen boys meeting on Wednesday and Fridays twice a day. These twice weekly meetings are held from ten to twelve o'clock noon and from one to two p. m.

The boys are taking a varied and interesting course under three instructors, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Pope and Mr. Gabrielson. Mr. Harrison instructs the boys in agriculture, spelling, farm arithmetic, and will government. Mr. Pope has charge of shop work and Mr. Gabrielson instructs gym classes.

In shop the boys have been taking an especially interesting course in metal work.

The main aim of the school is to give local farm youths better information in farm management. The special aim of the course this year is in better poultry selections. This years school will last till Christmas vacation. The class of fifteen pupils is better than most of the schools through out the state but around fifteen more pupils are wanted. The schools throughout has no compulsory work and is simply an effort to give rural people added chances that they have not had in the past. Any boy who wishes to join is asked to report at the high school to Mr. Harrison on either Wednesday or Friday.

After Christmas an evening school for adults will be started under Mr. Harrison. Applicants for this school can get information from Mr. Harrison.

Extensive Intramural B. B. Planned Season

The annual intramural basketball season will be inaugurated at a meeting to be held in the high school assembly next Monday, November 30, in which all boys interested in basketball competition are expected to attend.

The system to be employed by Mr. Gabrielson will vary slightly from that used by Mr. Chalmers last year.

A league will be organized in which teams of equal caliber will be pitted against each other, thus doing away with unfair competition. Each team in the circuit will be composed of seven players, one of whom will be chosen captain. The teams will select their names under the new system instead of the grade system used in past years.

Each team will play twice a week after school or in the evening and standings of the league teams will be published from time to time.

Varsity team members will be prohibited from play in intramural basketball but second team boys will participate, thus insuring a high grade of competition among intramural aggregations.

In the early spring an all-star basketball tournament will be conducted with Prowler varsity players acting as coaches of the interclass teams. A separate tournament will be held for the grade school athletes from the fifth grade and up.

Mr. Gabrielson encourages all would-be-stars to report for the meeting next Monday as those who fail to report will probably land on a team of lower classification than they desire to compete on.

We print with pardonable pride the following dispatch received by Mr. Harrison:

Dear Sir:

We are having a meeting of the Four-H Club Friday, November 20. We should like to have you play a solo. Please bring your instrument.

Sincerely yours,

In your vest pocket, Mr. Harrison?

With Thanksgiving here we are reminded of the many things which all of us, as students of Lincoln High School, should give our most devout thanks.

We are all members of a student body that ranks high among other schools, not only in athletics but in school management as well.

We all have a shinning future ahead of us, either in more school life or in taking our places in the world.

Thanksgiving is an annual tradition, proclaimed each year as a national holiday by the President. The custom dates back to 1621. This day is tending to become merely a habit and not a day of praise and thanksgiving as was originally meant. Let us all remember to reverence him for all our numerous blessings.

Another Junior Class play has come and gone. And another class play has been a decided success. Before an overwhelmingly large audience, the Class of '38 presented their version of the stage hit "The Nut Farm". We are sure each and every person in attendance, thoroughly enjoyed the efforts of the cast and will eagerly await other school plays, especially that one which the Seniors will present later in the year.

The annual class play requires an immense amount of effort on the part of its director, Miss Helen Margaret Olson, its cast and all other Juniors who have so willingly given their help in completing this successful undertaking.

Perhaps a word should be mentioned here, giving all those people who work as hard or harder behind the scene. These prompters, costumers, make up artists and general stage hands aid tremendously in production. So much help is given by them that without their help no play could be a success.

The Junior class has also expressed their wishes to thank the merchants from whom properties were gotten, the Senior ushers under Bruce Prichard and the teachers who assisted in makeup.

WIND-CHILL

And did our high school guys and gals have keen times at the dances last week!

"Bob" Houfek didn't seem to think that knowing the names of his teachers was important until Miss Wise asked him, who his teacher was? Shame, Bob.

Have you heard of the feud that rivals those of the Martin's & the Coys, in the fourth period Eng. IV class. All over the girl's red fingernail point. And the boys seem to have won the argument.

The Seniors should be stickin' pretty close to home these days (or nites) to have money enough for class dues—But so far they seem to be in the minority.

The girls in the Eng. IV class are going on a strike one of these days—to prove that boys are all wrong in their ideas of what girls should wear and do!

Margaret Aasen deserves a medal for her promptness in paying her class dues. She has been the first one to pay for the past two years. Tradition, eh Mugs?

Me thinks Lovey C. will be more careful about personal missives from abroad next time she receives one.

Some of you future college students should consult some of last year's seniors that are attending school. (Just to see if you can take all that studying)

Hats off to the Juniors for putting on their play so successfully.

Another miserable week behind us, waiting for vacation and what not.

Some of the Senior boys oughta grow up. It's juvenile going places (parties getting technical) where you aren't wanted.

The girls of the 4th period English IV classes think the boys don't know what they're talking about. They make known their peeves and pet dislikes pertaining to the feminity of the weaker sex. And did it do any good. No, (or did it)

Mrs. Korstad when the last fire drill was held when the gong rang she replies, "There must be a fire," then she goes about explaining a problem and a few minutes later she leaves.

The seniors send their best wishes to former class mate Glenn Matson, who is spending his time in the hospital recovering from a ruptured appendix.

And by the way—Start planning to order your Prowler early.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

"So What!"—Peggy

"Oh Man!"—Vernon

When you hear some one say "So What!" you know its Margaret F. Paupst (Peggy to you), who made her dramatic appearance on June 8, 1920, at Emerado, N. D. Peggy has high ambitions for the future, she wants to travel and there is nothing small about her for her inspiration is none other than the Robert E. Ripley. As far as subjects are concerned she is another one of those "nonpartialists". She is more or less of a radio fan with that being her favorite pastime, Lady Esther Serenade the favorite program; Jack Benny the favorite star, and last but not least the one and only Wayne King playing "South Sea Island Magic." She has taken part in progress and pep squad. Concerning the screen, she likes Nelson Eddy & Jeanette MacDonald and the show "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine". She is a loyal soul for if she could have anything she wanted to eat she would choose Mrs. "L. G's peach pie. Of the novels she has read, she enjoyed "Mulberry Square" by Larrimore. To get "in her hair" just tell Peggy she had better go home and will she get rough! Oh My!

"Oh Man!" and it's none other than Vernon Wedul. He was born in Hazel, Minnesota February 22, 1920, (oh what an eventful day, I suppose that's why we celebrate.) He is musically talented, did you know? Yes, he is a member of the boys glee club, double quartette and mixed chorus. He has taken part in debate and progress. W. L. S. Hoosier Hot Shots rate with him. The flicker "Swing Time" must have meant perfection to him with Ginger Rogers and Freddie (getting personal) Astaire as his favorite stars and "a Fine Romance" rating "tops" in popular hits of the day, is chief delight is pumpkin pie with whipped cream (watch that physic my boy). He is partial to physics. He enjoys Sherlock Holmes Stories and here's a tip to you girls that want to make a hit—don't wear red finger nail polish!

Freddie Allen and his Town hall tonight appeal to him.

When he "grows to be a man" he wants to be a medical doctor with Dr. Mayer-Oakes as his inspiration. We were told size didn't count!

POPE ELECTED PTA PRESIDENT MONDAY EVENING

Dr. J. V. Breitwieser Addresses Parents and Teachers

The Parent-Teachers Association of Thief River Falls held its first meeting Monday evening, Nov. 23, at eighth o'clock. The following program was presented:

The Night Will Never Stay—McCarthy

My Little Banjo—Dielmont

Freshman girls Sextette directed by Miss Springen.

There were two vacancies to be filled—that is, those of President and second vice president. C. W. Pope, Lincoln High School Industrial Arts instructor, was elected President, and Mrs. W. L. Carlisle, Second Vice president.

Mrs. A. M. Smith, local Christmas Seal Chairman, gave a Christmas seal message and the P. T. A. bought a $5.00 health bond.

Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, local librarian, gave a talk on "Talking Book Machines."

Mr. Ronald G. Riggs played two clarinet solos, "Schon Rosmarin" by Kreisler and one other.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Dr. J. V. Brietwieser, Dean of the School of Education of the University of North Dakota. He spoke on the educational system of the United States. "The public school system of the United States is the world's most democratic institution," said Dr. Brietwtieser. He said the school system was even more democratic than the church or home, and urged that we try to keep it so.

After the meeting, lunch was served by a group of local women, including Meadames Douville, Woolhouse, Jacobson, Norby, Skarstad, Smith, Mayer-Oakes, Ilye, Claffy, Lee, Pope, Gabrielson, Orme, Arhart, Morell, Harrison, Lynde.

Pep Squad Reorganized for 1936-37 Season

The Pep Squad, under the direction of Miss Thoreson, has resumed its work and is expected to perform at the first basket ball game of the season, which is on December 3rd. They have decided to use the same outfits as were used last year—blue slacks and gold blouses with blue kerchiefs. The following girls have become members: Elisabeth Dahlen, Ariel Reidy, Brunell Erickson, Yvonne Anderson, Adeline Lorentson, Lorraine Baken, Evelyn Tungseth, Harriet Simonson, Marion Oden, Peggy Jacobson, Peggy Paupst, Fae Belcher, Margaret McKechnie, Mary Margaret Cosgrove, Arilen Prestabak, and Helen Anderson.

THE KEYHOLE PEEKER

Did you all notice the striking resemblence between Warren Hill and Allyn Cassel?

Aren't Milt Nesse and Jack Adkins the meanest little kids. Imagine breaking up a peaceful party Saturday night.

You've probably noticed pictures of Robert Taylor, Shirley Temple and various high school students. They are hand drawn by Ruth Klein (Freshman.) Put in your order now.

Good news. Eric's back in school, for good he says. Isn't he stately looking in his new glasses? No offense, Eric, I think they're cute.)

Who is the young Romeo from Hazel who insists on calling on Mae Moline?

Doesn't Floyd Melby have the worst luck? Just the other nite a chandelier fell on his head, poor boy. Ask Joyce B. about it.

Poor Ivan Bundy. He can't say what Detroit Lakes looks like, because it was dark when he went through there.

Who was the disappointed Soph gal when Jerome S. couldn't appear at her party. (Don't feel bad, Joyce B.)

Vernon Wedul Elected 1937 Prowler Editor

Already preparations are being made by the seniors for publishing their Prowler. A committee of fifteen met last Thursday, November 19, with the able assistance of Mr. Claffy, to determine the editor-in-chief, associate editor, business manager, and assistant business manager. The following hold these offices respectively; Vernon Wedul, Lois Morrell, Bruce Prichard, and Elisabeth Dahlen. This group of four, in turn, selected other members of the senior class for other offices to be filled on the Prowler staff. These are: Athletic editor, Don Olson; assistant athletic editor, Bud Nelson; activity editor, Herbert Schroeder; assistants to this office are Marion Dillon, Selmer Christopherson, and Marjorie Mathewson. The art editor is Marion Green with Merten Ward and Mary Margaret Cosgrove as assistants. The feature editor is Brunell Erickson. Assistants are Margaret Gustafson and James Peterson. The typists for the staff are Peggy Paupst, Roberta Dailey, Ariel Reidy, Hettie Gustafson, and Alice Holmen. Alyce Protz was appointed circulation manager.

Definite work on the Prowler will be started by the staff immediately after Thanksgiving vacation.

DEBATE SQUAD CONTINUES WORK

Materials Received From Leading Electric Companies

During the last few weeks Mr. Montague, debate coach, has obtained a great deal of material consisting of books and pamphlets written by well known men from large companies and organizations which must be considerad in the discussion of this year's debate proposition.

One of these books, "Confessions of the Power Trusts" by Thomson is valuable for the affirmative case. It discusses the various power trusts in the United states the opinions of United States senators who are directly concerned with the subject. "Public Utilities" by Buehler is also being read by members of the debate squad, together with all of the available material in the school library and the public library.

Other material in the form of pamphlets, has been received from the following important sources: Edison Electric Institute, material from the Burns and McDonnell Engineering Company, reports from the United States Chamber of Commerce. Valuable material has also been obtaind through the courtesy of the Public Ownership League of America.

At the present time the debate squad is preparing for the practice debates which will be held shortly after Thanksgiving vacation. Those members who were in the junior class play will be back on the squad and work will be in full swing.

With all of this valuable material received and a library which cannot be exhausted this year's work in debate should prove to be successful.

BAND NOTES

Last Wednesday the band committee composed of the three officers, Bruce Prichard, Ellen Hoffseth, and Lois Morell; and Ralph Gustafson, and Robert Quale held a meeting with Mr. Riggs. It was agreed upon at this time to give letters or some other insignia different from the lyres earned by the Charisters, to all band members who are present at all except three practices and public appearances. The members are allowed three unexcused absences for the ensuing year. All other absences due to a legitimate cause will be accepted. It was also decided to buy gold and blue material for capes which the Home Ec. II students will make. These capes will probably be ready for the Christmas Program.

ANNUAL JUNIOR PLAY PROCLAIMED HUGE SUCCESS

"The Nut Farm", a Three Act Farce Presented Friday

Last Friday evening the Junior class presented its annual class play at the municipal auditorium. The three-act comedy was entitled "The Nut Farm".

The play was about a young man, Robert Bent, and his wife, Helen, who had sold their business in Nework for $30,000 and moved to California to purchase a nut farm. Helen's mother, Mrs. Barton, and her brother, Willie Barton, who wanted to become a director of motion pictures, had also moved to California with Helen and Bob. Before Bob was able to invest his money safely in a nut farm, Helen met a smooth crook, Hamilton T. Holland, who was posing as a great motion picture director. He convinced Helen that she had the "divine fire" to become a great actress and he told her that he would direct her in a picture if her husband would furnish the capital for the picture. Of course, the only object in this was to swindle the $30,000 away from Bob. In spite of all Willie's warnings and pleading against the project because he had seen through Holland's scheme, Helen convinced Bob to let her make the picture. Of course the picture would not have been any good and would have lost all Bob's money, had not Willie stepped in and saved the show. He directed the picture and made a comedy out of it instead of a drama. This made the whole family think they had let Willie make fools out of all of them, especially since Willie and Agatha Slisccomb, with whom Willie had fallen in love, had disappeared with $5,000. However, everything turned out all right because Willie was able to sell the picture for $90,000 and repay Bob's $30,000 and still had plenty left over for everyone concerned. Willie and Agatha had gotten married secretly, but finally obtained their parent's blessing when it was learned how Willie had saved the day for everyone.

The cast of the play included Fae Belcher, Gordon Caldis, Harriet Simonson, Robert Quale, Floyd Melby, Mary Chommie, Roger Wessling, Robert Smith, Jerome Salveson, Marion Oden and Evelyn Tungseth. Much praise must be given to Miss Helen Margaret Olson who so successfully directed the play.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

The Home Economics II classes are starting to make silk dresses.

Miss Olson's English I classes are studying Grammar and will continue until after Thanksgiving.

The Latin I class is studying the Dative Case.

Miss Diebel's Modern History classes are beginning a new chapter on Napoleon.

Miss Steenerson's English II classes are divided into two parts. The first half has just finished taking Library Lessons and are studying grammer, the second half is starting with Library Lessons.

Mr. Montague's English IV classes are going to give ten minute orations.

The Biology classes are studying the relation of Plants and Animals to our environment.

The Latin II classes are studying the translation of the Trojan War.

Mr. Rigg's American History classes are studying the chapter on Slavery.

At the last meeting of our P. T. A., it was decided that a certain week should be designated as Visiting Week for the Plummer School. The week from November 30th to December 4th has been designated. We cordially invite you to visit the school during that period of time and to become acquainted with what we are attempting to do for your children. Let me make it a little bit stronger—we not only invite you, but we urge you to take time off on one of those days and get here and visit any or all of the departments that you may care to.

On Thursday, December 3rd, the P. T. A. is holding a regular meeting which has been set over from the regular date, November 26th, which is Thanksgiving Day.

This week Plummer takes on the hard-driving Goodridge quint. The game will be played Wednesday, Nov. 25 at Plummer. It promises to be a hard-fought battle.

GIANT TREE IS VICTIM OF AXE

Montevideo.—A giant cottonwood tree, which for many years grew along the west bank of the Chippewa river a mile north of Montevideo, has fallen victim to the woodsmen's axe, because a hollow formation at its base was often used by youngsters as an open fireplace and the fires which many times were left to burn untended made it a dangerous hazard. The men who are felling King Cottonwood, measuring five feet three inches in diameter at the base, have found that their job will last for some time. With saw and axe they whittled at the base of the tree and at the end of 44 hours work the two men succeeded in felling the tree and cutting up 18 stove length cords, taking the large branches only. Not having started on the main trunk, it was estimated that 37 cuts of 16 inches each remained. Two bottom cuts will make more than a cord of wood and in the upper half there will be four cuts to a cord.

Thanksgiving Indeed

By Ruby Douglas

THE Mortons had moved their big round dining room table into the living room by the fireplace just for the day.

"The fire will be so cheerful for our Thanksgiving dinner and then we can sit around and listen to the radio," suggested Corinna, the younger daughter.

Mrs. Morton was trying bravely to hide the grief in her heart at the absence, for the first time from their holiday table, of her son, Tom.

There was an enforced air of cheerfulness as they all set to work to lay the forks and knives and make the centerpiece of pumpkin and chrysanthemums.

Tom had disappeared more or less mysteriously from the home town and the family circle more than six months before and no one, not even his mother nor his sweetheart, Beth Arden, had heard a line from him. The fact that he was a temperamental lad and had been possessed with the belief that he was a round peg in a square hole had led all those who loved him to believe that he had merely disappeared of his own volition but had not met with accident or foul play.

Arranging the Centerpiece of Pumpkin and Chrysanthemums.

When the big table was fairly groaning under its weight of food and the turkey lay brown and tempting on the platter in front of Mr. Morton's place there was not a member of the party who did not want to quote the trite old lines, "There is no fireside, howsoe'er defended, but has one vacant chair." But no one said a word about the absent Tom.

"It is so nice to be included in your family party today," said Beth as she took her seat.

"We couldn't think of anything else with your own family so far away," said Mrs. Morton, kindly.

A general discussion of drumsticks and turkey anatomy followed as each of the children tried to be polite and yet make it known to father which part he preferred.

"Tom always liked the part that goes over the fence last," piped up Johnny, the youngest Morton, regardless of the danger of bringing tears to his mother's eyes.

"He did, dear," said his mother with trembling voice. But she smiled.

"How about a little music while we eat, son," said the father after he had helped himself to what was left of the bird.

David, the family radio enthusiast, was only too eager to tune in something and drag forth from the air some of his favorite music.

"Nothing like a little good music to jazz up a family party," he said, turning the dials with masterly hand.

He got a station that advertised a good dinner program and resumed his seat.

One piece of popular music followed another with announcements in between and it was not long before the Morton family had shaken off its haunting loneliness for the absent Tom and was enjoying the program and the dinner.

Suddenly came a voice from the loud speaker—a voice that startled every member of the family—and Beth. It was, undoubtedly, Tom Morton's voice.

"It's Tom!" said every one.

"Listen!" said Mr. Morton raising a silencing hand.

The voice of the wanderer came clearly into the room.

"In the absence of P.N.D., our announcer for this hour, who wanted to join his family for Thanksgiving turkey, I will make the announcements for W.F.K."

"But what's he doing? How does he happen to be there?" asked the incorrigible Johnny.

"No one knows more than you do, Johnny" said his mother. "Wait and see."

"Anyone wishing to request special numbers from any of our artists may call Shopkins 6558," Tom's voice said after a number of singers had done their bit.

Mr. Morton rose quickly and went to the telephone in the rear hall.

The family seated around the dwindling dinner was breathless with interest and excitement.

By the smile she saw on Mr. Morton's face and the trace of tears in his [illegible], the mother knew that there was no bad news of her son.

Mr. Morton sat down before he told his story.

Tom, it seems, had become dissatisfied with his slow progress in the home town and was ashamed to keep on moving from one failure to another and, in spite of what he knew was not the right way to do it, he had left to try some work he had always felt would be in his line—managing a sort of spectacular advertising department for a large store.

He had found a berth in a city nearby and had been very successful in conducting a radio studio for his firm. He had waited to let his family hear of him in just this way because he felt that it would make it a real Thanksgiving for every one—most of all for him.

"Listen!" Said Mr. Morton, Raising a Silencing Hand.

"And he's on his way here now—be here in an hour and a half," finished the father.

"And the turkey's tail is gone," lamented Johnny.

"Never mind. My son shall have a wonderful dinner and—oh Beth, you will help us to try to hold him, now, won't you?"

Beth nodded a little guiltily. Perhaps she had been partly to blame for his disappearance but she would make up for it now. Absence had taught her that she loved Tom.

Judges Announced for 27th Winter Shows at Crookston Feb. 8 to 12

Elaborate plans are being made for the twenty-seventh annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows, which will be held during the week of February 8 to 12, 1937. Judges have been selected and numerous lectures and demonstrations are being arranged. The following judges, all from University Farm, St. Paul, will make the awards in the various open class and 4-H club livestock divisions: Professor J. B. Fitch, dairy cattle; H. G. Zavoral, beef cattle; E. F. Ferrin, hogs; and P. A. Anderson, sheep.

Judges of the school of agriculture, agricultural high school, farmers' club, and 4-H club livestock judging contests include E. F. Ferrin, hogs; P. A. Anderson, sheep; H. G. Zavoral, horses; C. L. McNelly, dairy cattle; and C. M. Kelehan, Fergus Falls, beef cattle.

In the farm crops section, Professor A. C. Arny and Dr. I. J. Johnson of University Farm will judge the grains, grasses and corn, while A. G. Tolaas, St. Paul, will make the potato awards, and C. G. Ash, West Polk county agent, will judge the honey exhibits. Dr. H. K. Wilson and R. F. Crim will have charge of the crops judging contest.

The veteran judge, George Hackett, Wayzata, will make the awards in the poultry department.

General superintendents of the various departments include Paul Engelstad, livestock; H. A. Pflughoeft, 4-H club; R. S. Dunham, farm crops; T. M. McCall, horticulture and beekeeping; Darrel Morlan, chickens, and Alfred E. Malmberg, turkeys.

SHERIFF, COMMANDERS SPEND NIGHT IN JAIL

Fergus Falls—The Sheriff joined a group of legion commanders for the night at jail as result of a membership contest sponsored by the Robert LeRoy Anderson Post No. 30 at Fergus Falls. The past commanders, who were losers in a membership drive, were taken into custody of Sheriff Hencke to be confined in the county jail for one night. The sheriff, a member of the losing team, was compelled to lock himself in with the rest of the "culprits" and toss the keys thru the bars to the jailer, who had orders to hide them until morning. Charges of sharp practice and collusion were promptly filed by the ex-commanders, but nevertheless, they could not escape their sentence in the Fergus Falls bastille. The membership contest netted them 320 points against a total of 520 points for the opposing side.

False Dreams

"To sleep soundly at night is sweet," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "There may be dreams, but none of them so false as dreams which excite avaricious fancy during the day."

Thanksgiving Day

NO DOUBT the same old question will be asked that we have so often heard — what have we to be thankful for? The question is foolish, almost as foolish as the attempt to answer it. Thanksgiving means gratitude, and there is probably no man alive who does not hold ingratitude to be one of the blackest sins. Of course, there can be no gratitude except as it is shown not only for something but to some one. Therefore, observes a writer in the Indianapolis News, it is that the thought of Thanksgiving necessarily implies the existence of a Divine Giver and Benefactor. So we are bidden to return thanks to Almighty God as "the Giver of every good and perfect gift." When there seems to be a scarcity of gifts one is tempted to ask the question, why be thankful? And that is a question which every one must answer for himself, and it will be answered as it always has been, in different ways. It is futile to catalogue what we know to be blessings and what we believe to be anything but blessings, and set off one list against the other, and be thankful in proportion as the good exceeds the evil.

Carlyle long ago showed us the folly of the bookkeeping method as applied to things spiritual. Probably most people get out of life about what they deserve and in proportion to what they put into it. It seems to be true that the most thankful people are those who have the least. On the other hand, those who are surfeited with good things take them as matters of course, as their due, and so calling for no gratitude. The question seems to be whether one has a thankful spirit, which surely is something to be greatly desired.

"BE YE THANKFUL"

Without it, man is less than man. Even beasts are grateful. Practically, the question suggested by the day touches character. "There is nothing mechanical or formal about it. One can not pump up thankfulness, and the setting apart of a day does not suggest that there should be such an attempt. The day is rather a recognition, less of a duty than of an opportunity which it would be or might be fatal to neglect. "Be ye thankful" is an apostolic command. It ought to be easy to obey. Those men are nearest the truth who feel that in this life nothing is due them, and that whatever they get is in a very true sense a gift, and one which may be far beyond their deserts. So we are called to keep another Thanksgiving day, which should bring an outpouring of not only thankful but kindly hearts. Appropriate to the day is Pope's well-known verse:

> Teach me to feel another's woe,
> To hide the fault I see,
> That mercy I to others show,
> That mercy show to me.

HUNTING REVERSED BUCK HUNTS MAN

Parkers Prairie—With thousands of hunters scouring the north woods in search of deer, and many returning empty handed, due partly to the crusted snow which warned the game of the hunter's approach, Ben Myers had the experience this week of a big buck hunting him. Returning with his family from Fergus Falls, he slowed down for a sharp turn only to see a big buck deer come up the side of the grade at a terrific pace. The buck evidently headed straight for the machine, colliding broadside with such force that the car skidded into the [illegible]. When they recovered the noted deer was seen hobbling down the road on three legs.

Feeding of Game Birds During Winter Urged by Game and Fish Division

With the approach of winter, sportsmen and conservationists are again asked to cooperate with the division of game and fish in feeding game birds.

The National Youth Administration, which last winter supervised the conservation activities of more than 400 boys, during the past summer built thousands of game bird shelters and feeders which will be placed in use this winter.

A leaflet containing instructions for building bird shelters and feeders may be obtained upon request from the division of game and fish or the Youth Administration, Minnesota building, St. Paul.

The game and fish division will have a limited amount of grain available for feeding purposes if weather conditions this winter are unusually severe.

TRAIN CREW SAVES LIFE OF DRUNK MAN

Aitkin—While most trainmen must be alert to dodge autoists who want the right of way at crossing, the crew on last Thursday's east bound passenger train had some difficulty to keep from colliding with an intoxicated man. A bottle was taken from a man who got on at Aitkin, but when the stop was made at Rossburg, the man grabbed the bottle, jumped off the rear platform and disappeared down the track. Warning was sent to the west bound train. Running with caution and looking for the man he was found fast asleep by the tracks, brought to Aitkin and turned over to the night marshall. He was locked up so that normal train service could be resumed.

George P. Melby and two sons of Hatton, N. D., spent Tuesday in this vicinity inspecting good dairy cows for which they were in the market. They returned well satisfied, and spoke of complimentary terms of this country, their first visit here.

Just "What is a Fawn" is a word many local huntsmen would like to have legally defined. Some of the boys have had some difficulty with "John Law" and it now develops that an idea intended as conservation in lots of cases has meant the killing of two to get one. Seems funny that the trouble the commission had during the duck season with the ban on Canvas Backs and Red Heads was enough of a lesson of this order, without extending it in the deer season. Conservation is a good thing but to the writer it looks as if somebody has erred somewhere.

HUNTERS QUALIFY FOR HIGH JUMPING

Glencoe—Auditor Leasman and Edgar Jungclaus feel they could qualify for the two-hundred-yard dash and high jump in any athletic event after an experience which they had here recently. With a party of hunters these men happened into a corn field in which a herd of cattle were grazing. Horrified when they observed a huge bull emerge from the herd and charge straight for them, the sprint started. The race was over forty acres to a wire fence five feet high. While the gentlemen had difficulty before in climbing over the fence to enter the pasture, the return trip was made in one leap, with the bull in close pursuit. While they are not sure that they would be able to go back and repeat the speed and the height of the jump, the fact that they were able to deliver in the pinch, undoubtedly saved them from serious injury.

STATE CAPITOL IS MODERNIZED BY WPA WORKERS

Members of 1937 Legislature to See Many Changes When Session Opens

When members of the 1937 legislature begin their labors at the state capitol in St. Paul on January 5, they will hardly recognize the "old home place", so great has been the modernization carried on by WPA workers under the direction of Victor Christgau, state administrator. A series of projects constituting the capitol work has been sponsored by the state of Minnesota.

Total expenditures thus far have been $302,793, most of which has been spent to pay for 2,740 months of labor by persons who otherwise would have been on direct relief. Briefly summarized, the improvements are: modernization of the House chamber with re-arrangement of 140 seats; interior of the dome "scrubbed" to remove dirt and grime that has been accumulating for 30 years; rebuilding of the roof; construction of a new storage room under the east terrace; addition of another "story" to the building by lowering the floor of the subbasement; installation of 5,000 feet of new radiation; repair of plaster and finish in 15 of the offices; installation of 6,000 lineal feet of weather stripping on windows; refinishing of 1300 desks, chairs and tables; construction of 53 new metal storage cabinets; repair and renovation of 288,000 square feet of marble walls and woodwork and repainting of 400,000 square feet of walls and woodwork.

Extensive work has been done on the capitol grounds where 12,500 square feet of new lawn have been laid; 6,000 square feet of new 4-inch concrete terrace constructed; 840 square yards of concrete roadway, and 2,000 lineal feet of concrete curbing relaid. One of the surrounding streets have been widened 15 feet for a distance of 300 feet, and 500 feet of 15-foot concrete sidewalk, curbs and butters have been relaid.

Social Security Unit Outlines Terms of Act

Sets Forth Benefits and Taxes Payable Under Terms of New Law

The Social Security board recently issued the following public statement addressed to employees of industrial and business establishments, factories, shops, mines, mills, stores, offices, and other places of business:

"The old-age benefit provisions of the social security act will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1937. To understand your obligations, rights, and benefits under these provisions of the act you should read the following general explanation.

"There is now a law in this country which will give about 26 million working people something to live on when they are old and have stopped working. This law, which gives other benefits, too, is the social security act.

To Get Monthly Checks

"Under this law the United States government will send checks every month to retired workers, both men and women, after they have passed their 65th birthday and have met a few simple requirements of the law.

"This means that if you work in some factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office, or almost any other kind of business or industry, you will be earning benefits that will come to you later on. From the time you are 65 years old, or more, and stop working, you will get a government check every month of your life, if you have worked some time (one day or more) in each of any 5 years after 1936, and have earned during that time a total of $2,000 or more.

"You will get the checks regardless of the amount of property or income you may have. They are what the law calls 'old-age benefits' under the social security act. If you prefer to keep on working after you are 65, the monthly checks from the government will begin coming to you whenever you decide to retire.

Amount of Checks

"How much you will get when you are 65 years old will depend entirely on how much you earn in wages from your industrial or business employment between Jan. 1, 1937, and your 65th birthday. A man or woman who gets good wages and has a steady job most of his or her life can get as much as $85 a month for life after age 65. The least you can get in monthly benefits, if you come under the law at all, is $10 a month.

"Suppose you are making $25 a week and are young enough now to go on working for 40 years. If you make an average of $25 a week for 52 weeks in each year, your check when you are 65 years old will be $53 a month the rest of your life. If you make $50 a week, you will get $74.50 a month for the rest of your life after age 65.

"But suppose you are about 55 years old now and have 10 years to work before you are 65. Suppose you make only $15 a week on the average. When you stop work at age 65 you will get a check for $19 each month for the rest of your life. If you make $25 a week for 10 years, you will get a little over $23 a month from the government as long as you live after your 65th birthday.

In Case of Death

"If you should die before you begin to get your monthly checks, your family will get a payment in cash, amounting to 3½ cents on every dollar of wages you have earned after 1936. If, for example, you should die at age 64, and if you had earned $25 a week for 10 years before that time, your family would receive $455. On the other hand, if you have not worked enough to get the regular monthly checks by the time you are 65, you will get a lump sum, or if you should die your family or estate would get a lump sum. The amount of this, too, will be 3½ cents on every dollar of wages you earn after 1936.

"The same law that provides these old-age benefits for you and other workers, sets up certain new taxes to be paid to the United States government. These taxes are collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the United States Treasury department, and inquiries concerning them should be addressed to that bureau. The law also creates an "old-age reserve account" in the United States treasury, and congress is authorized to put into this reserve account each year enough money to provide for the monthly payments you and other workers are to receive when you are 65.

How Taxes Are Paid

"The taxes called for in this law will be paid both by your employer and by you. For the next three years you will pay, perhaps, 15 cents a week, maybe 25 cents a week, maybe 30 cents or more, according to what you earn. That is to say, during the next three years, beginning Jan. 1, 1937, you will pay 1 cent for every dollar you earn, and at the same time your employer will pay 1 cent for every dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. Twenty-six million other workers and their employers will be paying at the same time.

"After the first three years—that is to say, beginning in 1940—you will pay, and your employer will pay, 1½ cents for each dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. This will be the tax for three years, and then, beginning in 1943, you will pay 2 cents, and so will your employer, for every dollar you earn for the next three years. After that, you and your employer will each pay half a cent more for three years, and finally, beginning in 1949, 12 years from now, you and your employer will each pay three cents on each dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. That is the most you will ever pay.

Employer's Part of Tax

"The government will collect both of these taxes from your employer. Your part of the tax will be taken out of your pay. The government will collect from your employer an equal amount out of his own funds.

"This will go on just the same if you go to work for another employer, so long as you work in a factory, shop, mine, mill, office, store, or other such place of business. (Wages earned in employment as farm workers, domestic workers in private homes, government workers, and on a few other kinds of jobs are not subject to this tax.)

"Meanwhile, the old-age reserve fund in the United States treasury is drawing interest, and the government guarantees it will never earn less than three per cent. This means that three cents will be added to every dollar in the fund each year."

1937 Livestock Outlook Cited by Central Co-op. Association of St. Paul

An analysis of government statistics and private reports from various parts of the livestock producing areas of the United States indicates that the general level of livestock and meat prices will be higher in 1937 than for several years. This report was made in the Livestock Market Digest issued by the Central Cooperative Association, farmer-owned livestock selling agency of South St. Paul.

The report says: "Reduced hog supplies are in prospect for the next two years, the result of the 1936 drouth. Many immature pigs, and sows bred to farrow this fall have been forced to market. High pork will greatly assist market on beef, and simultaneously serve as a prop to the cattle market.

"Short supplies of high-priced feeds, coupled with narrow feeding margins on cattle in 1936, will result in a smaller proportion of strictly grain fed cattle for the 1937 market.

Meat supply for 1937 will be about equal to 1935, or the smallest in more than fifteen years. Most of the reduction in meats will be confined to pork and the better grades of beef. Improvement in consumer demand is expected. In view of smaller supplies of fat beeves in late 1936 and early 1937, and expected improvement in consumer demand, prices of such cattle undoubtedly will advance.

Cattle population on January 1 is expected to be smaller than a year ago and materially smaller than the peak three years earlier, but it will be larger than the January 1 average of the last fifteen years. Cattle slaughter is expected to be less in 1937 than in the past two years, but larger than the average for 1930 to 1934.

PHEASANTS WALK ½ MILE ON ICE

Little Falls—Operations at the Larson boat works at Little Falls were suspended for ten minutes November 12 when it was announced a flock of ducks was making its way across the ice of the Mississippi river. Field glasses were brought out and it was discovered that the "ducks" were pheasants—36 of them. They were walking the half mile from the west side to the east, where they climbed the bank to a strip of wooded land. There was enough snow on the ice to give the birds suitable footing. Two dropped behind, but caught up with the flock after a little sprinting. After resting on the bank about ten minutes, the pheasants started leisurely up the river.

"THANKS A MILLION" FOR MORE THAN A MILLION

America has bought 1,130,000 Chevrolets during the past twelve months, thereby giving Chevrolet the greatest year in its history and the greatest measure of buyer preference it has ever enjoyed.

The builders of Chevrolet are thankful for many things, but most of all for the warm friendship of the American people.

And so again at this Thanksgiving season we say, "Thank you, America," for you have given Chevrolet a measure of good-will without parallel in the annals of modern industry.

Consider, for a moment, all that you have done to inspire Chevrolet's appreciation during the past twelve months:

You have purchased 1,130,000 Chevrolets; you have made Chevrolet your favorite car for the seventh time in the past ten years; you have given Chevrolet strong preference in every section of the country; you have conferred this same high honor upon Chevrolet trucks by purchasing more than 205,000 commercial units; you have made 1936 the most successful year in all Chevrolet history.

And now, to climax these expressions of friendship, you are displaying even more marked preference for the new Chevrolet for 1937.

It is difficult to express adequate appreciation for gifts so great and so generous as these.

All we can say is, "Thanks a million" for more than a million cars in 1936; and all we can do is offer you the still finer Chevrolet of 1937 in return for the finest friendship ever bestowed upon any motor car manufacturer.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 26 — Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, Thursday, Dec. 3, 1936 — Number 49

H. H. PETERSON GIVEN SUPREME COURT POSITION

Attorney General Succeeds Justice I. M. Olson of New Ulm

W. S. ERVIN NAMED ATTORNEY GENERAL

Appointments Were Announced Saturday by Governor Hjalmar Petersen

Governor Hjalmer Petersen Saturday announced the appointment of Attorney General Harry H. Peterson as associate justice of the Minnesota state supreme court effective December 15 to succeed Justice I. M. Olsen, who will retire because of ill health.

Attorney General Peterson's appointment is for the remainder of the term expiring, January 1, 1939, and continuance in service would require his selection at the 1938 general election.

Appointment of William S. Ervin, assistant, as attorney general was announced simultaneously by Governor Petersen.

Justice Olsen who was born in Norway January 4, 1861 and came to Nicollet county four years later, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and has been on the bench for 29 years.

While a resident of New Ulm he was elected judge in the ninth district in 1906, reelected in 1912, but was not a candidate in 1928. He was reappointed district judge in 1920 and reelected that year and in 1926. He came to the capitol as commissioner of the state supreme court October 1, 1927 and was appointed associate justice in November, 1930. He was elected November 8, 1932, for his present six-year term.

Justice Olsen will be retired on pension, receiving his full salary until January 1, 1939, and then half-salary for the remainder of his life. The position carries an annual salary of $8,500.

Attorney General Peterson, a native of St. Paul, began his first term in January, 1933. He is a graduate of Central High school and of the University of Minnesota in 1912, when he received the degree of LL. D. cum laude. His first public service was an assistant county attorney for Ramsey county, starting in 1916. He retired in 1922 but was elected county attorney and served from 1923 to 1926, then retiring to enter private practice. He has been one of the outstanding leaders of the Farmer-Labor party since its inception.

The new attorney general, Ervin, was appointed assistant when Harry Peterson assumed office in January, 1933. Ervin is a graduate of the Mankato High school and the University of Minnesota and for several years has been a teacher in constitutional law at the Minnesota college of law. He was county attorney of Pine county from 1914 to 1919.

Ervin lives in Minneapolis, with his wife and two children, Robert 16, and Betty, 18. He was born at Birmingham, Ia., September 4, 1886. During his service as assistant attorney general he played a major part in litigation involved in the mortgage moratorium act, the income tax law, and the homestead preferential tax law.

MRS. LESUEUR TO SPEAK AT F.-L. RALLY SATURDAY

Will Celebrate Election Victory at Sons of Norway Hall

Mrs. Marian LeSueur of Minneapolis, a widely known speaker and one of the leading women members of the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota, will be the principal speaker Saturday evening at a victory rally arranged by the Pennington County Farmer-Labor association in the Sons of Norway hall.

In addition to Mrs. LeSueur's address the program will include a series of short talks by local party leaders, as well as musical numbers. At the close of the evening a dance will be held, with both old and new-time music being provided.

Tickets for the event will be available at the hall Saturday or may be obtained from members of the committee in charge, which includes Fred Lorentson, Herman Kjos, A. G. Anderson, Helmer Halland and Hector Bergstrom.

OEN'S STORE BUILDING GOES AHEAD RAPIDLY

Favored by a continuance of moderate temperatures, work on the new Oen store block continued to make steady progress during the past week, and the brick walls have now been raised to the second story level.

Local Man Seeks Reduction in Rural Credit Loan Interest

Harvester Blockman

FRED BJORNSON

Blockman for the International Harvester company in this territory, who is in charge of local arrangements for a meeting of company representatives in Northwestern Minnesota to be held next Monday at the offices of Gustafson & Son.

Legislation reducing rural credit department interest charges to farmers from 5¼ per cent to 3 per cent will be sought of the next legislature by a lobby being formed and financed by farmers, says the St. Paul Daily News.

The group is being organized by Gilbert A. Brattland, Thief River Falls, who two years ago won approval for a measure containing many of his proposals. The bill was killed in the senate, where a new measure was substituted for it.

Informed of the plans of Mr. Brattland, Theodore H. Arens, rural credit conservator, declared he favors reduction of the interest rate on agricultural paper, but pointed out that if the state rural credit rate is lowered, there will have to be a direct appropriation, raised by tax levy, to cover the difference between the interest received by the department, and that it pays on its outstanding bonds, which can not be changed.

"I am in favor of agriculture receiving the same interest rate as other economic groups are receiving," Mr. Arens said. "I am not opposed to our rate being cut.

GATZKE MAN DIES IN CITY IN FALL ON CAFE STAIRS

Johan Dahl, 76, Sustains Broken Neck Here Tuesday Afternoon

Johan E. Dahl, 76, for the past 32 years a resident of Moose River township near Gatske, late Tuesday afternoon met almost instant death when he sustained a broken neck by losing his footing and falling down a basement stairway in a local cafe while on his way to the lavatory.

Patrons in the cafe, hearing him fall, rushed to his assistance, but he lived only a few minutes. Coroner A. M. Smith and Dr. R. V. Sherman conducted a post mortem examination Tuesday evening and ascertained that death had resulted from a broken neck.

Funeral rites will be conducted Sunday at 10 o'clock noon from Landstad Lutheran church at Gatzke, with Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla officiating, and interment will be made in the Landstad cemetery.

Mr. Dahl was born in Sortland, Norway, in 1860, and came to Crookston in 1902, locating two years later in Moose River township. He was married in Warren to Albina Anderson, who survives him together with four daughters and three sons, including Mrs. Alida Cross, Mrs. Antonia Johanson, Mrs. Alvida Erickson and Mrs. Emma Hanstenson, all of Norway; Ingvart and Hans of Gatzke, and John, living in Alaska. Also surviving are two sisters, three brothers, 15 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

PLAN FLOODING ENCLOSED RINK NEXT THURSDAY

Opening Games on the Hockey Schedule Postponed to Later Date

Owing to the fact that the rink in the winter sports arena will not be ready for hockey practice until about December 14, the committee in charge today announced the postponement to a later date of the first three games on the schedule, including Emerson December 12, Hallock December 16 and Grand Forks December 17.

The first game in the States-Dominion league, of which the local team is a member, will be played at Grand Forks next Thursday between Roseau and the University of North Dakota. The Thief River Falls aggregation will open its season about December 20. New uniforms supplied by local business places have now arrived.

The rink committee has been notified by WPA authorities that flooding of the rink can get under way next Thursday.

Thanksgiving Benefit Dance Nets Rink $71.50

The winter sports arena benefit fund netted the substantial sum of $71.50 on the Thanksgiving dance staged at the Auditorium last Thursday evening, it was announced this week by the committee in charge. With $52.50 realized from two previous dances, this leaves a total balance of $124 available for rink purposes.

PUBLIC FORUM IS INSTITUTED HERE FRIDAY EVENING

H. W. Kinghorn Named Chairman of New Discussion Group

Plans for a Thief River Falls public forum culminated at a meeting Friday evening when twenty-five persons assembled to elect officers and formulate an organization under which they could continue.

The officers appointed and approved by those present were H. W. Kinghorn, chairman; Earl Long, vice chairman; Lionel Brattland, secretary; and P. Peterson, treasurer. The chairman then appointed Paul Lundgren, Mrs. Paquin and Earl Long to serve as a membership drive committee.

G. G. Denning, district organizer, gave a brief lecture in which he portrayed the development and history of the public forums, stating that its recent popular development in the United States is due to the efforts of John W. Studebaker who first tried it as an experiment, receiving financial aid from the Carnegie Institute. It met with such approval that the government at the request of Mr. Studebaker decided to take it as a project under the ERA later it was transferred to the WPA under which it still operates. Mr. Denning said that if Germany and Italy had these public forums they would not have their present form of dictatorship.

Meetings of the Public Forum will be held every two weeks on Fridays, at 8 o'clock, the next meeting falling on December 11.

NORTHERN PACKING CO. TO BUY STOCK HERE WEDNESDAY

Invites Farmers to Bring Their Stock to G. N. Stock Yards

The Northern Packing company of Grand Forks announces elsewhere in this issue that it will buy all livestock delivered to the Great Northern stockyards next Wednesday, December 9, and that it will pay a straight price of 50 cents a hundred pounds under the St. Paul market. A competent grader will be stationed at the yards, it was stated.

The company, which plans to buy every Wednesday in this city, explains that its expansion program is made necessary by curtailed supplies in its former market territory, and that the present shortage of hogs and cattle forces it to go elsewhere. It points out that by selling in the local market farmers will save the shrinkage resulting from a long, cold haul.

The Northern Packing company was established in 1919, and operates in 21 sales territories in the northwest. It is capitalized at $1,000,000 and has a capacity of 500 hogs and 150 cattle and sheep daily. It manufactures a complete line of packing house products under strict government supervision.

Junior C. C. to Present Steiner Program Friday

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the program to be presented Friday evening in Steiner hall at a meeting of the Steiner Community club. Gorman Thompson will be the principal speaker, in addition to which there will be several musical selections and novelty skits. The committee in charge includes Lincoln Arnold, Harry Seaverson and Orvis Olen.

OPEN CONTEST FOR CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

C. & C. and Savings Loan Association Joint Sponsors

OFFER $25 PRIZES TO HOUSEHOLDERS

Mickelson, Dr. Smith and Hal Ekeren on Committee in Charge

The Christmas home decorating contest successfully conducted in 1935 under the joint sponsorship of the Civic and Commerce association and the First Federal Savings & Loan association of this city will be repeated this year under the direction of the same organizations, it was announced today.

The committee to handle arrangements for this year's contest was named Tuesday by President W. L. Carlisle of the Civic and Commerce association. Members of the group are A. W. Mickelson, Dr. A. M. Smith and Hal Ekeren.

Prize money of $25 is being supplied by the savings and loan association, of which Stanton R. Dahlen is secretary-treasurer. Last year four prizes were awarded in the amounts of $10, $7.50, $5 and $2.50, and, while the committee has not yet met or formulate its plans, it is expected a similar division will be made.

The contest is open to all householders in the city, and the awards will be made on the basis of originality of plan, appropriateness of the decorations to the Christmas season and general appearance. The rules specify that the decorations may be placed on the lawn, on the house or in the house, but that the exterior effect will be the basis for judging.

The committee in charge will appoint a judge of the contest, and he will make the rounds of the city the last week before Christmas. T. M. McCall of Crookston, member of the faculty of the Northwest School of Agriculture, officiated in the first contest a year ago.

Supt. Morris Bye Speaks at Roseau Next Tuesday

Supt. Morris Bye of the local schools will deliver the principal address next Tuesday evening, December 8, in Roseau at the first annual Fathers and Sons banquet sponsored by the Roseau Commercial club. The program will also include short toasts and musical selections.

New Phone Directory Makes Its Appearance; Lists 1,408 Telephones

Copies of the December issue of the telephone directory are being distributed this week to local patrons of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, supplanting the last issue which appeared in June. The new directory lists a total of 1,408 connections, of which 1,213 are in this city, while the June issue listed 1,354 with 1,160 in the city, representing a gain of 53 in the current issue. A total of 236 changes of address or telephone numbers are made in the new directory.

FRANK SATRE DIES SUNDAY, NOV. 29, AT ROCKSBURY HOME

Well—Known—Farmer—Had Been Resident of Community for Forty Years

Frank Theodore Satre, highly respected farmer residing south of the city, died at his home Sunday, November 29. Mr. Satre has been a resident of Rocksbury township since 1896, and was 74 years old.

He was born in Carver County September 10, 1862. At the age of three years he, with his parents, moved to Willmar. He was graduated from Augsburg seminary, Minneapolis, and a short time later established a general merchandise store in St. Hilaire. In 1883 he was married to Ingeborg Quande, and they made their home in Audubon. During the administration of President Harrison Mr. Satre was appointed postmaster.

Since coming to the Rocksbury community in 1896, Mr. Satre has taken an active part in community affairs, serving as town clerk of Rocksbury township for a number of years. He also served as a member of the board of directors of the Thief River Falls Creamery for twelve years.

Surviving relatives are Mr. Satre's wife, and his ten children, Mrs. M. N. Benson of So. St. Paul, Frank I. Satre of Manila, P. I., Mrs. P. M. Dale of Granite City, Ill., Miss Emma Satre, C. Elmer Satre, and Mrs. O. A. Holkesvig, all of Crookston; Miss Myrtle Satre of Aurora, Ill., Lloyd Satre of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Alvin McIntyre of Grand Forks, and Mrs. J. H. Linson of St. Louis, Missouri. A son Schuyler, preceded him in death about ten years ago.

Funeral rites will be conducted at two o'clock this afternoon at the Evangelical Free church, Rev. J. O. Jacobson officiating, and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Santa Claus Coming on Special Train Dec. 12

Big news for the little folks of Thief River Falls is contained in the following message that reached the Times this morning from the North Pole:

Editor the Times:

While I am not due to make my annual official visit to the children of Thief River Falls until Christmas Eve, December 24, I have decided to make an advance visit to your city to get a better idea of what my friends want and deserve for Christmas. And so I have arranged for a special train on the Soo Line which will bring me to the Soo station in Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon, December 12, promptly at 2 o'clock. I am hoping to meet all my little friends at that time.

SANTA CLAUS

CITY TAX RATE WILL BE ABOUT SAME FOR 1937

Rate Will be 114.66 Mills, Compared to 113.22 Mills in 1935

COUNTY RATE SHOWS GAIN OF 1.3 MILLS

Increase Is Slight Despite Addition of Old-Age Assistance

Property owners of the City of Thief River Falls will pay taxes in 1937 on the basis of a tax rate of 114.66 mills, compared to 113.22 mills during the current year, it was announced this week by County Auditor A. M. Senstad following completion of the work of computing the county rate, which will aggregate 32.6 mills compared to 31.3 mills in 1935.

The total city rate is made up of the following items:

	1936	1935
State	12.45	13.57
County	32.6	31.3
City	31.11	28.85
School Dist. 18	38.5	39.5
	114.66	113.22

Auditor Senstad stated that the rates for the rural sections of the county have not yet been determined, pending receipt of rates for joint school districts in Marshall county.

The following items go to make up the county rate:

	1936	1935
Revenue	10.	9.2
Poor	2.60	6.1
Old-age assist.	6.8	----
Sanatorium	1.7	1.5
Road and bridge	11.5	11.8
Bonds and Int.		2.7
	32.6	31.3

While an old-age assistance levy in the amount of 6.8 mills was included in the county levy for the first time this year, this addition was in part offset by a reduction of 3.5 mills in the levy for poor relief, on the theory that many recipients of old-age assistance received aid in the past from the poor fund.

No separate levy was made this year for bonds and interest with the understanding that these charges will be met directly from the various funds set up in the county budget. The slight increase of two-tenths of a mill in the sanatorium levy was made necessary by the installation of an elevator and the making of other improvements at the institution during the past year.

The tax rate in Polk county for state and county purposes in 1937 will be 4.40 mills higher than this year's levy, because of the amount which the county must raise for old age assistance payments, it was announced in Crookston this week. A levy of 6.10 mills for old age assistance, more than the rate for the county's general fund and almost as much as for the county's road and bridge fund, was made to raise the approximately $80,000 which will be Polk county's share of the old age pensions which it has paid since April 1 of this year and will pay during 1936.

POOL IN RIVER NOW BUT SEVEN INCHES BELOW LAST FALL

Legvold Going Forward With Plans for Repairing City Well

The pool in Red Lake river above the municipal dam is only seven inches below the level a year ago at the opening of winter, have risen two feet two inches since the low point early in the fall, according to Ole Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department. While the supply is considered ample to carry the city over the winter, plans are going forward for testing out the city well with a view to having an auxiliary supply in the event that the river water becomes unpalatable as it did last winter. Use of the well water would also make possible a substantial saving in the cost of chemicals needed to treat the river water, Mr. Legvold pointed out.

Independent Cage Team Opens Practice Sessions

The local independent basketball team sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening held its first practice in the Auditorium. The management is working on a schedule of games with leading independent quintets of the northwest.

Prominent Rocksbury farmer and former director of the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery, who passed away Sunday at his home.

Choicest Specimens From Northwest Flocks to be Shown

PROFESSOR HERNER OF WINNIPEG IS JUDGE

Market Classes of Turkeys Featured in Event in Auditorium

Poultry aristocrats representing the finest product of Northwestern Minnesota farms will be the target of admiring glances at the Auditorium next week when the 19th annual show sponsored by the Pennington County Poultry association will be open to the public. Tuesday December 8, will be entry day, and the exhibition will continue thru Friday.

The difficult task of judging the merits of the various entries will again be in the capable hands of Professor M. C. Herner of the Manitoba Agricultural college in Winnipeg. The work of judging, it is expected, will be completed by Wednesday evening.

Market classes of turkeys which will be featured again this year, will first be shown alive and then dressed and judged again, with one set of prizes being awarded in the dual event, Secretary Vernon Copp announced. Poultry raisers also will be permitted to bring in birds for sale and not for exhibition on payment of a fee of 25 cents a bird.

Premiums offered for displays of the various classes of poultry will range from 50 cents to a maximum of $4, while on turkeys the premiums will have a top limit of $5. The premium list, copies of which were recently distributed to poultry raisers thruout this section, points out that boys and girls submitting entries in the 4-H division will not be required to pay an entry fee. All boys and girls enrolled in poultry club work in 1936 are eligible to show.

Officers of the poultry association, in addition to Secretary Copp, include C. M. Thomas, president; Harry Woolson, vice president; Henry Oen treasurer; and William Yonke, St. Hilaire; Bernhard Ranum, Rosewood; and B. O. Norby, Carl Hrabe and W. H. Quist of Thief River Falls, directors.

TO TREAT CLOVER STRAW FOR SHEEP ROUGHAGE IN CITY

Land O' Lakes Project to Give Winter Employment to 20 to 25 Men

A new enterprise will be instituted in this city within the next few days by the Land O'Lakes Creameries that will give employment to 20 to 25 men during the winter months and provide an additional source of income for farmers in this section.

The undertaking consists in the assembling and grinding of sweet clover straw and the treatment of the resulting product with concentrates or molasses, after which it will be used for sheep roughage, particularly in the drouth regions of the northwest.

The straw will be ground on the old sawmill site and will be processed in the Land O'Lakes plant, with a total of 12 to 15 men employed in addition to eight to ten truckers. The plant already has entered into contracts for several thousand tons of straw which will net the growers $1 a ton in the stack.

Friday night at 8 p. m. we shall begin a series of Lectures on Dispensational Truth, using my large chart 8-12 feet. Do not miss these weekly lectures if you wish to acquire an advanced knowledge of God's Dispensational dealings with man.

The meaning of Dispensational Truth: Dispensational truth is a study of God's plan of the ages and dispensations and their outstanding features. This study may be called "The backbone of the Bible" for it takes in the main important truths of the Bible and causes one to "rightly divide" the word of truth. 2 Tim. 2:15.

Misinterpreted scripture, Misapplied scripture and dislocated scripture are three things we must avoid in interpreting the Bible. There are so many false and erroneous teachings on the Word of God in our day that it behooves us to be very careful "what we hear and how we hear". A dispensation is a moral or probationary period in human history in which God tests mankind according to a fixed law, or standard of conduct, under which man is supposed to remain true to receive the blessings based upon obedience thereto.

57 Million Feet of Timber Sold by State During Current Year

More than 57,000,000 board feet of timber and 372,000 Christmas trees were sold from state trust fund lands during 1936, according to J. C. Gannaway, in charge of state timber sales for the division of forestry. There will be no further state timber sales until next January.

All timber sold was appraised and marked by employees of the forestry division. Selective cutting was used throughout. The trees cut for Christmas use were taken from swamp lands where timber growth was poor, according to Mr. Gannaway.

Most of the timber was sold for railroad ties, saw logs, or pulpwood. Timber sales were held in Cass, Itasca, Koochiching, and St. Louis counties. Competition was reported to be keen and bids high.

TURKEY, MONEY ARE SURPRISES

Benson—A turkey popping out of a snow drift, discovering a nickel in the crop of a pheasant and finding a quarter imbedded in a horsehide were three incidents which caused Benson persons to "amaze, a minute". The turkey popped out of the opening when Charles Holt broke through a snow drift, and it was learned the bird had burrowed itself under the snow during a storm and survived the exposure during a nine-day period. The nickel was found in the crop of a pheasant, together with a button, when a Benson housewife was dressing the bird for her family's dinner table, and a produce company discovered that a horsehide which it purchased exceeded the patron's value by twenty-five cents, in that a coin was imbedded in the hide.

Rock for Mississippi Dykes

Much of the rock used to build dykes along the Mississippi river between Memphis and New Orleans was taken from cliffs bordering the Cumberland river in Tennessee.

Cease Milk Production

Prolactin is the name of a hormone (pituitary gland secretion) which causes animals to produce and yield milk. It was discovered by Dr. Oscar Riddle of the Carnegie institution of Washington.

Thirteen Miles Paving Contracts Are Awarded

Contracts for the construction of 13.4 miles of concrete paving in Cottonwood, Watonwan and Wilkin counties, and a bridge approach job in Hennepin county have been awarded by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. The contracts total $310,413. The concrete work will get under way in the spring but the grading will start at once. Two of the paving jobs are on Trunk Highway No. 60, in Cottonwood and Watonwan counties, and will improve more than nine miles of this road between St. James and Windom. The other paving job will be between Breckenridge and four miles north on T. H. No. 75, in Wilkin county, slightly less than four miles in length.

An Announcement---

Due to an ever-increasing number of patients we have found it necessary to add an assistant to our Optical Department.

Accordingly, we have been fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. E. K. Carlson of Minneapolis who has had many years of experience in the making and assembling of fine glasses.

We have appreciated the fine patronage extended by the people of this territory and feel that we now may be able to give even better service to our many patients.

Growing With Your Child

Social Adjustments at School
University of Minnesota Institute of child welfare.

The first opportunity a child has to try out the making of social adjustments on a large scale comes when he enters school. From being an extremely important member of a small group, his own family, he suddenly becomes an insignificant and unimportant member of a group of thirty or forty children. The gasps and splashings that the small child makes when thrown into the cold water of this new environment are probably as bewildering to himself as they are to his parents and the onlookers. Because human beings need to feel safe and secure, attempts to establish an equilibrium will be made. A child who has been noisy and aggressive at home may appear meekly angelic when subdued by the group pressure. One whose behavior has not been marked in any way may develop blustering, arrogant ways, in an attempt to impress himself on his new comrades. In any case, new and sometimes striking behavior may be expected.

Among birds and beasts, a creature outstandingly different from his kind is likely to be ostracized, and human children are quite as quick to notice differences and call attention to them. The acquisition of a kind of protective coloring is necessary to a child. He wants to be like his companions, not to stand out too much from them, either favorably or unfavorably. If he is dressed differently from other children, he runs the risk of being twitted and laughed at. If he is too bright he may be called "teacher's pet". If he is slow, he will drop behind his class at school and have the finger of scorn pointed at him.

His social practice at school and at play will, consciously or not, have for its goal the establishment of himself as a person on equal terms with his group. But before he can expect to be accepted as a member of his group, he must show them that he has possibilities. Children show little if any tendency toward competition until they have so many opportunities for observing that it is expected of them that we cannot say whether or not it is an inborn trait. Soon after they enter school, however, if not before, they find that their abilities and contributions are frequently measured against those of their mates. Marks, sports, the social and business life of their parents, all serve to emphasize the importance of being earnest in the realization of their powers.

Little boys often try to impress other little boys by their physical prowess. Their truculence during their first years in school often alarms their mothers, who have spent a good deal of time trying to teach their children that physical blows are not the most desirable means of settling difficulties. The six-year-old who has been conscientiously taught never to use his fists to protect his rights may have a hard time before he hits on some scheme of proving to the other boys that he can "take it."

Doing well in their school work is more likely to appeal to girls than to boys as a sound way of establishing themselves. The esteem of their teachers is of more importance to them, too, and the results are seen in the higher marks and greater application noticeable in girls. It is only natural that the kinds of social approval sought by girls and by boys should be different.

STRANDQUIST MAN CONVICTED IN OLD AGE PENSION CASE

Found Guilty by Marshall County Jury of Concealing Assets

Jens Bjorkman, Strandquist, was found guilty by a Marshall county jury in district court in Warren Tuesday on a charge of failing to disclose all his financial resources in making application for old-age assistance.

Judge Brattland had not announced his sentence for Mr. Bjorkman at an early hour Wednesday afternoon.

The Bjorkman case was the first case of its kind tried in Marshall county since the adoption of the old age assistance law. He was given his preliminary hearing on Sept. 29 and bound over for district court for trial. Investigators from the old age assistance office headed by Paul Steen, local administrator, and A. A. Trost, county attorney, built up an iron clad case against the Strandquist man. During the trial it was brought out that Bjorkman had approximately $2,000 in loans outstanding among residents and organizations in the Strandquist community. These assets he failed to list in making his application for the pension on March 9, 1936. Numerous witnesses were called by County Attorney Trost testifying that they had borrowed money from Bjorkman.

Bible Lectures Continue in Old Methodist Church

In his lecture last Sunday evening on "How people were saved in the old dispensation" Evangelist Gulbranson stated that people in all ages had been saved by the grace of the Lord through faith in the efficacious blood of the Lamb of God slain from the foundation of the world. Pictures were thrown on the screen and a replica of the sanctuary in the wilderness was displayed and explained. This sanctuary and its complete arrangement will again be displayed next Sunday night. See the announcement elsewhere in the paper.

TO DEMONSTRATE SHEEP DRENCHING THURSDAY, FRIDAY

"U" Extension Specialist Will Visit County Dec. 10, 11

County Agent R. M. Douglass has arranged a series of four sheep drenching demonstrations to be held under the leadership of H. G. Zavoral, extension specialist in animal husbandry, University Farm, St. Paul.

At these meetings parasite problems will be discussed and a practical demonstration of sheep drenching will be given.

As many sheep producers of Pennington County believe that sheep drenching will become a necessity to successful production in the near future, these meetings should be of interest.

Meetings will be held as follows:

Thursday, December 10th, at 10:00 A. M. at the William Vaughan farm, ½ mile west of Highlanding in Highlanding township.

Thursday, December 10th, at 2:00 P. M. at the E. H. Pomerenke farm, 1½ miles north and ½ mile east of Mavie in Cloverleaf township.

Friday, December 11th, at 10:00 A. M. at the Ole Nesland farm, 5 miles south and west of the River Valley Creamery in Deer Park township.

Friday, December 11th, at 2:00 P. M. at the Frank Hardisty farm 8 miles east and 2½ miles south of Thief River Falls in Kratka township.

Four Lutheran Churches in Crookston Are Merged

Word was received last week in Crookston that Rev. Abner S. Haugen of Chicago, at present director of the Deaconess school, has accepted to call to serve as pastor of the new Lutheran church formed by the merger of the English Lutheran, United Lutheran, Swedish Lutheran and Hauges Lutheran churches. Reverend Haugen will assume his new duties next February.
